On the Cover

The cover of the the 76th annual Green Bay Packers Media Guide celebrates the life story and legacy of Brett Favre.

As a freshman at Hancock North Central in Klin, Miss., Favre could throw a ball 60-70 yards on the fly, but most of the big colleges didn't recruit him.

Opting to play at nearby Southern Mississippi, Favre cracked the starting lipup as a 17-year-old freshman. In four years, he claimed nearly every school passing record, but not without overcoming adversity. Just prior to his senior campaign, he sustained internal injuries in a car accident and had 30 inches of intestines surgically removed. However, setting the stage for this ironman NFL career, he returned to start just 24 days later, leading USM to an upset win at Alabama.

Robbed from the Atlanta Falcons by new Packers general manager Ron Wolf early in 1992, Favre led Green Bay to its first of six straight playoff appearances in 1993, winning three straight MVPs (1995-97) and Super Bowl XXXI in the process.

But as Favre prepares to author another volume in his legendary encyclopedia, which in 2005 could include his 400th touchdown pass and 50,000th passing yard, his streak stands out among all accomplishments. That streak, 205 consecutive starts (225 including playoffs), has encompassed 14 seasons and four presidential elections. And even more remarkable than playing through pain — he's appeared on an injury report 42 times — his ability to play through heartbreak has endeared him to the American public, including the night after his father's 2003 death, and late last season when his wife. Deannal learned of her breast cancer and subsequently underwent chemotherapy.

STOCKHOLDERS

ME DON HUTS

Green Bay Packers, Inc., has been a publicly owned, non-profit corporation since Aug. 18, 1923, when original articles of incorporation were filed with Wisconsin's secretary of state.

A total of 4,749,925 shares is owned by 111,921 stockholders - none of whom receives any dividend on the initial investment.

The corporation is governed by a board of directors and a seven-member executive committee.

One of the more remarkable business stories in American history, the team is kept viable by its stockholders - its unselfish fans. Even more incredible, the Packers have survived during the current era, permeated by free agency and the NFL salary cap. And, thanks in large part to Brown County's passage of the 2000 Lambeau Field referendum, the club will remain solvent and highly competitive well into the future due to its redeveloped stadium.

Fans have come to the team's financial rescue on several occasions, including four previous stock sales: 1923, 1935, 1950 and 1997.

To protect against someone taking control of the team, the articles of incorporation prohibit any person from owning more than 200,000 shares.

PACKERS COMMUNITY INVOLVEMENT MISSION

The Green Bay Packers organization is committed to working to improve the lives of people in all walks of life in Wisconsin and Upper Michigan.

As highly visible members of the community, the Packers' players, coaches and staff acknowledge their unique public role and are devoted to working with charities, schools, civic groups and other outreach sources to make positive contributions throughout the area. The Packers welcome the opportunity to give back to the community that has steadfastly supported the team for more than 80 years.

The history of the Green Bay Packers is rich with on-field accomplishments and a special bond with the community that has supported the organization throughout its 86-year history. As the legend of the Green Bay Packers has grown through time, so has the Packers' responsibility to the community.

Non-profit organizations throughout Wisconsin and Upper Michigan look to the Green Bay Packers for both tangible and intangible assistance for their beneficiaries - help that comes in the form of money, food, clothing, autographs, or simply from smiles brought about by the visit of a youngster's sports hero. The Green Bay Packers organization, along with its players and coaches, willingly accept this responsibility; three full-time employees and two part-time employees spend every working day organizing charitable involvement that comes about through the commitment of the players, coaches and staff.

The community involvement takes many forms. The Packers sponsor special fundraising events, make donations of cash and memorabilia to many charitable organizations, make personal appearances and serve on various commu-

While it's impossible to list every donation or event, these pages provide an overview of the organization's many contributions.

COMMITMENT TO THE

APPEARANCES

The special bond between the Green Bay Packers and the community is never more apparent than when the players volunteer their time at schools, hospitals, fundraisers and other community events and programs. During 2004, players and coaches made more than 300 special appearances.

DONATIONS

The Packers' reach is unmistakable and provides many opportunities for charities to benefit from the team's success. Donating merchandise to non-profit groups is another Packers tradition. The team's unmatched following creates a great demand for autographed memorabilia, which is demonstrated by the fact that signed items donated to more than 6,000 charities raised more than $1.8 million in 2004. The events supported by Packers donations included school fundraisers, benefits for cancer patients, charity auctions, raffles, and community fundraisers.

In addition to grants from the Green Bay Packers Foundation, separate cash donations to local charities and fundraisers have topped $1.1 million over the past year. This includes donations to youth football through the NFL of $800,000.

WELCOME BACK PACKERS LUNCHEON

Hosted by the Green Bay Area Chamber of Commerce, the Welcome Back Packers Luncheon is held each year to welcome the players and coaching staff back to the area for the upcoming football season.

MIDWEST SHRINE GAME

For more than 50 years, the Green Bay Packers have designated one preseason game as the Midwest Shrine Game, Each year at the game, the Packers make a donation to the Shrine Tripoli Temple, which operates Shriners Hospitals for Children in the Twin Cities and Chicago. A large portion of the game's proceeds is split between the two units, where children from Wisconsin are often sent for treatment. To date, the donations have totaled close to $3 million.

BISHOP'S CHARITIES GAME

Since 1961, the Packers have designated one preseason game at Lambeau Field as the Bishop's Charities Game. From this game, the Packers have given a total of $3.25 million to the Catholic Diocese of Green Bay.

INTERNSHIPS

As an organization, the Packers employ roughly 150 people full-time and more than 250 people part-time. The Packers also offer internships to young adults in several areas of the organization. The accounting, equipment, information technology, marketing, public relations, ticket office, training and video departments all provide interns with valuable experience to add to their college class work or professional training. Coaching also offers a minority internship.

CONCESSION STANDS/PRIVATE BOXES

At Lambeau Field, volunteers staff the concession stands on fame days with proceeds going to community groups throughout the area. Through this cooperative effort between the Packers and Levy Restaurants, more than $700,000 was generated for the 63 community organizations that participated in 2004.

REBUILDING TOGETHER

For the eighth straight year, the Packers have teamed up with Rebuilding Together of Greater Green Bay to improve the lives of area elderly and disabled. Through Rebuilding Together, over 30 Packers volunteers refurbished one of 15 homes in the community by providing necessary home improvements to keep the elderly/disabled homeowner safe and warm. The Packers provided a corporate donation, as well as staff members' time, talents and sweat to complete numerous projects at the home site.

BROWN COUNTY CHILDREN'S CHARITY GOLF CLASSIC

The Brown County Golf Course was the site of the first-ever Brown County Children's Charity Golf Classic, sponsored in part by the Green Bay Packers. Proceeds from the event were given to Save a Live Tour, Family Matter and outpatient treatment scholarships at local adolescent treatment programs.

PACKERS SCHOLARSHIPS

Students from Brown County benefit from a team effort involving the Green Bay Packers, Northeast Wisconsin Technical College and Scholarships, Inc. The program, established in 2001, awards $15,000 in scholarships each year.

Half of the $15,000 total is awarded to students in four-year colleges (undergraduate and adult education), while half is earmarked for the Northeast Wisconsin Technical College Education Foundation for students in a two-year associate degree, adult education or apprenticeship trades programs.

COMMUNITY OUTREACH

As part of the NFL's ongoing commitment to public service, the NFL kicked off a new public service campaign in 2003. This campaign, called "Join the Team" is the NFL's call to action to its fans and to all Americans. The league's message: Everyone can make a difference in their community through volunteering, outreach, and involvement.

HOMETOWN HUDDLE

Packers players Kevin Barry and James Lee participated in the sixth annual Hometown Huddle, held at the Fort Howard-Jefferson Family Resource Center at Fort Howard School. The annual event is funded by a $5,000 grant from the NFL, the Green Bay Packers and United Way of Brown County. The Fort Howard-Jefferson Family Resource Center is a multilingual, multicultural organization, which provides networks of support, educational initiatives and preventive programming to families.

FIT KIDS

The Green Bay Packers, CBS-5 WFRV and the Green Bay Area Public School District have teamed up to fight childhood obesity. Fit Kids is a fourth-grade curriculum that focuses on the physical, nutritional and social health of children. Each month, physical education teachers and classroom teachers will incorporate various elements of the program into their lessons.

In its inaugural year of 2004, about 1,300 fourth graders participated in the program. The program received an excellence in broadcasting award by the Wisconsin Broadcasters Association as well as an award of merit for the Fit Kids videos and an award of excellence for the Fit Kids posters by the National School Public Relations Association.

SALVATION ARMY

- BELL RINGING In what has turned into an annual holiday occurence, members of the Packers once again participated in the kettle collection that was kicked off by Bubba Franks and his public service announcement "no pay...no gain."
- COATS FOR KIDS Lambeau Field has traditionally been a collection point for the Coats for Kids campaign during one regular-season game. Over the last five years, fans have donated more than 800 coats and more than $27,000.

COMMUNITY EVENTS

The Lambeau Field Atrium has given the Green Bay Packers a unique venue to periodically host events throughout the year that are open to the community to enjoy and participate in at no cost.

• PROJECT LEAP! — Curing cabin fever was the goal of Project LEAP! (Lambeau's Exercise & Activity Playground). This March event gave kids an opportunity to bounce, jump and flex like they have never done before. The Lambeau Field Atrium floor was transformed into an indoor playground. A variety of inflatables such as the climb and slide, obstacle course and slide, kiddiepillar and tiger bouncer were made available for kids and adults. Add to that list a 24-foot climbing wall, mini-golf, and a variety of roaming entertainment, and there was something for kids of all ages. SUMMER TRADITIONS AT LAMBEAU FIELD — Handheld pinwheels and covered wagons greeted guests to this experience at Lambeau Field. This event provided opportunities for young and old alike to participate in three-legged, gunny sack and wheelbar row races on sod laid specifically for the event. Pie-eating contests, sawdust treasure hunts, painting and an animal petting area were also offered.

'SPOOKTACULAR FUN' AT LAMBEAU FIELD ATRIUM — The second annual 'Spooktacular Fun' offered the community an opportunity to bring their children to the Lambeau Field Atrium to enjoy Halloween 'Lambeau' style. Complimentary entertainment fea-compiniental y entertainment leartured interactive and entertaining activities on the main stage and four side stages, including sing-along music, magic, miming, clowns, jugglers and costumed stilt walkers. Children along were given the opportunity to have their faces painted and receive an airbrush tatton

ECUMENICAL THANKSGIVING DAY DINNER — For the second year, Christian Outreach hosted its annual Thanksgiving Day prayer service and dinner in the Lambeau Field Atrium. Over 380 volunteers jointed together to prepare and serve a sit-down dinner to over 700 local, needy people. An additional 300 meals were prepared and delivered to those who were unable to leave their home to attend dinner.

COMMUNITY QUARTERBACK

A community is defined in large part by the volunteer efforts of its residents. It is that volunteer spirit that the Green Bay Packers recognize through the Community Quarterback Awards. Established in 2000, the program recognizes individuals whose volunteer efforts made a difference in their communities.

MAKE-A-WISH FOUNDATION

For 20-plus years, the Make-A-Wish Foundation has enriched the lives of children with life-threatening illnesses through its wish-granting network. For some kids, their wish is to visit Disney World, meet a movie star or be a fireman for a day. Others wish to meet a Green Bay Packers player or pay a visit to historic Lambeau Field — wishes that the Packers organization works diligently to fulfill.

In 2004, a dozen youngsters had their dreams answered by the Green Bay Packers through the Make-A-Wish Foundation.

The youngsters start out in the team's locker room to visit a locker set up just for them next to Brett Favre's locker, then find a Packers jersey personalized with their name. After a tour of Lambeau Field, the youngsters spend time with the players and coaches at training camp, even joining the team for meals on the St. Norbert College campus. Others met with players and coaches during practices and enjoyed a lunch in the team dining room.

FAIRYGODMOTHER FOUNDATION

The mission of this foundation is to make wishes come true for loved ones facing terminal illness. The Fairygodmother Foundation strives to bring joy to the lives of individuals who are 18 years and older by turning dreams into reality. The Packers teamed up with the Fairygodmother Foundation for the first time in 2003.

STARLIGHT CHILDREN'S FOUNDATION

Since its beginning in 1983, the Starlight Chidren's Foundation has dedicated itself to improving the quality of life for seriously ill children and their families. Working with more than 1,000 hospitals, its programs benefit over 100,000 children from all over the world each month. The Packers worked with the foundation for the first time in 2004.

CYSTIC FIBROSIS

For more than 15 years, the head coach of the Green Bay Packers has served as the honorary chairman of the 65 Roses Celebrity Golf Tournament. The Packers coaches, players and staff have teamed up with Humana to raise more than $360,000 for the fight against Cystic Fibrosis through the annual golf tourney. The money has been used to establish a CF resource center at St. Vincent Hospital in Green Bay, hold semi-annual medical clinics (so patients don't have to travel to Milwaukee or Madison) and train doctors and medical staff in the latest CF treatments.

GREEN AND GOLD GALA

The Packers organization has been a strong supporter of the Green and Gold Gala, an annual event that aids the Family Services Association, which offers diverse services to families in crisis and in need. The Packers have donated autographed items and money. Players, coaches and staff members also have made personal appearances to show their support. Packers President Bob Harlan and his wife, Madeline, served nine years as Honorary Hosts for the charity event. In 2001, Mike and Karen Sherman took over as Honorary Hosts for the event and continued that role in 2004.

Community

SCHOOL VISITS

Going back to school for players and coaches is not something they take lightly. Maybe the player or coach read a story, or talked to the kids about the benefits of being drug-free or answered questions. Regardless of the reason they were invited to the school, they are very aware of the impressions they leave behind.

CAMPBELL'S CHUNKY SOUP WEIGH-IN

As part of the Campbell's Chunky soup "Click for Cans" online program, fans were invited to vote for their favorite NFL team to help food banks in their local community. The competition, which ran for a month, gave the Packers' their third consecutive win in the online program aimed at raising awareness of America's hunger crisis. As a result of the support of the fans, 14,400 cans (the equivalent of the weight of the entire Packers roster) of soup were donated to Paul's Pantry, the Salvation Army, Manna for Life and St. Patrick's Food Pantry.

PUBLIC SERVICE ANNOUNCEMENTS

The Green Bay Packers have supported various nonprofit organizations through public service announcements. Players, along with local television stations, work together to raise awareness of important issues that affect our community. The following players and coaches have devoted their time and support

- · Najeh Davenport American Red Cross-Lakeland Chapter
- Tony Fisher Special Olympics Wisconsin
- · Bubba Franks The Salvation Army
- · Mark Roman United Way of Iberia
- · Mark Tauscher Partners in Education

NATIONAL GUARD CHALLENGE ACADEMY

Green Bay Packers players and staff continued their support of the National Guard Challenge Academy by making two trips to Fort McCoy, Wis. Players and staff visit with cadets during lunct and participate in a question-and-answer period that addresses issues such as work ethic, goal setting and building character.

The Challenge Academy offers cadets, mainly high school dropouts or at-risk students, the chance to turn their lives around by developing proper work habits and the discipline to become responsible students.

HOLIDAY IMPACT

TOYS FOR TOTS

Each year, Lambeau Field serves as a collection point for the Toys for Tots campaign. Members of the U.S. Marine Corp Reserves collect new, unwrapped toys, which are given to children in need during the holiday season. Monetary donations collected are used to purchase toys for a specific age group that may not have received an ample supply through donations. The goal of the program is to deliver a message of hope to a needy youngster through a new toy. Through the years, thousands of toys have been collected and distributed to area youngsters.

CHILDREN WITH CANCER HOLIDAY PARTY

The sights and sounds of Christmas were everywhere inside Calvary Lutheran Church as the Green Bay Packers and the Families of Children with Cancer program teamed up for the third consecutive year to host an early Christmas party for patients and their families.

SHOP WITH A JOCK

Nick Luchey and his mother, Beverly Joyner, played an integral fole in the success of a new effort between the Salvation Army and the Packers. With the help of a local toy store, Luchey helped 20 needy kids with their Christmas shopping.

YOUTH FOOTBALL

NFL PUNT, PASS & KICK

Each year, the Packers host the annual Punt, Pass & Kick competition prior to a regular-season game at Lambeau Field. Forty youngsters, ages 8-15, advanced from across the state to compete for the title of Green Bay Packers PPK Team Champion and the chance to move on to the national competition. Before the game, the competitors also got a brief pep talk from a Packers player stressing the importance of doing their personal bests at all times.

HIGH SCHOOL COACH OF THE WEEK

Each week during the football season, the Packers honor a Wisconsin high school football coach. The Coach of the Week program recognizes coaches for demonstrating outstanding leadership on and off the field. Each winner receives $1,000 to be used for the school's football program.

One coach also is named the Green Bay Packers High School Coach of the Year and is recognized at Lambeau Field during one of the Packers' final home games.

POP WARNER FOOTBALL

For the last five years, the Green Bay Packers have invited the local Pop Warner leagues to Lambeau Field to run plays during halftime. In 2004, the Ray Nitschke practice field was made available for some Pop Warner league games.

LONG DISTANCE IMPACT

INTERNATIONAL TSUNAMI RELIEF

The massive destruction and loss of life in East Africa and South Asia as a result of the Tsunami has been recognized world wide. The Green Bay Packers responded to the call for international assistance and donated $25,000 in support of the relief efforts provided by the American Red Cross. Fans also were called upon to join the team in this effort by making donations through the team's Web site link to the American Red Cross.

MILITARY SUPPORT

The Green Bay Packers recognize the impact sports can make on individuals away from home who are serving their country. The Packers have made a commitment to respond to the hundreds of letters and e-mails received from deployed soldiers and their families by sending countless military care packages and messages of support. Many requests ask for the team's help to provide a distraction from the rigors of military life and others may ask that birthday wishes be sent to a soldier from his/her favorite team.

PACKERS WOMEN'S ASSOCIATION

As an arm of the Green Bay Packers organization, the Packers Women's Association (PWA) is a non-profit organization whose main focus is to support the community through various outreach programs. Membership is comprised of players, coaches and staff wives or their significant other, as well as full-time female Green Bay Packers employees. Some of the projects in which PWA members eagerly "teamed up with the community" are:

- PWA Halftime Show Working with over 120 high school and college students from around the state of Wisconsin, the students came together under the direction of PWA to learn a dance routine and perform it at a regular-season home game.
- Sargento Cheese Carving Contest Art students from the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay competed for a $1,000 scholarship which was awarded to a winning cheese sculpture at a Packers home game. PWA members participated in the event and judged the creations.

- Student Mentoring Program at Fort Howard School For the second year, PWA members volunteered their time to help the students improve reading and arithmetic skills. Fort Howard is one of the oldest schools in the Green Bay School District and has a 69 percent minority student population.
- PWA Food Drive for Paul's Pantry Annually, the PWA conducts a food drive at one home game for the less fortunate in Green Bay. In conjunction with the Lambeau Field gameday collection, PWA held an in-school food drive in which approximately 35 area schools participated. Between the stadium and in-school food drives, over 110.400 food items and $12,589 was collected.
 - Adopt-A-Family Each year, PWA members work with the Salvation Army's Adopt-A-Family program to brighten Christmas for less fortunate families in the area. Through the program, PWA members adopted 20 families for Christmas in 2004.
 - Walking for a Cause PWA participated in the annual American Cancer Society's Breast Cancer Awareness/Run walk for the ninth straight year.
 - Military Family Appreciation Gathering PWA invited some Brown Country military families to a private reception to honor and recognize them for their sacrifices they are making for our Country. During the reception, several Packers and their wives spent time talking with the families and offering their supround.

GREEN BAY PACKERS FOUNDATION

The Green Bay Packers organization has enjoyed tremendous fan support through its long and storied history. The community supported the team in times of need by "passing the hat" at games and by buying stock in 1923, 1935, 1950 and 1997, among other ways. To give back to the community, the team created the Green Bay Packers Foundation in December 1986. The Foundation assists in a wide variety of activities and programs that benefit education, civic affairs, health services, human services and youth-related programs.

Our unique ownership gives us a strong link with fans and the community, who have supported us for so many years," president Bob Harlan says. "We have fans not just in Green Bay, but throughout the state, and the Foundation is a great way to give something back."

Seed money for the Foundation trust fund was provided by the team. While the Packers' contributions make up the majority of the trust fund, the team also accepts outside donations.

Last year, in its annual distribution of funds, the foundation awarded more than $119,000 to 55 civic and charitable groups throughout Wisconsin, Gary Rotherham, chairman of the Foundation committee, announced May 16. With these disbursements, the Foundation has distributed $1,346,726 for charitable purposes since it was established in 1986 by Judge Robert J. Parins, then president of the Packers Corporation, "as a vehicle to assure continued contributions to charity.

The financial breakdown of the Foundation's contributions discloses that 35 grants - aggregating $94,000 were awarded to Brown County organizations, among them the Libertas Treatment Center, St. Mary's Hospital. Wellspring and Youth Educated in Safety.

Additional grants, totaling $25,000, were made to 20 other groups around the state, among them The Milwaukee Women's Center, Hoops w/Hope, Habitat for Humanity of Washington County and Family Services of Waukesha.

Rotherham made the grant announcements during two press conferences. The first was hosted by the Libertas Treatment Center, 1701 Dousman St., Green Bay, and the second, that afternoon, was hosted by the Milwauke Women's Center, 611 N. Broadway, Milwaukee.

Under the Packers Scholarship Program, established in 2002, an additional $15,000 is being awarded -$7,500 to Scholarships, Inc., for distribution to students in four-year colleges - and $7,500 to NWTC for distribution to students in twovear associate degree or apprenticeship trades programs. The scholarship funds come from National Football League Properties which - at the Packers' request - returns to the Foundation royalty fees paid for using the Packers logo on Wisconsin automobile license plates.

In the past year, the Packers Foundation also has distributed an additional $44,575 on behalf of National Football League Charities - $22,200 in "Community Quarterback" awards to civic leaders for contributions to the community, $12,375 in the NFL's "Coach of the Week" program which honors successful Wisconsin high school coaches on a weekly basis throughout the season, $5,000 for the Team All Star Program Grant and $5,000 in the league's "Hometown Huddle" program.

HARLANG

Bob Harlan, whose daring vision and inspired leadership have set a lofty standard within the world of professional sports for a decadeand-a-half, in 2005 enjoys the 16th season of a remarkably successful tenure as president and chief executive officer of the Green Bay Packers.

His legacy, to the heartfelt appreciation of so many fans of the Green and Gold, is solidly in place.

The franchise for which he has so purposefully served for 35 years has enjoyed tremendous success under his stewardship and that legacy also ensures the team is in firm position to succeed well into the future.

On the field, the Packers are in the midst of a sustained successful run, including 13 straight .500-or-better seasons, an impressive accomplishment in this era of free agency and the team's best stretch since the 1930s and '40s.

Off the field, the crowning achievement of Harlan's 16-year headship – the $295 million redevelopment of historic Lambeau Field, a sprawling, three-year project – was ushered in at the beginning of the 2003 campaign and stands as the chief component for assuring the team's financial survival for the next three decades.

Faced with finding a way to assure the team's ability to compete in the NFL for the next three decades, it was he, along with John Jones, the team's executive vice president and chief operating officer, who conceived the idea of transforming "Lambeau" into a 365-day-a-year tourist destination – the first such operation in NFL history – then put together the creative and comprehensive plan to make it the stunning reality it has become.

Not that the focused lowan needed to enhance his position in the team's distinguished annals. Before undertaking the massive and challenging stadium renovation, he already had been assured of a prominent plateau in the Packers' unique history, in large measure because he – as the team's president and chief executive officer – had been the catalyst in triggering a major competitive revival that brought Green Bay a third Super Bowl championship in the mid-'90s – and a return to perennial contender status – accomplishments spawned by the inspired hiring of Ron Wolf in 1991 to preside over the club's football operations.

In the year 2000, Harlan achieved even greater eminence among the nine presidents the team has had over its long history by boldly conceiving, directing and assuring the redevelopment of the stadium, a project clearly critical to the organization's competitive fortunes.

It easily ranks among the most singular achievements in the club's distinguished history, already replete with economic challenges and providential solutions. In its wake, and in the light of his previous achievements, there is the perception that Harlan might well have set himself apart from all of his predecessors in the office with this towering addition to his already imposing résumé, one which also includes:

► The aforementioned hiring of Wolf, initiating an on-field renaissance that has seen the Packers achieve 10 playoff berths, six division championships, three consecutive NFC Championship Games and back-to-back Super Bowl appearances, including a 35-21 victory over New England in Super Bowl XXXI, returning the Lombardi Trophy to Green Bay for the first time in 29 years.

- ► The Packers boasting the NFL's best record, 127-65, since 1993, the dawn of free agency and the salary cap, a period many observers predicted would send Green Bay into a downward spiral.
- ▶ Presiding over a historic move the 1994 decision to leave Milwaukee, ending a 62-year stay, and play all home games in Green Bay; and
- ▶ Launching the fourth stock sale in the team's history in 1997, a mechanism which produced more than $20 million in "new money" and in excess of 100,000 new shareholders.

Bob Harlan at a glance

- Joined the organization as assistant general manager on June 1, 1971.
- He later was named corporate general manager in 1975, corporate assistant to the president in 1981 and executive vice president of administration on February 16, 1988.
- Elected the ninth president and chief executive officer of the Green Bay Packers, Inc., on June 5, 1989.
- Inducted into the Green Bay Packers Hall of Fame, July 17, 2004.
- Under his guidance, franchise has posted a .500-or-better season 13 straight years (1992-2004) for the first time since the 1930s and '40s (1934-47).
- Packers boast NFL's best record, 127-65, since 1993, the dawn of free agency and the salary cap, a period many observers predicted would send Green Bay into a downward soiral.
- Is a member of the NFL's Management Council Executive Committee, which deals with employment matters with the NFL Players Association.
- Got his start in sports in 1960 at Marquette University as sports information director, working with legendary basketball coach Al McGuire during the 1964-65 season.
- In addition to the Super Bowl ring from the Packers' 1996 championship, possesses a 1967 World Series ring, earned while he worked for the St. Louis Cardinals.

For all his considerable contributions, Harlan fittingly was honored July 17, 2004, with his induction into the Green Bay Packers Hall of Fame. NFL Commissioner Paul Tagliabue, in Green Bay for Harlan's enshrinement, reflected on Harlan's contributions by saying, "Bob's legacy is that he and his board and his team of executives and coaches not only have maintained, preserved and savored the Packer tradition, but they've enhanced it. And they've done it with a focus on the game and a focus on the fans. And when I think about Bob and what his legacy is, obviously there's some really tangible pieces of legacy – the stadium and the performance on the field are probably the two most tangible things."

His mark on the franchise earlier was recognized Sept. 2, 2003, with the dedication of the Robert E. Harlan Plaza, in front of the main entrance to Lambeau Field.

"I'm flattered, I'm humbled, I'm honored, I'm thrilled and I'm very appreciative," Harlan said at the unveiling. "I am deeply touched to be a permanent part of Lambeau Field and I am very, very appreciative that I can share in a small way, this area with Curly Lambeau and Vince Lombardi, the two finest gentlemen, the two most important gentlemen, that ever represented this great franchise."

Harlan's work on the stadium referendum may well go down as the hallmark achievement of his highly progressive administration, now in its 17th year. The referendum called for the outlay of $169.1 million in public funds to complement a $135.9 million contribution from the Packers and, to a substantial extent, its ultimate approval represented a personal victory for Harlan. whose career-long integrity was, unquestionably, a significant factor in the referendum's positive result.

There is the profound impression that the sincerity of his message - his oft-stated conviction that a redeveloped Lambeau Field was the best and only hope to save the franchise and preserve "Lambeau" - was, ultimately, the key factor in putting the "Yes" vote over the top, by a 53-to-47 percent margin.

In the process, the Packers' 68-year-old CEO paid a high price, from the personal standpoint, to deliver it. He had literally dedicated almost all of his waking hours to the project over an eight-month span, beginning on Jan. 22, 2000, when drawings of the proposed Lambeau Field redevelopment were unveiled at a press conference in the gymnasium of the Packers' administration building.

A tireless and proactive leader, Harlan subsequently became the first president in the team's history to take his case directly to the fans in a very personal, one-onone manner - even to the point of making appearances at local companies as early as 5:30 a.m. to shake hands with shift workers, deliver his message and answer any questions that might arise. He also could be seen at a high school football game, greeting fans before the game, welcoming their questions and urging them to vote "Yes" in the Sept. 12 referendum.

In the five-year interim and the multi-faceted process of implementing the team's long-term financial plan, Harlan has had the satisfaction of seeing the redevelopment of Lambeau Field pay dividends as the additional sources of revenue spawned record years for club profits in the 2003, 2004 and 2005 fiscal years. As an impressive result, the Packers rose to 10th place in revenue ranking among NFL teams during the 2003 fiscal year, their highest finish since 1997, a Super Bowl year, when they finished ninth. The team has held 10th place in 2004 and '05 as well.

In so doing, the team has made steps toward delivering on a promise given to the community and the fans prior to the referendum - to convert profitability into preserving the franchise and Lambeau Field.

Under Harlan's insightful leadership, the Packers organization also has been accorded national acclaim for its consistently high quality of operation. It was selected by SportsBusiness Journal in 2003 as the best-run franchise in all of professional sports and, in a 2003 ESPN The Magazine fan survey, was ranked as the best franchise among the 121 teams in the four major sports; the club remained high in subsequent rankings, placing third in 2004 and sixth in 2005. Harris Interactive also named the Packers 'America's Football Team' in late 2002, ending the Dallas Cowboys' nine-year hold of the top spot. After tying the Cowboys in 2003, the Packers finished in sole possession of the top spot in 2004, and their broad appeal was further underscored when their merchandise placed among the NFL's top five in sales for the eighth consecutive season.

Harlan's imposing list of accomplishments has earned him respect throughout the NFL as a visionary and aggressive leader, one poised to deal with the challenges that inevitably arise with a sure and steady hand.

And, in further testament to his wise leadership and winning legacy, the front office Harlan has fashioned is well positioned to guide the team to continued success when he retires after the 2006 season.

That staff, whose principal mission is to provide the football team with the resources it needs to compete, is in good hands with a leadership team headed by Jones, whom Harlan recruited to Green Bay from the NFL Management Council in 1999 and has groomed to succeed him as president. Jones deftly has led the day-today operations of the franchise and skillfully has assisted in guiding the team's recent financial rebound.

Recently Harlan has presided over major changes on the football side of the ledger, beginning with the retirement of Wolf in 2001 with three years remaining on his contract.

After carefully weighing his options and deciding to capitalize on the chemistry that Head Coach Mike Sherman had established, Harlan named the coach to the companion role of executive vice president and general manager on Feb. 1, 2001 - the first such dual arrangement the organization has had since 1980. The move was successful for the club, as Sherman and the Packers produced a 44-20 record, three division championships and four consecutive playoff appearances in his four years in that role.

But after observing the continual evolution of the game and its demands upon the personnel and coaching staffs, Harlan decided a restructuring was needed, with a separation of the two jobs as the best approach for the club to return to the pinnacle of the league. On Jan. 14, 2005, he tapped 13-year NFL personnel veteran and former Packers director of player personnel Ted Thompson to head up the team's football operations.

"In today's salary cap world of professional football," Harlan said, "where rosters are overhauled every offseason, both the job of a general manager and the job of a head coach are extremely demanding and require an inordinate amount of time and effort, I am quite pleased to know the Packers will be moving into the future with these two highly regarded men at the top of our football operation."

Over his tenure as president, Harlan repeatedly has proven to be a man of his word - fulfilling the pledge he made when he took office. When he was elected president and CEO of the Green Bay Packers, Inc. on June 5, 1989, he promptly established an ambitious agenda for himself and the organization, announcing, "I want to move this franchise ahead in every area

We've got to be successful from top to bottom to succeed. And," he promised, "we're going to succeed."

Succeed, assuredly, he and the Packers have - beyond all reasonable expectations, both corporately and competitively. The organization he heads up today - currently being cited as a model for franchises across the entire spectrum of professional sports - reigns as one of the NFL's elite.

Thus, in his multi-faceted tenure as club president, Harlan has taken his place among the most productive and accomplished chief executives in the Green Bay Packers' long and storied history. On the field, clearly, the greatest accomplishment of his administration has been the return of the Lombardi Trophy to Green Bay - which became a long-awaited reality in January 1997 when the Packers triumphed over New England in Super Bowl XXXI. A member of the club's front office since 1971, the veteran Packers official made two major and historic decisions late in the 1991 season, moves that have had a profoundly positive effect upon the Green Bay franchise and its future. Convinced the organization was merely treading water competitively, he first relieved then-executive vice president Tom Braatz of his responsibilities Nov. 20, 1991, and, one week later, named former Raiders personnel chief Wolf as executive vice president and general manager.

In the light of subsequent events, the latter decision already ranks among the most significant in history of the Packers. Wolf was chosen 'NFL Executive of the

ADMINISTRATION

Year' following his first full season, which saw him hire ex-49ers offensive coordinator Mike Holmgren to replace Lindy Infante as coach and acquire in 1992 Pro Bowl quarterback Brett Favre in one of pro football's most acclaimed trades ever. He subsequently "recruited" Pro Bowl defensive end Reggie White, the game's most sought-after unrestricted free agent, in 1993.

During the productive interim, which saw Favre and White provide the foundation for success, the Packers advanced to the playoffs for six consecutive years - the first such accomplishment in franchise history - climaxing their 1996 achievements by reaching and winning the Super Bowl for the first time in 29 years and following that singular achievement by returning to the Super

Holmgren had responded to his original challenge by directing the Packers to a 9-7 record - a five-victory improvement over '91 - in his first season, one in which Favre established himself as the Packers' field general, and to two more 9-and-7 marks in both 1993 and 1994, thus bringing Green Bay three consecutive winning seasons for the first time since 1965-66-67 and the Lombardi Era. He next led the team to an 11-5 record in 1995 and their first division title since '72, surpassed that considerable achievement by escorting them to a record-tying, 13-3 regular-season record in 1996 and the team's first Super Bowl title since 1967, then escorted his defending champions to another 13-3 season en route to a third straight division title in 1997 and a return trip to the Super Bowl. Holmgren closed out his sevenyear tenure in Green Bay by leading the Packers to a sixth straight playoff berth in 1998 before resigning to head up the football operations of the Seattle Seahawks.

Although the hiring of Wolf subsequently was to become the centerpiece in a series of key moves Harlan has effected over the past decade-and-a-half, he lost little time initiating his first major project once elected, during the organization's annual shareholders' meeting June 5, 1989. Just 10 weeks later, in late August 1989, he announced plans to construct 1,920 club seats - a first in Lambeau Field - and 36 new private boxes, an $8,263,000 expansion. It was completed in time for the start of 1990 preseason play.

A firm believer in the importance of ongoing, personto-person dialogue with the team's fans. Harlan also scheduled the first "Breakfast with the Packers" functions in club history, gatherings for fans selected at random by computer, at which he invited questions and feedback from them about the Packers organization.

Committed to making the fans' day at the stadium as enjoyable as possible, he in 1990 also directed the formation of a comprehensive program designed to encourage responsible drinking by fans in Lambeau Field, and in 1993 implemented a no-smoking policy in the stadium seating areas at all home games. Results of the responsible drinking program's existence indicate it has been a success, with arrests for misconduct down appreciably from previous years.

While still executive vice president of administration, in early 1989. Harlan was the catalyst in the implementation and development of a long-term marketing program, launched with the hiring of a director of marketing and the opening of an official outlet store in the Packers' administration building. It has become a significant revenue stream for the organization in the intervening 16 years - on the heels of the team's continuing on-field success, making dramatic strides in its new, substantially expanded quarters in the Lambeau Field Atrium.

In 1994, Harlan authorized and directed the construction of The Don Hutson Center - the finest indoor practice structure in professional football - which was completed in time for use during the '94 season.

Also in 1994, he presided over a momentous move the decision to leave Milwaukee and play all home games in Green Bay, a potentially sensitive issue since the Packers had had a 62-year presence in the state's largest city since 1933. But as a condition of the transfer, necessitated by addressing an annual $2.5 million disparity in income which resulted from playing games in County Stadium, Harlan made sure Milwaukee's fans were not forgotten, offering them a three-game ticket

NO. 1 ACROSS ALL OF SPORTS: In its Feb. 3, 2003, issue, ESPN The Magazine, using results of a detailed fan survey, ranked the Packers as the best franchise among the 121 teams in the four major sports. The magazine said the Packers return their fans' financial and emotional investments better than any major-league sports team. The Packers finished in the Top 10 of all eight categories: bang for the buck, ownership, stadium experience, on-field leadership, fan relations, affordability, players effort and likability, and championships won/expected to win. The Packers ranked third in the 2004 and eighth in 2005.

package in Lambeau Field.

The latter expressed their appreciation positively, 96 percent of Milwaukee's 48,000 season ticket holders subsequently availing themselves of the opportunity.

In 1997, convinced that the team was in need of additional capital reserves to be competitive well into the 21st century - via improvements to Lambeau Field and the team's training facilities - he launched the team's first stock sale since 1950. More than 100,000 shares, at $200 per share, were sold during the offering, initiated in mid-November and concluded on March 16, 1998.

As an impressive result of that development, Harlan was to subsequently schedule and preside over - in July of 1998 - one of the largest shareholders' meetings in the history of the nation's corporate business, a conclave held, appropriately enough, in Green Bay's hallowed Lambeau Field and attended by more than 18,000 shareholders and quests.

It was a concrete representation of a commitment he had made in 1989 when, at the time of his election, the Packers' CEO had addressed what he termed the two key "bottom lines...Obviously, one is winning football games, and the other is keeping the organization financially solvent and strong so it can remain in Green Bay and compete with the other clubs in this league.

Becoming president of the Green Bay Packers, he also revealed on that historic day, had exceeded his fondest dreams.

'In 1960, when I had just graduated from Marquette University and was working as sports information director at Marquette, just getting started in public relations, I attended a Packer game at Milwaukee County Stadium, he told members of the media following his election. "I made a comment to my wife then that I hope I can grow in the public relations field and become competent enough that some day I can become the public relations director for the Green Bay Packers. When the opportunity came along 11 years later to join this fine organization, I jumped at it... To be associated with the NFL and the Packers, I have been highly honored... That honor has reached a new and incredible level."

The ninth president in the team's 86-year existence, Harlan is the team's first CEO to come up through the ranks. All previous presidents of the NFL's only publiclyowned franchise had come from the business and professional areas of the community as members of the board of directors.

The affable lowan, who has been involved in every area of the club's operations over the course of his three-plus decades in Green Bay, joined the organization as assistant general manager on June 1, 1971, after serving as director of public relations for the St. Louis baseball Cardinals. He later was named corporate general manager in 1975, corporate assistant to the president in 1981 and executive vice president of administration on Feb. 16, 1988.

In the latter role, he had been responsible for team travel, negotiating radio and preseason television contracts, front office personnel, ticket office operations, purchasing, the leasing of Lambeau Field's private boxes, insurance, game-day entertainment and the scheduling of preseason games. Prior to 1985, he also had negotiated all player contracts for 14 years.

A rare CEO who answers his own telephone, Harlan already is the third-longest tenured chief executive officer in Packers history and is just one year behind Lee H. Joannes, who served in the position for 17 years (1930-47). Dominic Olejniczak, with the longest tenure, was president for 24 years (1958-82). Harlan also enjoys the longest continuous employment of anyone in the Packers organization.

Having earned a B.S. degree in journalism from Marquette in 1958, Harlan had a brief tour of duty in the U.S. Army before spending six months as a general reporter for United Press International in Milwaukee. He subsequently became sports information director at Marquette in 1959, serving six years in that capacity after which he joined the St. Louis baseball Cardinals in 1965, acting as director of community relations and the speakers' bureau for two years and as director of public relations for three-and-a-half years before coming to the Packers.

Born Robert Ernest Harlan in Des Moines, Iowa, on Sept. 9, 1936, he is active in the inner councils of the National Football League as well as the greater Green Bay community. He is a member of the NFL's Management Council Executive Committee, which deals with employment matters with the Players Association, and previously served as a trustee for the NFL Trust.

In the Green Bay Community, he is a member of the executive board of the 65 Roses Sports Club, created to generate awareness of cystic fibrosis and to raise money for research to find a cure for the dreaded disease.

On a personal front, Harlan revealed in 2003 he is battling the skin cancer, melanoma. He had surgery Oct. 8, 2003, to remove two lesions, returned to work Oct. 14, and as of July 2005 all medical reports are positive. Harlan had announced the condition in an open letter to fans on the Packers' Web site and encouraged everyone to be aware of early detection and to visit their doctor if they suspect something is wrong.

The recipient of multiple honors, both on a local and state basis, he was honored in 1993 by the Green Bay Rotary Club with its 'Free Enterprise Award' for his numerous contributions to the community, both individually and on behalf of the Packer Corporation. In 1996, he was presented with the Green Bay Visitor and Convention Bureau's annual 'Tourism Recognition Award' for "outstanding contributions to the Green Bay area tourism industry," as well as being saluted as Northeastern Wisconsin's 'Executive of the Year' by Marketplace magazine. In 1997, he was thrice honored by his alma mater, Marquette University. He was presented with the 1997 Marquette University 'Alumni Community Service Award' during the alumni association's National Awards Week (April 25-27), presented with an honorary doctor of laws degree at the institution's commencement exercises May 18 and, on June 3, saluted as 'Master of the Game' by Marquette's National Sports Law Institute at its annual awards dinner in Milwaukee in recognition of his "humanitarian efforts, commitment to public service, great sense of ethics and integrity as a professional within the sports field."

In 1998, he was presented with the 'Distinguished Service Award' at the first Lee Remmel Sports Awards Banquet for leading the Packers' franchise out of mediocrity to professional football's heights.

Bob and his wife, Madeline, have three sons - Kevin, 45, a play-by-play broadcaster on telecasts of NFL games for CBS Sports and the Packers' preseason network, and also 'voices' NCAA Tournament basketball games for CBS as well as NBA games for TNT; Bryan, 43, owner of a sports management firm in Chicago that represents coaches and sportscasters; and Michael, 36, an account manager for a printing, promotional products and advertising distributor in Milwaukee.

An ardent golfer, Harlan also is an "involved" fan, closely monitoring the athletic fortunes of Wisconsin's other professional sports teams as well as those of the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay, the University of Wisconsin-Madison and his alma mater, Marquette. As a hobby he also closely follows the recruiting efforts of many of the nation's top collegiate football and basketball programs.

Executive Vice President, General Manager & Director of Football Operations

Ted Thompson's professional career as a football executive came full circle on Jan. 14, 2005.

That day. Green Bay Packers President and CEO Bob Harlan named him executive vice president, general manager and director of football operations for the storied franchise, with full authority over all aspects of the team's football operations.

In becoming the 10th general manager in club history. Thompson rejoined the team with which he received his start under Ron Wolf in 1992. After working for the Packers Hall of Fame general manager through the 1999 season, Thompson spent the 2000-04 campaigns as vice president of football operations for the Seattle Seahawks.

"When I left here, I didn't leave thinking that I'd be back, but this is really a wonderful surprise," said Thompson at his introductory Green Bay press conference. "Two days ago, I was scouting for the Seattle Seahawks at the East-West Game in San Francisco, and then lo and behold, two days later I'm standing up here.

"It's almost a dream come true-type job. You think about, when you're a young kid, some of the things you'd like to do when you grow up and you think maybe manager of the New York Yankees or maybe the general manager of the Green Bay Packers. So it's a thrill, it's an honor, and I can't tell you how happy I am to be here and look forward to diving right in."

For Harlan, the selection of Thompson to lead Green Bay's football fortunes was an easy choice.

I feel Ted is a perfect fit for the Packers," Harlan said. "He is a respected, 13-year National Football League veteran who is a proven talent evaluator and an efficient administrator. He knows the people in our personnel department and he is familiar with how we run our football operation. He embraces the Packers' championship tradition, and he was very anxious to have the opportunity to return to Green Bay."

Now in his 24th NFL season, including 10 years as a player. Thompson knows and respects the position the Packers hold in the hearts of the fans, and around the league.

The history and tradition of this place is unrivaled in professional sports." Thompson said. "I understand the passion the people here have for their team. Ron (Wolf) told me this is the best job in the National Football League. He told me that probably eight or 10 years ago. I never forgot that.

The 52-year-old Thompson not only joined an organization with which he was familiar, but also oversees a respected staff that includes several former colleagues, including director of pro personnel Reggie McKenzie, director of college scouting John Dorsey and personnel analyst to the general manager John Schneider, each of whom worked under Thompson during his first tenure with the club. Thompson also worked on NFL Drafts with both Dorsey (2000) and Schneider (2001) in Seattle's personnel department.

He also has a good professional relationship with Packers Head Coach Mike Sherman, as the two worked on the same Green Bay staff in 1997 and '98.

In Green Bay annals, Thompson will become only the fourth general manager to serve exclusively from the front office, joining Verne Lewellen (1954-58), Vince Lombardi (1968) and Wolf (1992-2001)

The low-profile Thompson brings with him to Green Bay a proven track record as an evaluator. Overseeing Seattle's draft board from 2000 through '04, Thompson selected players that accounted for 51.7 percent of the Seahawks' starts in 2004, when the 9-7 club captured the NFC West championship. Furthermore, after his five Seattle drafts, 30 of 47 selected players have started at least one Seahawks game, and only three of those 47 did not make Seattle's 53-man roster. And, 31 remained on the roster at the end of the '04 campaign. Overall, eight of those players have earned all-rookie, All-Pro or Pro Bowl honors.

Ted Thompson at a glance

- Named to his position Jan. 14, 2005, his second stint with the organization.
- Has 13 years experience in NFL's personnel arena.
- ► Earlier served eight years with Packers (1992-99) as assistant director of pro personnel (1992), director of pro personnel (1993-97) and director of player personnel (1997-99)
- ► Recently served five seasons (2000-04) as Seattle Seahawks vice president of football operations.
- > Of his five Seattle drafts, 31 players remained on the Seahawks roster at the end of the 2004 season, with eight of those players earning all-rookie, All-Pro or Pro Bowl honors
- While with the Packers' personnel department, was instrumental in helping the club acquire free agents Reggie White, Sean Jones, Don Beebe, Santana Dotson and Desmond Howard, as well as draft picks Darren Sharper. Vonnie Holliday and Donald Driver.
- Enjoyed a 10-year playing career with the Houston Oilers 1975-84), becoming one of the most durable players in Houston annals by playing in 146 of 147 games, missing just one contest due to injury. Signed by Burn Phillips as a non-drafted free agent.
- Thompson's Oilers teammates included Pro Football Hall of Famers Earl Campbell, Mike Munchak and Elvin Bethea.
- Was a three-year starter (1972-74) at linebacker and team captain ('74) for Southern Methodist University. He gained Academic All-Southwest Conference honors and graduated with a bachelor's degree in business administration. Also lettered in baseball as a senior

His 2003 draft, which some observers called the most important in team history, saw Thompson land four players - K Josh Brown, DT Rashad Moore, CB Marcus Trufant and S Ken Hamlin - who not only made immediate front-line contributions as rookies, but who also are cornerstone players for years to come.

The Seahawks advanced to the playoffs each of the past two seasons with many players Thompson acquired through the draft, including 11 of 22 starters in the team's 2004 first-round game.

Among the notable players Thompson selected in his tenure at the Seahawks' draft helm are:

▶RB Shaun Alexander (first round, 19th overall, 2000). Thompson's first selection, now a two-time Pro Bowler: supplanted established starter Ricky Watters and over the last two seasons (2003-04) leads the league in rushing yards (3,131), helping Seattle to the NFC's fourth-best record in that span. Fell 1 yard shy of 2004 NFL rushing title.

▶ WR Alex Bannister (fifth round. 140th overall, 2002). Pro Bowl selection as special teams player in 2003.

► K Josh Brown (seventh round, 222nd, overall, 2003), Nailed 45 of first 55 NFL field-goal attempts (81.8 percent), including an NFC-best 92.0 percent (23 of 25) in 2004.

G Steve Hutchinson (first round, 17th overall, 2001). Two-time Pro Bowl selection. Started first 20 games before breaking leg in 2002. Started all 32 contests since his return, garnering first-team All-Pro honors from the Associated Press in 2003.

▶ WR Darrell Jackson (third round. 80th overall, 2000). All-rookie selection, has started 61 of 80 Seahawks games in five years. Posted franchise-record 87 receptions in 2004.

DT Rashad Moore (sixth round, 183rd overall, 2003). In two years, has arguably outplayed 16 of the 18 tackles taken ahead of him, including first-round picks Johnathan

Sullivan and Jimmy Kennedy.

▶ The Seahawks' starting secondary at the end of the '04 season: Cornerbacks Marcus Trufant (first round, 11th overall, 2003) and Ken Lucas (second round, 40th overall, 2001), and safeties Ken Hamlin (second round, 42nd overall, 2003) and Michael Boulware (second round, 53rd overall, 2004). Boulware earned all-rookie honors in 2004.

Additionally, Seattle's 2003 playoff team included five non-drafted free agents signed during Thompson's time at the personnel helm; running back Kerry Carter, longsnapper J.P. Darche, linebacker D.D. Lewis, wide receiver Jerheme Urban and linebacker Tracy White.

Meanwhile, waiver-wire acquisition Chris Terry joined the club midway through 2002 and has started 23 games at offensive tackle in Seattle, Cedric Woodard, a waiver pickup in 2000, emerged as a starter in 2003. helping the Seahawks to consecutive playoff berths.

In Green Bay, Thompson has continued his philosophy of developing young players and placing high value on improving the Packers through the draft. This past April, he utilized trades to arm the club with a total of 11 selections after entering the weekend with seven.

The Southern Methodist University alum's personnel career got its start with the Packers when then-Packers vice president of administration Mike Reinfeldt, a close friend and former Houston Oilers teammate, recommended to Wolf in 1992 to take a look at Thompson as a potential pro scout for his staff. Wolf subsequently brought him in to audition as a personnel evaluator.

Thompson fondly recalls one of the first experiences with Wolf, as the general manager asked for assistance in assessing a young quarterback.

"He came to me with three game tapes of the preseason of the Atlanta Falcons," remembers Thompson, "and he said, 'I want you to look at this quarterback. His jersey number's 4. He'll probably just play in the second half. And tell me what you think

"So I'm flipping through, and I had not been involved in football for several years, so I knew his name was Brett Favre, but I didn't really understand that he had been the first or second player taken in the second round, which is a valuable draft pick. I'm just looking at him and Brett is Brett, but even more Brett. He's running all over and making great throws, and then the ball gets batted and he catches it and is running around.

"So I go back and he says, 'What do you think?" And I said, 'He looks like a guy that's a little bit raw but has a tremendous arm and great athleticism and a passion and all that.' He goes. 'Well, I'm going to give up a first-round pick for him. Do you think that's a good idea?' And I said, 'Well, do you think it's a pretty good idea?' And he goes, 'Yeah, I do.' And then I said, 'Then I do, too.

In addition to that initial insight about the Packers' now-legendary QB. learned much from Wolf: "He taught me passion, he taught me work ethic, he taught me believing in yourself, to have confidence, to write down what you see, not what other people see, and to trust yourself."

During his first tenure in Green Bay, Thompson was instrumental in providing talent that produced an 83-45 record, six straight playoff berths, two Super Bowl appearances and the 1996 world championship. With his help, the team acquired free agents Reggie White, Sean Jones, Don Beebe, Santana Dotson and Desmond Howard. Through the draft, Green Bay added Darren Sharper, Vonnie Holliday and Donald Driver, one of the franchise's lowest-drafted Pro Bowlers.

A possessor of strong football credentials and keen knowledge of the game gleaned from his decade-long playing career, Thompson credits Wolf with deepening his understanding of the scouting process and cites his experience in Seattle working with Mike Holmgren as very valuable in terms of his growth as a football person, running an organization and making decisions that affect the team in the present and in the future.

A versatile linebacker during his 10-year NFL playing career with the Houston Oilers (1975-84), Thompson also was one of the most durable players in team annals, missing just one of 147 contests due to injury. He started eight games over the course of his career and also played in seven postseason contests (1978-80), with the Oilers going 4-3 in those games, losing the AFC Championship to the Steelers in both 1978 and '79. He was signed by Bum Phillips as a non-drafted free agent.

Thompson's Oilers teammates included Pro Football Hall of Famers Earl Campbell, Mike Munchak and Elvin Bethea. He also served as a reserve kicker and converted all four PATs he attempted in an emergency situation vs. the New York Jets in a 1981 contest.

Collegiately, Thompson was a three-year starter (1972-74) at linebacker and team captain ('74) for SMU. As a sophomore he played under head coach Hayden Fry, and Phillips, his eventual pro coach, was defensive coordinator. He also served as the team's placekicker as a senior. Following his football career, in the spring of '75 he lettered as an outfielder for the Mustangs' baseball team. He gained Academic All-Southwest Conference honors and graduated with a bachelor's degree in business administration.

Born Jan. 17, 1953, in Atlanta, Texas, Thompson was an all-region player at the city's high school, lining up at running back, linebacker and placekicker. He also lettered in basketball, baseball, track and golf. He is single and enjoys an occasional round of golf in times of leisure.

SHERMAN G

Executive Vice President & Head Coach

Easily taken for granted by some, winning never is easy, nor is it handed to anyone. And so it is for Mike Sherman, the Packers' purposeful sixthyear head coach, who has never met a workload that he wouldn't attack with fervor.

It surely is a labor of love for the 50-year-old Sherman, once a fan of the team he now coaches while growing up in his native New England. How heady it must be for him to follow those who have come before him, including team founder

Curly Lambeau and coach-for-the-ages Vince Lombardi. Though a Super Bowl so far has eluded him – as it has many of the other successful head coaches in the National Football League today – Sherman has compiled an impressive list of accomplishments

CAREER en route to a 55-31 overall record in his five seasons as Green Bay's head coach. Among them are:

► Three straight (NFC North) division titles for only the fourth time in team history, joining Lombardi's three-time winners of 1960-62 and 1965-67, along with the 1995-97 division champions of Mike Holmgren;

► Four consecutive playoff appearances;

- Five straight winning seasons (9-7 in 2000, 12-4 in 2001 and '02, 10-6 in 2003 and '04);
- Reaching 50 career victories, including playoffs, second fastest among the Packers' 13 head coaches;
- ► Three of the Packers' six winning records on the road over the past 36 seasons, including last year's 6-2 mark away from home – Green Bay's best since 1972; and
- A 20-4 regular-season record (.833) Dec. 1 or later best in the NFL the past five seasons – including a perfect 4-0 in both 2000 and 2003 (the Packers have a plus-28 turnover ratio in those 24 games).

In 2005, Sherman will have the opportunity to do something that none of his Green Bay predecessors accomplished: capture a fourth consecutive division championship. Not Lambeau, not Lombardi, not Holmgren – not one of those excellent coaches, or any others, ever won four straight division titles.

One of the chief reasons Sherman consistently has been able to lead his team to division crowns is his success within the division, having gone 25-9 vs. the Packers' NFC Central/North foes during his tenure. Only the Rams' Mike Martz, also 25-9 (within the NFC West), has done as well against his own division among active NFL head coaches of two-or-more seasons.

On a league-wide basis, Sherman's 53-27 regularseason record (.663) ties him with the Steelers' Bill Cowher (also 53-27) for the fifth-best mark by an NFL head coach in his first five seasons of those coaches who began their careers after the 1970 AFL-NFL merger. Only the Rams' Chuck Knox (54-15-1, .779), the 49ers' George Seifert (62-18, .775), the Redskins' Joe Gibbs (51-22, .699) and the Bears' Mike Ditka (50-23, .685) have started out better.

Also remarkable is the fact that, though NFL teams have made 84 coaching changes since the 1993 collective bargaining agreement, Sherman is the only head coach from that group who has been able to post a winning season in each of his first five years (next closest is the Dolphins' Dave Wannstedt with four from 2000-03).

Among current NFL head coaches, Sherman holds the fourth-best overall winning percentage (.640, 5531), trailing only the Falcons' Jim Mora (.667, 12-6), the Redskins' Joe Gibbs (.661, 146-75) and the Eagles' Andy Reid (.657, 71-37).

From solely the Packers perspective, Sherman is one of just four head coaches (of 13 total) in franchise history to hold a winning career mark, joining Hall of Famers Lambeau and Lombardi along with Super Bowlvictor Holmgren.

Mike Sherman at a glance

- Now is in his sixth season as the Packers' 13th head coach.
 Has led the Packers to three straight division titles (2002-04) for only the fourth time in team history, joining Vince Lombard's three-time winners of 1960-62 and 1965-67.
- along with the 1995-97 division champs of Mike Holmgren.

 This season will attempt to do what no Green Bay head coach ever has done: lead his team to a fourth consecutive division championship.
- First tenure with Packers came as tight ends/assistant offensive line coach over the 1997-98 seasons, following 16 years as an assistant in the college ranks; coached in Green Bay's Super Bowl XXXII loss to Denver.
- In 2004 became the second-fastest head coach in team history to reach 50 career victories, doing so in his 78th contest; only Lombardi, with 50 wins in 66 games, did so quicker.
- Grew up as an avid fan of the Boston Red Sox, idolizing outfielders Ted Williams and Carl Yastrzemski, and took pride in the team's 2004 World Series triumph.

Sherman in 2004 became the second-fastest head coach in team history to reach 50 career victories, doing so in his 78th contest, a 34-31 triumph over Minnesota Nov. 14. Only Lombardi, who posted 50 wins in 66 games, has reached the milestone quicker in club annals. Sherman is tied (with the Broncos' Mike Shanahan) as the 18th-fastest coach to 50 victories in NFL history, and the only active head coaches who have reached the 50-win plateau sooner than he and Shanahan are Gibbs (71 games) and Cowher (75 games).

Over the course of the past five years, the Packers assuredly have taken on the personality of their head coach. Always well prepared with a painstaking eye on detail, Sherman's troops have been among the league's least penalized teams in three of his seasons, ranking third in 2003 following fifth- and eighth-place finishes in 2000 and 2001, respectively.

Those traits assuredly have aided them in negating a recent Achilles' heel for the team: winning in dome stadiums. In 2004, the Packers went 3-1 in their four games played indoors. Sherman also has posted a 3-2 record, including wins the past two years, inside the Metrodome, where Green Bay had gone 1-7 in quarterback Brett Favre's first eight trips to Minneapolis.

A big proponent of the importance of family,

Sherman constantly works hard to ensure a strong sense of camaraderie within the Green Bay locker room. Fostered through such things as dodge ball tournaments and bowling events during mini-camps as well as by tongue-in-cheek videos that poke fun at players and coaches alike during the season, the Packers' tremendous harmony shows itself on the field. "You have to be able to laugh as a team — nothing creates cohesion and unity better than humor," said Sherman.

Sherman also is not afraid to try unconventional approaches to everyday matters, such as excusing Favre from this past offseason's mandatory mini-camp and all other organized team activities in an effort to fuel the 15-year veteran's passion for the game.

The high level of mental toughness displayed by Sherman's Packers teams in meeting adversity can be traced to the blocks of time he often spends during the preseason discussing the dire circumstances that assuredly will occur over the course of a 16-game NFL season and the manner in which he expects his players to handle those times. Such lessons no question bore fruit in 2004 when Green Bay found itself sitting at 1-4 and in last place for the first time since 1988. The fact that his team did not fracture and was able to rebound to win nine of its last 11 regular-season games - picking up a third straight division title and becoming but the ninth team in league history to make the playoffs after starting 1-4 - is a strong testament to the small lessons he deems important but which other coaches may believe are inconsequential.

Sherman further has buttressed his message by surprising his players with appearances by great athletes and coaches from other sports, along with utilizing the Packers' own great cast of alumni. During the 2002 preseason, he brought former heavyweight boxing champion Joe Frazier into a night-before-game meeting in Philadelphia in order to give his team a lesson about determination and how it can translate into success. He also has invited in legends such as one-time Boston Celtics great Bill Russell (who happened to be a boyhood idol of his) and Texas Tech basketball coach Bob Knight.

"Mike is very resilient and has a real knack of keeping team chemistry," club President and CEO Bob Harlan says. "And I think that's huge in today's sports world."

ASCENT TO THE TOP

Perhaps a measure of Sherman's relative anonymity outside of Packer fans can be traced to his quiet, meteoric rise to his current position. From the time he arrived in Green Bay in 1997 to become tight ends coach under Holmgren, fresh from a second tour of duty as offensive line coach at Texas A&M, to when he was named as the 13th head coach in Packers history Jan. 18, 2000, less than four years' time had passed.

While he had coached in a Super Bowl (Green Bay's Super Bowl XXXII loss to Denver), at the time of his hiring in 2000 he was not yet on everybody's short-list of head-coaching candidates, having gone with Holmgren to Seattle as offensive coordinator only a year earlier.

Shortly after that 1999 season, he was invited to Green Bay for an interview with Wolf, who at the time was seeking a successor to Ray Rhodes. Later disclosing that Sherman "blew my socks off" in their meeting, Wolf called him the following day to offer the Packers' head-coaching position and, 48 hours later, formally named him to the post.

Roughly a year after that, Wolf pulled him aside to say that he planned to retire as general manager after the upcoming, 2001 NFL Draft. In a matter of days, Harlan quietly had decided that the best direction for the franchise at that time was to turn over the general manager responsibilities to Sherman and have him hold a dual role, a change announced Feb. 1, 2001. Sherman served as general manager in addition to his coaching duties for four seasons until Wolf protégé Ted Thompson returned to the organization Jan. 14, 2005, to become G.M.

In the three drafts he oversaw as the Packers' chief talent evaluator (2002-04), Sherman brought several building-block-type players into the organization. Included in that group are wide receiver Javon Walker, Sherman's initial first-round pick (in '02) who blossomed into a Pro Bowler last year; linebacker Nick Barnett, Green Bay's top tackler each of his first two seasons; Ahmad Carroll, an 11-game starter in '04; as well as mid- to late-round picks Najeh Davenport, Aaron Kampman, Craig Nall, Corey Williams and Scott Wells.

2000 DEBUT SEASON

Justifying Wolf's initial confidence, Sherman proceeded to put his personal stamp upon the team and the organization, the Packers winning more games against teams with winning records (six) than any other team in the league. They also:

- ► In going 4-0 in December, were matched by only the Tennessee Titans and New York Giants, AFC Central and NFC East champions as well as the No. 1 seeds in their respective conferences for the playoffs;
- ► Posted a 5-2 record against playoff teams;
- Won their last five games in Lambeau Field, reclaiming the home-field advantage they enjoyed for most of the '90s; and
- Shared the best record within the division (5-3) with Minnesota, on the heels of a sweep of the NFC Central to close the year.

In the process, at 9-7 Sherman became only the fourth head coach in team history to post a winning record in his first season on the job, joining icons Lambeau, Lombardi and Holmgren.

Having solidly established his program, Sherman then proceeded to effect a three-victory improvement upon that performance in 2001, his second season, leading the Packers to as many as 12 victories for only the fifth time in the team's NFL history. Along the way, Green Bay punctuated its imposing won-lost record with some singular accomplishments, among them:

- Gave NFC Central champion Chicago two of its three regular-season losses in sweeping the Packers' longtime rival:
- ► The defense set a team record by amassing 52 sacks, led by second-year pro Kabeer Gbaja-Biamila with a team-high 13.5;

- On the other side of the ball, the offensive line gave up only 22 sacks over the 16-game season, then the fewest a Packers team had allowed since 1974, when NFL teams played a 14-game schedule; and
- The team's plus-30 sack ratio, between those made and those allowed, was the largest differential in its history.

In building on those imposing achievements with another 12-4 record in 2002, Sherman may well have done his finest coaching job to date, demonstrating the ability to extract optimum performance from his players despite myriad injury problems. Starters were forced from the lineup a cumulative 71 times over the course of the season, chief among them offensive tackles Mark Tauscher (14 games) and Chad Clifton (seven) as well as a trio of defensive lineman: Joe Johnson (12), Vonnie Holliday (six) and Gilbert Brown (four).

Despite these substantial handicaps, Sherman deftly guided the Packers to the NFC North Division championship with record dispatch, executing the earliest clinching of a division title in team history (with four games to play) since the advent of the NFL's 16-game regular-season schedule in 1978. The Packers' earliest previous clinching(s) had come in the Super Bowl years of 1996 and 1997, when they sealed back-to-back title acquisitions with two games remaining to play in each case (Green Bay earlier had clinched with three games to play in the 14-game, 1967 season).

Sherman's coaching performance was duly noted when he was named 'Staples NFL Coach of the Year' after garnering 46.9 percent of 178,730 fan votes on nfl.com; runner-up Marty Schottenheimer of the San Diego Chargers received 11.4 percent of the votes.

In additionally sharing the league's best regular-season record with the Super Bowl champion Tampa Bay Buccaneers and the NFC East champion Philadelphia Eagles while gaining the playoffs for the second year in a row, the Packers also:

- ▶ Led the NFL in takeaways (45); and
- ▶ Led the league in passing touchdowns (29).

The injury factor, however, ultimately and inexorably took its toll, as the Packers fell to the Atlanta Falcons and the remarkably talented Michael Vick in the opening game of the league's Wild Card playoffs, 27-7, thus ending their perfect (13-0) home-field record in the post-season (11-0 in Lambeau Field).

Tied with Belichick for league's third-best tenure

In 1993, the NFL adopted its current collective bargaining agreement. That CBA has given pro football more labor peace and prosperity than any major league sport. The compromise gave the owners a salary cap and the players unrestricted free agency. But that agreement has also created parity, challenging front offices and coaches more than any era in history.

Sherman could post a sixth consecutive winning season in 2005. Since the 1993 CBA, NFL teams have changed coaches 84 times and only Sherman's tenure has produced winning seasons in each of its first five years. With a sixth straight winning campaign, he would continue to own one of the longest streaks among current head coaches. Andy Reid (2000-04) is the only other coach with an active five-year streak.

Since 1993, Mike Sherman's .663 winning percentage is tied with Bill Belichick for the league's third-most successful tenure.

Among those tenures that began 1993 or later, only 26 have posted a better than .500 record over more than one season:

2003

Overcoming what only could be described as a dire situation at midseason — a 3-4 record heading into the team's bye and a seemingly-indestructible quarterback, Favre, who had a broken thumb on his throwing hand — the Packers rallied to go 7-2 down the stretch, including a pair of wins in venues that had given them great difficulty in recent years, the Vikings' Metrodome and the Buccaneers' Raymond James Stadium.

And, when archrival Minnesota dropped its season finale at Arizona on the final play of the year, by virtue of its own second-half surge Green Bay was positioned to take advantage of the Vikings' misstep, capturing a second straight NFC North Division crown with a 10-6 record.

The Packers had realized that opportunity primarily through Sherman's ability to remake his club during its week off, turning it into a run-first, pass-second group that relied as much, if not more, on running back Ahman Green than it did on future Hall of Famer Favre. As a team, Green Bay proceeded to rush for better than 190 yards in each of its next four games and, later, when opponents heavily stacked the line of scrimmage in an effort to shut down the running game, the Packers put the ball back into Favre's capable hands en route to a 4-0 December.

On the way to a fourth straight winning season, Green Bay also:

► Set new single-season franchise records for yards rushing (2,558) and yards per carry (5.05), spurred by Green's 1,883-yard year that tied for the seventh best in league history;

Racked up 442 points and 5,798 net yards, totals that at the time ranked as the second highest in club record books:

 Watched Favre lead the league in touchdown passes for the fourth time in his career, with 32; and

Was the only NFL team to finish in the top five in both red-zone offense (second) and red-zone defense (fifth).

The Packers subsequently dispatched the feisty Seattle Seahawks from the NFC playoffs with a dramatic, overtime victory in the Wild Card round, before themselves losing in the fifth period, at Philadelphia the following week in a Divisional contest.

After starting the season off 1-4 and residing in last place within their division for the first time since 1988, the Packers clearly were behind the eight ball for a second straight year. The already-bad situation seemed to become that much worse when the team's offensive coordinator, Tom Rossley, required an emergency angioplasty to clear a blocked artery and would miss the next game.

But, as he had done the season before, Sherman was able to maintain unity and righted the ship. He gave an inspiring speech to his team on the eve of its game at Detroit Oct. 17, making a personal connection with many of his players that night. Taking over the play-calling duties the following day in Rossley's absence, Sherman unleashed an offensive explosion that would continue through the balance of the season under his direction, setting several club records in the process.

Green Bay rebounded to win nine of its last 11 regular-season games and became just the ninth team in NFL history to make the playoffs after beginning the year 1-4. Ultimately, the season came down to the Packers' Christmas Eve showdown with nemesis Minnesota inside the hostile Metrodome Scratching and clawing to stay even with the Vikings throughout the contest, all looked to be lost in the NFC North title game when Minnesota returned an interception for a touchdown to take a 31-24 lead with only 8:18 remaining. But, as it had done all year, team responded Sherman's valiantly, scoring the game's final 10 points - a fourth-down TD, followed by a 76-yard drive in the last minute-and-a-half to set up the winning field goal as time expired for a 34-31 triumph and its third straight division title.

 En route to a third consecutive division crown for only the fourth time in team history, the Packers additionally:

Established all-time single-season records for total net yards (6,357), first downs (354), net yards passing (4,449), completions (382) and fewest sacks allowed (14), spurred in part by Sherman's play-calling starting with the sixth game;

 Were the No. 1 offense in the NFC, posting 400-ormore yards in 10 games after having nine such performances over the prior three years (2001-03);

➤ Scored five defensive touchdowns — the most since the 1997 team also had five — including scores at Detroit and vs. St. Louis that changed those games; and ▶ Posted the team's best road record – 6-2 – in 32 years, when the 1972 club went 6-1 away from home in a 14-game season.

Having beaten Minnesota twice during the regular season, the Packers joined the long list of NFL teams who could not defeat an opponent for a third time when the two met in the postseason. The Vikings jumped to an early 17-0 lead from which Green Bay could not come back, and Minnesota captured a 31-17 victory in an NFC Wild Card playoff game at Lambeau Field.

PHILOSOPHIES, STYLE, BACKGROUND

A 27-year veteran of the coaching profession, Mike Sherman has coached at every level — high school, college and professional — over his varied career. He was associated in tutoring eight bowl teams during 16 seasons in the college ranks prior to being named to the Green Bay staff in 1997 by Holmgren. Returning as head coach, he brought with him, among other assets, an intimate knowledge of the 'West Coast' offense in which Favre has flourished over the past 13 years, becoming the National Football League's first three-time 'Most Valuable Player' in the process.

Beyond that, however, he came to his responsibilities with a highly developed agenda for returning the Packers to NFL heights following a one-year absence in 1999, when Green Bay fell short of the playoffs for the first time in seven years with an 8-8 record.

"I feel very confident in what I want to get done here."
Sherman let it be known from the outset. "Right from the beginning, I wanted to be organized, structured and disciplined, both with the players and coaches. I want to generate a genuine concern with the team for each other. I think that it is important that the chemistry factor on our team is where it should be in order for us to have success."

"Whatever it is, we're going to have a plan. And

think with detailed organization, well thought out plans, and a commitment to discipline, that you can create an aura of confidence in players and coaches – and I think confidence is a necessary component of what it takes to be successful."

From his initial days as head coach — when he wrote, then fully memorized, his first speech to the team, laying out his agenda to the players in a 25-minute presentation at the team's March 2000 mini-camp — to today, there never has been a day when Sherman hasn't been fully prepared, when he hasn't known what the next five things he wanted to accomplish were.

He regularly writes and maintains a journal, referring back to it oftentimes for guidance on how he handled a past situation with his team.

Sherman also is a man who is not afraid of conflict, especially if it's an issue that adversely affects his team. He relishes the opportunity to hit problems head on, to deal with them immediately and to move forward.

Like Holmgren before him, Sherman had taken on his current coaching challenge without benefit of previous head-coaching experience at any level – but with quiet confidence. He made that explicitly clear the day he was hired to succeed Rhodes, posing and answering the key question himself.

"Is Mike Sherman, with limited NFL experience and no head coaching experience, ready to be the head football coach for one of the cornerstone franchises in the NFL," he asked rhetorically at his first news conference. "My answer to that many answer to that are the companion of the companion of 21 years. Twenty-one years ago, I was an English teacher and an assistant coach in Stamford, Conn. At that time, I was preparing for this day."

A TASTE OF COACHING

An English major and political science minor in college, Sherman became a coach quite by chance – he originally wanted to be a sports writer or a lawyer.

"I figured I was going to be one or the other," he recalled. "But when I was getting out of college, my college coach told me there was a high school teaching and coaching job open in Stamford (Conn.), and that I should give it a try. Once I got my taste of coaching, I knew that was what I wanted to do."

And a coach he has been ever since. Following that initial year at Stamford High School (1978), when he taught five English classes during the day in addition to his coaching, and two years at Worcester (Mass.) Academy (1979-80), Sherman entered the college ranks at the University of Pittsburgh in 1981. After two years as a part-time coach at Pitt, he joined the Tulane staff in 1983 as offensive line coach. Sherman later moved to Holy Cross in 1985, again to coach the offensive line, before becoming the offensive coordinator of the Crusaders' "run-and-shoot" offense in 1988.

He then spent five years as offensive line coach at Texas A&M (1989-93) before moving to UCLA in the same role for one year. He returned to A&M as offensive line coach in 1995 and was named offensive coordinator for the Aggies following the 1996 season.

Before he could take over the latter assignment, however, Holmgren lured him to Green Bay, where he became tight ends/assistant offensive line coach and his days as a college football coach were behind him.

A SPECIAL PLACE

Perhaps because of his own long-time love affair with the Packers, fostered while growing up in the Boston area, or simply because he realizes the magnitude of his position within the sports world – compared by some to being the manager of the New York Yankees or the head coach of the Los Angeles Lakers – Sherman firmly embraces the uniqueness and history of the franchise.

"The tradition is a big part of it for me," he says. "Coaching is exciting anywhere, but being here with all the history, tradition, all the following of the fans and all the expectations, it makes it a very special place.

"Other places evaluate you by wins and losses. In Green Bay, you're evaluated by how many championships you win."

Over the course of the 32-month Lambeau Field redevelopment project, completed in 2003, Sherman was deeply involved in ensuring that the franchise's great history was brought out in his team's football facilities. He did it to help his players better understand those who came before them. But he also did it because it was the proper thing to do.

On their way through the door each morning, as they walk to their impressive, modern-day locker room — which Sherman meticulously had a hand in developing — the players are reminded of the various eras in franchise history, along with being told about the 20 Packers enshrined in the Pro Football Hall of Fame. In the main team meeting room, photos of Green Bay's 12 championship teams hang prominently. In other player areas, photos of great games and great players in the history of the Packers abound.

"Mike views Green Bay as a very special place to coach," Harlan says. "And, because of that, this is his life – his total devotion is to see to it that the Green Bay Packers are successful. He'll say to me, 'Our fans expect it and our fans deserve it.' For someone who came from the outside, who had no outward connection to the Packers prior to coming here, I have never been around a head coach who has the total appreciation Mike does for what this franchise means to the National Football League.

"And when we redeveloped Lambeau Field, he wanted to put the tradition and history of this team into every part of the stadium to remind the players what kind of shoes they're filling."

Sherman also asked for a pair of more subtle items during the course of the stadium renovation, both of which serve as a connection to the people and past teams that have made the franchise so special to him and others. First, he requested that the door and its frame from Lombardi's former office be relocated to serve as the primary entryway to his new office. And, more in the public eye, he asked that three slabs of concrete be taken from the north tunnel that Packers teams previously used be incorporated into the team's new path to the field, a tunnel in the southeast corner of the stadium.

"It's the only fan-owned operation in all of sports," Sherman adds. "I embrace that part. I have a unique fondness for this state, I really do. That's probably one thing that motivates me, more than anything, is the families that get together to watch the game on TV. I think about that a lot as my responsibility to these families, and the memories that are being made.

I'm a lot like them. I have a family, and I love the Packers. And I take my responsibility to serve the fans very seriously."

ADMINISTRATION

GROWING UP

Mike Sherman never has forgotten from where he came. He was one of five children in the close-knit family of Frank and Claire Sherman and initially grew up in the Hyde Park neighborhood of Boston, surrounded by grandparents, aunts and uncles, and cousins, who all lived nearby.

His father was an industrial contractor, who insulated pipes and ducts for new factories and schools throughout New England. His mother was a homemaker, who later went back to work as a hotel maid to help pay for his brothers' education; she worked her way up to become the executive housekeeper of one of New England's largest hotels.

He grew up a staunch fan of his hometown Boston Red Sox and, as one of the few diversions he allows himself outside of faith, family and the Packers, he found Boston's October 2004 World Series victory especially gratifying. Earlier, as a student at Boston Latin School, many times following classes he would walk to nearby Fenway Park and purchase a bleacher seat for 75 cents, from which he would cheer one of his idols, left fielder Carl Yastrzemski.

He also was a childhood teammate of Mark Fidrych, the popular Detroit Tigers pitcher known as "The Bird," who was the 1976 AL 'Rookie of the Year.'

Later, after Frank Sherman moved his family to the suburbs, at Algonquin Regional High School in Northboro, Mass., Sherman was a three-sport athlete – participating in wrestling and track, in addition to football – and was consistently involved in athletics, also playing baseball, basketball and hockey on local town and church teams.

As a collegian, Sherman played three seasons at Central Connecticut State University (1974, 1976-77; he redshirted in 1975). He spent one year at defensive end, then finished up his career as an offensive tackle.

"I wasn't All-American – just a plugger, a guy who loved to play – I even loved to practice!" Sherman once said with a self-effacing chuckle. "I was an overachiever who loved the game of football, but someone who thrived on and cherished the challenges, successes as well as failures, and the friendships and camaraderie that developed along the way."

In honor of his CCSU career and his subsequent contributions to the game of football, Sherman was inducted into the school's hall of fame in the spring of 2002.

SOLID & CONSISTENT

Rossley, previously a coaching colleague at Holy Cross for two seasons (1986-87), succinctly sums up what Sherman brings to every challenge.

"With Mike Sherman," Rossley said, "you get a solid guy, a solid coach and a solid person. And you get the same thing every day. He's going to be there working when you get there, and he's going to be there when you leave."

In-season as well as during the offseason, it is not unusual for Sherman's car to be the first one in the parking lot in the morning and the last one to leave at night. The same holds true for offseason weekends.

PERSONAL

To those who know him the Packers' 13th head coach has a dry sense of humor that belies his often-stoic demeanor. Born Michael Francis Sherman in Norwood, Mass., Dec. 19, 1954, he and his wife, Karen, have five children – daughters Sarah (age 22), Emily (18) and Selena (5), and sons Matthew (16) and Benjamin (12).

The oldest, Sarah, a 2005 graduate of Marquette with a degree in journalism, is a graduate assistant in the University of Nebraska sports information department after previously interning for two summers in the Packers' public relations department and working in the Associated Press' Milwaukee bureau while in college. Emily, a member of the Green Bay Notre Dame girls basketball team that was the Division 2 state runner-up for the 2004-05 season, enters St. Norbert College in nearby De Pere, Wis., this fall. Matt is a sophomore at Notre Dame and plays for the school's football team, while Ben is a seventh-grader who plays for the West Side Wolverines football team. Selena begins kindergarten this fall at Holy Family School in Green Bay.

The Sherman family, especially Karén, has been actively involved for several years with Marion House, a licensed group home in Green Bay for pregnant and parenting teens and their children. It was through that association that the Shermans came to know Selena, who formally joined the Sherman family late in 2003 through adoption.

In addition to working with their local parish, he and Karen have been involved in the community through the annual YWCA Families of Distinction Dinner (she has served as the event's honorary chairperson) and Green and Gold Gala to benefit Family Services of Green Bay. The Packers' coach also annually hosts the 'Mike Sherman Celebrity Invitational Golf Tournament' to benefit Cystic Fibrosis in May.

An avid reader, Sherman also is fond of water sports such as scuba diving, fishing and water skiing, often escaping to his cottage in nearby Sturgeon Bay, Wis, (about an hour north of Green Bay) to partake in those activities.

But, for the most part, "I like to spend time with my family" during leisure away from Lambeau Field. Sherman said. "My faith, my family...and the Green Bay SCO Packers are the most important things in my life. Balancing these three parts of my life is definitely a challenge, but I welcome it each and every day."

JONES ©

Executive Vice President & Chief Operating Officer

Second in organizational command and the designated successor to President and CEO Bob Harlan when he retires, John M. Jones brings a broad spectrum of experience in management at the National Football League's highest levels to his role as executive vice president and chief operating officer of the Green Bay Packers.

Appointed to the then-new position in the club's corporate structure by Harlan on Oct. 16, 2001, with the approval of the Packers' Executive Committee and board of directors, Jones complements his extensive background with impressively high energy and infectious enthusiasm for his challenging and multiple responsibilities as he leads the day-to-day operations of the club.

Harlan, who will retire after the 2006 season, already had the succession plan in mind when he hired the personable Jones away from the NFL Management Council in 1999 as Green Bay's senior vice president of administration

"I think one of my responsibilities is, first of all, to make sure the transition go smoothly," Harlan said, "and secondly, to make sure the proper people are in place so when I go we don't skip a beat. We're in that position.

The work of J.J. and our strong management team has been outstanding as we've fully opened the redeveloped Lambeau Field. We've seen the positive results of great planning and execution, and as we continue to grow in this new facility we must fully utilize its resources. We certainly have gifted people to carry that out and J.J. has demonstrated he is a talented leader with great vision, capable of utilizing everyone's strengths in taking this organization forward."

In guiding the Packers' financial plan for the future, Jones' efforts paid dividends in the recent 2005 fiscal year as the Packers again realized new record profitability while retaining 10th place in league revenue rankings for the third year in a row. In 2002, the club realized a dramatic revenue impact of a redeveloped Lambeau Field and moved to a 10th-place NFL revenue ranking during the 2003 fiscal year, its highest placement since finishing ninth in the Super Bowl year of 1997.

he performance demonstrates the team has made steps toward delivering on its promise to the community and its fans - turning profitability into the preservation of the franchise and the stadium. Over the past three years, the organization has been able to make substantial inroads on a key component of that promise, building up the Packers Franchise Preservation Fund, emergency monies that can finance the team's football operations for a year. Currently, the reserves stand at $97.7 million, an impressive improvement from its $58 million total just a few years ago.

In addition to financial stewardship, Jones led the organization in developing a new, fully encompassing strategic plan, including the creation of a staff leadership and management skills development program. As part of the enhanced corporate vision, the Packers have held organization-wide strategic planning sessions each of the past three years, strengthening every department and preparing the club to sustain future success.

Another promise to the community, utilizing a redeveloped Lambeau Field as a community resource, has seen results, too, as the Packers were honored in 2003 by receiving two tourism awards - one from Wisconsin's department of tourism and the other from the Packer Country Regional Tourism Office. Each recognized the team's dramatic impact on bringing in visitors to the area and the associated economic benefits; in 2004, tourism spending in Brown County increased by 7.7 percent. Last March saw 3,000 people descend upon the Atrium, many of them from outside the area, for the first annual Packers Fan Fest. Additionally, Jones and the Packers unveiled plans this past summer for Lambeau Field's first hockey game, a Feb. 11, 2006, matchup between Wisconsin and Ohio State; the weekend will include multiple events and feature youth programs as well.

Originally joined the organization Feb. 10, 1999, as senior vice president of administration.
- Continued the organization's solid financial rebound in 2005 as the team retained its 10th-place NFL revenue ranking for the third straight season.
- Assisted in creating a new local broadcast partnership joining WFRV-TV in Green Bay and WTMJ-TV in Milwaukee with CBS Sports and Viacom to produce Packers' preseason games, create year-round TV programming and promote economic development/fourism at Lambeau Field.
- Serves as a member on the NFL's Stadium Committee and on the board of directors of NFL Business Ventures.
- During a 10-year tenure with the NFL Management Council, was a member of the league's negotiating team that forged the NFL Collective Bargaining Agreement and created the salary cap system in 1993.
- Also spearheaded the NFLMC's development of an intranet site on the World Wide Web in 1999 and with it a new electronic contract reporting system used by every club to report player signings by e-mail.
- Attended graduate journalism school at the University of Wisconsin, developing early ties to the Packers, leaving school in 1974 to become editor of Ray Nitschke's Packer Report, a position he held through 1975.

Furthermore, Jones has led efforts to utilize the new facility and expand the Packers' service to the community through Lambeau Field Atrium youth programs such as Spooktacular and Project LEAP.

Demonstrating the organization's commitment to education, the Packers and the Green Bay Area Public School District developed a fourth-grade level children's tour in the new Packers Hall of Fame that highlights its educational components and launched, with the additional help of WFRV-TV, 'Fit Kids,' a program to promote health and fitness to students in the fourth grade. The program received an excellence in broadcasting award from the Wisconsin Broadcasters Association and awards of merit and excellence from the National School Public Relations Association. The team also took part the past two years in presenting 'Best in Class,' a salute to the area's top high school graduates.

In the area of team partnerships, Jones and the Packers' negotiating team in 2002 created a new local broadcast partnership that is now regarded as an NFL model for year-round brand extension. The partnership joins WFRV-TV in Green Bay and WTMJ-TV in Milwaukee with CBS Sports and Viacom in the production of Packers' preseason games, year-round TV pro-

Field as a year-round destination venue.

His earlier work on the Lambeau Field redevelopment project included serving as the Packers' lead negotiator in the parallel and challenging task of working out a 30year stadium lease with the City of Green Bay and the Green Bay/Brown County Professional Football District, contracts essential to proceeding with the Lambeau Field construction project in early 2001. Jones also coordinated execution of the organization's $13 million loan from the National Football League for the project.

Harlan noted that Jones had been "tremendously valuable during the stadium referendum (of 2000) and with negotiations involving the City of Green Bay and the Brown County Professional Football District."

In the latter situation, critical to the organization's future, the purposeful New Orleans native proved to be a front office leader/warrior of the highest order when called upon to serve in that highly intricate process.

Just a year following his arrival in Green Bay, the passionate Jones found himself utilizing his considerable skills to help Harlan guide the organization through the complicated political maneuvers for achieving a proposed $295 million redevelopment of Lambeau Field with an eye to assuring the team's economic survival in the NFL for the next three decades and beyond. Along with Harlan, Jones had conceived the idea of transforming "Lambeau" into a yearround destination.

From the league perspective, NFL Commissioner Paul Tagliabue tapped Jones' stadium expertise by naming him to the league's Stadium Committee. In that role, Jones serves at the highest level of league dialogue regarding new stadium construction and major capital improvements, helping NFL clubs utilize every tool in remaining the nation's premier sports league. Through his involvement on the committee, and working closely with its chairman, Panthers owner Jerry Richardson, Jones has gleaned valuable information and ensures the Packers are well represented. He also serves on the board of directors of NFL Business Ventures.

Also continuing his professional development, Jones participated in the NFL's business development conference in 2003 and '04 at Stanford University's Graduate School of Business, presenting at last year's conference on stadium economics and development.

Named as senior vice president of administration by Harlan Feb. 10, 1999, the savvy Jones joined the Packers following a 10-year tenure at the NFL Management Council - with extensive knowledge of the Salary Cap and significant experience as both a negotiator and administrator.

In the process, Jones was a member of the league's negotiating team which secured a global settlement of player lawsuits against the NFL in January of 1993 and therefrom subsequently forged the Collective Bargaining Agreement and created the Salary Cap system.

A respected leader of the Packers' front office, the 53-year-old Jones is responsible for supervision of the Cap and contract management - as well as management of the organization's administrative staff and business operations, including the Lambeau Field Atrium, finance, stadium operations, ticketing, public relations, marketing, community relations and retail.

Earlier, while with the NFL, Jones was one of the architects of the Salary Cap computer software and trained executives from every club in the league in using the new technology to manage the Cap. More recently, he spearheaded the Management Council's development of an intranet site, providing a broad range of Cap and club management information to club executives

Jones had begun his 10-year, two-stage career with the NFL Management Council in 1987 as director of public relations, serving as spokesman for the NFL during the player strike of that year. Later, after Tagliabue became commissioner in 1989, he was named the Council's director of operations.

e left the NFLMC in 1994 to become executive director of administration for the expansion Jacksonville Jaguars. He returned to the Management Council in 1996 as director of administration and information, the post he held when invited to join the Packers organization.

Prior to entering employment in the NFL office, Jones spent 11 years as a teacher and journalist following graduation from Loyola University of the South in New Orleans, from which he received a degree in journalism in 1973. He attended graduate journalism school at the University of Wisconsin before returning to New Orleans to serve as an instructor of journalism at Loyola from 1976 to 1978.

Jones subsequently embarked on a journalistic career with the New Orleans Times-Picayune, earning a dozen firstplace awards from the Louisiana Sports Writers' Association for writing, editing and design over a nine-year span.

While at the University of Wisconsin, Jones developed early ties to the Packers, leaving school in 1974 to become editor of Ray Nitschke's Packer Report, a position he held through 1975.

Jones, born Feb. 6, 1952, in New Orleans, and his family have other Wisconsin connections. John's wife, Cindy, a native of Cedarburg, Wis., received her bachelor's degree in psychology from Loyola and a master's degree in social work from Tulane University. She works as a psychotherapist at the Counseling Clinic at Family Services in Green Bay.

The Jones' daughter, Sarah, 30, a 1996 graduate of the University of Wisconsin-Madison in political science as well as a 2000 graduate of the New York University School of Law, recently became a corporate attorney at PepsiCo world headquarters in Purchase, N.Y., after four years as an associate attorney at the New York City offices of the law firm Morgan, Lewis and Bockius. Their son, Blake, 24, graduated from the University of Wisconsin-Madison in December 2002 with a bachelor's degree in economics and is employed in the NFL's game operations department. Sarah's husband, Jonathan Bergman, is a graduate of the UW business school and is a certified financial planner and investments executive in Scarsdale, N.Y.

Active in the Green Bay community, Jones is a member of the boards of directors of the Packers Hall of Fame, the Green Bay Boys & Girls Club, Bellin Health in Green Bay and M&I Bank in Green Bay. A frequent speaker to area groups, Jones in 2004 gave the commencement address at the graduation ceremonies of the Northeastern Wisconsin Technical College in Green Bay.

Formerly a long-distance runner during leisure time he has run three marathons - Jones now has reluctantly confined himself to long-distance cycling following knee surgery. In the latter pursuit, he completed his third Miller Lite Ride for the Arts in Milwaukee (75 miles) this past June and in October 2004 took part in the cycling portion of the inaugural Green Bay Duathlon (30 miles). Previously he has taken part in the 100-kilometer Tour de Cure (in support of the American Diabetes Association) in Green Bay and several 50-mile events, including the Titletown Challenge in Green Bay. Exercise aside, Jones also is an avid movie buff and enjoys reading, particularly "history and fiction."

Vice President of Player Finance/General Counsel

Now in his seventh year in Green Bay, Andrew Brandt is in his fourth full season as the Packers' vice president of player finance/general counsel

Brandt was promoted to the position by team President

Bob Harlan on Oct. 11, 2001, who in making the announcement cited the Washington, D.C., native's outstanding work in Salary Cap management and excellent negotiating skills.

A tremendous asset to the organization who possesses an extensive background in player representation and management of a professional football team, Brandt originally joined the team on Feb. 16, 1999, when he was named director of player finance by then-Executive Vice President/General Manager Ron Wolf.

Brandt has primary responsibility in the organization for negotiating player contracts, dealing with player representatives and managing the complex and all-important Salary Cap.

"Andrew brings great talent to the table," Harlan says. "With his experience on both sides of the negotiating process, he's a wonderful benefit to the team. Also, even during the most challenging negotiations, he has a very calm demeanor - that's an excellent quality to have."

In his regular practice of "fitting pieces in a puzzle," Brandt has been able to meet the ever-increasing challenge of keeping Green Bay's nucleus intact while keeping contract numbers under the Cap and avoiding shortcuts that may hinder future success. As a recent example, the Packers in 2004 returned all 22 starters from the previous season's finale, one of the few such occasions that has happened for any club in the free agency era.

Brandt's work in recent years has enabled the Packers to secure the services, through new contracts and/or extensions, of several important core players. including Chad Clifton, Mark Tauscher, Robert Ferguson, Donald Driver, Na'il Diggs and Kabeer Gbaia-Biamila. The most important contract work came in 2001, ensuring that franchise quarterback Brett Favre would retire as a Packer by virtue of a long-term contract extension.

His efforts have helped Green Bay continue to have the NFL's best record since the institution of free agency and the Cap. The success in this arena by Brandt and the Packers in recent years, as well as the lack of training camp draft choice holdouts, has been widely noted. Brandt has presented each of the past two summers at the NFL's business development conference at Stanford University's Graduate School of Business, in '04 on contract negotiations and in '05 on the NFL's Salary Cap and Collective Bargaining Agreement.

n attorney, he also handles football-related legal matters for the organization. Brandt serves as the club's liaison with the NFL Management Council and also works very closely with the team's football operations and player personnel staffs.

He began his professional career with ProServ, Inc., one of the nation's leading sports management and marketing firms, after graduating cum laude from both Stanford University and Georgetown University Law School. While at ProServ, he managed a number of NBA and NFL players, among them Michael Jordan, Patrick Ewing, Boomer Esiason, Chris Doleman and former Packers wide receiver James Lofton.

In 1992, Brandt became the first general manager of the Barcelona Dragons of the World League of American Football (now the NFL Europe League), then becoming the youngest general manager in a major professional sports league. During his tenure, the Dragons were the league's winningest franchise, with an average attendance of 30,000.

Brandt subsequently taught sports law and sports business at both George Washington and American University in Washington, D.C., and created a program in sports management/sports law at the University of Illinois, a program that now serves as a model for the Big Ten Conference.

In 1996, Brandt became vice president of Bob Woolf

FRONT OFFICE

John Dorsey, now in his 15th year in the NFL's player personnel world, this season enjoys year six as the Packers' director of college scouting his third tenure in Green Bay.

An effective player for the Packers during the 1980s,

Dorsey oversees the college side of Green Bay's scouting operations, and also is actively involved in the area of pro personnel.

Brought back to the team as director of college scouting on May 8, 2000, by then-Executive Vice President/General Manager Ron Wolf, Dorsey earlier had been a key component in Green Bay's personnel operations for nine highly successful years. First hired as a college scout in May of 1991 with a focus on linebackers, he was retained by Wolf the following year and, ultimately, was promoted to head up the Packers' college scouting department Feb. 27, 1997, succeeding John Math, who retired.

Hired as director of player personnel for the Seattle Seahawks on Jan. 26, 1999, as he followed former Packers coach Mike Holmgren to the West Coast, Dorsey resigned that position just over a year later, leaving shortly after the 2000 NFL Draft.

The 45-year-old Dorsey earlier had scouted the midlands and southwest territories for Green Bay before focusing on the all-important southeast region in the final years of his second Packers tenure.

elected by Green Bay in the fourth round of the 1984 draft, beginning his initial Packers employment, Dorsey played five seasons for the team (1984-88) at linebacker and on special teams before spending a final year on injured reserve in 1989. He totaled 130 tackles as a pro, in addition to two fumble recoveries and one pass defensed. Dorsey led Green Bay's special teams in solo tackles in three of his first four seasons, a level of play which helped earn him selection as the Packers' special teams captain. Possessor of a streak of 76 consecutive non-strike games played, Dorsey saw that string end when he suffered a freak knee injury in pre-game warmups of the team's '89 season opener.

A four-year starter at the University of Connecticut (1980-83), Dorsey was named 'Defensive Player of the Year' in the Yankee Conference during each of his final two collegiate seasons, also earning Division I-AA All-America recognition as a senior. In 1998, he was selected to the school's 100th Anniversary All-Time Football professional football leagues, including the NFL, Canadian Football League, NFL Europe, Arena Football League, as well as all other pro leagues. He also plays an integral role in judging the Packers' current players as well as providing evaluations of potential free agents. McKenzie also contributes to the scouting of college players in assisting General Manager Ted Thompson prepare for the annual draft.

McKenzie oversees Green Bay's scouting efforts of all

A one-time National Football League linebacker for seven seasons (1985-90, 1992), the 42-year-old McKenzie initially had been promoted to director of propersonnel by then-Executive Vice President/General Manager Ron Wolf in May of 1997 after originally joining the Packers as a pro personnel assistant in 1994.

A 10th-round draft choice out of the University of Tennessee in 1985 by the then-Los Angeles Raiders. McKenzie went on to win all-rookie honors and was the team's second-leading tackler during each of his first two seasons. After four years with the Raiders (1985-88), McKenzie spent two seasons (1989-90) with the Phoenix Cardinals and one year (1992) with the San Francisco 49ers before a knee injury forced him to retire. Prior to signing with the 49ers, he played with the World League's Montreal Machine in the spring of 1992.

While out of football in 1991, McKenzie spent a season as a defensive coach for Dorsey High School in South Central Los Angeles. Led by Sharmon Shah, who would later change his name to Karim Abdul-Jabbar and become a Miami Dolphins running back, the school captured the league championship that year.

McKenzie returned to Tennessee and served as an assistant under head coach Phil Fulmer in 1993. While back in Knoxville, he also pursued a master's degree in education administration.

Major front-office changes during playoff runs

Five days after the Packers' playoff loss in January, President Bob Harlan made a difficult move, opting to change his football power structure by hiring Ted Thompson.

- The decision was about a system (the dual GM/head coach role), and not about people. It was based on structure, not on
- It also was very unique because most teams make such a decision on the heels of a playoff drought. Thanks to research by the Pro Football Hall of Fame, the Packers are believed to be the first team since the 1972 San Francisco 49ers to make such a move on their own after consecutive division crowns. The late-'90s Dolphins and late-'80s 49ers made similar mid-stream changes, but those moves originated from coaches' personal decisions; they didn't come from the top of the organization.
- No other team in modern history is believed to have made such a move after four straight playoff appearances (the '72 Niners had won two straight division titles). Philadelphia is the only other NFL club with an active four-year playoff streak, Now, moving forward, the Packers are making a bold attempt to improve on that track record.
- "It's what I think this organization needs to compete, to stay up on top," said Harlan, whose Packers own the NFL's longest active stretch of non-losing seasons, 13. "I want to see the organization continue to move forward and not start sliding backward.

- Harlan originally gave both jobs to Mike Sherman when Wolf retired after the 2001 draft, partly because Harlan didn't want to upset the chemistry Green Bay enjoyed in both the locker room and front office. That chemistry has helped the team post the NFL's fourth-best regular-season record, behind only Philadelphia, New England and Pittsburgh, since 2001.
- But Harlan, never fond of the dual-role system, had been considering the change throughout the 2004 season. He cited two examples of his concern. First, while attending a league meeting during the offseason, an official from another team told Harlan that Sherman worked as hard as anyone he'd seen, attending every workout, no matter how remote. Then, the day before Green Bay's Oct. 3 loss to the Giants, Sherman expressed to Harlan frustration in his attempts to trade Mike McKenzie. Harlan concluded that Sherman's time could be better spent on the gameplan, and that another person should handle those other matters.
- Harlan said he had the same feeling both after the Packers struggled to a 1-4 start and after Sherman led the club on a sixgame winning streak, saving its season.
- After making the decision, Harlan set his sights on Thompson, the Seahawks' top football advisor. Knowing that a new personality could upset the team's cohesiveness, Harlan viewed Thompson as the perfect fit, someone very compatible with Sherman.

Personnel Analyst to General Manager

John Schneider, a 12-year NFL personnel veteran, is now in his fourth year as the Packers' personnel analyst to general manager — his second tenure in Green Bay.

Named to his position March 1, 2002, Schneider serves as strategic counsel to General Manager Ted Thompson, addressing and evaluating the needs of the team in both free agency and in the draft, incorporating a long-range planning process that examines the Packers' roster, as well as the rosters of all NFL teams, and takes into account the potential effects of injuries and salary cap issues, and explores possible trade scenarios.

The 34-year-old Schneider rejoined the Packers after spending three years with the Kansas City Chiefs (1997-99), one year with the Seattle Seahawks (2000) and a year with the Washington Redskins (2001) as vice president of player personnel.

Schneider, a native of nearby De Pere, Wis., first learned the tools of his trade with the Packers, beginning as an intern during the summer of 1992 under then-Executive Vice President/General Manager Ron Wolf. After graduating from the University of St. Thomas in St. Paul, Minn., Schneider returned to Green Bay, serving as pro personnel assistant for four years (1993-96) and playing an integral role in the signing of several free agents who would help make up the team that won Super Bowl XXXI in New Orleans.

chneider moved on to the Kansas City Chiefs in 1997 as director of pro personnel, replacing the late Mark Hatley who had resigned to become vice president of player personnel for the Chicago Bears and later served as the Packers' vice president of football operations (2001-2004). It was in Kansas City that Schneider first worked with Marty Schottenheimer (now head coach of the San Diego Chargers), whom he would later join in Washington. With the Chiefs, Schneider oversaw the scouting of all players with pro playing experience, including NFL Europe and the CFL, as well as the NFL. He also conducted advance scouting of all Kansas City opponents and assisted in free agent acquisition, playing a significant role in the signing of consecutive team MVPs Andre Rison (1997) and Glenn Parker (1998).

In 2000, he subsequently signed on as director of player personnel for the Seahawks, hooking up with Mike Holmgren, with whom he had worked in Green Bay.

Schneider joined Schottenheimer with the Redskins in 2001 as vice president of player personnel, overseeing all aspects of the player personnel department, including college scouting, the college draft, pro scouting, free agency and the day-to-day player personnel evaluations and operations. His duties included assembling and managing Washington's scouting staff, a process which involved the hiring of 15 personnel staff members and implementation of a new scouting system. In his role, Schneider advised Schottenheimer on all personnel matters.

He and his wife, Traci, reside in Green Bay with their two sons, Benjamin, 3, and Jack. 1.

The Kickoff

- The kickoff shall be from the kicking team's 30-yard line at the start of each half and after a field goal and try. A kickoff is one type of free kick.
- 2. A one-inch tee may be used (no tee permitted for field goal, safety kick, or try attempt) on a kickoff. The ball is put in play by a placekick.
- 3.A kickoff may not score a field goal.
- 4.A kickoff is illegal unless it travels 10 yards OR is touched by the receiving team. Once the ball is touched by the receiving team or has gone 10 yards, it is a free ball. Receivers may recover and advance. Kicking team may recover but NOT advance UNLESS receiver had possession and lost the ball.
- 5. When a kickoff goes out of bounds between the goal lines
- without being touched by the receiving team, the ball belongs to the receivers 30 yards from the spot of the kick or at the out-of-bounds spot unless the ball went out-of-bounds the first time an onside kick was attempted. In this case, the kicking team is penalized five yards and the ball must be kicked again.
- 6. When a kickoff goes out of bounds between the goal lines and is touched last by receiving team, it is receiver's ball at out-ofbounds spot.
- 7.If the kicking team either illegally kicks off out of bounds or is guilty of a short free kick on two or more consecutive onside kicks, receivers may take possession of the ball at the dead ball spot, out-of-bounds spot, or spot of illegal touch.

REMMEL

Lee Remmel is in his second year as the Packers' team historian, an honor bestowed upon him by Packers President and CEO Bob Harlan on Feb. 19, 2004. Remmel is in his 32nd year as a member of Green Bay's front office, having served previously as director of public relations in 1974 and from 1980 through 1988, executive director of public relations from 1989 to 2004, and as director of publicity from 1975 through 1979

Remmel's position utilizes his vast knowledge and appreciation for the history of the organization. His duties include making regular public appearances, writing columns for Packers.com and the Lambeau Field GameDay program, and authoring at least one book. Prior to joining the Packers organization on March 24. 1974, Remmel was a sports writer and columnist for the Green Bay Press-Gazette for 291/2 years.

In the course of his two "careers," he has been involved in staffing all 39 Super Bowls played to date, the first eight representing the Press-Gazette, the next 22 as a member of the National Football League's auxiliary media relations staff, the 1996-97 seasons with the Packers' front office and again the last seven years with the NFL.

Remmel also has been a member of the NFL public relations directors' Professional Football Writers of America liaison, statistics and NFL Films committees.

While at the Press-Gazette, he was the only sports writer in Wisconsin to have been directly involved in coverage of the Packers throughout all of the team's coaching regimes to that point, beginning with Packers founder E.L. 'Curly' Lambeau and continuing until the naming of Bart Starr in 1975. His personal longevity may be best illustrated by the fact that he witnessed his 100th Packer-Bear game on Nov. 12, 1995, in the 150th regular-season meeting of the arch enemies. He since has attended 18 additional Packer-Bear contests, swelling the total to 118.

Remmel's better than half-century of close association with the Packers was duly recognized on March 30, 1996, when he was inducted into the Green Bay Packers Hall of Fame. An additional honor was bestowed upon him in August of 2003 when the Packers' press box at the redeveloped Lambeau Field was named, "The Lee Remmel Press Box.

NFL Commissioner Paul Tagliabue, in recognizing Remmel's impact on the team, its fans and the league as a whole, recently said, "Lee Remmel has played an important role in National Football League history. From the 1940s when he began covering the Packers for the Green Bay Press-Gazette to his role today as the club's top public relations official. Lee has spent his career informing Packers fans about their team. The NFL serves more fans than any other sport, and Lee has served Packers fans longer than anyone else in club history for more than half a century. His tremendous depth of Packers knowledge is immensely valuable both to the club and the league. The Packers are a vital part of the NFL tradition and no one is more synonymous with the Packers than Lee Remmel.

In 1967, he was voted Wisconsin 'Sports Writer of the Year.' He also is a past president of the former Wisconsin Pro Football Writers' Association.

Defensive Coordinator

▶15th season in NFL ▶First season with Packers

A veteran of 14 NFL seasons and 37 campaigns overall in the coaching profession. Jim Bates in 2005 begins his first year in Green Bay as the club's defensive coordinator.

Named to the position Jan. 31, 2005, by Head Coach Mike

Sherman, the 59-year-old Bates brings to the Packers a fiery intensity and proven record of coordinator success.

As defensive coordinator for the Miami Dolphins the past five seasons (2000-04), Bates' units ranked fifth in the NFL. Only the Buccaneers (281.4 yards/game), Steelers (282.5), Ravens (286.4) and Bills (293.1) played better defensively than Miami (294.8) through the course of those five campaigns. His defense ranked in the top 10 after each season, including 2004, when it ranked eighth despite losing four starters to injured reserve; the team ranked sixth in 2000, fifth in 2001, third in 2002 and 10th in 2003. Against the pass, the Dolphins entered the final week of the '04 season leading the league, but wound up second (162.0 yards/game). Miami's passing defense did pace the NFL in 2001, and ranked fifth in 2000, eighth in 2002 and 19th in 2003. Against the run, his squad did not allow a 100-yard rusher over a 20-game stretch that included the last four games of 2002 and the entire '03 campaign.

On an individual level, Bates' units produced 18 Pro Bowl selections (eight players) in five seasons.

Bates' tenure in Miami included a 3-4 record over the final seven games of the 2004 season as the club's interim head coach, including a 29-28 win over eventual Super Bowl Champion New England, Dec. 20.

Prior to his time in Miami, Bates served as the Dallas Cowboys' linebackers coach (1996-97) and assistant head coach/defensive line (1998-99). His first foray into the NFL was on Bill Belichick's staff as linebackers coach of the Cleveland Browns (1991). After coaching the Browns' defensive ends for two seasons (1992-93), he served one year as Atlanta's defensive coordinator (1994), before returning to Cleveland as secondary coach (1995).

One of 13 individuals to serve as a head coach in both the NFL and United States Football League, Bates spent one year (1985) at the helm of the San Antonio Gunslingers. In total, he spent three years in the USFL, including two seasons as a defensive coordinator (Arizona Outlaws 1986, San Antonio 1984). Additionally, Bates coached another year at the pro level, as an assistant in 1988 for the Detroit Drive of the Arena League.

Bates' résumé includes 15 years of coaching experience at the college level. A linebacker at the University of Tennessee (1964-67), he entered the coaching profession with his alma mater (B.S. degree in education 1968) as a graduate assistant in 1968, then made stops at Southern Mississippi (freshman coach 1972), Villanova (offensive line 1973, linebackers 1974), Kansas State (linebackers 1975-76), West Virginia (secondary 1977), Texas Tech (secondary 1978-79, defensive coordinator 1980-83), Tennessee (linebackers 1989) and Florida (defensive coordinator/secondary 1990) before coming to the NFL.

From 1969-71, he served as head coach at Sevier County (Tenn.) High School.

Special Teams Coordinator

➤ Seventh season in NFL ➤ Third season with Packers

John Bonamego in 2005 begins his seventh season in the NFL coaching ranks, his third season heading up Green Bay's special teams units and 18th season of coaching overall.

In his second season in Green Bay and 14th overall working with special teams units, Bonamego's assembly of men in 2004 continued to be regular contributors to the Packers' success. One of just five teams to rank in the top 10 the last two seasons, his crew remained a dependable power by ranking ninth in the NFL, fourth among NFC squads, according to the Dallas Morning News' annual special teams rankings. They proved reliable as they tied for sixth in the NFL in field goal percentage (85.7) and 14th in kickoff returns (21.7 avg.). For the second consecutive season, the kickoff coverage team ranked sixth in the NFC, 10th in the NFL, tolerating just 20.2 yards per opponent return (20.8 in 2003). In addition, Bonamego's charges were one of only four NFL teams to not surrender any blocks or scores.

On an individual level, the unit's 2004 success was maintained by the efforts of kicker Ryan Longwell, who nailed four of his nine career game-winning kicks, including a 29-yard field goal at Minnesota to win the North Division championship. He surpassed Chris Jacke's franchise record for consecutive PAT conversions with 153, as well. Subsequently, Longwell was named as an alternate to the Pro Bowl. Na'il Diggs contributed to the special teams force with a blocked field goal attempt - the Packers' second such occurrence in two seasons after not producing one since 1997. On return units, Robert Ferguson ranked fourth in the NFC in kickoff returns (25.0 avg.), including his long of 71 yards, and Antonio Chatman ranked in the NFC top 10 (7.7 avg.). Bonamego's troops also recorded one fumble recovery and one forced fumble.

In his first Green Bay season Bonamego's men ranked eighth in the NFL, according to the Dallas Morning News' annual special teams rankings. His teaching brought improvement to an already strong corps as it ranked fourth in the NFL on field goal percentage, up from sixth in 2002, and fifth on kickoff returns, up from 26th in 2002, with a 23.6 average. The Packers were one of two teams in the NFC that did not surrender a blocked punt or field goal. Additionally, the special teams blocked a punt and a field-goal attempt, both firsts for the club since 1997. Longwell broke Don Hutson's 58-year-old franchise scoring record and became the Packers' all-time leader for most career field goals.

Named to his position Jan. 27, 2003, Bonamego joined the Packers after four seasons (1999-2002) with the Jacksonville Jaguars, serving the 2002 season as the club's special teams coordinator when his units ranked third in the NFL in the Dallas Morning News' annual rankings. The Jaguars' kickoff coverage team led the AFC, and finished second in the NFL overall, allowing just 19.5 yards per return, and the punt return unit finished fifth in the conference, averaging 11.1 yards per return. Additionally, Jacksonville was one of only two NFL teams in 2002 to not give up both a return touchdown and a blocked kick. Under his direction, Bonamego helped mold punter Chris Hanson, a relatively unknown free agent, into a Pro Bowl selection.

The 41-year-old Bonamego (pronounced bohn-ah-MAY-go) first joined the Jaguars in 1999, and worked for three seasons as assistant special teams coach under Larry Pasquale (1999) and Frank Gansz (2000-01) — considered two of the league's best-ever special teams minds — until his promotion in 2002 following the retirement of Gansz.

- Paced Jacksonville Jaguars to top AFC special teams ranking in 2002.
- Not only shares a common Army coaching bond with Vince Lombardi, the two both having served at West Point (Lombardi from 1950-53, Bonamego from 1993-98), but also lived in the same home in which Lombardi resided, at 1010 Bartlet Loop.
- Began his coaching career as a player-coach with the Verona (Italy) Redskins.

Bonamego joined Jacksonville after six seasons at Army, where he first assisted in coaching the outside linebackers (1993) and subsequently headed up special teams and recruiting (1994-98). During his tenure, he helped develop some of the top punters, kickoff returners and placekickers in school history. While living in West Point, Bonamego lived at 1010 Bartlet Loop, in the same home that once housed Vince Lombardi, who also later would go on to coach in Green Bay.

Bonamego broke into college coaching in 1988 at Maine, where he spent four years, two as a graduate assistant (1988-89) and two as wide receivers/special teams coach (1990-91).

He then spent one year at Lehigh (1992), coaching running backs and assisting with special teams, the latter setting a school- and Patriot League-record five blocked punts during the season.

Born Aug. 14, 1963, in Waynesboro, Pa., Bonamego earlier spent one season coaching at Mt. Pleasant (Mich.) High School and one year as a player-coach in Europe, with the Verona (Italy) Redskins.

A team co-captain and former wideout and quarterback at Central Michigan, he earned a degree in health fitness from the school in 1987, then received his master's degree in physical education from Maine in 1992. Earlier, at Paw Paw (Mich.) High School, Bonamego captained his football, wrestling and track teams.

He and his wife, Paulette, live in Green Bay with their three children: Javier, 8, Giovanni, 4, and Bellina, 1. In his spare time, Bonamego enjoys spending time with his family, snowboarding, watching movies, playing golf and riding dirt bikes with his sons.

RÖSSLEY

Offensive Coordinator

▶10th season in NFL ▶Sixth season with Packers

Now in his sixth season as the Packers' offensive coordinator, Tom Rossley enters his 29th year of coaching and 10th NFL campaign in 2005.

Under Rossley, the Packers' 2004 offensive powerhouse ranked third overall in the NFL, topping the NFC in both total offense (397.3 yards per game – the most since 1983) and passing offense (278.1 – the most since 2001). Destined to change the record books and improve an already top producer in the NFL, the offense totaled 6,357 net yards and 4,459 net yards passing, each the most in the Packers' previous 83 NFL seasons. Other single-season records for 2004 included overall first downs (354 – the most in 15 years), completions (382 – most since 1994) and fewest sacks allowed (14 – tied for the NFL lead last season).

Additionally, the Packers ranked second in the league in converting third downs (47.3 percent) and paced the NFL on third-and-6 or longer (37.4 percent). The offense also proved reliable with the NFC's fourth-best red-zone

TD percentage (57.7, 30-for-52).

Over the past five seasons, Rossley's offense has executed in the most reliable fashion, ranking among the NFL's top 10 in several categories. From 2000-04, the Packers rank second in passing touchdowns (150) and fewest sacks allowed (116); fourth in completion percentage (62.1); overall touchdowns (231) and points (2,007); fifth in net passing yards (18,764), TD-to-INT ratio (1.72), passing first downs (975) and gross passing yards (19,587); sixth in total offense (29,322); and eighth in rushing yards (9,735).

In addition to the well-built offensive squad as a whole, Rossley had four offensive players voted to the 2005 Pro Bowl this past February – running back Ahman Green for the fourth consecutive season, guard Marco Rivera for the third consecutive season, 10-year veteran fullback William Henderson and wide receiver Javon

Walker, the latter two for the first time.

In 2003, Rossley fielded an offensive squad that accomplished what no other NFL offense in history has produced: rushing for at least 2,500 yards, passing for at least 3,300 yards, completing at least 65 percent of its passes, rushing for at least 18 touchdowns and passing for at least 32 touchdowns. The Packers' offense jumped to fourth overall in the league, up from 12th the previous season, with 5,788 yards of offense, the second most in team annals; they also totaled 442 points, second best in club history behind the 1996 Super Bowl squad, and amassed 53 touchdowns, tying for the second most with the 1962 Packers.

Originally named to his post Jan. 26, 2000, the 59year-old Rossley has had a long association with success during his coaching career, a dossier that includes six seasons as a head coach at the major college level and 10 seasons as an offensive coordinator.

The Painesville, Ohio, native earlier had made his first foray into the NFL in 1990 as the quarterbacks coach of the Atlanta Falcons. Under Rossley, quarterback Chris Miller directed an Atlanta passing offense which ranked fourth in the NFC and sixth in the NFL. In addition, the Falcons were fifth in the conference in total offense.

In 1991, Rossley moved on to become head coach at Southern Methodist University, where he earlier had served as an assistant coach. His daunting assignment was to rebuild a program which had been shut down by the NCAA's death penalty. After an initial 1-10 season, the Mustangs posted a 5-6 record in 1992, the school's largest one-season turnaround since 1968, earning Rossley Southwestern Conference 'Co-Coach of the Year' honors in the process. In five of his six years as coach, the Mustangs averaged over 300 yards of total offense per game — including a 354.6 yards-per-game mark in 1993. While head coach at SMU, Rossley helped to develop some of the school's most prolific field generals, including the Mustangs' all-time total offense leader. Ramon Flanipan (7.437 yards).

Later, between his second stint at SMU and his time in Kansas City, Rossley enjoyed a two-year stretch with the Chicago Bears (1997-98), beginning his first season as a talent evaluator in the team's personnel department before finishing the season as wide receivers coach. In 1998, Rossley oversaw the Bears' tight ends.

Also serving in the college ranks as an offensive coordinator, Rossley first worked in that capacity during two seasons at Holy Cross (1986-87) on the same staff with his current boss, Mike Sherman. Under Rossley's guidance, the Crusaders went a combined 21-1, including an 11-0, Division I-AA national championship season in 1987 that saw the team lead the nation in both points (46) and yards (522) per game.

Rossley then held the same position for two seasons at SMU (1988-89), his first stint at the school. Serving under Forrest Gregg, a Hall of Fame offensive tackle for the Packers who later would coach the same NFL team for four seasons, Rossley directed the Mustangs to the nation's ninth-ranked passing attack in 1989.

Rossley first entered the professional coaching ranks in 1982, when he served as running backs/wide receivers coach for the Canadian Football League's

COACHING STAFF/COORDINATORS

Montreal Concorde. After three seasons in Montreal, he moved south to become offensive coordinator for the San Antonio Gunslingers of the United States Football League in 1985. He later served a season (1987) on the offensive staff of the Arena League's Denver Dynamite.

A standout player as a collegian at the University of Cincinnati, Rosslev was a two-year letter winner (1967-68) at wide receiver after beginning his career as a quarterback. He garnered All-America honors in 1968 after ranking second in the nation with a school-record 80 receptions, also setting the Bearcats' single-game records for receptions (13) and receiving yards (254) in the process. Rossley received a B.S. degree in business education from the university in the spring of 1969.

Rossley began his coaching career in the fall of 1969 at Chardon (Ohio) High School. He later coached two years at Eastlake (Ohio) North High School (1970-71) and three seasons at Lake Worth (Fla.) High School (1973-75). A one-year stint as a graduate assistant at the University of Arkansas came in 1972, a season that saw him work with future 17-year NFL QB Joe Ferguson.

Born Aug. 9, 1946, in Painesville, Ohio, Rossley was an all-conference quarterback at the city's Harvey High School (alumni including Pro Football Hall of Fame coach Don Shula), also playing basketball and baseball. He and his wife, Kristine, live in Green Bay and have three children - grown sons Max (with wife Lauren and sons, Chase, 4, and Blake, 2) and Mick (with wife Diane and twins, Luke and Kate, 2, and newborn son, Tommy), and a daughter, Kristi, who is a recent graduate of the University of Kansas. Mick, who played wide receiver under his father at SMU (1991-94), was an All-Southwest Conference selection in 1994, setting a Mustangs single-season record with 83 receptions. In his spare time, Rossley enjoys playing golf and spending time with his five grandchildren.

BEIGHTOL 21st season in NFL Seventh season with Packers

A coaching veteran of 38 seasons, lively and animated Larry Beightol begins his seventh year as coach of the Packers O-line in 2005, his 21st NFL season overall.

With only one starter from the previous season unable to finish the season (center Mike Flanagan), Beightol's unit executed an impressive 2004 and contributed to an offense that racked up more total net yards (6,357) and net yards passing (4,449) than any Packers team in the franchise's previous 83 NFL seasons. As proved in 2003, Beightol once again helped fashion one of the finest lines in the NFL, the unit playing an integral role in the Packers' third-ranked offense, boasting team records for total first downs (354), completions (382) and fewest sacks allowed (14). His pupils blocked for a 1,000-yard rusher for the sixth straight year, a franchise record.

Improving upon an already fierce pass protection game, the Packers allowed a franchise record-low 14 sacks, tied for first in the NFL with Indianapolis, breaking the previous 16-game record of 19, set in 2003. Additionally, the O-line twice had three consecutive games without a sack for the first time ever - 2003 was the first time the Packers surrendered no sacks in three straight games. Over the past four years, Beightol's line helped the offense surrender just 82 sacks, an NFL low.

Beightol's teaching paid dividends as guard Marco Rivera was voted to the Pro Bowl, the first Green Bay Olineman in 33 years to make three straight all-star appearances. The line's output cleared the way for Ahman Green's fifth-consecutive 1,000-yard season, en route to his fourth-straight Pro Bowl.

In 2003, Beightol steered his men to one of the finest performances for an offensive line in the team's illustrious history as his unit paved the way for franchise records in rushing yards (2,558) and yards per carry (5.05), the Packers' ground game ranking third in the NFL overall. Combining two key offensive-line statistics - rushing yards per game and sacks per pass play -Beightol's crew ranked as the league's best.

Earlier, the highly respected Beightol's teaching skills and ability to adapt to adversity paid off in 2002, a season that presented many injury-based challenges. The line's performance was solid in spite of the injuries, the Packers rushing for 120.8 yards per game (12th in the NFL), the most in 17 years. On the pass protection front, the Packers allowed only 27 sacks, ninth-fewest in the league, including a league-low four sacks on first down.

Beightol (pronounced BECK-tull), who originally joined the Packers in 1999 and subsequently was retained by new Head Coach Mike Sherman the following year, came to Green Bay after three successful seasons with the Miami Dolphins. In 1997, his offensive

1,000-yard seasons, by O-line coach

Larry Beightol is the 19th offensive line coach in Packers history. Beightol's lines have produced six 1,000-yard rushers:

Larry Beightol	1999-2004	6	Dorsey Levens,
			Ahman Green (5)

linemen gave up only 22 sacks, the second-lowest yield in the NFL. His 1998 squad surrendered only 24 QB drops, the league's third-fewest total. In 1996, his linemen helped pave the way for 1,116 rushing yards from Karim Abdul-Jabbar, a Dolphins rookie rushing record and the first Miami 1,000-yard ground total since 1978.

Prior to joining the Dolphins, the 62-year-old Beightol enjoyed tenures with five other NFL teams - the Atlanta Falcons (1985-86), Tampa Bay Buccaneers (1987-88), San Diego Chargers (1989), New York Jets (1990-94) and the then-Houston Oilers (1995). During his 1989 season with the Chargers, he also served as offensive coordinator, in addition to coaching the offensive line.

In 1993, his New York Jets offensive line surrendered a league-low 21 sacks and did not allow a quarterback takedown in a club-record eight of 16 games, an impressive reduction from its total of 62 sacks in 1989, the year before Beightol took over.

Before breaking into the NFL with Atlanta in 1985, Beightol coached 17 years at the collegiate level, practicing his trade at William & Mary (1968-71), North Carolina State (1972-75), Auburn (1976), Arkansas (1977-78 and, later, 1980-82), Louisiana Tech (1979 as head coach) and Missouri (1983-84).

Beightol, a guard and linebacker himself as a collegian, played at Catawba College in Salisbury, N.C., from 1960-63, serving as team captain. A two-time all-conference and all-region selection, he was inducted into Catawba's sports hall of fame in 1993. After earning a B.A. degree in physical education from Catawba in 1964, Beightol went on to William & Mary and earned a master's degree in education in 1967, beginning his college coaching career at the school a year later.

Earlier, Beightol had enjoyed a highly successful prep football career at West Branch High School in Morrisdale, Pa., earning induction into the Pennsylvania Sports Hall of Fame (Western Division).

Born Nov. 21, 1942, in Pittsburgh, Beightol lives in Green Bay with his wife, Marian. The couple has one grown daughter, Kristin.

BENNET'I

Running Backs

Fifth season as NFL coach Fifth season with Packers

Edgar Bennett in 2005 enters his "third" tour of duty with the Packers and first year as running backs coach after previously spending the past four seasons as the director of player development and, earlier, a tenure as one of the most productive running backs in Green Bay history (1992-96).

Named to his position by Head Coach Mike Sherman on Jan. 28, 2005, Bennett originally re-joined the club as its director of player programs on April 10, 2001. He replaces Johnny Roland, who resigned in January to take a position with the New Orleans Saints.

Although technically new to the coaching ranks. Bennett is no stranger to the craft as he spent the last few years tutoring Green Bay's running backs and providing game-day sideline support when not serving as a mentor for the team's players. On the personnel front, he assisted the organization's scouts by conducting interviews with potential free agents and draft picks and also performed evaluations on selected players.

In his new role, the 36-year-old Bennett takes over a solid running backs corps that he helped sculpt. Two of his pupils were voted to the 2005 Pro Bowl - Ahman Green, named for the fourth consecutive year after rushing for more than 1,000 yards for the fifth straight season, and 10-year veteran fullback William Henderson, a first-time Pro Bowler, Along with Green and Henderson. Najeh Davenport and Tony Fisher continue to contribute to a Packers' rushing effort that averaged 119.3 yards per game in 2004, ranking third in the NFC. As director of player development (2001-04). Bennett assisted Sherman with helping players become acclimated to their roles as Green Bay Packers, both on and off the field, especially terms of the expected contributions to their teammates, the community and team chemistry. Bennett's efforts in this area were recognized in 2003 as the club's' player development department was named the best in the NFC.

Bennett also managed the Packers' wide range of programs designed to meet the needs of the players and their families in today's National Football League, providing a framework of assistance within which players and their immediate family members can address the pressures created by daily life and complicated by the demands of playing professional football. Bennett assisted players in taking full advantage of the NFL's many offerings, including those dealing with financial advice, continuing education and professional internships aimed at preparing players for their careers when their playing days are over. He also worked in conjunction with the Packers' community relations and family programs departments.

Bennett, earlier Green Bay's fourth-round draft selection in 1992, is the ninth-ranking rusher in Packers history, the former Florida State athlete having gained 3,353 yards over his five seasons in Green and Gold (1992-96). En route, he in 1995 became only the sixth player in team annals to rush for 1,000 yards in a season (1,067) and the first Packer to do so since Terdell Middleton in 1978. He also continues to hold the club single-season record for receptions by a running back with 78, set in 1994. His accomplishments were appropriately honored this past July as he was inducted into the Green Bay Packers Hall of Fame.

After a torn Achilles' heel suffered in the Packers 1997 preseason opener ended his season, a successfully rehabbed Bennett signed with Chicago as an unrestricted free agent in February 1998 and went on to lead the Bears in rushing that season with 611 yards. After one more season with Chicago, Bennett retired from football in 2000.

A four-year starter at fullback for Florida State (1987, 1989-91), Bennett holds a bachelor's degree in social science with a primary emphasis in political science and a secondary emphasis in sociology from the university. Previously, he had been a Class 4A first-team all-state back at Robert E. Lee High School in Jacksonville, where he was a teammate of former Packers safety LeRoy Butler, who later also would be his teammate at FSU and in Green Bay. Bennett will be inducted into the Florida State Athletic Hall of Fame in September 2005.

Born Edgar Bennett III in Jacksonville, Fla., on Feb. 15, 1969, he is married to the former Mindy Woldt of Green Bay. The couple has two children, a son, Edgar Bennett IV, 10, and a daughter, Elyse Morgan, 5. Bennett supported the March of Dimes in 2003 through the 'Edgar Bennett Celebrity Bowling Event,' a day that saw several Packers players and coaches bowl to raise funds for the charity. This past June, he held the bowling event again in support of the Angel Fund for Children with Cancer, a foundation that gives financial and social support to families residing in northeastern Wisconsin whose children are receiving treatments for cancer or bone marrow failure.

Quarterbacks

Sixth season in NFL Sixth season with Packers

Darrell Bevell begins his sixth season in the NFL coaching ranks in 2005, his third year heading up Green Bay's quarterbacks

Bevell oversees Green Bay's passers, as well as assists offensive coordinator

Tom Rossley with offensive strategy and game planning.

In his second season as quarterbacks coach, Bevell aided Brett Favre, who continued to add to his accomplishments and to the record books, as he registered a 64.1-percent completion percentage, tied for his second best as a pro, and finished with a 92.4 passer rating, the fifth-best total in his pro career.

Bevell continues to play a key role in the growth of Craig Nall, who finished 2004 as the Packers' No. 2 quarterback after taking over for long-time backup Doug Pederson, who went on injured reserve. The team's No. 3 backup the previous two seasons, Nall played in five names last season, the most of his career, and completed 23 of 33 passes (69.7percent) for 314 yards and four touchdowns, without an interception, for a 139.4 passer rating. His 33 attempts were the most ever by a Packers quarterback in a season without an INT.

Earlier in his job as offensive assistant with particular attention to the QBs. Bevell was instrumental in the development of Nall and his transition to the pro game. Nall proceeded to flourish in NFL Europe in 2003, finishing the season as the league's top-rated passer while directing the top-rated Scottish Claymores' offense.

In his 10th season overall in the coaching profession. Bevell continues to contribute his talents behind the scenes, breaking down the Packers' offensive game video - "self scouting" - and contributing information to Green Bay's vast array of computerized teaching tools, including the team's digital video system.

The son of a high school football coach, the 35-yearold Bevell originally joined the Packers on March 7, 2000, after four years of developing his coaching skills in the collegiate ranks, including two seasons (1998-99) at the University of Connecticut as wide receivers coach. Under his direction during the 1998 campaign, senior wideout Carl Bond registered a school-record 11 touchdown receptions and teamed with sophomore receiver John Fitzsimmons to each post 1.000-yard seasons the first such tandem in school history.

Bevell is best known to football fans in Wisconsin as the field general who led the Badgers to victory in the 1994 Rose Bowl, a feat which culminated the storybook 1993 regular season which saw Wisconsin finish 10-1-1 and claim a share of the Big Ten Conference championship - the school's first league title since 1962. The four-year starter (1992-95) finished his career in Madison as Wisconsin's all-time leading passer with 19 school records and two Big Ten marks.

After graduating in 1995, Bevell embarked upon his coaching career with his first assignment coming at Westmar University in Lemars, Iowa (the college has since closed). He served as the passing game coordinator at Westmar in 1996, and also tutored the school's quarterbacks. Bevell moved on to lowa State the following season (1997) as a graduate assistant, coaching the wide receivers.

Brett Favre played nine NFL seasons before he worked with Tom Rossley and Darrell Bevell. However, Green Bay's passing offense was never more consistently accurate than it has been over the last five seasons under the two coaches.

Over the last three years especially, Bevell's first three seasons as quarterbacks coach, Green Bay has produced three of its top six completion percentages, including a franchise record in 2003.

Assistant Offensive Line/Quality Control

► Second season as NFL coach ► Second season with Packers

James Campen in 2005 begins his second season as assistant offensive line/quality control coach for Green Bay Packers.

Named to his position by Head Coach Mike Sherman on Feb. 27, 2004, Campen primarily assists offensive line coach Larry Beightol. His duties also include breaking down opponent game film and providing defensive tendencies to the offensive coaching staff for game-planning purposes.

Campen's direction played a key role as the trench men paved the way in 2004 for the NFL's third-ranked offense, including team records for total first downs (354), net vards (6.357), net yards passing (4,449), completions (382) and fewest sacks allowed (14). He helped guide a unit that blocked for a 1,000-vard rusher for the sixth consecutive season and established a franchise record. His assistance helped guard Marco Rivera to be voted to the Pro Bowl, the first Green Bay O-line> man in 33 years to make three straight all-star appearances.

> Formerly a player with the Packers, Campen was a Plan B free agency addition from the New Orleans Saints in 1989. He played in 15 games for Green Bay that '89 season, then took over as the starter at center in 1990, starting all 16 games and grading out as the most consistent member of the offensive line. He also was named to the USA Today All-Pro team following his quality campaign.

The 41-year-old Campen went on to play in 13 games in both 1991 and 1992, missing three contests in '91 because of a calf injury and three others in '92 with a strained knee. Green Bay's starting center Sept. 27, 1992, vs. Pittsburgh, Campen literally launched Brett Fayre's current 205-game starting streak, an NFL record among quarterbacks. His playing career came to an end in 1993 when he suffered a torn hamstring injury in Week 4 at Dallas (Oct. 3) and later underwent season-ending surgery. Campen played in 61 games overall with Packers, making 42 of 48 starts from 1990-92.

Campen broke into the National Football League by talking his way into a free-agent contract with the New Orleans Saints in 1986 after going undrafted. Waived during training camp, he made the New Orleans roster in 1987 on his second try and started three games for the Saints. He subsequently was active for 12 games in 1988, playing in three.

A two-year starter at Tulane (1984-85), Campen was recruited and then coached by then-offensive line coach Mike Sherman, now his boss with the Packers. As a senior, he received Tulane's 'Dr. Earnon Kelley Award.' honoring the class' top student athlete who bettered the campus and community. He was the first football player to serve as a resident advisor in the dormitory. Campen had earlier begun his collegiate career at Sacramento (Calif.) City Junior College (1982-83).

COACHES

Ninth season in NFL ▶Third season with Packers

Now in his third year coaching the Packers' linebackers, Mark Duffner embarks upon his ninth season in the NFL coaching ranks.

Duffner is a coaching veteran of 30 seasons, including 11 years as a college head coach and two seasons as an NFL defensive coordinator.

In 2004 Duffner's 'backers contributed to a red-zone defense that ranked first in NFL, allowing only five conversions in 21 third-down attempts (23.8 percent). His charges helped the Packers' third-down defense rank ninth in the NFL as well, allowing only 35.0 percent conversions (69 of 197). In addition, after Green Bay turnovers, Duffner's corps aided the defense by surrendering points on only nine of the 27 turnover instances.

Continuing to develop 2003 first-round draft pick Nick Barnett, Duffner's instruction resulted in the all-rookie 'backer recording more tackles (162) in 2004 than any Packers player over the last 21 years. Finishing the season with three sacks, he averaged 12.2 stops per game over the final five regular-season contests en route to selection as an alternate for the 2005 Pro Bowl. Veteran Na'il Diggs finished second on the team in tackles (116) and also had one sack, proving to be a solid starter on the weak side.

During Duffner's first season with the Packers in 2003, his men added to the Packers' improved rushing defense ranking of 10th in the league, up from 21st in 2002. He quickly helped polish some of his charges as Diggs had a breakout year in his transition to the weak side, finishing second on the team in tackles with a career-high 123 and leading the team with 11 stops for loss; Barnett paced the team in tackles as a rookie in one of the most productive years ever by a Green Bay linebacker.

Duffner came to the Packers after six seasons (1997-2002) with the Cincinnati Bengals, coaching the club's linebackers for four years (1997-2000) before being promoted to defensive coordinator in 2001. During the latter tenure, while continuing to coach the linebackers, Duffner directed a defense that allowed 315.5 yards per game, the club's lowest two-year total since 1987-88.

In 2002, Duffner's defense led the NFL by ending five goal-to-goal drives via takeaway and held opponents to negative yardage on 65 carries, tied for second-most in the league, as well as just 1,305 yards after the catch, first in the conference. In 2001, the Bengals allowed the fewest points (309) and posted the best NFL yardage ranking (ninth) of any Cincinnati defense since the 1989 season. Additionally, the '01 Bengals defense allowed the fewest yards per game (302) since 1983 and set a franchise single-season record for sacks with 48.

Prior to joining the Bengals staff, Duffner was head coach at the University of Maryland from 1992-96, compiling a 20-35 record that included an 11-11 mark over his final two seasons, the school's best two-season record since 1984-85.

While at Maryland, Duffner acquired the Terps' first national ranking in nine years when his team rose as high as No. 17 in 1995. His Maryland teams also set more than 100 school offensive records. In the overall process, Duffner improved Maryland's player graduation rate, with three classes in a row ranking among the nation's best (1994-96).

Earlier, as head coach at Holy Cross (1986-91), he enjoyed the most successful era in the school's football history, posting a 60-5-1 record that included two 11-0 seasons (1987 and 1991) during his six-year tenure. Duffner was chosen national coach of the year five times while at Holy Cross, a period during which his 1987 team was ranked No. 1 in the nation in Division I-AA by the Associated Press. He also was chosen 'New England Coach of the Year' five times. He initially served as defensive coordinator for five seasons at the school (1981-85).

Stingy after turnovers, 2004

On 27 occasions, a Green Bay turnover called the team's defense back onto the field. The unit surrendered points on only nine of those 27 instances, doing its part to keep momentum in check and the Packers in the game. On 20 of those occasions, the defense took the field after a turnover in Green Bay territory. Of the nine instances in which the defense allowed points, seven were on drives of 36 yards or less. Opposing offenses scored only 59 points off turnovers, compared to 76 in 2003, 63 in 2002 and 60 in 2001. Opponents returned two of the Packers' 29 overall turnovers for touchdowns; Sept. 19 vs. Chicago (Mike Brown 95-yard fumble return) and Dec. 24 at Minnesota (Chris Claiborne 15-yard interception return).

With Miami finishing with its first losing season since 1988, Green Bay in 2004 assumed the NFL's longest active streak of nonlosing seasons, now 13. Green Bay's last sub-.500 campaign was 1991 (4-12). The Packers, who've now accomplished a streak of at least 10 years three times, are the only team ever to do it more than twice (and that does not include the Lombardi era)...

Assistant Special Teams

►Fifth season in NFL ►Fifth season with Packers

Brad Miller starts his 20th season in coaching overall and fifth with the Packers as he begins a new role as assistant special teams coach in 2005.

Named to his new position Feb. 18, 2005, Miller will assist

John Bonamego, Green Bay's special teams coordinator, and be directly involved in all areas of the squad, including preparation of game plans and sideline coaching. He spent the last three years assisting the Packers' defensive line, as well as last season aiding Bonamego.

In addition to his on-field work, the 42-year-old Pasadena, Calif., native carries out extensive duties studying opponent tendencies and incorporating the latest technology to further enhance the team's teaching of its players.

Originally named as the club's defensive assistant/quality control on Feb. 22, 2001, Miller spent six seasons tutoring defensive players in the Canadian Football League before coming to Green Bay.

o stranger to the postseason, in 19 years of coaching overall he's advanced to the postseason 15 of those seasons, including 12 consecutively. In 10 years of coaching the pros, he's progressed to the playoffs every year.

He coached five seasons on the staff of the Edmonton Eskimos (1996-2000), serving the 2000 season as the team's assistant head coach/defensive coordinator/line-backers after coaching the defensive line (1996, 1998-99) and defensive coordinator/secondary (1997) in his initial four years with the club. Miller made his CFL debut in 1995 with the Birmingham Barracudas as linebackers coach.

Before tutoring in the professional ranks, Miller launched his coaching career at California's Riverside Community College in 1986 as the school's defensive secondary coach. During an eight-year stint at Riverside, including three seasons as secondary coach (1986-88) and five campaigns as receivers coach (1989-93), the college won four league championships, appeared in five bowl games and captured a national championship in 1989.

Miller moved on to coach linebackers at Portland State in 1994 before joining Birmingham the following year. Names on the facade

The names gracing the east and west facades, one of the more awe-inspiring features of Lambeau Field's bowl, are often misidentified as the Green Bay "Ring of Fame" or "Ring of Honor."

It's an honest mistake. Most franchises induct former players, coaches and contributors into an exclusive club, usually called a Ring of Honor and containing on average 15-20 individuals. In Green Bay, though, the equivalent to that group is the Packers Hall of Fame, which this summer inducted its 132nd and 133rd members (Edgar Bennett and Don Majkowski).

And unlike most other stadiums that display names on their facade, most of the Packers' individuals (12) actually played/coached on the field in front of them.

The bowl also lists the years of the Packers' NFL-record 12 world championships and, since 2003, the team's soon-to-be five retired numbers.

Robert NUNN

Robert Nunn joins the Packers as defensive tackles coach in 2005, his sixth season in the NFL.

Named to his position Feb. 8, 2005, by Head Coach Mike Sherman, the 40-year-old Nunn has 16 years of coaching experience, including 12 years in the college ranks. He'll work closely with defensive ends coach Bob Sanders in shaping the success of the defensive line overall.

Nunn also is familiar with new Packers defensive coordinator Jim Bates, under whom he first coached in the NFL in 2000 as a defensive assistant with the Miami Dolphins. Nunn then served as assistant defensive line/quality control coach for the 2001-02 seasons with the Dolphins, campaigns in which he worked with Pro Bowler Jason Taylor. He also worked the 2004 season for the Dolphins as a special assistant, beginning in August with a variety of off-the-field projects, and then assisted with the linebackers after Bates was elevated to interim head coach for the final seven games.

n 2003, Nunn headed up the defensive line of the Washington Redskins and had the opportunity to coach Bruce Smith as the future Hall of Famer broke the late Reggie White's all-time NFL sacks record. He also tutored veteran standouts Renaldo Wynn and Regan Upshaw.

Nunn's college coaching experience was highlighted by nine years at Georgia Military College in Milledgeville, Ga. After one season as defensive coordinator, the school promoted him to head coach and athletic director in 1992. In his eight seasons holding that position, Nunn was 66-19 (.776).

He had launched his coaching career at Northeastern Oklahoma in 1988, heading up the defensive line. He then tutored defensive ends at the University of Tennessee for two seasons (1989-90), working one campaign on the same staff with Bates (linebackers, 1989).

A four-year letterman (1984-87) as a linebacker at Oklahoma State, Nunn served as team captain in 1987. He earned a B.S. in secondary education from the school in 1988.

Born June 10, 1965, in Apache, Okla., Nunn and his wife, Karen, live in Green Bay, with their three children: a daughter, Josie, 8, and two sons, Noah, 3, and infant Jacob.

PHILBIN[®]

Tight Ends/Assistant Offensive Line

▶Third season in NFL ▶Third season with Packers

Joe Philbin begins his second season as the Packers' tight ends/assistant offensive line coach in 2005, his third overall campaign with the club.

Philbin's successful work with the tight ends reaped dividends in 2004 as dependable veteran pupil Bubba Franks became second on the Packers' all-time tight ends touchdown list with 28 and continued to be durable, having not missed a game in five NFL seasons. Franks recorded his second-best career yards-per-catch average with 10.6 in 2004, up from 8.0 in 2003, and almost doubled the number of touchdowns in 2004 (7) from the previous season. Philbin's work with young tight ends Ben Steele and Sean McHugh gave valuable depth to the unit in 2004.

Philbin also assisted offensive line coach Larry Beightol to help field a unit that contributed to an offense that racked up more total net yards (6,357) and net yards passing (4,449) than any Packers team in the franchise's previous 83 NFL seasons. As proved in 2003, the line played an integral role in the club's thirdranked offense, including team marks for first downs (354), completions (382) and fewest sacks (14).

Philbin's strong teaching ability played a key role in the rushing offense as it improved to third in the NFL in '03, up from 12th in 2002, proving to be one of the best blocking lines in team history.

Promoted Feb. 27, 2004, by Head Coach Mike Sherman, Philbin turned down other teams' overtures and opted to stay in Green Bay to take on a new role coaching tight ends. He is no stranger to the position, having played tight end in college and worked closely with the group in his first year with the Packers.

A possessor of 19 years experience in the college coaching ranks, Philbin originally joined the Packers on Feb. 10, 2003, after four seasons as offensive line coach at the University of Iowa (1999-2002).

Under Philbin's stewardship, lowa fielded one of college football's finest offensive lines in 2002, helping the Hawkeyes finish second in the Big Ten Conference in rushing at 214.2 yards per game. In the process, three of Philbin's pupils – guard Eric Steinbach, tackle Robert Gallery and center Bruce Nelson – earned three of the five first-team All-Big Ten linemen spots. In addition, Steinbach earned consensus All-America honors. Steinbach (2nd round, Cincinnati), Nelson (2nd round, Carolina) and another Philibin charge, guard Ben Sobieski (5th round, Buffalo), were selected in the 2003 NFL Draft. Gallery was all-conference again in '03 and went second overall (Oakland) in the '04 draft.

Philbin's 2001 crew helped the Hawkeyes lead the league in scoring (32.6 points per game), third-down conversion percentage (48.7) and red zone offense, scoring on 47 of 52 possessions (90.4 percent). Iowa also was second in the conference in passing efficiency that season.

Prior to coaching at Iowa, the 44-year-old Philbin served as offensive coordinator and offensive line coach for two seasons at Harvard (1997-98). Under his direction in 1997, the Crimson established 15 offensive records, including marks for total offense (4,236 yards) and first downs (217). Five members of his offensive squad earned All-Ivy League honors, including lineman Matt Birk, later a draft choice of the Minnesota Vikings who earned Pro Bowl berths following the 2000, '01, '03 and '04 seasons.

Defensive Ends

Fifth season in NFL ▶ First season with Packers

Bob Sanders, entering his 30th season in the coaching profession, joins Green Bay in 2005 as the team's defensive ends coach.

Now in his fifth NFL season, Sanders was named to the position Feb. 8, 2005, by Head Coach Mike Sherman, He'll work closely with defensive tackles coach Robert Nunn in shaping the success of the Packers' defensive trench men.

The 51-year-old Sanders spent the past four seasons (2001-04) as linebackers coach for the Miami Dolphins on the staff of Jim Bates, for whom he now works in Green Bay.

Sanders' unit contributed greatly to the overall success of the Dolphins' defense, which ranked fifth in the NFL against the run in both 2003 and '03, while his individual tutoring helped Zach Thomas to three Pro Bowl selections (2001-2003) and four of his top five singleseason tackle totals. Sanders' work also paid off in the development of 2001 third-round pick Morlon Greenwood into a staple of the defense, as well as his corps ably coping with the void created by the seasonending injury to Junior Seau in 2004.

efore joining the professional ranks. Sanders coached 22 years in the college game, including 15 seasons tutoring defensive linemen in some capacity.

Seven of those campaigns were at the University of Florida, where three of his pupils, Jevon Kearse, Kevin Carter and Huey Richardson, became first-round selections in the NFL Draft. While Sanders was with Florida, the Gators led the Southeastern Conference in sacks four straight seasons (1996-99).

With the Gators for 11 years (1990-2000), Sanders coached multiple defensive positions, helping the club capture five SEC championships and the 1995 national title. He coached the team's ends (1990, 1994-97), 'Banditbacks' and 'Gatorbacks' (1991-93), ends and strong-side linebackers (1998-99) and linebackers (2000). In addition, he served as assistant defensive coordinator (1994-98, 2000), assistant co-defensive coordinator (1991-93) and assistant head coach (1999).

Prior to his time at Florida, Sanders coached at Duke (ends/outside linebackers 1985-88, co-defensive coordinator/outside linebackers 1989), in 1989 helping the Blue Devils to an 8-4 record and the school's first Atlantic Coast Conference Championship since 1965.

He earlier got his start in the college ranks at Georgia Tech (assistant line coach 1978) and then served at Richmond (linebackers 1983-84) and East Carolina (line/linebackers 1980-82). He also coached three years (1976-77, 1979) in the high school ranks.

A former linebacker at Davidson College (1973-75), Sanders graduated from the school in 1976 with a B.S. degree in political science.

Defensive Nickel Package/Cornerbacks

Seventh season as NFL coach

► Seventh season with Packers

Now in his seventh season with the Packers and in the NFL, Lionel Washington in 2005 continues his work on defense in a new role as defensive nickel package/cornerbacks coach. While again tutoring the cornerbacks. Washington will be involved in developing the Packers' new defensive scheme and focus on third-down packages.

Equipped with 15 years of NFL experience as a defensive back, Washington's teaching has allowed cornerback Al Harris to surface as a dominant force on defense. In 2004, in his second season with the Green and Gold, Harris broke the Packers' single-season record for passes defensed with 28, bettering Doug Evans' 1995 mark of 27. He recorded a career-high 67 tackles (62 solo) to rank seventh on the team and added one interception. Washington's work with young pupils Ahmad Carroll, Joey Thomas and Chris Johnson are proving to be added dimensions to the Packers' secondary. Overall, the defensive backfield contributed well to the NFL's ninth-ranked third-down defense.

In 2003, the Packers' secondary contributed to a defense that held opponent quarterbacks to a 69.0 passer rating, the fifth lowest in the league and allowed just 307 points, the fifth fewest in the NFC. In addition, the defense intercepted 21 passes, fourth best in the conference, while ranking 10th in passing defense.

The 44-year old Washington, who originally joined the Packers in 1999, was retained by Head Coach Mike Sherman for his Green Bay staff on Feb. 10, 2000.

Working primarily with the cornerbacks during his inaugural season in the coaching profession, 1999, Washington saw three on-field rookies make significant contributions to Green Bay's defensive efforts. The Packers' secondary was responsible for 21 of the team's 26 interceptions, the overall total the third-best mark in the NFC. Then-rookie cornerbacks Mike McKenzie. Antuan Edwards and Fred Vinson provided 12 picks in a very non-rookie-like fashion.

Originally a fourth-round selection of the then-St. Louis Cardinals in the 1983 NFL draft out of Tulane. Washington enjoyed one of the longest playing careers for a defensive back in pro football history, appearing in 205 games with 165 starts with the St. Louis Cardinals, Los Angeles/Oakland Raiders and Denver Broncos. He snared 37 career interceptions, returning four for touchdowns. In his career, Washington intercepted at least one pass in 13 of his 15 seasons, with at least three in each of five different campaigns, including a career-high eight in his rookie, 1983 season.

After playing four years with the Cardinals (1983-86), Washington was traded to the Los Angeles Raiders in 1987 and played for the Silver and Black through the 1994 season. In 1995, he signed with Denver and spent two years with the Broncos before returning to the Raiders in 1997 for one final season. Washington was out of football in 1998 before launching his coaching career.

Lionel Washington at a glance

- Originally joined Packers Feb. 8, 1999; retained by Mike Sherman on Feb. 10, 2000, as assistant defensive backs coach; promoted to defensive nickel package/cornerbacks coach Feb. 18, 2005

PLAYER PERSONNE

Now in his fifth season as a college scout in the Northeast region, Lee Gissendaner begins his eighth season overall with the Green Bay Packers.

Named to his current position on May 15, 2001,

Gissendaner originally joined the Packers in 1998 as the team's representative in the National Scouting Service and authored preliminary evaluations of all prospective seniors in upcoming NFL drafts during his initial three seasons with the club.

The 33-year-old Gissendaner began his post-football career by serving as a graduate assistant coach for Kent State University (1997) while working toward his master's degree. He subsequently was named to a scouting position with the Packers on July 8, 1998, by then-Executive Vice President/General Manager Ron Wolf.

A four-year letterman (1990-93) and three-year starter at Northwestern University, Gissendaner led the NCAA in punt return average (21.8 yards) during his 1992 junior season. That year, he also was named 'Most Valuable Player' in the Big Ten Conference, was a first-team All-Big Ten selection and was voted as Northwestern's team MVP.

Did you know...Most historians credit the Packers as the first football team to film games and practice, something as important to today's game as the ball itself. The routine, carried on by Vince Lombardi (above), first began in 1923, when Otto Stiller used a handpowered camera to film games atop the Bellevue Park grandstand.

Riding bikes to practice

No one is sure exactly when it started, but Packers players have been riding kids bikes to training-camp practice for more than 30 years.

The tradition is believed to have originated in 1961, when the Packers constructed a new administration building on the stadium's north concourse.

Vince Lombardi was the first coach to ask his players to ride bikes to practice, in an effort to further the Packers' unique relationship with their fans.

A PLAYOFF APPEARANCE

Would mark the Packers' 11th berth since 1993, most in the NFL during the current era of the salary cap and unrestricted free agency. In NFL history, only a handful of teams have made the playoffs 11 times over any 13-year stretch.

SCORING STREAKS

The Packers look to extend three significant scoring streaks in 2005.

- First, the Packers have scored in a franchise-record 217 straight games (dating to Oct. 17, 1991). On the all-time NFL list, the team needs to score in its first game to surpass the No. 5 streak (Oakland Raiders, 217, 1966-81) and in its first two games to surpass the No. 4 streak (Dallas Cowboys, 218, 1970-85).
- ► Second, the Packers have scored a touchdown in a franchise-record 77 straight games, 29 more than the next-closest active streak. 48 by the Minnesota Vikings. If Green Bay can extend that streak into early 2006, the Packers would surpass some of the longest stretches ever
- ► Third, Green Bay has at least one field goal in 12 straight games. With a field goal in their first three games, the Packers would own the longest streak in team annals, surpassing 14-game stretches set in 1987 and from 1997-98.

Director of Player Development/ Offensive Assistant

Turner Gill, a veteran college football coach and former college football standout, in 2005 enters his first season in Green Bay, as well as his initial season in the NFL.

As director of player development, Gill assists with helping players become acclimated to their roles as Green Bay Packers, both on and off the field, especially in terms of their expected contributions to their teammates, the community and team chemistry.

Gill also oversees the Packers' wide range of programs designed to meet the needs of the players and their families in today's National Football League, providing a framework of assistance within which players and their immediate family members can address the pressures created by daily life and complicated by the demands of playing professional football. Gill assists players in taking full advantage of the NFL's many offerings, including those dealing with financial advice, continuing education and professional internships aimed at preparing players for careers when their playing days are over. He also works in conjunction with the Packers' community relations and family programs departments.

On the field, Gill lends his coaching experience by assisting with the tutoring of Green Bay's wide receivers.

Gill spent the last 13 seasons at Nebraska, where he coached two first-team All-Americans (Tommie Frazier and Eric Crouch), one of whom won the Heisman (Crouch), and helped the Huskers to three national championships.

After an outstanding playing career as the school's quarterback, Gill coached that position from 1992-2003 under Tom Osborne and Frank Solich, then coached receivers in 2004 under Bill Callahan. Solich promoted Gill to assistant head coach before the '03 campaign. During his tenure in Lincoln, he built a strong reputation as one of the nation's top recruiters.

Gill, 43, worked two seasons as a graduate assistant, originally returning to Nebraska in 1989, then moving in 1991 to Southern Methodist, where he worked mainly with the receivers. Gill began coaching in 1990 as a volunteer assistant at North Texas.

Like Packers receiver Javon Walker, Gill played minor league baseball. He spent three years (1986-88) in the Cleveland and Detroit farm systems before launching his coaching career.

A Heisman finalist himself when teammate Mike Rozier won the honor in 1983, Gill went 28-2 as Nebraska's starting quarterback from 1981-83, including a 20-0 conference mark. His football-playing career ended after two seasons (1984-85) with the CFL's Montreal Concordes, whom he led to consecutive playoff berths as their starting signal-caller.

Born Aug. 13, 1962, in Fort Worth, Texas, he and his wife, Gayle, reside in Green Bay with their daughters Jordan, 15, and Margaux, 10. In his spare time, Gill enjoys spending time with his family and playing golf.

In his role with the Packers, Warwick assists in organizing all aspects of the team and coaching staff's daily operations, in addition to the annual preseason training camp and offseason mini-camps and organized team activities.

Warwick first joined the Packers as director of football administration on March 8, 2000, following nine years in football operations at three different schools within the collegiate ranks.

Immediately prior to coming to Green Bay, he had been serving as director of football administration for the NFL Europe League, a position to which he had been named five weeks earlier (Feb. 1, 2000).

The 38-year-old Warwick launched his professional career as administrative assistant/assistant recruiting coordinator at Syracuse in 1991. From there, he served as assistant athletic director for football management at

Packers to host Bills for camp practice, Family Night

The Green Bay Packers on May 11 announced plans to host the Buffalo Bills during training camp, capping off the visit with 'Family Night, Presented by FOX 11.'

For the first time, "Family Night" features another NFL team. This year's event, with the Bills on the other sideline, is Friday night, Aug. 5. The NFL's most popular scrimmage, an intra-squad affair over its first four editions, the night has routinely filled Lambeau Field. In 2004 and 2005, the Packers sold every available seat in the stadium bowl.

This year's edition will take place on a Friday night to accommodate the Packers' earlier-than-normal preseason opener, vs. San Diego, Thursday, Aug. 11, as established by the NFL.

"Bringing in another team is beneficial for us for a number of reasons," said Executive Vice President and Head Coach Mike Sherman, who conceived the idea. "First, I wanted to change things up this year so it's different than previous training camps. Also, I teel going against different colored jerseys would make for an even more competitive camp. And with the youth we have at some positions, it provides us with another game-like experience, in addition to our four preseason contests.

"I think our fans will be excited to come to Hinkle Field on Thursday afternoon, or Friday morning, and watch two teams competing. Also, it only enhances the atmosphere and excitement of "Family Night."

In addition to the scrimmage, Buffalo is expected to practice against the Packers twice on Clarke Hinkle Field: Thursday afternoon, Aug. 4, and Friday morning, Aug. 5. The Green Bay organization also will host Bills head coach Mike Mularkey and his team for dinner at Lambeau Field Thursday night.

"We're thrilled to be able to host Buffalo during training camp and to have them be a part of 'Family Night,' " said Packers Executive Vice President/COO John Jones. "We are proud of what 'Family Night' has become for Packers fans and families from around the state. We anticipate this year to be even more exciting with the addition of the Bills. It will be a great way for our younger fans to take in a game-like night in Lambeau Field."

According to team historian Lee Remmel, the Packers haven't hosted another team in training camp since 1991, when New England traveled to Green Bay a few days before the teams' orgeseason opener at Lambeau Field. One year earlier, then-head coach Lindy Infante invited the Browns to Green Bay for practice before the clubs kicked off the 1990 preseason. The Browns contest marked LeRoy Butler's first MFL game.

While training camp in Green Bay hasn't seen "another color" in 14 years, the Packers are believed to have squared off against other NFL teams occasionally over the last 65 years. In 1939, the New York Giants began the trend of other NFL teams holding training camp in Wisconsin. Outside Green Bay, the Packers have also held joint training camp practices with the Saints and Chiefs.

A popular summer attraction, the event drew 60,217 in 2004, 48,898 in 2001, 50,240 in 2000 and 46,420 in 1999. 'Family Night' did not take place for two years (2002-03) during Lambeau Field's redevelopment.

The event will be televised in Green Bay on WLUK-TV Fox 11, as well as throughout the state of Wisconsin on associated stations. The telecast will be hosted by Drew Smith and other members of the Fox 11 sports and news staffs.

Born: May 27, 1981 NFL Gm. Played/Started: 31/31

Third NFL Season Third Packers Season Acquired: D1-03

Emerging defensive leader, authored another solid season in 2004, his second as the starter at middle line-backer...Already the first player ever to lead the Packers in tackles each of his first two NFL seasons, has the opportunity in 2005 to become the first player ever recorded (dating to 1975) to lead the Packers in tackles for three straight years...His 162 tackles in '04 were more than any Packers player in a single season over the last 21 years, and the fourth highest in franchise history (since '75)...Finished the year particularly strong, averaging 12.2 stops per game over the final five regular-season contests...Selected as an alternate to the Pro Bowl for the second time in his career...Replaced Na'il Diggs as the defensive playcaller in '04, taking command of the defense, the unit relying on him even more than in 2003... Now a veteran on the Packers defense, he will be counted on more this season to provide leadership..."Each year, he's become more and more of a leader," says linebackers coach Mark Duffner. "I see him leading by his play. He's now earned the respect of others - that takes some time to do. I think he's been a productive player and now he's a little more mature and can be a leader both vocally and through his play."...Named the 'NFC Defensive Player of the Week' for his Week 1 performance last year at 11-tackle an and one-interception effort... Though positioned in the middle of the linebacking corps up to this point in his career, displays the intangibles to play any of the three spots..."Nick's got a lot of outstanding abilities as an athlete," Duffner continues. "He's a very quick, very sudden athlete who can really close and make a lot of plays. With his speed, he's that can player make plays sideline sideline."...Defensive coordinator Jim agrees..."The middle linebacker in our scheme has to be a special athlete," he says. "There's a lot of tough matchups that he has to be able to play, and Nick has the ability to play those.'

urability is one of the attributes that sets him apart...Played in an astonishing 99.0 percent of the team's defensive snaps in 2004, up from 87.1 percent his debut season; the only player to play more defensive snaps was Al Harris (99.1 percent)..."He's had a productive and durable career so far," Duffner says. "I think a lot of that is because he trains hard and takes care of himself and plays hard. I think all of those things have contributed to his durability."... As a rookie in 2003, had as solid a season as any first-year performer in recent memory...Named to the All-Rookie team of Pro Football Weekly, finished third behind the Ravens' Terrell Suggs and the Cowboys Terence Newman in NFL 'Defensive Rookie of the Year' voting conducted by the Associated Press...Also one of five finalists for the Pepsi 'NFL Rookie of the Year,' captured the weekly honor in Weeks 2, 5 and 6 during the regular season...Named by the league as NFL 'Defensive Rookie of the Month' for October after he posted 31 tackles, one sack and one pass defensed in only three games...Also named as Packers' 2003 'Defensive Rookie of the Year'...Has played and started in 31 career games, as well three playoff contests; was inactive for one game as a rookie (Nov. 27 at Detroit) after spraining his ankle the previous week...Has accounted for 296 tackles (211 solo), five sacks and four interceptions among 17 passes defensed, with two fumble recoveries.

A big, adaptable and physical tackle, considered a starter by his coaches and teammates...Enters fourth season in familiar and critical role as extra tight end in the team's signature package over the last two seasons – the 'U-71.'

named in his honor...A versatile component with prototypical size and strength, can play anywhere on the right side of the offensive line...Seeks an increased role in 2005 after the departer of unrestricted free agent

PRO CAREER Marco Rivera...Originally made the team in 2002 as a non-drafted free agent...In 2004, served as primary backup at right tackle, occasional backup at right guard and saw significant duty as extra tackle/tight end (three starts)..."He's got all the attributes you ever want a player to have," says Packers offensive line coach Larry Beightol..."We're fortunate to have a guy like Kevin Barry. He's a very physical guy. He can play three different positions, he gives us a lot of flexibility and I picture him as though he's a starter. He's penciled in as that guy in that 'U-71' package because he is so valuable."...A dominating run blocker, he's on the road to becoming a very good pass blocker..."When he matches up, he's been outstanding," Beightol adds. "He's been a guy that just totally can beat down the opponent. He's a very physical, tough, hard-nosed player. He loves to play and loves the Packers - I can't say anything but good things about him."...The Wisconsin native has dedicated himself to offseason training in Arizona by meeting with a nutritionist to keep his weight down... "He's done a good job to keep his weight at the right level," says Beightol. "These big guys have a tendency to eat too much of mom's home cooking and that can take you out of your playing status in the NFL. Kevin has matured and has a better grasp of that this offseason."...Re-signed with the Packers as a restricted free agent. April 22.

Logo history

1950-53: In their first season after Curly Lambeau's 31-year reign, the "New Packers" introduce their first identifying mark; the logo is also present on 1950 stock certificates. It changes colors over the four years, as the team experiments with several uniform combinations.

1954-61: Looking for a fresh look with new coach Lisle Blackbourn, the team unveils new uniforms and a new mark. The logo locates both Green Bay and Milwaukee on a Wisconsin silhouette. The passer wears No. 41, worn two decades earlier by both Arnie Herber and Clarke Hinkle.

1959-74: Sideline logo, worn on hats, shirts and jackets by coaches, equipment managers and trainers at both games and practice. Coincided with Vince Lombardi's first season, then retained by Phil Bengtson and Dan Devine.

1961-69: The primary logo during the Lombardi era, used on official Packers stationery and publications. The team won five world championships under the mark. Before the '69 season, after Lombardi's departure to Washington, team letterhead shifts to a helmet logo. The mark still sees use into the '70s, though.

1961-present: First and only helmet logo in team history, designed for Lombardi by equipment manager Dad Braisher and first applied to Packers headgear in 1961. After introducing the G, the team immediately won two world titles (1961-62), and five over the mark's first seven years. Borrowed by scores of schools, college and high school.

1993: Commemorative logo, worn on jersey during '93 season, signifying the team's 75th professional season, since its birth in 1919. Wearing logo, team earned first playoff berth in 11 years, kicking off string of six straight postseason trips.

2003: Patch team wore for first two home games of '03 to commemorate rededication of Lambeau Field, following three-year, $295-million renovation.

Waterbug-type performer, has served the past two seasons as Green Bay's primary return specialist...In 2004, earned an increased role in the Packers' offense, consistently finding ways to get open withthe opponent's zone schemes...A one-time standout at the University of Cincinnati, he joined the Packers during the summer of 2003 following two of the most productive seasons in recent Arena Football League histo-PRO CAREER TY with the nearby Chicago

Rush..."I think Antonio became a more competent runner last season," says Green Bay special teams coordinator John Bonamego. "He continues to be a very reliable, sure-handed person back there catching the ball. Good decision-making has been pretty consistent with him. I think this year I'd like to see him where he's coming out of the catch a little bit quicker and using his blocks a little bit better."...Demonstrated his knack for the big play at key moments in last year's NFC North title game at Minnesota on Christmas Eve...With the Vikings having just scored a touchdown to take a 21-14 lead less than a minute before halftime, he responded by returning the ensuing kickoff a career-long 59 vards, avoiding one tackle, then reversing field to shoot up the left sideline for extra yardage; the play set up a 42-yard field goal as time expired in the first half, closing the Minnesota lead back to four points in the Packers' eventual 34-31 triumph...Earlier in the year, had orchestrated another field goal opportunity with a 50-yard kickoff return in shootout at Indianapolis..."I thought he was better on his kickoff returns last year, too," Bonamego adds. "The big return at the Vikings on Christmas Eve, that was all him, and it was a huge play in the game. I would say that he definitely ran with more authority on kickoffs last year, which is something I'd like to see him continue to improve on."...Initially had won the job as the Packers' return specialist in 2003, over a wide-open field of competitors, with a strong training camp performance... Went on to average 8.4 yards per runback in '03 (ninth in the NFC) in his primary role as a punt returner...Sure-handed, he did not fumble during his maiden NFL season despite handling the ball 87 times (98 including postseason)... Averaged 7.7 yards on punt returns in 2004 (eighth in the conference), while stepping up his offensive participation with 22 catches..."Last year, I think that he, in his mind, decided that he was more than just a punt returner - he wanted to be a receiver," says Packers offensive coordinator Tom Rossley. "I'm not so sure that was the case his first year here; he was coming out of Arena Football and he was just focused on being a return guy, and he was not very good as a receiver. We talked to him in the offseason, and said if he was going to stay with us he needed to be both a receiver and a return quy. He really put his mind to it, and he worked hard to learn the offense. He's got great quickness, runs good routes and he's getting better every year as a player."... Has made 45 fair catches in his pair of Green Bay seasons - second most in team history, behind only the 102 of Willie Wood...Had begun his professional career in 2001 as an undrafted free agent in San Francisco's training camp...After failing in his bid to make the 49ers' roster, he was able to establish a toehold in pro football with a pair of eyecatching seasons in 2002 and 2003 with the AFL's Chicago Rush...Set an Arena League record with 3,678 all-purpose yards (229.9 per game) in 2003, when he was runner-up for AFL 'Offensive Player of the Year while breaking more than a half-dozen team marks...Playing just under 200 miles - and about three hours - to the south of Green Bay in Chicago's north suburbs, his exploits did not go unnoticed by the Packers' pro personnel department, which was quick to sign him as a free agent upon completion of the Rush's '03 season.

side...Regularly stymies a laundry list of the game's top pass rushers – a feat made even all the more impressive by how frequently he is left to do so with little or no assistance from teammates... "Chad is smooth as silk - there's nothing he can't do," says Green Bay offensive line coach Larry Beightol, "He's a big man who is a real fine athlete. He's very quick and he's explosive, too. I think he is a Pro Bowl-type player. I think that now with the loss of the two guards in the offseason. (Marco Rivera and Mike Wahle) that maybe the tackles will start to get some of the acclaim that the guards seem to have gotten in the past. He certainly is right there, ready to step up and be recognized as one of the top players in the National Football League. Chad has been blessed with terrific feet, he's got great balance, he has terrific know-how. He doesn't get flustered, even when we get into some of these loud dome stadiums His run blocking was much, much improved last season. He always was a good run blocker, he always could do the zone schemes and the things like that we've asked him to do. Some of the things that he would get a little lax on was his back-side blocking, and that improved immensely. And we're hoping that he will continue to grow and improve in that area.'

eads into his sixth season as the Packers' starting left tackle in 2005...On the heels of a devastating pelvic injury that prematurely ended his 2002 season, he has successfully returned to the field to start every game the past two years...In fact, he is the only Green Bay player (on either offense or defense) to have played every snap from scrimmage on his respective side of the ball in both the 2003 and 2004 seasons...Rewarded with a six-year contract extension, through the 2009 season, on March 2, 2004, he certainly showed no signs of complacency the following year. helping the Packers to an all-time franchise-low 14 sacks during the '04 season..."What I saw last year with Chad was a mature approach," Beightol adds. "He started to do things like a Pro Bowl player does, which is never taking a play off, being consistent whether it's a run, a pass, a screen, a draw or a delay. He was much, much more consistent this past year than he was maybe earlier in his career. I thought that he came in with an attitude of, 'Hey, I appreciate getting the contract and the Packers have shown a real positive sign toward me as a player and a future player for the Packers, and I'm going to prove to them that they made the right decision by playing lights out,' and that's what he did."... A year earlier, in his 2003 return to the field following an arduous offseason of rehabilitation, he started all 16 games for the first time as a professional and, as the left tackle, was a key cog in Green Bay allowing but 19 sacks – tied for the second fewest in the NFL and at the time the franchise low for a 16-game season...Included in that success was the Packers' Nov. 16, 2003, win at Tampa Bay – a feat made even more remarkable by the fact that his 2002 campaign had been ended by a pelvic injury initially believed to be career threatening.

- As the left tackle, was a major factor in the Packers limiting opponents to an all-time franchise-low 14 sacks in 2004, Green Bay also did not allow a sack in eight games – another club single-season record.
- ▶ Played a pivotal role by shutting out Pro Bowl DE Simeon Rice – when Green Bay snapped the Buccaneers' 69-game streak with at least one sack in a 20-13 triumph at Tampa Bay, Nov. 16, 2003. Ironically, that game marked his return to Raymond James Stadium, where he had incurred his season-ending pelvic injury roughly a year earlier.

- Took up bicycling as part of the 2003 rehabilitation of his pelvic injury and since also has helped to promote bicycle safety to Green Bay-area youth.

game with tremendous personal ramifications for him—when Green Bay snapped the Buccaneers' NFL-record streak of 69 consecutive games with at least one sack...Just less than a year earlier (Nov. 24, 2002), on the same Raymond James Stadium field, his season had come to an untimely end when he suffered a badly sprained pelvis as the result of an unnecessary block, on an interception return, that he did not see coming (a play that the NFL made illegal in 2005)...Subsequently designated as Green Bay's 'franchise' player Feb. 24, 2004, he reached agreement with the Packers on his contract extension on the eve of agency...Earlier, in 2001, was a large factor in Green Bay allowing the thirdfewest sacks in the league (22), a figure that then also qualified as the least by a Packers team in 27 years...Was playing at a similarly high level in 2002 before the abrupt end to his season in Tampa...Had been thrust into the starting lineup seven games into his 2000, rookie campaign, immediately shoring up what had been a trouble spot for Green Bay early in the year...Since 2000, the Packers have allowed the second-fewest sacks in the NFL (116), behind only Indianapolis (106)... As a rookie starter, was not intimidated by the hostile crowds or noisy dome stadiums - situations he had encountered in the years prior as a standout at the University of Tennessee – while holding his own against some of the game's better pass rushers... A second-round draft choice of the Packers in 2000, joined fellow rookie Mark Tauscher in the lineup that year to give Green Bay its first pair of starting rookie offensive tackles in 48 years.

On the heels of signing a lucrative 2004 SEASON contract extension during the offseason, enjoyed perhaps his finest year as a professional, matter-of-factly shutting down several of the league's top pass rushers as Green Bay allowed an all-time franchise-low 14 sacks... Was a Pro Bowl alternate behind the Seahawks' Walter Jones and the Rams' Orlando Pace...Started all 16 games for the second consecutive season (and the second time as a pro) while serving as the Packers' left tackle for a fifth straight year...Also started NFC Wild Card playoff contest with Minnesota (Jan. 9)... Played 100 percent of the team's offensive snaps during the regular season a second consecutive year, a feat matched only by linemate Wahle in 04... Helped Green Bay to set club records for total first downs (354), net yards (6,357), net yards passing (4.449) and completions (382) en route to ranking third among NFL offenses...Also was a catalyst in the Packers not allowing half of their regular-season opponents (an all-time high eight of 16) to record a sack... Turned in his top personal performance of the season in Indianapolis' noisy, hostile RCA Dome (Sept. 26), neutralizing the Colts' cat-quick Dwight Freeney, who would go on to lead the NFL with 16 sacks; Indy's Pro Bowl DE could post only one solo tackle in spite of the fact that he was playing on the fast track of his home stadium and the Packers were in catch-up mode for much of the contest...Held Lions DE James Hall, who recorded 111/2 sacks to tie for fifth in the NFC, without a sack and only three total tackles in a pair of games with Detroit...Similarly kept Panthers Pro Bowl DE Julius Peppers from recording a sack in season-opening victory at Carolina (Sept. 13)...Also held without a sack were the Cowboys' Greg Ellis (Oct. 24) and the Rams' Bryce Fisher (Nov. 29), who respectively posted nine and eight-and-a-half sacks as the 2004 sack leaders of their teams... Made a key block on Tony Fisher's 24-yard run, pancaking safety Adam Archuleta, in Monday night victory over St. Louis as the Packers churned out 231 yards on the ground... Eight days earlier, had helped the Green Bay offensive line hold the Texans to no sacks as the Packers mounted a 383-yard passing performance in come-from-behind win at Houston (Nov. 21)... Made his 50th NFL start (along with Tauscher) in initial meeting

Chicago (Sept. 19)...Exited postseason game against Minnesota (Jan. 9) in the third quarter after spraining his left ankle! subsequently underwent arthroscopic surgery on that Feb. 14. ankle 2005...Following the season, was named to the 'All-Joe' team of USA Today as a player who is "overlooked and underappreciated" as well as to Fox Sports analyst Daryl Johnston's 'All-Lunch Pail Crew' for his blue-collar approach to football.

2003 Returned successfully from the pelvic injury that had ended his 2002 season to start all 16 games for the first time as a professional... The Packers' starting left tackle for a fourth consecutive year, he was the only Green Bay lineman to play every offensive snap during the regular season...Also started both playoff contests...Was personally responsible for only two one-half sack, pressures and according Beightol...Manned critical left tackle spot on an offensive line that permitted but 19 sacks - at the time a franchise low for a 16-game season and tied (with Indianapolis) for the second fewest in NFL...Included in that low sack number was a (then) team-record six games without a sack allowed (since statistic became official in 1963), including three straight contests (Sept. 14-21-29) with zero sacks for the first time in franchise history...Played a pivotal role when Green Bay snapped the Buccaneers' NFL-record streak of 69 consecutive games with at least one sack in 20-13 triumph at Tampa Bay (Nov. 16), shutting out Simeon Rice, the Bucs' Pro Bowl DE who ultimately would finish second in the NFC with 15 sacks...Also helped the Packers to single-season franchise records for yards rushing (2,558) and yards per carry (5.05), including 1,883 yards by Ahman Green to break Jim Taylor's 41-year-old team rushing mark; Green Bay's 2,558 rushing yards ranked third in the NFL, behind only Baltimore (2,669) and Denver (2,629)... Played a part in November stretch in which the Packers rushed for 190or-more vards in four straight games...Blanked Rams Pro Bowl DE Leonard Little (third in the NFC with 121/2 sacks) in game at St. Louis (Oct. 19), and also threw a downfield block on LB Robert Thomas to help spring Naieh Davenport for a 76-yard TD run late in the contest...A week before against Kansas City (Oct. 12), blocked Chiefs LB Monty Beisel on Davenport's 18-yard touchdown run early in the third quarter...Opened hole for key, 19-yard gain by Fisher just before halftime at SCO Minnesota (Nov. 2) by taking out Vikings LB Greg Biekert...As a general rule, practiced only once a day early in training camp as he returned gradually from the pelvic injury that had cut short his 2002 season, and he did not see game action until the third preseason contest (Aug. 15 at Cleveland)...His comeback efforts had been hindered by a pair of unrelated offseason operations...Underwent arthroscopic surgery on his right knee Jan. 31, 2003, to address cartilage damage tied into an MCL sprain from the '02 season, then later had his right elbow scoped April 14, 2003, to remove multiple loose bodies.

Turned in several notable performances before his personal season was ended by a pelvic injury after 11 games...Neutralized the Dolphins' Jason Taylor - who had been named AFC 'Defensive Player of the Week' days earlier and would go on to finish as the NFL sacks leader with 181/2 - while playing the last twoand-a-half quarters of Monday night win over Miami (Nov. 4)...Earlier had shut out the Panthers' Mike Rucker - the league's leading sacker entering the contest and the eventual NFC 'Defensive Player of the Month' in victory over Carolina (Sept. 29)...Also was playing well at New England (Oct. 13), according to Beightol, before he sprained the medial collateral ligament in his right knee, which made him inactive vs. Washington (Oct. 20) and limited him to reserve duty vs. Miami (Nov. 4)...Played in 10 of Green Bay's first 11 games, making nine starts at left tackle, and was inactive twice. .. Had his year come to an abrupt end when he was blindsided by an unnecessary block during a third-quarter interception return at Tampa Bay (Nov. 24)... Sprained the bones of his pelvis so severely that he was hospitalized for nearly a week (in both Tampa and Green Bay) and was unable to walk on his own for roughly another six weeks before beginning a full offseason of rehabilitation... Was placed on injured reserve Dec. 4 after being inactive for Bears contest three days earlier... Had missed one series of initial meeting with Chicago (Oct. 7), in Champaign, III., due to a neck "stinger" that occurred on the Packers' first PAT try.

Played in 14 games, starting 13, in his first full 2001 season as the starter at left tackle...Also opened both playoff contests... Was inactive for one reqular-season game and dressed for the other, though he did not play...Played a central role as Green Bay allowed the third fewest sacks in the NFL (22) and the least by a Packers team in 27 years (17 in 1974) at that time...Held future Hall of Famer Bruce Smith without a sack in Monday night victory over Washington (Sept. 24)...Later, despite playing with a left hamstring strain suffered a week earlier at Tampa Bay, shut out the Ravens' Michael McCrary, one of the AFC's top pass rushers, in triumph over defending Super Bowl champion Baltimore (Oct. 14)...Sprained his left ankle early in rematch with the Buccaneers (Nov. 4), causing him to be inactive for the ensuing contest, at Chicago (Nov. 11)...Was available for backup duty vs. Atlanta (Nov. 18), but did not see any action... Returned to the field, in a reserve capacity, for Thanksgiving Day battle at Detroit (Nov. 22), rotating in for Barry Stokes in the first half before taking the majority of snaps after halftime...Was inserted back into the starting lineup for Monday night contest at Jacksonville (Dec. 3)...Picked up a big block of Vikings LB Jim Nelson on Donald Driver's 31-yard TD run on a reverse, giving the Packers a 7-3 advantage late in first half of eventual 24-13 victory over Minnesota (Dec. 30).

Moved into the starting lineup at left tackle in the seventh game of his rookie season, taking over for Wahle...Played so well down the stretch against some of the NFL's best pass rushers that he drew serious consideration for all-rookie honors...Helped Green Bay average 117.3 yards rushing per game over the final 10 contests - a 39-yard improvement over the 78.3 yards per game the Packers put forth in the first six weeks when he wasn't starting... Saw action in 13 games, starting the last 10, was inactive for two contests and did not play in another...Played the majority of the second half at left tackle at Detroit (Oct. 8) after Wahle went out due to a calf strain, holding up well against Tracy Scroggins, who had generated 11/2 sacks and significant pressure before Clifton got onto the field...Made his first NFL start the next week vs. San Francisco (Oct. 15)...Held his own against the Dolphins' Taylor, whose 141/2 sacks ended up second in the AFC, at Miami (Oct. 29) in his initial significant challenge since becoming a starter...Twice held the Buccaneers' Marcus Jones (fourth in the NFC with 13 sacks) without a sack, preventing him from making even a single tackle at Tampa Bay (Nov. 12)...Shut down the Vikings' John Randle in upset victory over Minnesota (Dec. 17) inside the noisy Metrodome...Had seen his rookie season get off to a slow start when he suffered a mild sprain of his right MCL during one-on-one pass-blocking drills in practice Aug. 16, causing him to miss the Packers' final two preseason games and to be inactive for the first two regular-season contests...Dressed, but did not play, vs. Philadelphia (Sept. 17), before making his NFL debut at Arizona (Sept. 24), seeing late-game action at left tackle in a 29-3 win... Along with Tauscher, gave Green Bay its first pair of starting rookie tackles in 48 years (Tom Johnson-Bob Dees, Nov. 16, 1952, at N.Y. Giants) when he entered the lineup beginning with the 49ers game...Drafted in the second round (44th overall) by Green Bay in 2000.

Was a four-year starter (1996-99) for the University of Tennessee after being redshirted in 1995...Began his collegiate career at right tackle before spending his final three seasons at left tackle...A two-time All-Southeastern Conference selection, he also earned second-team All-America honors from The Sporting News as a senior...Played in two national championship games – including Fiesta Bowl victory over Florida State to culminate unbeaten 1998 season – four bowl games and two SEC championship games...Started 45 of 48 career games played as a col-

No-nonsense, downhill runner, is a highly treasured backup to Pro Bowl RB Ahman Green...Possessing tailback speed in a traditional fullback frame, has the ability to pop a long run once he gets out into the open field...Though much alike in their mutual ability to break opposition tackles, generally provides a change-of-pace style to that of Green...Can be especially effective in the fourth quarter when defenders are weary and he brings his 250-pound body and fresh legs off the bench..."Najeh is a big man who runs with power," says Green Bay running backs coach Edgar Bennett, "and also has quick feet and good speed. He's a north-south type runner, but he's not limited to just that. Once he gets outside he's tough to bring down, both from a power and speed standpoint. If he gets rolling, it's going to be difficult to tackle him. He's trying to improve in every aspect of his game - he worked hard on his pass-catching during the offseason, and he's getting better. Najeh also changed some things in the offseason - his eating habits, workout habits, recovering, attempting to do more to prevent injuries - to try and help him during the season. I think that was his biggest struggle last year, getting nicked up and basically having to play through pain. Now, he's trying to get into a routine where he can make sure he's giving his body the proper rest and he's eating right, keeping his weight at a manageable level, as well as doing all the little things like stretching and coming in early to treat some of the nicks that you'll naturally obtain while playing. Having Najeh available allows us to rest Ahman as the starter so that he's fresh at the end of the game."...Staked his own claim to being a startingcaliber runner in the NFL with an impressive performance late last season in his first professional start, Nov. 29 against St. Louis under the bright lights of Monday Night Football, when Green was sidelined by a rib cartilage injury...Ran for 178 yards and a score on 19 carries vs. the Rams; his production ranked third highest among league runners making their initial start over the prior 20 years, along with being the fifth-best one-game total in franchise history.

veraging better than 5 yards per carry for the second straight season in 2004, his 5.1 yards per attempt was fifth highest among the league's top 51 running backs..."If I go back and look at it, Najeh had a good week of practice heading into that St. Louis game," Bennett recalls. "He was focused and ready to play. He prepared the entire week like he was going to be the guy, even though there was a chance that Ahman was going to play. It was an unbelievable game...fantastic. Coach (Mike) Sherman called the same runs he normally would call. Najeh was able to go in there and pound it out and find the holes, then hit them. It was a good indication of what he can do in this league given the opportunity. To be able to run for that many yards in an NFL game says a lot about someone's ability,"...Had been a highly recruited tailback when he came out of Miami Central High School in 1996 and chose to play locally at the University of Miami (Fla.)...Subsequently got stuck behind future NFL stars Edgerrin James and Clinton

- Has averaged better than 5 yards per carry in each of the past two seasons: 5.45 in 2003, followed by 5.06 last year.
- His 31.6-yard kickoff return average would have led the NFL in 2003, but he fell four attempts shy of the 20 needed for qualification, having not assumed those duties for Green Bay until the 10th game.
- Was a captain on the University of Miami's 12-0, national championship team in 2001, though he missed the title game after breaking his foot during Rose Bowl preparations.
- A sprinter on the Miami track squad for four years, he was a member of the Hurricanes' 1999 Big East champion 4x100meter relay team.
- A year-round Green Bay resident, is one of the more active players within the community, having given time to numerous organizations and their events.
- Received compliments from several neighbors after landscaping the front yard of his Green Bay home himself this past offseason.
- Has had his share of interesting "summer" jobs. In 2003, utilizing his undergraduate degree in theatre, he filmed a role as a nightclub owner in the movie Full Clip, starring Busta Rhymes, that was released on DVD in August 2004, Previously, while in college, he worked as a paralegal assistant and sold cutlery, winning an award as salesperson of the year in the latter job.

bid to become the Hurricanes' next great runner, before eventually accepting a move to fullback for his final season-and-a-half...Was drafted by the Packers in 2002 primarily with the intent of having him back up at fullback, but he so impressed the Green Bay coaches early that season with his tailback-like running skills and natural instincts that it quickly became apparent he was the best player to be Green's understudy... Thriving at tailback in 2003 though he received only about 10 snaps a game, posted the second-best rushing average (5.45 yards per carry) among the NFL's top 59 running backs. behind only Portis (5.49), then with Denver...Developed into a top-of-the-line kickoff return man as well in '03, averaging an impressive 31.6 yards per runback (third highest in team history) with one-fourth of his returns covering 40-or-more yards; would have led the entire NFL in kickoff return average, but fell four returns shy of

Healthy for most of his second season after having his rookie year cut short by an eye injury, served as a valuable and productive backup to Green. who set the Packers' single-season rushing record with 1,883 yards...Saw reserve action in 15 regular-season games; he was inactive for the other contest (Sept. 29 at Chicago) with wrist and hamstring injuries suffered eight days earlier at Arizona...Also played in both postseason games...Finished second on the team in rushing with a career-high 420 yards and two touchdowns on 77 carries...Enjoyed the second-best rushing average (5.45 yards per carry) among the NFL's top 59 running backs, being edged out by Portis (5.49), a 1,591-yard rusher that season...Also made six receptions for 38 yards...Became the Packers' primary kickoff returner beginning with the 10th game, averaging an impressive 31.6 yards per runback, including four returns of over 40 vards...His 31.6-yard average (third highest in team history) would have topped the NFL, but his 16 returns (for 505 yards) fell four shy of the 20 necessary for qualification...Also was a regular on the coverage units, ranking fourth among Packers with 15 special teams tackles...During the postseason, carried 16 times for 63 yards, returned seven kickoffs for 139 yards, and added

Najeh Davenport plays a nightclub owner in the movie Full Clip, starring Busta Rhymes, released on DVD in August 2004. But that's not the first instance of Hollywood's long relationship with the Green Bay Packers. Among many examples:

- Current running back Ahman Green makes his on-screen debut this year in an independent "short" film, The Amazing Tale of Chester McPhall. Green plays himself in the role of Chester's nemesis.
- Actor Matthew McConaughey's father was drafted by the Packers. The team selected James (Jim) McConaughey, an end, out of the University of Houston in the 27th round (319th overall) of the '53 draft. The elder McConaughey didn't see action in a league game. The younger McConaughey is known to be a Packers fan.
- ▶ Alan Autry, who played Captain Bubba Skinner in the hit series In the Heat of the Night, also was drafted by Green Bay, GM/Head Coach Bart Starr drafted him in the 12th round (296th overall) of the 1975 draft. During training camp, Autry met director Robert Altman, who would give him a small part in the 1978 film Remember My Name. Autry's legal name was Carlos Brown (including his 1975-76 Packers tenure) until 1981, when he changed it while filming Southern Comtont, after meeting his biological father. Autry now owns a production company, and produced and starred in his first full-length film, The Legend of Jake Kincaid.
- ► The Packers were the subject of a 1937 MGM/UA movie, Pigskin Champions (above, Don Hutson and Arnie Herber collect autographs from one of their "co-stars," Pete Smith, while in Hollywood).
- Brett Favre made a cameo in the comedy There's Something About Mary (Cameron Diaz, Ben Stiller), as Mary's mysterious boyfriend.
- Gary Knafelc, Lambeau Field's former P.A. announcer who also caught the game-winning touchdown in the stadium's inaugural game was an actor as well. Using the screen name Gary Kincaid, he had roles in Palm Springs Weekend (1963) among other films.

Ray Nitschke had roles in The Longest Yard (1974), starring Burt Reynolds and Head (1968).

Cleveland Browns shifted to "baid" helmets in 1960. The Pittsburgh Steelers introduced their unique helmets, with one bald side, the year after the Packers added the G, in 1962.

Designed for Lombardi by equipment manager Dad Braisher, the G is one of the most recognizeable team marks in sports, borrowed by several colleges and high schools, including Grambling State and the University of Georgia.

The actual raised helmet G oval measures 3.125 inches at its tallest point, and 5 inches at its videst point. The thick decal is applied to each Riddell helmet by current equipment manager Red Batty and his staff.

A lean, tireless defender, enters his sixth season as a leader on the Packers' defense...Tough as his nickname, "Nails" in 2004 endured a kidney injury that put him in the hospital and stopped a streak of 62 consecutive starts, almost unprecedented by a Packers linebacker...Applies his noticeable speed to every aspect of his play as an outside linebacker..."He has what I would call burst speed, or closing speed," says Green Bay line-or closing speed, says Green bay linebackers coach Mark Duffner. "He can often run down any offensive player, whether it's a receiver or a running back. He can really close to make plays, too. He's led our defense over the last two years in tackles for loss; that's one manifestation of his speed and productivity. His range plays off of that. His speed allows him to make plays from sideline to sideline in pursuit. He covers a lot of ground in making many of his tackles"...A true professional, Diggs' approach to his game-week preparation has caught the attention of his coaches...Originally a 2000 fourthround draft choice, surprised many observers by being able to play right away as a rookie, an accomplishment due to remarkable mental preparation he initially exhibited...A consistent playmaker, posted his third straight 100-tackle season in 2004... Has played in 75 career games with the Packers, with 74 starts, registering 496 tackles (356 solo), seven sacks and 27 passes defensed...Enters 2005 needing four tackles for career No. 500..."I'm impressed with him as a person," Duffner continues. "He's a good man and a bright guy. Football and this organization are very important to him, and that's demonstrated by his actions. He's not a bunch of words, he's a bunch of actions is what he is."...A restricted free agent after the 2002 season, he was signed to a four-year contract April 2, 2003; the Packers matched an offer sheet presented to Diggs by Detroit.

2004 SEASON Completed his fifth season as a defensive starter, his second as the No. 1 weak-side linebacker...Topped 100 tackles for a third straight season, finishing second on the team with 116 stops (91 solo), including one sack; he also knocked down two passes...Started 14 regular-season games and was inactive for the other two contests after injuring his kidney late in the year...Also started Wild Card playoff vs. Minnesota (Jan. 9)...Notched six tackles (four solo) at Carolina (Sept. 13)...Had an impressive showing vs. Chicago (Sept. 19), collecting 10 tackles (eight solo) and one sack...Stopped RB Thomas Jones for a 1-yard loss in the first quarter, forcing the Bears into thirdand-long and an eventual punt...Later in the quarter, dropped QB Rex Grossman for a 7-yard loss; on the same series, once again stopped Jones in his own backfield for a loss of 2 yards...Against the N.Y. Giants (Oct. 3), led the team with career highs in both total (19) and solo (15) tackles; blew up a Jeremy Shockey block in the second quarter and threw Tiki Barber for a 4-yard loss (the Giants missed a 49-yard field goal on the next plant). Packers to retire Reggie White's number Sept. 18

Perennial All-Pro Reggie White, one of the greatest defenders in NFL history, will have his number '92' retired by the Green Bay Packers Sept. 18. President & CEO Bob Harlan made the announcement May 31.

The Packers will honor White, who tragically passed away Dec. 26, 2004, in North Carolina, at halftime ceremonies during the first regular-season game at Lambeau Field, a 3:15 p.m. kickoff with the Cleveland Browns. His wife, Sara, and children, Jeremy and Jecolia, are expected to join Harlan to retire White's familiar '92.' Earlier, Jecolia, 17. is scheduled to sing the National Anthem.

The gesture was not spurred by White's premature death. In fact, Harlan met with White in September of 2004 and told him of the team's plans to retire his number during the '05 season, mentioning the public display of retired numbers on the green façade of Lambeau Field's north end zone, where the club will unveil White's number at halftime of the Browns contest.

Among the oldest major professional sports franchises, only the Chicago Cubs (3) and the Oakland Athletics (2) have fewer retired numbers than the Packers. Counting those that have won the most championships in their sports, the Packers have 17 less than the Boston Celtics (21), 12 fewer than the New York Yankees (16) and three fewer than the Montreal Canadiens (7). White contributed greatly toward Green Bay's NFL-record 12th world title in 1996. Other retired Packers numbers include fullback Tony Canadeo (3), wide receiver Don Hutson (14), quarterback Bart Starr (15) and linebacker Ray Nitschke (66). All are Pro Hall of Famers.

A complete NFL receiver, enters his seventh profession-al campaign as an essential piece of the Packers offense and mentor to younger players...Has the ability to play both flanker and split end... His understanding of the Packers' 'West Coast' style-offense and comfort level with quarterback Brett Favre allow him to be a versatile target, according to Green Bay offensive coordinator Tom Rossley..."We better come up with more ways of getting him the ball," Rossley says, "both in terms of his run after the catch and his playmaking ability."... A former college track standout and one-time Olympic hopeful, uses superior athleticism as a large part of his game, not to be outdone by technical prowess..."He's explosive and he can go up and take the ball away from people with his great leaping ability," says Rossley. "He has great release at the line of scrimmage and against bump coverage; it's really tough to press him. He's also really good at beating man coverage."...Packers receivers coach James Franklin agrees with Rossley's assessment of Driver's abilities..."I think the reason he's so effective is his quickness at the line of scrimmage and at the top of his routes, and his leaping ability," Franklin says. "He's also obviously got great hands and has made some tremendous catches over the years."...Franklin calls Driver the "ultimate professional" because of his ability to perform physically, mentally and act as a leader to his fellow receivers and other players..."I think what Donald has that really separates him from competition is the mental aspect," says Franklin. "He's been in the system for a long time. He really understands the philosophy of the offense and what we're trying to accomplish."...In 2004, authored a stellar season, establishing career highs in receptions (84, good for second on the club) and receiving yards (1,208, also second on team) while tying his previous season high in TD receptions (nine, also in 2002)... In the process of racking up huge numbers, the duo became the club's first set of 1,000-yard receivers since 1999 (Freeman, Bill Schroeder) and just the third overall (Freeman, Brooks in '97).

-Ouarterhack — Southern Mississippi

15th NFL Season Born: Oct 10 1969 14th Packers Season NEL Gm. Played/Started: 209/205 Acquired: T-92 (Att)

The NFL's quintessential signal caller. Brett Favre in 2005 enters his 14th season at the helm of the Green Bay Packers. Described as an inspiring leader, an incredibly durable warrior, a victorious field general and prodigiously successful passer, the future Hall of Famer simply embodies the heart of America's favorite game... Enough superlatives might not exist for fans to describe the swashbuckling Southerner, the multitudes cherishing the opportunity to see him play, especially in the twilight of his career, in person or on television... Due in large part to the magnetic personality of Favre, tickets to Packers games, both at home and on the road, are difficult to obtain and Green Bay remains one of the league's top TV draws...Respect from teammates, and opponents, is deeply apparent as well... The former Southern strength - that defies his NFL age... Remains among the preeminent quarterbacks in the game, he directed the NFL's third-ranked offense in 2004... Proved his mettle again last season by leading the Green and Gold to a 10-6 record and the NFC North Division championship after an inauspicious 1-4 start; the performance included four electric come-from-behind wins...It was the sixth division crown for the Packers under Favre, and the 10th trip to the playoffs in his prior 13 seasons with Green Bay...After an unconventional offseason, one that saw him sit out the club's mini-camp and organized team activities, is eager and ready for his 15th NFL campaign...Citing the desire to have the veteran spend some time away from the game and with his family in light their off-the-field challenges, including his wife. Deanna. having been diagnosed with and successfully undergone treatment for breast cancer, Packers Head Coach Mike Sherman asked him to forgo the team's workouts in Green Bay and come back to training camp ready to "knock down the door"..."If you look back on the last year-and-a-half and what he went through with the passing of his father, Irv, and his wife's cancer, it really hit him very hard," Sherman says. "I just wanted him to feel good about all of the off-field situations and come back fresh and re-energized."

ncluded in his offseason regimen were two multiple-week training sessions at his Mississippi home with former Notre Dame strength and conditioning coach Ken Kroener, a practice that focused on strengthening his core to assist with mobility and endurance; according to Favre, the workouts have been successful and the time away has left him eager and excited for the season's start..."He is still as competitive as they come," says Darrell Bevell, the Packers' guarterbacks coach, predicting a fresh Favre for the season. "He'll have that spark and the fire in his eyes, and be ready to roll."...Accompanying the three-time MVP's patented competitiveness and success is his never-ending desire to become better at his trade..."He tries to improve himself all the time," continues Bevell. "He takes suggestions and teaching so well. That's part of what sets him apart from other quarterbacks. He hasn't stopped being a student of the game. And we need him to continue to do that, to make his decisions based on the offense."... Hard-working approach and down-toearth attitude continue to appeal to football fans across the nation..."I do not know what the Gallup polls would say," adds Sherman, "but if you polled Americans on what player they would most like to be I believe Brett Favre would be a near-unanimous choice."...Gallup notwithstanding, 2003 and 2004 sports fans, named Favre as the nation's favorite NFL player; the 2005 edition saw him place second to the Colts' Peyton Manning...Among all sports figures, he finished fourth in '05, behind Michael Jordan, Manning and Tiger Woods...In another measure of his popularity. in 2005 he ranked first among active NFL players in Sports OScore, a prominent rating survey conducted for marketing and advertising purposes; overall trailed only Jordan, Woods, Joe Montana and Nolan Ryan... His legendary grit was saluted twice recently as well...In February 2004, he was named as the No. 1 'Toughest Athlete in Sports' by USA Today...Then, transcending sports, in the March 2004 issue of Men's Journal, he was chosen as the No. 1 'Toughest Guy in America' on the basis of his "fearlessness, perseverance, a willingness to take risk, a tolerance for pain and even a dash of modesty"...In further similar documentation, a 2005 nationwide vote of more than a half-million viewers for The Discovery Channel's special, '100 Greatest Americans,' ranked Favre No. 89.

STILL ONE OF THE BEST

Remains one of the most worthy adversaries for defensive coordinators...In 2004 helped the Packers to establish all-time franchise records for total net yards (6,357), net yards passing (4,449), first downs (354) and completions (382) as Green Bay finished third among NFL offenses; his output included a combination of 4.000plus yards and 30 TDs, the third such season in his distinguished career...His TD total ranked fourth in the league and his yardage total fifth...Selected as an alternate for the 2004 Pro Bowl; in 2005 will have an opportunity to match Forrest Gregg's team record of nine Pro Bowl appearances...Known for his strong practice habits, coaches consider him a fine example for younger players, even in his 14th season in Green Bay...Execution in practice is legendary, oftentimes working through a session without a ball touching the ground.

AMONG ALL-TIME LEADERS

Long considered one of the NFL's best ever, continues his assault on the league's all-time lists...Ranks eighth in NFL history with a career passer rating of 87.4...Further ascended on the NFL's all-time passing charts; within range of overtaking John Elway to reach second place on vardage and attempts lists this season... Now is second in career completions with 4,306, behind only Dan Marino (4,967), after going by No. 3 Warren Moon (3,988) and No. 2 Elway (4,123) this past season...With 4,088 passing yards in 2004, now stands third in yards passing with 49,734 after moving by No. 4 Fran Tarkenton (47,003) and No. 3 Moon (49,325) in 2004...Trails only Marino (61,361) and Elway (51,475); needs 266 yards passing in 2005 to become the third player in NFL history with 50,000 and 1,742 passing vards in order to surpass Elway for second place...Also moved up to third in career passing attempts with 7,003, surpassing No. 4 Tarkenton (6,467) and No. 3 Moon (6,823); remains behind only Marino (8,358) and Elway (7.250)... Favre in 2005

On the NFL's all-time passing list...

- Needs 266 yards passing to become the third in NFL history with 50,000, joining Dan Marino (61,361) and John Elway (51,475). Favre enters 2005 with 49,734.
- Needs three touchflown passes at Lambeau Field to surpass John Elway's single-stadium NFL record. Elway threw 180 at Mile High Stadium. Favre enters 2005 with 178 at Lambeau Field.
- Needs 24 touchdown passes to become the second in NFL history with 400, joining Dan Marino (420). Favre enters 2005 with 376.
- Needs 12 wins to match No. 2 John Elway (147-93-0, .613) and 13 to tie No. 1 Dan Marino (148-82-1, .643). Favre enters 2005 third on the all-time quarterback wins list (135-70-0, 859).
- Needs 1,742 passing yards to surpass No. 2 John Elway (51,475), Favre enters '05 with 49,734.
- With 3,000 passing yards in a 14th overall season, would surpass No. 1 Dan Marino (13). Favre already owns the NFL record for consecutive 3,000-yard seasons, 13.

career completion percentage placing him substantially ahead of No. 2 Marino (59.4 percent)... A testament to his consistently high production level, his completions, attempts, yards and touchdown totals are tops in the league over the past 14 seasons (1991-2004)...Along the way, he has solidified his standing among the game's all-time elite by earning the NFL's 'MVP' honor a record three times, capturing the Associated Press award over the 1995, 1996 and 1997 seasons; he was runner-up in 2002 as well... Honored in "co-status" with the Detroit Lions' Barry Sanders in 1997, he became the first player in league history to win the award three times, let alone in three consecutive years ... Incomparability of the strong-armed Southerner is further evidenced by his selection in 2000 to the 1990s NFL All-Decade second team as voted by the Pro Football Hall of Fame Selection Committee...Also ranked as the ninth-best player in 'NFL Player of the Century' voting, which was conducted on nfl.com during the 1999 season...Collaborated with former Packers wide receiver Antonio Freeman for 57 touchdown passes from 1995-2001, the sixth-best such duo in NFL history...With it being impossible for someone to better it, will be the permanent possessor of at least one all-time NFL record - that for longest pass completion - as he hooked up with wideout Robert Brooks for a 99-yard score in a 1995 game at Chicago...In 2003 became part of the second-longest rush in NFL annals, handing off to Ahman Green on a play that resulted in a 98-yard TD, vs. Denver in the season finale.

GREEN & GOLD FOREVER

Is assured of finishing his career in Green Bay upon the signing of a "lifetime" contract on March 1, 2001...Sherman, calling the signing day "historic," commented on the uniqueness of Favre's relationship with the Packers' organization and fans, saying, "No player in the NFL identifies, or is more closely linked to, a specific team like Brett Favre is to the Green Bay Packers. He embodies the spirit and character of Packer

Only about half the NFL teams publish consecutive starts in their records section, partly because early press-box statisticians did not universally and consistently document starting lineups. Even Favre's own team cannot confirm whether his streak is the longest in club history, because lineups were not recorded at every home and road game before 1962. active streak

Brett Favre is the only athlete in the four major sports to have started every game for the same team since Sept. 27, 1992.
Excluding the NFL, Cal Ripken Jr, and Lou Gehrig are the only athletes in major sports history to start every game for their teams over a span of at least 13 seasons. Ripken started all 2.632 games of his streak, from 1982-1998, and Gehrig started every Yankees contest from July 1925 until his illness in 1939.

Because of frequent lineup changes and numerous variables, the National Hockey League does not recognize consecutive starts streaks. The record for most consecutive games played, with the same team belongs to Steve Larmer (Chicago Blackhawks, 884 games, 1982-93).

No one in National Basketball

Association history has completed 10 consecutive years of starting with the same team. A.C. Green holds the record for most consecutive games played with 1.192 (1986-2001). Green played for four teams over that span.

fans everywhere. I do not think there is a player in the NFL that experiences a relationship with the fans like Brett Favre does. That is very, very special."...Favre echoed the sentiment, saying, "I enjoy it here. I don't want to move. I enjoy the fans and I just want to stay. I couldn't envision myself playing for another team."

Is one of only five current NFL starting quarterbacks to have won a Super Bowl (along with the Cardinals' Kurt Warner, the Browns' Trent Dilfer, the Patriots' Tom Brady and the Vikings' Brad Johnson)...Upon defeating Chicago in December of 2000, became the third-fastest player in the NFL since 1970 to reach 100 regular-season victories, doing so in his 153rd career start; only Montana (139) and Bradshaw (147) got to the century mark quicker over the past 33 years...Since 1992, holds a 41-13 record (.759) in regular-season games after Dec. 1, the third-best mark among NFL starters who have begun their careers since 1970 (min. 20 home starts); Joe Theismann (.773, 17-5) and Montana (.767, 33-10) rank just ahead...Now owns 34 career fourth-quarter or overtime comebacks (which includes three postseason contests) after rallying the Packers from a deficit or tie to win on four occasions in 2004: Nov. 14 vs. Minnesota, Nov. 21 at Houston, Dec. 12 vs. Detroit and Dec. 24 at Minnesota... A game conductor of the highest caliber, has led the Packers to a nearly perfect 52-1 regular-season record since 1992 (5-0 in 2004) in games where they have more rushing attempts than passing attempts.

DOMINANTLY DURABLE

As imperishable as football players come, now has started an NFL quarterback record 205 consecutive regularseason contests (225 including playoffs) - 89 games (equivalent of better than five-and-a-half seasons) more than the next closest streak among league QBs all-time. 116 by Ron Jaworski (1977-84); his current streak is the league's longest active skein among all players...Played much of the 2003 season with a broken thumb on his right (throwing) hand....Counting all recorded consecutive-starts streaks, needs to start the first three games in 2005 to surpass No. 6 Gene Upshaw (207, 1967-81) and the first six games to surpass the No. 4 streaks, shared by Fred Cox (1963-77) and Jim Otto (1960-74)...Actually has played in 207 consecutive regularseason contests, having seen action in two contests as a reserve leading into his starting streak... also rushing for 35 yards, including a season-long 18vard scamper...Passed for two touchdowns - an underhanded, playground-like 5-yard toss to Green and the incredible, game-winning 43-yard loft to Freeman in overtime - in 26-20 triumph over Minnesota (Nov. 6); completed 17 of 36 passes for 235 yards, without an interception, in win over the arch-rival Vikings...Drove the Packers 58 yards for a short field goal on the opening possession of overtime in a 17-14 win over Tampa Bay to close the season (Dec. 24), overcoming a seasonlow 41.4 passer rating (20 of 42 for 196 yards and 0 TDs with two INTs) for his 100th victory as the Packers' starter (including nine playoff wins)...A week earlier, authored perhaps his best game of the season in rematch victory over Minnesota (Dec. 17) inside the Metrodome - typically a personal house of horrors leading the Packers to a 33-28 upset victory with a highly efficient performance; threw for 290 yards and matched his season high with three touchdown strikes against the Vikings, without an interception, on 26-of-38 passing to equal his season-best 117.2 passer rating (also vs. S.F.)...Impressively, on third down, completed nine of 13 passes for 91 yards and two TDs in win, completing the sweep of Minnesota and depriving the Vikings of the chance to clinch home-field advantage throughout the upcoming playoffs...Earlier in season opener vs. N.Y. Jets (Sept. 3), managed only 14 completions in 34 attempts - for 152 yards and one touchdown with one interception - after a three-game layoff to rest his arm following a preseason bout with tendinitis...Connected on his first 14 throws before finishing with a 71.4 completion percentage (his best since the final game of the '98 season) and a 112.7 passer rating at Buffalo (Sept. 10) on 25-of-35 passing for 269 yards and two touchdowns - without an interception... Efficiently led rematch victory at Chicago (Dec. 3), completing 61.3 percent of his passes (19-31) for 225 yards, including a trademark, laser-like scoring throw to Freeman at the back of the end zone to become the 10th duo in league history with 50-or-more touchdown collaborations... Earlier, during much of training camp, was bothered by tendinitis on the outside of his right (throwing) elbow, sitting out Green Bay's final three preseason games to rest his arm... quarterback across the board, being named at the position on every major All-Pro team, including AP, Sports Illustrated, Pro Football Weekly, The Sporting News, College & Pro Football Newsweekly, Football Digest and USA Today...Named All-NFC by Pro Football Weekly and Football News...His preeminence at his position was further underscored when he was honored as 'Professional Quarterback of the Year' for the third consecutive year by the National Quarterback Club (June 4, 1998).

Finished third in the NFC with a 92.6 passer rating, based on 304 completions in 513 attempts for 3,867 yards and 35 touchdowns, with 16 interceptions. ..Was especially effective in the red zone (inside the opponents' 20-yard line)...During the regular season, he threw 24 touchdown passes — without an interception — while completing 46 of 79 passes for 341 yards and a passer rating of 108.2...Including the '97 postseason, he completed 52 of 94 attempts for 392 yards and 27 touchdowns - without an interception - in the red zone, a passer rating of 105.1... Also led the NFC in completions (304) and passing yards (3,867), finishing second in the league as a whole to Oakland's Jeff George (3.917) in the latter... Eclipsed Starr's previous team record for touchdown passes - 152, set over a 16-year career - in the fourth game of just his sixth season (vs. Minnesota Sept. 21)...Also became the second-fastest player in NFL history to get to 150 career TD passes, reaching that milestone in his 84th career game, a rate bettered only by Marino (62 games), and (then) the secondfastest to throw for 20,000 career yards when he accomplished the feat in 86 games...In the Packers' 16 regular-season games, he threw at least two touchdown passes in 11 games and three-or-more in six contests...Had an NFL-high 37 pass completions of 25-ormore yards...Finished as Green Bay's second-leading rusher with 187 yards and one TD on 58 carries... Escorted the Packers to a 45-17 triumph over long-time nemesis. the Dallas Cowboys (Nov. 23), as he threw four touchdown passes, completing 22 of 35 passes for 203 yards, with only one INT... Earlier turned in his best statistical effort of the season in a losing venture at Indianapolis (Nov. 16), throwing for a season-high 363 yards and three touchdowns, completing 18 of 25 passes with two INTs for a passer rating of 120.4... His 14.52-yard average per pass play vs. the Colts, helped by a season-long 74-yard connection with Derrick Mayes, was the thirdhighest single-game average in team history, as well as the best by a Packers quarterback since 1958... A quickstrike artist against Indy, he led the Packers on six scoring drives - averaging 63.0 yards - of 4, 2, 5, 3, 11 and three plays...Did not throw a touchdown pass against the Eagles (Sept. 7), marking the first time in 13 regularseason games he did not post a scoring pass, dating back to Oct. 27, 1996, vs. Tampa Bay...Rebounded to throw for at least one score in each of the final 14 games... A fourth presidential election puts streak in perspective

Since Brett Favre launched his starting streak Sept. 27, 1992, people have moved from cassettes to CDs and 1 billion people went "on-line." The streak has encompassed the rise and fall of Martha Stewart, Beanle Bables, Ross Perot, Celine Dion and Y2K.

ompassed the rise and fall of Martina Stewart, Beanle Galois, Ross Perof, Celline Dion and Y2K. Over the last 13 years, The Bridges of Madison County, The Client and Cold Mountain have gone from the best-seller list to the big screen to the video rental store. And, sandwiched within the streak are the O.J. Simpson trial, the first and last episodes of NBC's hit series Friends and Bill Clinton's two terms in office.

In fact, Nov. 2, 2004, marked the fourth time during Favre's streak Americans have gone to the polls to vote for President. Clinton defeated George Bush (1992) and won a second term over Bob Dole and Ross Perot (1996). Then, George W. Bush beat Al Gore (2000) and in November won another term. (2004), defeating John Kerry.

NFC Wild Card Playoff

Brett Favre in 2004 padded his career list of touchdown targets to 37, adding Antonio Chatman Dec. 19 vs. Jacksonville.

The quarterback notched his first two touchdown passes Sept. 20, 1992, vs. Cincinnati. In rallying Green Bay to a 24-23 win, he connected with Sterling Sharpe and Kitrick Taylor, respectively.

Favre's 57 connections with Antonio Freeman represent the sixth most by any duo in history — and most in Packers annals. In 2001, the pair surpassed Ken Anderson and Isaac Curtis (51), Sonny Jurgensen and Charley Taylor (53), Joe Montana and Jerry Rice

(55), Dan Marino and Mark Duper (also 55), and John Hadl and Lance Alworth (56). Players on the other end of a Favre's 376 TD passes (regular-season games only):

Fifth Packers Season

A physical, shark-like receiver who is poised for a breakout vear in 2005...Owns a work ethic and heart matched by few competitors around the league, leadership qualities he personifies in quiet fashion...An inspiration before and after a frightening neck injury prematurely ended his 2004 season, was focus of team's dedication in clinching division championship at Minnesota..."I think he has all the physical tools you're looking for," says position coach James Franklin. PRO "Size, speed, athleticism, he has natural CAREER ball skills in terms of hand-eye coordination. He's a very physical receiver, he's aggressive getting off the line of scrimmage and getting down the field. He also has a really good feel for the offense and understands what we're trying to do. So I think he has an opportunity to have a really big year and really show people what types of abilities he really has."...Green Bay's starting split end since 2003, when he earned the post with a strong training camp performance...The Packers are 7-1 in regular season games when Ferguson either leads the team in receptions and/or catches at least one touchdown...Despite being a starter, still one of the Packers' most valuable special teams performers (30 career coverage tackles; 36 kickoff returns, 819 yards, 22.8 average)...Earlier, used that trademark heart and work ethic to overcome another obstacle: a handful of injuries that robbed him of all but one game his 2001 rookie season...Slowly worked his way back up the depth chart, playing in all 16 games in 2002, then authored an impressive 2003 season, posting career-high numbers in receptions (38), receiving yards (520) and touchdown receptions (four)...Also in '03, led the club in special teams tackles for the first time with a career-best 17 stops, and returned seven kickoffs for 148 yards (21.1 avg)...Now has appeared in 45 career games, with 18 starts, and recorded 84 receptions for 1,180 yards and eight touchdowns...Primed for a bright future, signed a four-year contract extension, through the 2008 season, before the '04 campaign.

Lined up at split end, opposite 2004 SEASON Donald Driver, in the starting unit... Also was a regular contributor as a kickoff returner and on the coverage units...Played in 13 games, with five starts; he was inactive for three other contests (as well as NFC Wild Card playoff) due to head/neck injury...Played through several other injuries over the course of the season... Made 24 catches for 367 yards and one touchdown, along with four special teams tackles...Also registered 21 kickoff returns for 526 yards - a 25.0-yard average, fourth best in the NFC...Against Chicago (Sept. 19), caught a season-high four balls for 50 yards and scored the Packers' lone touchdown, in addition to returning one kickoff for 25 yards... In the red zone during the third quarter of Bears contest, made a quick move against CB R.W. McQuarters at the line of scrimmage and blazed by his defender, to be found wide open in the end zone by Brett Favre for an 18-yard score... At Indianapolis (Sept. 26), had a career-long 71yard kickoff return to set up a fourth-quarter Driver touchdown that brought the Packers to within 38-31...Added one reception, an 11-yard gain, on the Packers' final drive of Colts last season for the first time as a pro and continued to gain the confidence of Packers coaches and teammates with his CAREER sturdy performance, his output including career highs in receptions (38) and receiving yards (277)...In 2005 will look to take his personal game to a higher level and lock down a backup role to Green, as well as reprise his role as a single back in third-down and other obvious nassing situations..."Tony is a versatile and smart player who has a knack for making the big play," says Edgar Bennett, the Packers' running backs coach, "I look forward to him working on all areas of his game, including his fundamentals and his understanding of our scheme. We've got a strong group of backs competing this year and he's accustomed to that competition because he's been in that situation his whole career. He started here as a free agent and his competitive edge was to show that he belonged. He needs to keep that, it makes him a good player. It's an intangible for him."...Originally was one of only three rookie free agents to make the Packers' 2002, 53-man roster, along with Kevin Barry and Marcus Wilkins; he turned in a strong training camp performance that year to beat out veterans Ki-Jana Carter. 2004 SEASON Played in all 16 games and finished as Packers' fourth-leading receiver with a career-high 38 catches for 277 yards and two touchdowns...Ranked third on the team in rushing with 224 yards on 65 attempts (3.4 avg.)...Also finished fourth on the team with 13 coverage tackles during the regular season... Turned in one of the most clutch performances of his career in stirring, 34-31 win over Minnesota (Nov. 14)...Rushed eight times for 31 yards and pulled in three passes for 36 yards...On Green Bay's last drive of the first half, accounted for 43 of the Packers' 63 yards on the possession, which resulted in a Ryan Longwell field goal (six rushes for 34 yards and one reception for 9 yards)...On the final drive of the contest, started in the slot, ran downfield and leaned for a Brett Favre pass, adeptly getting both feet down on the right sideline, to advance the ball to the Minnesota 29 (Longwell kicked the game-winning field goal three plays later as time expired)... In the Monday night opener at Carolina (Sept. 13), with Davenport out for most of the second half, accounted for 32 yards on nine carries (3.6 avg.) and caught two balls for 18 yards...Against Chicago (Sept. 19), ran for 15 yards on six carries, while catching four passes for 22 yards; also made a teamand career-high three special teams stops...At Indianapolis (Sept. 26), grabbed four passes for 16 vards and had one rushing attempt for 5 yards; added one

The NFL rates its passers for statistical purposes against a fixed performance standard based on statistical achievements of all qualified pro passers since 1960. The current system replaced one that rated passers in relation to their position in a total group based on various criteria. The current system, adopted in 1973, removes inequities that existed in the former method and, at the same time, provides a means of comparing passing performances from one season to the next.

The system is used to rate passers, not quarterbacks. Statistics do not reflect leadership, play-calling and other intangible factors that make a successful professional quarterback. Four categories are used as a basis for compiling a rating:

- Percentage of completions per attempt
- Average yards gained per attempt
- Percentage of touchdown passes per attempt
- > Percentage of interceptions per attempt

The average standard is 1,000. The bottom is .000. To earn a 2.000 rating, a passer must perform at exceptional levels, i.e., 70 percent in completions, 10 percent in touchdowns, 1.5 percent in interceptions, and 11 yards average gain per pass attempt. The maximum a passer can receive in any category is 2.375.

For example, to gain a 2.375 in:

1) completion percentage, a passer would have to complete 77.5 percent of his passes. The NFL record is 70.55 by Ken Anderson (Cincinnati, 1982).

2) percentage of touchdowns, a passer would have to achieve a percentage of 11.9. The record is 13.9 by Sid Luckman (Chicago Bears, 1943)

3) percentage of interceptions, a passer would have to go the entire season without an interception.

4) average yards is 12.50, compared with the NFL record of 11.17 by Tommy O'Connell (Cleveland Browns, 1957). To make it more understandable, the point rating is then converted into a scale of 100 (158.3 maximum). With superior statistics, a passer can surpass 100.

For example, to calculate Bart Starr's franchise record 105.0 rating in 1966, when he completed 156 of 251 passes for 2,257 yards, 14 touchdowns, and 3 interceptions, the totals would be: ▶ Percentage of completions — 156 of 251 is 62.15 percent. Subtract 30 percent from the percentage (32.15) and multiply the result by 0.05. The result is a point rating of 1.608. NOTE: If the result is less than zero (completion percentage less than 30.0), award zero points. If the results are greater than 2.375 (percentage greater than 77.5), award 2.375

▶ Average yards gained per attempt — 2,257 yards divided by 251 attempts is 8.99. Subtract 3 yards from yards-per-attempt (5.99) and multiply the result by 0.25. The result is 1.498.

NOTE: If the result is less than zero (yards per attempt less than 3.0), award zero points. If the result is greater than 2.375 (yards per attempt greater than 12.5), award 2.375 points ▶ Percentage of touchdown passes — 14 touchdowns in 251 attempts is 5.58 percent. Multiply the touchdown percentage by 0.2. The result is 1.116.

NOTE: If the result is greater than 2.375 (touchdown percentage greater than 11.875), award 2.375.

▶ Percentage of interceptions — 3 interceptions in 251 attempts is 1.20 percent. Multiply the percentage by 0.25 (0.300) and subtract the number from 2,375. The result is 2,075 greater than 9.5), award zero points

for any player who attempts at least one pass.

Note: If the result is less than zero (interception percentage The sum of the four steps is 6.297 (1.608 + 1.498 + 1.116 + This same formula can be used to determine a passer rating

Acknowledged team leader who is not afraid to speak his mind, has reached a point in his career where he is regarded as one of the top centers in the game today...Exceedingly mobile, gives the Green Bay offense a dimension it does not have when he is out of the lineup, in large part due to his ability to pull and get out on opposing linebackers...Missed the majority of last season due to surgery done to alleviate recurring knee tendinitis that was both painful and jeopardized his long-term ability to continue to play football...Successfully rehabilitated, is expected to take on even more of a CAREER locker room and on-field presence on the heels of the offseason departures of both of his "next-door neighbors," guards Marco Rivera and Mike Wahle, and the signing of multiple contenders to take over the two guard spots..."When we lost Flanny last season, what we missed the most was his leadership and know-how," says veteran Green Bay offensive line coach Larry Beightol. "Besides being a fierce competitor who loves to win, in my opinion he is one of the best centers in the National Football League. He's like a coach out there on the field. He also is a security blanket, I believe, for the rest of the offensive linemen and also probably for our quarterback, that he will make the proper calls and get us into the right protections. That's what we lost when he was out. He's an awfully good football player and a damn good athlete that knows how to play. And he certainly loves the game and plays hard. He loves the Packers, and does everything he can to help us be successful on Sunday afternoons.

ad battled through injury that had kept him off the field early in his pro career to become the Packers' starting center in 2001... Has been the Inchpin in a Green Bay offensive line that, during the early part of this decade, was considered by many to be the most effective trench unit since the Lombardi era... Over the span of the 2001-03 seasons, when he was an every-game starter, the Packers allowed an NFL-low 68 sacks...Reached his pinnacle as a professional when he made the first Pro Bowl following the '03 campaign... Overcoming the perception early in his career that he may be injury prone, built a consecutive games played streak of 82 (87 including postseason) before his 2004 season was cut short after three contests..."He has really worked hard at getting himself ready to go for this year," Beightol adds. "Hey, it was a serious injury, but he has worked really around the clock to get himself ready to go. And he's very, very anxious he wants to get out there. But we're going to be cautious with him as we go through training camp so we don't over-burden him. It looks to me, from my eyes, that he's moving just as well as he did when he was healthy in 2003."...Returning to the playing field, took part in the Packers' April 2005 mini-camp just six-and-a-half months after his Oct. 7, 2004, surgery, in addition to participating in Green Bay's organized team activities this past June... Earlier in his career, had demonstrated the unique level of athleticism he brings to his position when, in 2002, injuries necessitated that he move to left tackle and he was able to successfully make the switch for seven games...Received good reviews in 2001 in his first season as an NFL starter after conquering major adversity early in his pro career - a leg injury so serious as a '96 rookie that his football future was threatened... Battled back and returned to the field, backing up veteran Frank Winters for the 1998-2000 seasons, before finally winning a starting opportunity four years ago in his sixth season in the league...Played a pivotal role as the 2001 Packers offensive line allowed the least sacks by a Green Bay team in 27 years - while not incurring a single holding penalty

- > Overcoming the long shadow of injury early in his professional career, had built a games-played streak of 82 (87 counting playoffs) prior to having his 2004 season cut short by knee tendinitis issue
- During the 2001-03 seasons when he was an every-game starter, Green Bay allowed an NFL-low 68 sacks. Culminated that successful three-year stretch by making his first Pro Bowl following the '03 campaign - the first Packers center to be named to the all-star squad since career - Nov. 5, 1999 (two years), and Nov. 2, 2001 (four years) - he has signed contract extensions keeping him in Green Bay... Had been slated to become an unrestricted free agent following the '99 season, but instead opted to sign the initial extension with Green Bay..."I have great loyalty to (then-Packers general manager) Ron Wolf and to this team," Flanagan said at the time of his 1999 extension. "They stuck with me during some tough times. I don't know if any other team would have been that patient with me. I think I'd probably be out in the real world looking for work if I was on any other team."...Broke two bones in his leg midway through the preseason of his 1996, rookie campaign... Was hindered over the next two seasons by complications that dictated several additional surgeries related to his original injury... Thanks to a vigorous work ethic, was able to return to the field for unrestrained action in 1998, becoming a full-time contributor in '99 and then a starter in 2001...At UCLA played one season (1994) under Mike Sherman, the Packers' current head coach who during that year worked as the Bruins' offensive line coach.

2004 SEASON Though he had been sidelined for much of the preseason with patellar tendinitis in his left knee that had been an issue since June, was sufficiently healthy to begin the regular season as Green Bay's starting center for the fourth straight year...Was in the lineup for opening Monday night game, at Carolina (Sept. 13), and made his presence felt against a pair of Panthers Pro Bowlers...On Ahman Green's third-quarter TD run, blocked LB Dan Morgan to the outside to give his running back space to cut back and cross the goal line...On the Packers' lone scoring pass in their 24-14 triumph over Carolina, sprinted right from his center position to get his hands on DE Julius Peppers to prevent him from getting to Green Bay QB Brett Favre...Also started six days later against Chicago (Sept. 19), but missed parts of the Packers' final two offensive series as a result of knee discomfort that stemmed from his preseason condition...Returned to play at Indianapolis (Sept. 26), anchoring an offensive line that allowed Favre to throw for 360 yards, finishing the game in spite of incredible pain caused in part by the hard artificial surface of the RCA Dome...Then, having reached a virtually unmanageable level of pain, his playing status was re-evaluated, and, though it would end his season, corrective surgery was determined to be the prudent decision... Was placed on injured reserve Oct. 2. and underwent left knee surgery five days later... Earlier, had gone on the physically unable to perform list at the outset of training camp (Aug. 1), causing him to miss the first four weeks of preseason practices... Returned to the field Aug. 30 and made his preseason debut in the team's final non-league matchup, at Tennessee (Sept. 3).

2003 Served as the Packers' starting center for the third straight season...Started all 16 games, plus both playoff contests...Played every meaningful snap over the course of the year, sitting out just one play during the first 15 games before yielding to Grey Ruegamer for 14 snaps at the end of the two blowout victories that closed the regular season... Made his first career Pro Bowl appearance when, as the first alternate, he replaced the Bears' Olin Kreutz (ankle/knee), becoming the first Green Bay center named to the NFC squad since Winters filled in for Cowboys' injured Donaldson following the 1996 season...Joined Rivera in Hawaii to give the Packers two offensive linemen in the Pro Bowl for the first time since 1967 (Forrest Gregg, Jerry Kramer)...Had received the most fan votes by a center (143,655) in Pro Bowl balloting conducted on nfl.com...Graded out as the Packers' third-best offensive lineman, behind only Pro Bowl selection Rivera and Wahle, according to Beightol... Had helped Green Bay to single-season franchise records for yards rushing (2,558) and yards per carry (5.05), including 1,883 yards by Green to break Jim Taylor's 41-year-old team rushing mark; the 2,558 rushing yards by the Packers in '03 ranked third in the NFL, behind only Baltimore

(2,669) and Denver (2,629)... Anchored an offensive line that allowed only 19 sacks - tied (with Indianapolis) for the second fewest in the NFL in '03 and at the time a franchise low for a 16-game season... Was personally responsible for only three pressures and no sacks. according to Beightol...Included in the Packers' low sack number was a team-record six games without a sack allowed (sacks can be tracked back to 1963), including three consecutive contests (Sept. 14-21-29) with zero sacks for the first time in franchise history...Played a big part in November stretch when Green Bay rushed for 190-or-more yards in four straight games...Helped to neutralize the Buccaneers' vaunted inside duo of Warren Sapp and Anthony McFarland in win at Tampa Bay (Nov. 16) as Green Bay snapped the Bucs' NFL-record streak of 69 consecutive games with at least one sack...Blocked Chiefs LB Mike Maslowski on Najeh Davenport's 18-yard TD run early in the third quarter vs. Kansas City (Oct. 12)...The next week at St. Louis (Oct. 19), pulled to block CB DeJuan Groce on Green's 21-yard touchdown on a screen pass...Picked up a downfield block on Vikings CB Corey Chavous, assisting Donald Driver on his 45-yard run along the right sideline that positioned Green Bay for a first-quarter field goal at Minnesota (Nov. 2)...Had another block up the field, of Eagles S Clinton Hart, in ensuing game with Philadelphia (Nov. 10) as Green went 24 yards with a screen pass to open the scoring.

at two different positions across the line, in addition to reserve duty at a pair of other spots...Played in all 16 regular-season games, making 13 starts – six at center as well as seven at left tackle, filling in for the usual starter Chad Clifton (the Packers were 6-1 in those contests)...Also was the starter at left tackle for Green Bay's playoff game with Atlanta (Jan. 4)...Got limited playing time at both right guard and tight end at other points in the year when injuries necessitated it...In spite of his fairly regular shuffling of positions, he did not have a holding penalty walked off against him for the second straight year...Saw his own season get off to an ominous start when he missed most of training camp after fracturing the thumb on his right (snapping) hand in an Aug. 2 practice...Was able to return to the practice field - with a cast - the week of the regular-season opener against Atlanta, he played on special teams and was available for backup duty at quard for the Packers' first three contests...Made his initial start of the year, at center, in win over Carolina (Sept. 29). but was forced to move to right guard late in the third quarter, replacing Rivera (quadriceps/knee)...Played one series at left tackle early in Monday night victory at Chicago (Oct. 7) when Clifton momentarily was sidelined by a neck "stinger"...Received his first extended action at a foreign position when he was forced out to left tackle for better than three quarters in win at New England (Oct. 13) after Clifton sprained his MCL; more than held his own though a relative novice to the critical spot...Faced perhaps the ultimate challenge of his pro career the next week against Washington (Oct. 20), when he started at left tackle for the inactive Clifton, lining up across from the vaunted Bruce Smith; held the future Hall of Famer without a sack or pressure...Also threw a key block on Green's game-clinching, 8-yard touchdown run late in Redskins contest, crushing Washington DE Renaldo Wynn into the middle to help open a hole for Green...Played the first quarter-and-a-half of Monday night game against Miami (Nov. 4) at left tackle, stymieing the Dolphins' Jason Taylor (who had been named AFC 'Defensive Player of the Month' only days earlier and who finished the year as the NFL's sacks leader with 181/2), before moving back inside to center for the balance of the contest; had a hand in blocking Dolphins S Brock Marion downfield on Green's 23-yard

TD on a screen pass just before halftime of eventual 24-10 triumph...Returned to his usual spot in the starting lineup at center beginning with the rematch with Detroit (Nov. 10); he picked up an important block of Lions DT Shaun Rogers on Davenport's 43-yard run up the right sideline early in the second half... Was forced back out to left tackle during second half of game at Tampa Bay (Nov. 24) when Clifton was sidelined by a sprained pelvis...Helped Green Bay run for 181 yards against Chicago (Dec. 1) in full-time return to left tackle on the heels of Clifton's season-ending pelvis injury; picked off Bears Pro Bowl LB Brian Urlacher on Green's 29-yard run up the right sideline early in the third quarter...Threw a key block on Vikings LB Henri Crockett on Tony Fisher's game-winning, 14-yard touchdown run with 1:06 remaining in 26-22 triumph over Minnesota (Dec. 8)... Earlier had been forced into duty at tight end against the Lions (Sept. 22) with backup TE

Pegged as the likely starter heading into training camp, held off the challenge of the incumbent, Winters, during the preseason to win the starting job at center...Went on to start all 16 regular-season games, plus both playoff contests...Did not incur a single holding penalty in his maiden season as the starter...Played an integral role in the success of the Packers' offensive line, which allowed the third-fewest sacks in the NFL (22) and the least by a Green Bay team in 27 years (17 in 1974)... Later picked up an important block on Jaquars CB Fernando Bryant during Green's

42-yard gain on a screen pass in the final two minutes, positioning Green Bay for the decisive touchdown in 28-21, Monday night win at Jacksonville (Dec. 3)...Helped the Packers rush for a season-high 222 yards in snowly

London Fletcher on Green's 49-yard run early in the third quarter of NFC Divisional playoff game at St. Louis (Jan. 20)...Had suffered a right knee injury at Carolina (Sept. 30), but still started the following week at Tampa Bay (Oct. 7), helping to hold Sapp without a sack

(Oct. 1)...Later was on the field for most of the fourth quarter of rematch at Chicago (Dec. 3) after Winters left the game with a biceps injury...Earlier had played twoand-a-half quarters at center vs. Philadelphia (Sept. 17) when Winters was forced out due to his bad ankle.

Served as the backup center, behind Winters, throughout the season...Played in 15 games, though mostly in a special teams capacity...Dressed but did not play in the season opener vs. Oakland (Sept. 12)...Received late-game action at center in victories at San Diego (Oct. 24) and at San Francisco (Nov. 29).

1998 Saw his first playing time as a professional following two years on the sidelines...Got into two regular-season games plus the team's playoff loss at San Francisco...Was the No. 3 center behind veterans Winters and Jeff Dellenbach...Made NFL debut, vs. Chicago (Dec. 13), as part of the field goal protection group...With the Packers down to only one healthy player at the position, briefly lined up as a second tight end the next week against Tennessee (Dec. 20)...Was inactive for 12 of the team's first 13 games before suiting up for the final three contests following a season-ending lee injury to Winters.

Was sidelined for a second consecutive season when the muscle and nerve damage associated with his 1996 leg injury were slow to respond...Initially went on reserve/physically unable to perform during training camp (Aug. 19), forcing him to miss at least the league-mandated first six games...Recovered sufficiently to practice with the team, beginning Oct. 22, for the allowable three-week period at midseason... plete tight end who combines excellent hands with outstanding blocking ability...Needs 12 receptions to become only the third Green Bay tight end to reach 200, joining Paul

Coffman (322) and Ed West (202)... Stands tied with No. 3 Mark Chmura on the franchise's all-time tight end receptions list with 188...However, with PRO

most dangerous red zone targets over the last four years, produces because of his commitment to preparation, according to position coach Joe Philbin..."No. 1, he shows up and practices every day," Philbin says. "There's never a day when you arrive at the facility and wonder if the guy's going to be out there, if he's ready to go or if he's hurt. He's going to be out there practicing, working on his timing and how he fits into the offense every single day. And that's translated onto the field for him. He's a very productive player."...Last season, only the Chargers' Antonio Gates (13) posted more TD receptions as an NFL tight end; Franks (7) tied for second with Kansas City's Tony Gonzalez..."He's been consistently at the top in that category throughout his career, not just last year," Philbin says. "So the reliability is huge. That's a credit to him, his toughness and resiliency, and his desire to improve and get better."...Outside the red zone, though, that production during Franks' first five seasons has been limited, or at least that's what most believe...Philbin doesn't subscribe..."Look at last year's stats," he points out. "His yards-per-catch jumped from 8.0 in 2003 to 10.6, almost a career high (10.7 in 2000). That difference is pretty significant for anybody, especially for a tight end. So, that's an indication that he made more plays downfield than people gave him credit for. The other thing is, the big plays for a tight end are sometimes more a function of the coverage, the play call and the specific time a situation presents itself right. A wideout's in position to make a heck of a lot more plays downfield than a tight end ever is, so I think people have a misconception that all tight ends are running down the field making big plays. I think if you look at his yards-per-catch and his touchdowns, I think you could say that he was a significant factor downfield and hopefully we can get that to even improve this year."...Played through various injuries during the 2003 season and became only the second Green Bay tight end to go to three straight Pro Bowls (Coffman, 1982-84)... Has yet to miss an NFL game (80 straight contests, 86 including playoffs), on the heels of playing in every possible game at Miami Packers' 2000 first-round draft choice, earned all-rookie honors and has served as the point man for arguably Ron Wolf's most successful draft class...In 80 regularseason games (71 starts), has tallied 188 receptions for 1,729 yards and 28 touchdowns... Became only the third tight end ever drafted by Green Bay in the first round and the first in 30 years (Rich McGeorge, 1970)...Was known throughout his collegiate career at Miami (Fla.) for making one-handed and circus-type catches.

Has never missed a game as a pro, seeing action in 80 straight contests (86 including playoffs)...Also, at Miami (Fla.), played in all 36 contests. including two bowls.

Versatile and reliable sixthyear professional, signed with the Green Bay Packers as a free agent April 15 after five years with the Miami Dolphins...Brings with him valuable practical knowledge of defensive coordinator Jim

Bates' scheme, having played under Bates his entire career when the new Packers defensive boss was heading up the Dolphins' defenders the past five seasons... Fluent in the intricacies of both safety positions. due to his previously having lined up at both spots for Bates...What's more, the safeties are fairly interchangeable in Bates' system, in terms of lining up and responsibilities, adding further value to Freeman's working knowledge of the Packers' new attack...With ample athletic ability and CAREER knowledge of the system, will compete for one of the starting safety spots in the defensive backfield..."He's got good range and can cover a lot of ground, which allows him to make plays on the ball," says new Packers secondary/safeties coach Joe Baker. "He has experience in our defense, too. He can make the calls, as they are second nature to him. He can step in and be a leader while competing for a spot in the secondary."...Entered the league as a fifth-round selection in 2000 and saw effective action as a backup player over the course of his first two seasons, including four starts in 2001, before starting all 16 games in 2002...Remained a valuable contributor in the ensuing two Dolphin campaigns as a part-time starter and key backup before joining the Packers...Owns 72 career games of experience, with 29 starts, over his five previous NFL seasons... Has authored 199 tackles (135 solo), including 31/2 sacks, plus five interceptions among 22 passes defensed, two fumble recoveries and one forced fumble...Also had played in three career postseason contests with the Dolphins.

Ron Wolf's stamp on Packers history

Ron Wolf arrived in Green Bay Nov. 27, 1991, with a mandate to rescue the Green and Gold from a quarter-century of mediocrity, an assignment which prompted him to assert, "I was brought here to win."

And win, in the decade to follow, the Packers did - in large part because of his leadership and the 'cast' he assembled to execute one of the most electrifying turnarounds in NFL annals...rewardingly punctuated by Green Bay's first Super Bowl victory in nearly three decades and back-to-back appearances in professional football's ultimate game.

During the history-making process, he made a more profound impact upon the Packers organization than anyone since the revered Vince Lombardi, who arrived in Green Bay with a similar mission 32 years earlier. Over Wolf's 1992-2000 tenure, the Packers compiled the NFL's second-winningest regular-season record, a 92-52 mark for a .639 percentage, recorded seven straight winning seasons and made six consecutive playoff appearances.

He converted the Green and Gold from perennial also-rans into consistent winners, exemplified by the fact they also have mounted the NFL's best regular-season won-lost record since the 1993 institution of free agency (127-65, .661), and best mark since the 1994 institution of the salary cap (118-58, .670)

Wolf's aggressive stewardship, launched with the hiring of 49ers offensive coordinator Mike Holmgren as head coach and the acquisition of Brett Favre as a franchise quarterback in 1992 is perhaps no better illustrated than by the Packers' immediate, 9-7 turnabout in 1992 - his first year on the job - after the team had been a dismal 4-and-12 in 1991 and 6-and-10 in 1990...a transformation which brought him recognition as 'NFL Executive of the Year' by The Sporting News.

Wolf, reflecting upon the overall record from his perspective on the day he announced his retirement, observed with pardonable satisfaction, "What people said couldn't happen here... happened here (building a winner in Green Bay)...I'm proud of that."

(Oct. 24)...Picked off a Chad Pennington aerial and returned it a career-long 47 yards, vs. the N.Y. Jets (Oct. 3)...Also started Week 2 contest at Cincinnati (Sept. 19), when team opened with five defensive backs.

Saw action in 16 games, all in a reserve role, making 23 tackles (20 solo), one sack, one forced fumble and two passes defensed...Also contributed on special teams with nine tackles, a fumble recovery and a forced fumble...Tallied a season-high four tackles in win at the N.Y. Giants (Oct. 5)...Equaled the four stops in win over San Diego in Monday night game (Oct. 27), played in Tempe, Ariz., due to fires in San Diego; notched only sack of the year in contest (Drew Brees)...Forced a Marvin Harrison fumble the following week vs. Indianapolis (Nov. 2), with Terrell Buckley recovering; Buckley then fumbled himself, Freeman recovered and the ensuing drive led to a Dolphins field goal...Recovered a Nate Clements fumbled punt at Buffalo (Dec. 21), which also led to a field goal...Registered a season-high two special teams tack-les in finale vs. N.Y. Jets (Dec. 28).

2002 Started all 16 games (for the only time in his career) at strong safety, replacing Brian Walker, who'd departed for Detroit via free agency...Finished third on the team and second among defensive backs with a career-high 96 tackles (65 solo), including 1½ sacks...Added five passes defensed and 2 special teams stops...Proved to be impact performer as four of his top five tackle outings came in victories...Notched a career-high nine stops in win at Indianapolis (Sept. 15)...Equaled the total in victory over Baltimore (Nov. 17), helping hold the Ravens to just 91 net passing yards...Put up eight tackles in three matchups – vs. Detroit (Sept. 8), vs. the N.Y. A-BIAMILA

Born: Sept. 24, 1977 NFL Gm. Played/Started: 70/42 Acquired: FA-00 (D5a-00)

Supersonic rusher pass enters his sixth season in Green Bay, but his first in the Packers' new defensive system...Has become one of the league's premier sack artists, despite serving as the focus of many opponent game plans over the last three years... This season, his new coaches want him to continue to set high goals, but not in comparison with the rest of the NFL..."I just want him to be the best that he can be," says position coach Bob

PRO

Sanders, who also has tutored Jevon Kearse, Jason Taylor and Kevin Carter. "If he's the best that he can be, and plays CAREER within the scheme, allows the scheme to work for him, and plays with the kind of effort I anticipate from him, he'll have the kind of year we want him to have."...Relentless in his pursuit, whether chasing the quarterback or a receiver downfield, has started at right defensive end for all or most of the last three seasons...In 2004, moved past the 50-sack milestone (501/2) and, with 49 sacks from 2001-04, established a club mark for most sacks over four straight seasons (Tim Harris, 48, 1986-89)...Also became the first Green Bay player to record double-digit sack totals four years in a row; in doing so, matched the team record of four career 10-sack seasons held by the late Reggie White...Along with the Buccaneers' Simeon Rice, is one of only two NFL players to post a double-digit sack total each of the past four seasons; since 2001, his 49 sacks rank fourth in the NFL, behind only the 56 of the Giants' Michael Strahan, the 531/2 of Rice and the 491/2 of the Dolphins' Taylor...Also last season, moved past No. 3 Ezra Johnson (411/2) on the Packers' all-time sacks list (since 1982), his current 501/2 career sacks leave him only 41/2 behind No. 2 Harris (55) and 18 behind the alltime leader, White (681/2)...Rose from the ranks of the practice squad as a 2000 rookie to Pro Bowl status in 2003 - a transformation originated through collective hours spent on the field after practice on an almost-daily basis, working with coaches to hone his pass-rushing moves, and further spurred by extra time in the film room, watching tapes of his opponents...An inquisitive sort who exudes personality and genuineness, the dividends of his extraordinary efforts toward improvement now endure...In 2005, bids to become the second player in Packers history to lead the team in sacks five consecutive seasons, joining Harris (1986-90).

emonstrated in 2003 that, despite being in the 250-pound range, he was equipped to play on first, second and third down...lllustrating that point, he led Green Bay's defensive linemen with 55 tackles in 2003, and was second with 52 a year ago...Began his professional career in 2000 somewhat auspiciously, being released in training camp, followed by a six-week stint on the Green Bay practice squad (available to any NFL team in both instances), and subsequently assuming a role as a situational pass rusher and special teams player... Emerged as a top-line pass rusher the following season (2001), being used mainly on passing downs...Further expanded his responsibilities early in the 2002 campaign, when he took over the right defensive end position for the final 11 games after Joe Johnson suffered a season-ending triceps injury...Did so well as Johnson's replacement that he entered the 2003 season as the Packers' designated starter...His value to the team was further recognized that year when, as a restricted free agent following the '02 season, he was signed to a seven-year contract by Green Bay on April 3, 2003... Has one of the biggest hearts of anyone on the current Packers team, a trait that translates into him being one of the most communityminded players, regularly speaking to a multitude of area school, youth and civic groups...Brother, Akbar, previously his teammate at San Diego State, is a third-year defensive end with the Raiders after making the Oakland roster as an undrafted free agent in 2003.

► In 2004, became the first Packers player to post doubleat a glance.. digit sacks in three consecutive seasons. Only three other NFL players - Michael Strahan, Simeon Rice and Leonard Little - have done the same over the past three years

This offseason, enrolled in an executive education program at the Harvard Business School. The National Football League and NFL Players Association worked with the school to create curriculum, part of an ongoing NFL-NFLPA initiative to assist players in preparing for their post-playing careers.

Made the initial Pro Bowl appearance of his career following the 2003 season. In doing so, he became the first Green Bay defensive lineman to play in the league's annual all-star contest since Reggie White did so in 1998.

History of the sack statistic

In 1947, the NFL implemented a new team statistic, yards lost attempting to pass. The new category allowed the league to separate gross yards passing from net yards, to more accurately reflect a team's passing performance. Net passing yards included yards lost by backs tackled on passing plays.

In 1963, Seymour Sivoff, president of the league's official statistical company, the Elias Sports Bureau, made a suggestion. Recognizing the 'yards lost attempting to pass' figure needed a complement, he argued for a new category; number of times losing yards attempting to pass. The league agreed, and one of the NFL's top executives, Jim Kensil, first coined the term "Sack," which in the early 1960s was a dark-ages word, meaning to plunder a captured town. Kensil, who handled NFL public relations among other responsibilities, popularized the term in his stories and publicity materials.

In 1982, convinced by member team PR directors (many of whom were convinced by their players), Elias and the NFL agreed to make individual sacks an official number. New rules were written, such as only two players can share in a sack.

Today, it's arguably the game's most popular stat. Siwoff, whose bureau also tracks official numbers for MLB, the NBA and NHL, still has the final word on every challenged sack, spending Tuesday or Wednesday in the film room at the league office.

Running Back — Nebraska

HUES

A complete offensive weapon who can run, catch, block and even pass - all versatile skills that have led him to the last four Pro Bowls...Capable of carrying the ball with both power and excellent speed, he also can patiently execute a screen, run routes like a receiver, unselfishly stay in the pocket to neutralize a blitzing linebacker and, as he proved in 2004, throw for a touchdown...This season, stands 1,360 yards from capturing Hall of Famer Jim Taylor's franchise career rushing record...And while that accomplishment would end all arguments over the best back in the Packers' storied history, don't expect Green to care about that record more than his team's won-loss mark at, as he says, "the end of December"... That humble leadership quality has earned him respect not just from his teammates, but also from fans and opponent players and coaches, who vote for the Pro Bowl...In CAREER 2005, bids for a fifth consecutive Pro Bowl, something achieved by only seven Packers players, all of whom by next season will be in the Pro Hall of Fame (Willie Davis, Forrest Gregg, James Lofton, Jim Jim Taylor, Reggie White and Willie Wood)...Since 2000, when Ron Wolf obtained Green in one of the top trades in Packers history, Green has been the NFL's most prolific offensive player... From 2000-04, no other threat has more total yards from scrimmage (9,036) or rushing yards (6,848)...And because he plays in Green Bay, where Vince Lombardi once executed the most feared rushing offense in league annals using five eventual Hall of Famers - Green's rushing accomplishments mean more than they would in any other city...Those accomplishments were a weekly occurrence in 2003, when Green wrote the finest singleseason rushing chapter in the Packers' proud eightdecade story...That year, eight team records fell at Green's always-in-motion feet, including the league's oldest single-season rushing mark (1,883 yards), the second-longest run ever in an NFL game (98 yards), the Packers' single-game rushing record (twice, 218 and 192 yards), and the franchise touchdown mark (20)...He now holds four of the top seven single-game rushing efforts in Packers history.

ccording to Packers offensive coordinator Tom Rossley, Green's accomplishments are the end result of a process that begins well in advance of games..."I think what makes him special starts with how he practices." Rossley says, "and how he prepares himself for games. It's no surprise that he plays well on Sunday because he practices well in training camp and in the days prior to the games. In practice, he only goes one speed, full speed, and he finishes every play, too, all the way to the end zone."...Green's position coach, Edgar Bennett, knows how well games go when Green is physically at his best... "One of his greatest assets is his toughness," says Bennett, a former Packers back who was essentially the assistant running backs coach over the last four years. "In a running back, you want a guy who can get stronger as the game goes on, and he gives us that dimension. And when I say toughness, I don't just mean for a running back. I mean toughness for an NFL player. He is as physical as anyone on the field."...That toughness has allowed Green

(1,467 attempts) to carry the ball more than all but two other NFL backs since he donned a Packers uniform in 2000 (Curtis Martin, 1,604; Eddie George, 1,505)...Now consider that Green has carried that often with asthma, a breathing obstacle, and it's clear that this is a special player...The Packers are 23-3 when Green carries at least 23 times...They're 10-1 when he has 27 or more carries...Each week, Rossley and Bennett will explore every opportunity to get the ball in Green's hands because,

Name is pronounced ah-MAHN.

Since he came to Green Bay via trade in 2000, no other NFL player has more yards from scrimmage (9,036) or rushing yards (6,848).

This offseason, served as a celebrity judge for the slam dunk contest at the annual McDonald's High School All-America festivities in South Bend, Ind.

- In April, enrolled in an executive education program at the Wharton School of the University of Pennsylvania. The National Football League and NFL Players Association worked with the business school to create curriculum, part of an ongoing NFL-NFLPA initiative to assist players in preparing for their post-playing careers. Two years earlier, kept a promise to his parents after leaving college early for the NFL, and participated in Nebraska graduation ceremonies before the 2003 season.
- > Ranks second on the Packers' all-time rushing list with 6,848 yards, just 1,360 shy of passing Jim Taylor's record (8,207).
- In 2003, ran for more yards (1,883) than any player ever who did not win the NFL rushing title. His Packers rushing records included yards (1,883 single-season and 218 singlegame), attempts (355) and longest run from scrimmage (98 yards). He also scored more overall touchdowns (20) and totaled more yards from scrimmage (2,250) than any Packers player ever.
- According to his mother, took his first steps running steps as a six-month old baby...Three months later, he nearly died after contracting an intestinal disease called Shigella; received a blood transfusion and spent three weeks in the hospital
- Established a foundation in 2001, the Ahman Green Foundation for Youth Development; its primary mission is to benefit the Boys & Girls Club in both Green Bay and Omaha, Neb., as well as Girls Inc., also in Omaha.
- In May, raised more than $100,000 at the first annual 'Ahman Green Golf Shootout for Easter Seals.' Worked for nearly a year planning the event, and recruited more than 100 participants, including several current and former NFL players as well as other celebrities.
- Interested in possibly acting after football, makes his onscreen debut this year in an independent "short" film, The Amazing Tale of Chester McPhail... Plays himself in the role of Chester's nemesis... A fan of sushi, recommended to Maroon Films by the owner of Koko's Sushi in Bellevue, Wis.

simply put, the more Green touches the ball, the more the Packers win... Over his five seasons, the Packers are 40-16 (.714) when he has 20-or-more touches; they're 10-11 (.476) in the other 21 contests... Specifically, the Packers want the ball in his hands because he can score from anywhere on the field, at any time...Only two backs in NFL history have multiple touchdown runs of 90-ormore yards - Green and Bo Jackson...With his clubrecord 98-yard TD run vs. Denver in 2003 and his 90yard dash vs. Dallas in 2004, he possesses the league's longest carry each of the past two years; the last player to do so in consecutive seasons was also Jackson 14 years before (an 88-yarder in 1990, following a 92yarder in 1989)...And, Green has eight career carries of least 60 yards, more than any active player...Conscious of Green's asthma, the Packers don't push him to the limit very often, assertively using his very capable backups - Najeh Davenport and Tony Fisher - rather than waiting for Green to tire and become unavailable for a crucial down...That strategy has helped the team post a 25-3 (.893) record when he rushes for 100-or-more yards in a game (Green holds the franchise record with 28 100-yard rushing games)...Green's mentality, though, is part of what distinguishes him... "Combined with all his physical skills, he has a great, great mindset," Bennett says. "His mindset is always, 'Get better.' He's always trying to improve his game, from the start of the first mini-camp to the last playoff game, start to finish he's trying to get better. And with all the accolades, the honors and the records he has, he still works as hard as a free agent battling for a job. And that's a great leadership example for the younger guys to follow, because they see him working that hard and they realize how hard they have to work for opportunities to touch the ball. His work ethic is second to none. And that's how in trying to improve himself he makes us all better as a team."...Despite the demanding nature of his position he has missed only three games since coming to Green Bay in 2000

(Sept. 22, 2002, at Detroit; Dec. 8, 2002, vs. Minnesota; and Nov. 29, 2004, vs. St. Louis)...In all, has answered the bell for 83 of a possible 86 Packers games (including postseason)...With five career 1,000-yard rushing seasons, he can surpass Taylor's club record of five this season...Also ranks third in career yards from scrimmage (9,036), having gone by Don Hutson (8,275) and Sterling Sharpe (8,206) in 2004; needs only 866 total yards to pass Lofton (9,901) and add another franchise record...The all-time leader among backs, ranks 10th on the Packers' career receiving list with 282 receptions (for 2,188 yards and 13 TDs)...Unlike most other starters, he makes his permanent home in Green Bay, and regularly works out at Lambeau Field during the offseason...Came to Titletown in an April 15, 2000, trade that sent cornerback Fred Vinson to the Seahawks (Green Bay also received Seattle's fifthround selection in the 2000 draft for the Packers' sixth-round choice)... Acquired to provide depth in the Packers' backfield, eventually started for an injured Dorsey Levens and responded with 1,175 yards and 10 touchdowns in '00.

2004 SEASON The Packers' featured back for a fifth season, was a key component of an offense that set a franchise record with 6,357 yards...Voted to the Pro Bowl for the fourth straight year, he started 15 regular-season games and was inactive for the other contest, vs. St. Louis (Nov. 29), due to injury...Also started NFC Wild Card playoff game against Minnesota...Finished fourth in NFC rushing with 1,163 yards (259 carries, 4.5 avg., seven touchdowns)...Also made 40 receptions for 275 yards and one TD...With a touchdown pass at Detroit (Oct. 17) - his first TD toss as a pro became the first Packers player in 21 years to notch rushing, receiving and passing touchdowns in the same season; in 1983 Gerry Ellis had four rushing TDs, two receiving TDs and one TD pass...Against Jacksonville (Dec. 19), surpassed the 1,000-yard mark for a fifth consecutive season to tie Taylor's franchise record (both overall and consecutive; Taylor also did it five straight Received the 'Professional Achievement Award' at the fourth annual Lee Remmel Sports Award Banquet in April of 2001...Was the co-host of a weekly radio show on WDUZ in Green Bay during the 2000-02 seasons... As a young football player idolized the late Walter Payton; he now watches the highlight film Pure Payton the night before every game as a part of his preparation...An enthusiastic fan of Batman, owns an extensive collection of comic books, pictures and posters...In appreciation of his teammates' contributions to his success, in 2002 presented many of them (offensive line, fullback, tight ends, wide receivers) with rings commemorating his back-to-back 1,000-yard seasons... Designed by Green, the rings had the 'Batman' emblem on top, with each player's name and number on one crest and the phrase, Tough times go away, not tough people," on the other crest...Among his hobbies are tennis, fishing, movies, video games and hanging out with friends and family...Residence: De Pere, Wis.

"He knows that and he accepts the responsibility. I always remind him that the young guys are watching him. I always point out to them the way Al practices and the way he does things. I think sometimes a player will get more out of a another player's teachings than he'll get out of a coach, because he figures the player has gone through some of the same struggles and has a similar way of learning things."...In 112 NFL games (53 starts), has 11 career interceptions among 84 passes defensed, and 284 tackles (238 solo)...For the Packers, has returned two picks for touchdowns, including a 52-yard game-winning touchdown in OT vs. Seattle in an NFC Wild Card playoff, Jan. 4. 2004...Philadelphia gave the Packers Harris and a fourth-round pick in '03 for Green Bay's second-round choice in the same draft, March 3, 2003... Hutson settles on the Bay

Green Bay has always had that special somebody, either on the field or in the background, offering inspiration or carrying on the tradition for the City of the Bay that is unique in the annals of professional sports

And yet, the Packers came perilously close to being denied one of their most popular on-thefield performers. Instead of catching passes and acquiring immortality in Green Bay, Don Hutson might well have been relegated to obscurity in, of all places, Brooklyn.

By 1935, the Packers and Green Bay had fought side by side through one crisis after another adversity and discouragement. A proud and determined community rallied time and again to save ITS football team from the brink of disaster and forfeiture of a coveted franchise. Then came the formation of Green Bay Packers, Inc., and the Packers belonged to Green Bay and Green Bay belonged to the Packers.

It was also a time to reward the faithful Bayers by laying the foundation for an overdue championship. After sweeping to three titles in succession in 1929-30-31, the Packers had slipped from contention and the vaunted Bears were now the kingpins of the West

In the early thirties Coach Earl L. (Curly) Lambeau found it necessary to replenish his forces as one by one, he, Verne Lewellen, Jug Earp, Lavvie Dilweg, Red Dunn, Tom Nash and other stalwarts wrote the final chapter on their active playing careers.

Lambeau was carefully grooming a home town product to step on the firing line and resume the aerial attacks so brilliantly conducted through the years by the Packer Coach himself Lewellen and Dunn. He was Arnie Herber and his passing arm lacked nothing...except targets.

For years Lambeau was a familiar figure at the workouts of the Rose Bowl game participants and the December of 1934 found him at his favorite haunts in Pasadena. As he watched Alabama prepare for Stanford, his eyes were riveted on a lean and lanky Crimson Tide end.

Don Hutson was not merely fast, he was blinding fast. In addition to his combination of speed and agility, he had an uncanny ability to estimate the speed of a pass in flight, just the exact instant it was going to arrive at a given point. He could run in one direction with an opponent trailing him, while the pass he eventually was to receive was thrown in another; then, like a flash he would turn and invariably get to the point where the ball and he were to arrive, and he caught by sure hands.

But landing this target for the accurate-throwing Herber was another matter. Hutson frankly admitted to the Packer coach that John (Shipwreck) Kelly of the football Brooklyn Dodgers had approached him and he had a tentative agreement to sign with Kelly.

Both Lambeau and Kelly redoubled their efforts, Lambeau pointed out that Green Bay, with its emphasis on passing, was the place for Hutson in pro football. He stressed that Brooklyn, under Paul Schissler, relied on a ground attack, featuring power plays and that Hutson, at 185 pounds, would not fit in with the Dodgers' pattern of play.

Hutson was unveiled in Green Bay on Sept. 22, 1935, taking a starting position at left end against the Bears. The visitors kickedoff and Herber carried back to the 17. On the first play, Herber drifted back to pass. The Bears, familiar with previous Green Bay pass patterns, converged on the most likely receiver, Johnny Blood. The rookie left end was ignored Herber let go from the Packer 6 and Hutson pulled in the toss at mid-field. Challenging him was the Bears' fastest back, Beattie Feathers. Hutson sped on, eluded a futile, frantic lunge by Feathers, and crossed the goal for the game's only touchdown.

COLLEGE Was a two-year starter and letterman (1995-96) at Texas A&M-Kingsville after spending two seasons (1993-94) at Trinity Valley Community College in Athens, Texas...Finished Kingsville career with 88 tackles (61 solo), nine interceptions, 14 passes defensed and one fumble recovery...Was a first-team All-Lone Star Conference pick in 1996, when he had a career-best five interceptions...Intercepted a pass in each of the Javelinas' 1995 playoff games, vs. Fort Hays and Portland State...Recorded eight interceptions and 121 tackles while at Trinity Valley...Majored in kinesiology.

HENDERSON

STEARD RE

Selfless leader who in many ways exemplifies what being a Green Bay Packer is all about...Toiled anonymously, dependably working in the trenches, for the majority of his decade in the NFL before long-overdue recognition season...Earned first-team came his way last Associated Press All-Pro and NFC Pro Bowl starter accolades in 2004 - both achievements that were personally gratifying to the often underappreciated native Virginian..."The first thing I think of when I think of William Henderson is a leader," says position coach

Edgar Bennett. "I also think of a guy who basically is the ultimate professional - he CAREER always stays in shape, year-round. He's a great role model for some of the younger players as far as doing it the right way, doing it the 'Packer' way."...Clearly has done it the "Packer way" throughout his Green Bay tenure, lining up most every efficiently handle his thankless duties...Including the postseason, he has played in 174 of the Packers' last 176 games... Now stands 12th on the franchise's all-time list with 158 career regular-season games played; in 2005 he is in position to climb as high as sixth, passing No. 11 Dave Hanner (160), No. 9 Larry McCarren and Ron Hallstrom (162), No. 8 Robert Brown (164), No. 7 Willie Wood (166) and No. 6 Ed West (167)...This season he also is in line to make his 100th NFL start, entering the year with 95...Additionally has played in 78 career regular-season games at Lambeau Field, second most in the history of the Packers' famed stadium, behind only the 94 of Brett Favre...Also stands second to Favre (20) with 16 career postseason games played, having moved past Gilbert Brown and Earl Dotson (15) during this past year's playoffs...The Packers are 14-4 when he scores at least one touchdown..."I remember back to when William was drafted, from Day 1 he always has been level-headed and team-oriented," continues Bennett, Henderson's teammate from 1995-96, "and that's a big part of being a fullback on this team and in this league - team comes first. I think it's great that he shares that philosophy with our younger players and helps them to understand what it's all about, wearing that 'G' on the side of your helmet and not just from a football standpoint. When you think about how many 1,000-yard rushers this guy has blocked for (seven), it says a lot about his consistency. Even though he has been the lead blocker the majority of the time, and had the wear-and-tear that goes with that job, he's been able to be durable and dependable for this team for a long time."

s tied with 13-year player Lorenzo Neal for the league's fullback record of seven overall seasons (minimum six starts) blocking for a 1,000-yard rusher, having been out in front of Dorsey Levens (1997, '99) and Ahman Green (2000-04)...Running on roads paved by Henderson and an effective offensive line, Green Bay backs have recorded 1,000-yard seasons in six consecutive years, and seven of the last eight... Has blocked for six of the top nine individual rushing efforts in team annals - Levens' 1.435 yards in 1997 (third), plus Green's 1,883 in 2003 (first), 1,387 in 2001 (fourth), 1,240 in 2002 (sixth), 1,175 in 2000 (seventh) and 1,163 in 2004 (ninth)... Had a significant role in '03 as the Packers set new single-season franchise records for yards rushing (2,558) and yards per carry (5.05), including the 1,883 yards by Green to break Jim Taylor's 41-year-old team rushing mark...Since Henderson became the starting fullback in 1996, Green Bay has averaged 114.8 rushing yards per contest (16,527 yards, 144 games); over the Packers' first four years in the 'West Coast' offense (1992-95), the team averaged a noticeably lower 96.0 yards a game... Equally adept as a pass catcher, he stands 11th all-time on the Packers' career receptions list with 278 (for 2,083 yards), and second among running backs, trailing only Green (282)... Had become Green Bay's first full-time fullback to reach 200 receptions in 2002...With 25 more catches this season, likely would crack Green Bay's Top

In 2004, following nine seasons of relative anonymity, became only the ninth Packers player since 1969 to be named both first-team Associated Press Allat a glance... Pro and a Pro Bowl starter.

Stands 12th on the franchise's all-time list with 158 career regular-season games played; this year will have an opportunity to climb as high as sixth by Green Bay's 10th game.

► Eleventh on the Packers' all-time receptions list with 278 (for 2,083 yards); in franchise history, only current teammate Ahman Green (282) has more catches among backs.

> One of only a few NFL starters who consistently contribute on special teams, he has recorded 57 coverage stops since 2000, including 41 the past three seasons.

 Cousin, Rudi Johnson, is a running back for the Bengals. who meet Green Bay Oct. 30 at Paul Brown Stadium.

In 2004 coordinated production of a calendar featuring he and 11 teammates that raised approximately $30,000 for breast and prostrate cancer research, and the American Diabetes Association; sold more than 9,000 calendars.

10 lifetime receivers..."William is a very good receiver out of the backfield," Bennett adds. "He's a fairly versatile back. We're talking about a guy who weighs 250 pounds and has skills as a receiver, as well as a runner and a blocker. From a receiving standpoint, his hands are so reliable."...Continues his unselfish approach to the game by actively participating on several special teams units - something that is very uncommon for a starter in today's era of specialization, especially for a player who last season went to the Pro Bowl...Not only plays special teams, but also is a significant contributor, having registered 57 coverage stops since 2000, including 41 the past three seasons...Largely unnoticed over the course of his professional career, received a "lifetime achievement award" of sorts when he was voted to his first-ever Pro Bowl in 2004..."Over the past few years William has been very deserving of a trip to the Pro Bowl," Bennett says, "and he should have been there prior to last season. But for it to finally happen, for him and his family, it was special. And it was special for the club as well, because here you have a guy who's been doing it for so long and doing it the right way, and he finally gets rewarded. What he did last year is he stayed consistent, like he has been throughout his career. He came to training camp in shape, knowing that he was in an uphill battle for his position. He did everything he was supposed to, he did everything we asked him to do. He made plays when the ball was thrown his way or when he touched the ball. But at the same time he made additional plays, so I think guys around the league - players, coaches, other people who vote on awards - they noticed that and rewarded him by sending him to the Pro Bowl."...Following a collegiate career lacking in stats, spawned zero invitations to postseason all-star games — or to the NFL scouting combine — the Packers targeted him as the player they wanted to help jump-start their running game...Came to Titletown as a somewhat unknown third-round draft choice and a preseason knee injury short-circuited his push for the starting lineup...Eventually won the starting fullback job late in '96 training camp, over the incumbent Levens, in large part due to his extraordinary blocking...At one point, enjoyed a consecutive games-played streak of 114 (126 including playoffs) until a 2002 injury halted the string...Had signed a four-year contract to return in March of 2002, the third time he had re-signed as a free agent.

2004 SEASON Enjoyed the most decorated season of his decade-long career...Was elected to the Pro Bowl for the first time, as the NFC's starting fullback, in addition to being named first-team All-Pro by the Associated Press the first Green Bay player to earn that honor since 2000...Became only the ninth Packers player since 1969 to be chosen both first-team AP All-Pro and a starter in the Pro Bowl...Also was a second-team All-Pro pick of College & Pro Football Newsweekly...Was Green Bay's starting fullback for a ninth straight season...Played in all 16 regularseason games for the eighth time, making eight starts when the Packers opened in their base personnel...Shared offensive snaps with Nick Luchey for the second consecutive season, seeing action on 58.6 percent of the plays when Green Bay had a fullback on the field... Tied Neal for the NFL's fullback record of seven overall seasons (minimum six starts) blocking for a 1,000-yard rusher when Green reached the plateau late in the year against Jacksonville... As in other recent seasons, played a prominent role on special teams, contributing 12 coverage tackles - marking the third straight year that he posted 10-or-more special teams stops...Made 34 receptions - his most since the 2000 season - for 239 yards and three touchdowns... For the second straight year, he did not have a rushing attempt...Saw action in his 150th career NFL game, at Washington (Oct. 31), in front of family and friends as a native of nearby Richmond, Va. ...Later, in NFC Wild Card playoff contest with Minnesota (Jan. 9), played in a 16th career postseason game, surpassing Brown and Dotson (15) on the Packers' all-time list; only Favre, who played in a 20th playoff contest that day, has more Packers postseason experience...Made a season-best four catches in consecutive games, at Washington (Oct. 31) and vs. Minnesota (Nov. 14)... Hauled in four balls (for 17 yards) in win over the Redskins; additionally, on an 11-yard Najeh Davenport run, blocked LB Antonio Pierce, who was in position to stop Davenport in the Green Bay backfield...Led the team and matched his season high with four receptions in ensuing contest with Minnesota...Scored the Packers' final touchdown, giving Green Bay a 31-17 fourth-quarter lead in its eventual 34-31 victory over the Vikings, when he caught a pass in the left flat, waiting patiently for the Favre throw, then trotted 6 yards into the end zone ... Lambeau's twin flags

The twin American flags above Lambeau Field enter their second season in 2005. The impressively sized flags, 15 feet by 25 feet, were raised May 28, 2004, on Memorial Day weekend that year.

Located on top of the stadium's indoor club seats on the north end of the facility, the new flags are the culmination of the desire to improve Lambeau Field's honoring of America, an effort first discussed in Fall 2003, at the end of the stadium's 32-month renovation.

Once the Lambeau Field redevelopment project was complete and we had our first games in the stadium, we realized the old flag and flagpole appeared a bit small compared to the larger size of the new facility," said Packers President and CEO Bob Harlan.

"We needed something more prominent to appropriately honor our country and decided to upgrade that component of the stadium. We also heard from a few fans that they had trouble locating the flag during the anthem, so this will definitely help in that area, too,

"The new, larger flags are a great way to honor America and the timing worked out for it to be done for Memorial Day weekend.

The flags are positioned atop 72-foot high flagpoles which are stationed on top of the northeast and northwest corners of the stadium, above the club seats. All told, the flags are flying at 180 feet above ground.

Once the plans were set, the team worked with Kocken and Associates, of De Pere, Wis., on the design and engineering of the project. A major challenge of the design was ensuring both the structure and the flagpoles themselves could withstand the extreme wind load from the two large flags at that height Physical preparation for the new flagpoles began months prior with structural work, including reinforcing the area above the ceiling and on the roof with additional steel and concrete to support the extra load.

The two flags fly 24 hours a day, seven days a week, and are illuminated by spotlights at night.

Seventh NFL Season Seventh Packers Season Acquired: D3b-99

Athletic, veteran defensive tackle enters his seventh NFL season...Although primarily a 'three-technique' defensive tackle, lined up earlier in his career on the end, and last season started four games at nose tackle...In 2004, completed his third year as a full-time starter... Enormously talented, his skills can make him a good fit for the Packers' new defensive scheme..."Our defense is going to give him opportunities to make plays both in the run and pass," says Robert Nunn, defensive tackles coach. "If he'll just play the technique and do what is asked of him to play the position, he'll be in a position to make a lot of plays."...Last year, spent four early-season games at nose tackle due to injuries suffered by the top two players at that position, Grady Jackson (kneecap) and James Lee (knee)...His combination of strength and agility make him able to play at several spots on the defensive line..."He has outstanding physical tools," Nunn says. "He's very quick and very sudden off of the ball. He also has outstanding strength. He's incredibly quick for a guy his size. He's tough to deal with for offensive linemen. When he gets on the edge, it's very hard to get in a position to block him."...Entering his seventh season with the Packers, the team will look for him to use his experience to help the defense improve..."He has the ability to be one of the dominant players in the league," Nunn says...For his career, has played in 85 games (60 starts), with 229 tackles (147 solo), 17 sacks, 18 passes defensed, five fumble recoveries and three forced fumbles; additionally, has blocked three kicks in his career...Started 16 games in 2003, for the first time in his career, after playing and starting 14 games in 2002...Before becoming a full-time starter in 2002, provided valuable versatility, starting at both tackle and end in 2000 and 2001...Came out of Division II Kentucky State as a relatively raw talent...Utilized primarily as a situational pass rusher as a 1999 rookie, then turned into a valued backup along the defensive line, making 11 starts in 2000 and six near the end of 2001...A junior-college and small-school standout, firmly proved himself as an NFL-quality player during his first year in the league, garnering all-rookie recognition in 1999, when he was used mostly at left defensive end.

2004 SEASON Played in all 16 regular-season games, making 14 starts; he also Card playoff contest with started NFC Wild Minnesota...Recorded 37 tackles (21 solo), including two sacks and one forced fumble, plus three passes defensed...Spent the first two regular-season games at the 'Eagle' tackle position, making one stop vs. Chicago (Sept. 19)...Made his first career start at nose tackle in loss at Indianapolis (Sept. 26) with both Jackson and Lee sidelined, responding with three tackles (one solo) and one pass defensed...In Monday night contest with Tennessee (Oct. 11), again made three tackles (two solo); hurried the Titans' Steve McNair into an incompletion on third-and-6, leading to a field goal attempt that was blocked by Na'il Diggs...Helped limit the Lions to only 33 yards on 16 carries (2.1 avg.) in win at Detroit (Oct. 17)...Provided a key block on Darren Sharper's third-quarter interception return, pummeling T Stockar McDougle; the touchdown broke the game open at 24-10 in the eventual 38-10 victory... Also helped to throw Lions RB Shawn Bryson for a 3-yard loss on a second-quar-

Defensive touchdowns, 2004

The Green Bay defense scored five touchdowns in 2004, its most since its last Super Bowl season, 1997, when it also notched five. In fact, the prior two times the Packers scored at least five defensive TDs, they went to the Super Bowl (also six in 1966).

Darren Sharper collected three of the five TDs last year, two on interceptions and a third on a heads-up "fumble recovery." In matching the single-season franchise record shared by Herb Adderley (1965) and himself (1997), Sharper returned INTs at Chicago (Jan. 2) and at Detroit (Oct. 17), where Cletidus Hunt provided a key block on a play that turned the Packers' season around. Against Jacksonville (Dec. 19), Sharper knocked the ball from a relaxed Jaguars player, who had thought a whistle had blown, and scored on a 15-yard fumble return.

The Packers' other two scores both came in a Monday night win over St. Louis (Nov. 29), in bookend fashion. First, Joey Thomas forced a fumble on the Rams' first possession and Ahmad Carroll, a fellow rookie cornerback, picked up the loose ball and raced 40 yards for the game's first points. Then, Michael Hawthorne returned another fumble 34 yards, an exclamation point on a 45-17 win. The last time Green Bay had scored two defensive TDs in the same game was Oct. 2, 1983, vs. Tampa Bay.

Started all 16 games for the first time...Also was the starter for both playoff contests...Ranked second on the team with four sacks among 46 total tackles (two shy of his career best)...Also contributed a careerhigh six passes defensed, along with one forced fumble, one fumble recovery and one blocked field goal attempt...During the postseason, added five tackles, including one sack, one forced fumble and two pass breakups...Beat Steve Hutchinson to sack Matt Hasselbeck (also forcing a fumble), among four stops, in Wild Card playoff victory over Seattle (Jan. 4), knocking the Seahawks' Pro Bowl guard onto his backside in the process... Turned in a seasonhigh five tackles in two games, at Arizona (Sept. 21) and at San Diego (Dec. 14)...In regular-season win over Seattle (Oct. 5), ripped the ball from Shaun Alexander's hands near midfield on the Seahawks' opening possession; the Packers cashed in the turnover for the day's first points...Made four stops in season opener with Minnesota (Sept. 7), and recovered a late Daunte Culpepper fumble at the Vikings' 41-yard line that Green Bay was able to turn into a touchdown...With a terrific surge right up the middle, blocked a 48-yard Morten Andersen field goal attempt in overtime vs. Kansas City (Oct. 12)...Also had four tackles against the Chiefs...Sacked Marc Bulger among four tackles at St. Louis (Oct. 19)...Also sacked Brad Johnson at Tampa Bay (Nov. 16), Tim Rattay vs. San Francisco (Nov. 23) and Kordell Stewart vs. Chicago (Dec. 7).

Played well in his first season as the full-time starter at the 'Eagle' defensive tackle, having taken over for Santana Dotson...Finished third on the team in sacks with a career-high 51/2...Led Green Bay defensive linemen in tackles with a career-best 48...Also had one forced fumble, two fumble recoveries, four passes defensed and a blocked extra point try...Started 14 regular-season games and was inactive for the other two contests...Additionally started playoff matchup with Atlanta (Jan. 4), recording a season-best eight tackles to lead the team's defensive linemen...In 17-14 win vs. Carolina (Sept. 29), enjoyed a breakout performance. making seven tackles (his high during the regular season), including a pair of Rodney Peete sacks...Forced a Peete fumble late in the first half, ending a Carolina drive at the Packers' 20-yard line...In 10-0 win vs. Buffalo (Dec. 22), recovered a pair of fumbles by Drew Bledsoe, the second snuffing out a final drive at the Green Bay 17 with 1:19 remaining; also totaled four stops, including two for loss...In win at New England (Oct. 13), contributed four tackles, including a shared sack of Tom Brady, plus two pressures and two QB hits...Sacked the Lions' Joey Harrington among three tackles at Detroit (Sept. 22)...In Monday night victory over Miami (Nov. 4) sacked Ray Lucas...Sprained the medial collateral ligament in his right knee in Dolphins contest. rendering him inactive for win over Detroit six days later (Nov. 10) as well as turf game at Minnesota (Nov. 17)...Returned to the lineup at Tampa Bay (Nov. 24)...In rematch victory over Chicago (Dec. 1) made three tackles for loss and five overall stops, while also knocking down a Jim Miller pass...In triumph vs. Minnesota (Dec. 8), blocked an extra point attempt (by the Vikings' Gary Anderson), broke up a pass and had two stops...At San Francisco (Dec. 15), contributed four tackles, including one for loss, and a pass defensed in 20-14 win...Recorded three stops at the N.Y. Jets (Dec. 29) in regular-season finale.

Saw action in the team's last 12 regular-season 2001 games, starting four, after missing the Packers' first four contests while suspended under the NFL's substance abuse policy...Totaled 35 tackles, one fumble recovery and one pass defensed...Also started both playoff games, turning in a standout performance in NFC Wild Card win over San Francisco (Jan. 13)...With Green Bay clinging to an early 6-0 lead and the 49ers threatening inside Packers territory, surged through the middle of the line to block Jose Cortez's 34-yard field goal attempt; also threw the Niners' Garrison Hearst for a 5-yard loss - among six total tackles - on San Francisco's second play from scrimmage...Contributed four pressures and four QB hits in Divisional playoff game at St. Louis (Jan. 20), finishing the postseason with eight total tackles...Earlier, had returned to the team Oct. 8 and, though he had a one-week roster exemption from the NFL, was activated on Oct. 13 and played the following day against Baltimore...Recovered a first-quarter fumble by the Ravens' Obafemi Ayanbadejo, leading to a Green Bay touchdown in the eventual 31-23 triumph over the defending Super Bowl champs (Oct. 14)... Turned in a five-tackle performance and broke up a pass vs. Atlanta (Nov. 18)...Later had five stops against Chicago (Dec. 9) while starting in place of an injured John Thierry (knee)...Also started for Thierry at Tennessee (Dec. 16), totaling three tackles and in wins vs. Minnesota (Dec. 30) and at the N.Y. Giants (Jan. 6), making a career-high seven tackles in Vikings contest...Not allowed to utilize team facilities while under suspension, he spent the first five weeks of the season at a New Orleans-area sports camp.

Packers Cheerleaders

The Green Bay Packers once had official cheerleaders, but after the 1988 season the decision was made not to reinstate them. While some Packers fans supported the official cheerleaders, many were opposed or indifferent, at best.

Helping the Packers make the decision to discontinue the program was a television news poll in which fans were generally split over whether they wanted the program to continue.

Then the Packers' executive vice president of administration, Bob Harlan was quoted in an official release Feb. 7, 1989, saying: "In general terms, the poll disclosed there were as many fans who expressed opposition to the return of the cheerleaders as there were those in favor of restoring them. On that basis, we felt the appropriate decision at this time would be to continue without them."

Now the President and CEO of the Packers, Harlan says there are no plans to return to official cheerleaders.

For several years now, the team has used cheering squads from two local schools, St. Norbert College in De Pere, Wis., and the University of Wisconsin-Green Bay. Compared to other stadiums, though, they are not as much a part of the gameday experience at Lambeau Field.

Made 11 starts - seven at left defensive end, four at defensive tackle - when starters Vonnie Holliday (hamstring/ankle) and Santana Dotson (quadriceps) were sidelined for extended periods...Saw action in all 16 games for the first time as a pro... Tied for third on the team with five sacks among 43 tackles, including four others for loss...Also had two pressures, seven QB hits and three passes defensed...Had begun year at defensive end, but midway through training camp was moved inside to back up Dotson at defensive tackle. where he subbed in during the first four weeks... Was shifted outside to make a Week 5 start vs. Chicago (Oct. 1) after Holliday suffered a severe hamstring pull late in win at Arizona (Sept. 24)...Started seven of the next eight games at LDE as Holliday battled to return from the hamstring strain and, later, a high-ankle sprain...Posted at least one sack in each of his first three starts for Holliday...Enjoyed one of his best pro games in initial meeting with the Bears (Oct. 1), recording five tackles and two sacks...Sacked the Lions' Charlie Batch among three tackles at Detroit (Oct. 8) in second straight start for Holliday...The following week against San Francisco (Oct. 15), sacked the 49ers' Jeff Garcia... Posted four tackles, including a sack of Culpepper, as a reserve in Monday night win over Minnesota (Nov. 6)...Was switched back to defensive tackle to start the Packers' final four games, taking over for Dotson, who had suffered a season-ending quadriceps tear at Carolina (Nov.

Played in 11 games as a rookie, making one start; he was inactive for the other five contests...Totaled 20 tackles, including one-half sack...Also had one fumble recovery and one pass defensed, earning College & Pro Football Newsweekly all-rookie honors as a tackle...Made his initial NFL start, at left defensive end, in season finale vs. Arizona (Jan. 2), replacing Vaughn Booker, inactive with pneumonia; shared a sack of the Cardinals' Jake Plummer (with Dotson) among three total tackles...Established his season high with four stops in Monday night game at Minnesota (Dec.

20)...He matched that figure with four tackles at Tampa Bay (Dec. 26) while playing a high number of snaps at left end in place of Booker, sidelined by illness...Played in Green Bay's first four games before spraining his left ankle early in first meeting with Buccaneers (Oct. 10) – causing him to be inactive for the next five contests – though he did finish out the win over Tampa Bay...Returned to action vs. Detroit (Nov. 21), contributing two stops plus his first NFL pass defensed...Recovered a Steve Beuerlein fumble against Carolina (Dec. 12)...Had enjoyed an impressive preseason with a team-leading three sacks...Was the second of two third-round draft choices (94th overall) by Green Bay in 1999, selected with a compensatory pick.

COLLEGE Was a two-year starter and letterman (1997-98) at Division II Kentucky State

The Lambeau Leap

LeRoy Butler's spontaneous gesture after scoring a 1993 touchdown has turned into the team's most prominent modern tradition, emulated by many other players. Ironically, it also symbolines the team's unique relationship with its fass.

also symbolizes the team's unique relationship with its fans. No doubt, the initial Lambeau Leap will go down as one of the most memorable moments of Butler's 12-year career.

Butler's leap took place late in a frigid game vs. the Los Angeles Raiders, Dec. 26, 1993, at Lambeau Field. The touchdown gave the Packers a commanding fourth-quarter lead, en route to a 28-0 shutout that clinched a playoff berth, their first of six consecutive postseason trips.

Chronology of the play:

- QB Vince Evans completes second-down swing pass to RB Randy Jordan, who takes ball to Raiders' 40-yard line.
- Butler forces fumble, recovered by Reggie White at Raiders' 35.
- White returns ball 10 yards before lateraling to Butler, who covers the remaining 25 yards into the end zone and leaps into arms of fans in south bleachers.

ing in the NFL trenches...Clearly a difference maker, Green Bay is 14-4 in his 18 regular-season games, and 2-4 with him inactive... "Grady fits well with our system, being big and strong," says Jim Bates, the Packers' new defen-CAREER sive coordinator. "It's one of the keys to our defense: having people that can hold up in the middle, protect the linebackers and be able to shed and make tackles. He's also good in the pass rush as far as pushing the pocket. Hopefully he's fully recovered from his injury of last season and will have a good year for us."...Impactful defender, Green Bay in 2004 allowed nearly 40 less yards rushing per game (39.9) in his 10 regular-season contests than what the Packers gave up in the six other games without him... His presence had been similarly profound a year earlier, when he was acquired on waivers from New Orleans at mid-season...Though not a starter for the last half of the 2003 campaign, he lined up for 35-and-a-half plays per game and helped Green Bay to almost a 22-yard improvement (21.9) in its run defense after joining the team for its final eight regular-season contests...The Packers thought so highly of his half-season efforts that they signed him to a two-year contract extension, through 2005, on the eve of the '03 regular-season finale (Dec. 27, 2003)...Ironically, the Packers had ardently pursued him as an unrestricted free agent after the '01 season...With pro personnel director Reggie McKenzie stuck overnight in Memphis, unable to get directly to Jackson, Miss., the Saints made a late-night offer and stole him out from under the Packers, scrapping McKenzie's breakfast meeting where Jackson was to have signed the Green Bay contract... After a seasonand-a-half in New Orleans that was less than enjoyable for Jackson, he admitted late in 2003 that he wished he had signed with Green Bay the first time around...Waived by the Saints Nov. 3, 2003, he was claimed by the Packers the following day...Had a sack that directly led to a Green Bay touchdown in consecutive weeks late in 2003: the first occurred vs. Chicago (Dec. 7), while the second, at San Diego (Dec. 14), broke open a close game to help give the Packers a critical victory in their drive to a division title.

2004 SEASON A key contributor to the Green Bay run defense in his first full season as the starting nose tackle, he was sorely missed during a five-week injury-forced absence early in the year...Finished with 36 tackles, including one sack, plus two passes defensed...Started 10 regular-season games and was inactive for the other six contests...Also started NFC Wild Card playoff game against Minnesota...In spite of sitting out six full contests, still saw action on 38.5 percent of the Packers' defensive snaps...In his 10 games played, opponents averaged 102.4 yards rushing; in six games without him, opponents averaged 142.3 a difference of 39.9 yards...Had his leg rolled up in a group of linemen on the Panthers' third play from scrimmage in Monday night opener at Carolina (Sept. 13), dislocating his left kneecap... Was sidelined for the ensuing five games - Green Bay would go 1-4 during that stretch... Though still not at 100 percent, returned to start in victory over Dallas (Oct. 24), and his impact immediately was felt as he made four plays on the Cowboys' first two possessions...On the game's third snap, he threw FB Richie Anderson for a 1-yard loss. then on the same drive he tied up several linemen to allow Na'il Diggs to stop Eddie George for no gain... The second time Dallas had the ball, he limited George to a 1-yard gain, then cloqued up the line on the ensuing running play...In all, collected five tackles (four solo) against the Cowboys...Played Almost had signed with Green Bay as an unrestricted free agent following the 2001 season - the Packers even dispatched pro personnel director Reggie McKenzie to Mississippi with a contract in hand - but the Saints swooped in at the 11th hour to sign him. By his own admission, came to regret that decision after an unpleasant experience with New Orleans, followed by an enjoyable time in Green Bay.

 Green Bay allowed 39.9 fewer yards rushing per game when he was on the field in 2004; an average of 102.4 ypg in the 10 contests he played vs. an average of 142.3 ypg in the six contests he was inactive.

A week later in the Packers' comeback victory at Houston (Nov. 21), he contributed a pair of critical fourth-quarter plays among six tackles and one pass breakup...First, on a third-and-9 midway through the final period, he tipped a David Carr throw intended for RB Domanick Davis, making Houston punt...Later, he helped to end a possession immediately preceding the Packers' game-winning drive by chasing Carr to the right sideline on third down...Picked up his lone '04 sack when he dropped QB Donovan McNabb among three stops at Philadelphia (Dec. 5)...Posted a season-high seven tackles in victory over Detroit (Dec. 12) while leading the Packers' defensive line in stops... Packers renovate practice fields

The Packers in June 2004 installed a new playing surface on Ray Nitschke practice field. The work was the first phase of a twostage. $3 million project that has added major renovations to both outdoor practice fields, including Clarke Hinkle Field.

The two fields have undergone extensive foundation and subsurface work, including the installation of top-flight drainage systems topped off with new surfaces - Nitschke featuring FieldTurf, the leading synthetic grass field, and Hinkle featuring a new natural grass surface. The first phase, Nitschke Field, was completed in August 2004. Hinkle Field's work began in September 2004 and was completed in time for the 2005 training camp.

"Keeping our football facilities among the best in the National Football League is an ongoing priority of the Packers organization, said Packers Executive Vice President/Chief Operating Officer John Jones. "The practice field upgrades will enable our team to practice outside in more varied weather conditions. We hope it gives added flexibility to Mike Sherman and the coaching staff.

Funding the practice field improvements is another way that the organization's financial success off the field contributes to Packers football success on the field.

By utilizing FieldTurf, the same surface in the Don Hutson Center, the Packers' Indoor practice facility, the team can continue to use the field later in the season when natural grass fields typically are frozen. Head Coach Mike Sherman prefers the team to practice outside, in the elements, if at all possible to better hone the team for late-season conditions

An additional benefit of FieldTurf's durability is the ability to use Nitschke Field for other Packers-related football events, such as coaching clinics and youth football initiatives. A Hinkle Field highlight is the new drainage system, which will go a long way toward limiting the number of times the team cannot use the field due to wet conditions

"We're also excited about the work on Hinkle Field," Jones said. "In addition to helping the football team, will cut down on the number of times fans miss practice during mini-camps and training camp because the club had to move indoors.

Green Bay's unique training-camp experience

The Packers are one of a growing number of teams who do not leave their regularseason practice facility during training camp.

But other than practice, the team does use a college setting to eat, sleep and meet together, at St. Norbert College in De Pere, a 10-minute drive from Lambeau Field.

The Packers' 47-year training-camp relationship with St. Norbert, launched in 1958 by head coach Scooter McLean, is the longest in league history. The Vikings (Minnesota State-Mankato, 41 years); Steelers (St. Vincent College, Latrobe, Pa., 38 years); and N.Y. Jets (Hofstra University, Hempstead, N.Y., 37 years) are the only other teams with comparable training camp tenures. season at practice," says position coach Lionel Washington, "and did a good job as far as getting back from injuries, working hard and being able to cover receivers downfield. Last year he improved his overall coverage ability. He covered Javon Walker most of the season and did a very good job. He was able to drop his weight and come out of cuts as good as anyone I've been around. He's at a point right now that he has to continue to work hard because he knows there is a lot of competition and a lot of young guys like himself fighting for a spot on this team. He knows what it's going to take for him to get better."...Still one of the speediest players on the squad, he was widely considered, before injuries the last two seasons, the fastest player in the 2003 draft...That speed is a strength for him in an anticipated fight for the cornerback position in training camp ... "He's the complete football player if he's healthy," adds Washington. "He can be a solid player in this league. He's going to get better if he gets the repetitions and gets a feel for the game itself. He has all the physical attributes you want as a corner. He's the type of guy that you see all the talent there and you want and hope that he's going to stay healthy and be able to do the things you hope and know he can do.'

2004 SEASON Entered training camp looking to secure role on defense after knee injury cut short his promising 2003 rookie campaign...But had suffered a stress fracture during offseason workouts, rehabilitating his knee, that further hindered his return... Though he worked hard to get back on the field in time for the preseason, he ultimately ended up on the reserve/physically unable to perform list on Aug. 30, necessitating that he miss at least the first six regular-season games...Having passed his physical and returned to practice on Oct. 20, was activated to the 53-man roster on Nov. 10... Head Coach Mike Sherman nearly activated him late in the season, but instead opted for depth at other positions...Listed as inactive for Weeks 10-17 and for NFC Wild Card game vs. Minnesota (Jan. 9).

Timing and Timeouts in NFL games

- The stadium game clock is official. In case it stops or is operating incorrectly, the Line Judge takes over the official timing on the field.
- Each period is 15 minutes. The intermission between the periods is two minutes. Halftime is 12 minutes, unless otherwise specified.
- 3. On charged team time outs, the Field Judge starts watch and blows whistle after 1 minute 50 seconds, unless television does not utilize the time for commercial. In this case the length of the time out is reduced to 30 seconds.
- The Referee will allow necessary time to attend to an injured player, or repair a legal player's equipment.
- 5. Each team is allowed three time outs each half.
- Time between plays will be 40 seconds from the end of a given play until the snap of the ball for the next play, or a 25-second interval after certain administrative stoppages and game delays.
- Clock will start running when ball is snapped following all changes of team possession.
- 8. With the exception of the last two minutes of the first half and the last five minutes of the second half, the game clock will be restarted following a player going out of bounds on a play from scrimmage, or after declined penalties when appropriate on the referee's signal.
- Consecutive team time outs can be taken by opposing teams but the length of the second time out will be reduced to 30 seconds.
- 10. When, in the judgment of the Referee, the level of crowd noise prevents the offense from hearing its signals, he can institute a series of procedures which can result in a loss of team time outs or a 5-yard penalty against the defensive team.
- 11. On kickoff, clock does not start until the ball has been legally touched by player of either team in the field of play.

SUDDEN DEATH

1. The sudden death system of determining the winner shall prevail when score is tied at the end of the regulation playing time of all NFL games. The team scoring first during overtime play shall be the winner and the game automati-

- cally ends upon any score (by safety, field goal, or touchdown) or when a score is awarded by Referee for a palpably unfair act.
- 2. At the end of regulation time the Referse will immediately toss coin at center of field in accordance with rules pertaining to the usual pregame toss. The captain of the visiting team will call the toss prior to the coin being flipped.
- 3. Following a three-minute intermission after the end of the regulation game, play will be continued in 15-minute periods or until there is a score. There is a two-minute intermission between subsequent periods. The teams change goals at the start of each period. Each team has three time outs per half and all general timing provisions apply as during a regular game. Disqualified players are not allowed to return.
 - Exception: In preseason and regular-season games there shall be a maximum of 15 minutes of sudden death with two time outs instead of three. General provisions that apply for the fourth quarter will prevail. Try not attempted if touchdown scored.

FINAL TWO MINUTES, EACH HALF

- 1. A team cannot buy an excess time out for a penalty. However, a fourth time out is allowed without penalty by an or an injured player, who must be removed immediately. A fifth time out or more is allowed for an injury and a 5-yard penalty is assessed if the clock was running. Additionally, if the clock was running and the score is tied or the team in possession is losing, the ball cannot be put in play for at least 10 seconds on the fourth or more time out. The half or game can end while those 10 seconds are run off on the clock.
- If the defensive team is behind in the score and commits a foul when it has no time outs left in the final 40 seconds of either half, the offensive team can decline the penalty for the foul and have the time on the clock expire.
- Fouls that occur in the last five minutes of the fourth quarter as well as the last two minutes of the first half will result in the clock starting on the snap.

The Lombardi Sweep & its companion plays

В

Vince Lombardi was convinced that defenses had become so sophisticated that it was time for the offense to go back to the basics - to avoid frills and to carry out fundamentals well. These principles were borne out in his Green Bay sweep (A), with either Paul Hornung or Jim Taylor (31) carrying the ball, following pulling guards Fuzzy Thurston (63) and Jerry Kramer (64) in a devastating end run.

The weak-side slant (B) and the companion play it set up (C) became the heart of the Packers' offense after defenses found ways to stop the sweep. Taylor "ran to daylight" wherever he found it.

Now in his third pro campaign, powerful interior lineman looks to break through and become regular contributor to efforts in the trenches...Possesses intriguing physical skills, including great size, strength and impressive quickness...Rebounded from an injury-ended rookie campaign to get on the field in 2004 and contribute quality minutes as a backup nose tackle to Grady Jackson... Had surprised some observers with his train-his rookie year...Played in nine games, with one start, and flashed abilities that made him a fifth-round pick, before ultimately succumbing to knee injury and a premature end to his season for a second year...Goal for 2005 is to author a strong camp, win spot in rotation and play valuable role for entire season... "He's in his third year now," says position coach Robert Nunn. "That's the time when players really step up to the next level if they're able. He can be an anchor in the middle with his ability. An intriguing story, took an unconventional path to Green Bay...Didn't start, and totaled just 38 tackles, in two seasons at Oregon State, where he played on a deep and talented D-line...Plus, before he could don a Beavers practice uniform in 2001, had to clear two significant hurdles to put junior college behind him...First, sustained MCL and ACL tears to his knee in his last game at the College of the Redwoods (Eureka. Calif.)...The injury demolished his morale and kept him out of the weight room, and out of shape, that summer...Then, after taking an offer from Oregon State coach Dennis Erickson (a gritty junior-college recruiter and a key reason Lee finds himself in the NFL), was grounded by a former JC professor... The professor forgot to turn in a grade, which kept Lee without his AA degree and on the sidelines for the first 10 days of the Beavers' fall camp...When the professor turned in the grade, Lee was far behind in both physical and mental preparations (the NCAA kept him out of practice and all school facilities, including meeting and weight rooms)...U-turn came after junior year (2001) at Oregon State...Tired of subtle barbs from coaches and teammates on weight and questionable work ethic, spent offseason transforming himself...Showed up for 2002 in best shape of his life...By then, solidified as the top backup behind starters Eric Manning and Dwan Edwards (Ravens), made the most of his reserve role...Draft stock spiked at Indianapolis combine, where some scouts timed his 40 at 4.88, one of the best among defensive tackles, and faster than several linebackers...Head Coach Mike Sherman got a bonus look at him on a spring campus visit to scout OSU linebacker Nick Barnett, the Packers' eventual first-round selection...On draft day, couldn't contain ecstatic, energizing personality, and nearly hyperventilated during conference call with media shortly after his selection... Strength of schedule, Packers history

Phil Bengtson, Vince Lombardi's hand-picked replacement, might have dealt with more pressure in 1970 than anyone who's ever coached the Packers. That season, his third and final as Green Bay head coach, ended at 6-8, with losses in four of his last five games (all on the road!). What's more, Bengtson faced the toughest schedule ever thrown at the Packers. Toughest schedules in team history, based on opponent records at the end of that season:

	W	1	Pct	Packers Finish	Notable opponents
1970	113	74	.604	6-8-0, tied for third, division	Super Bowl V champion Colts (twice), NFC champion Cowboys

Quiet-but-passionate, sturdy fourth-year pro expects to compete for an important reserve role at the weak- and strong-side linebacker positions, and to continue his solid work on special teams... Though viewed largely as a special teams expert in previous seasons, last year contributed more than ever at linebacker...Started four 2004 games, including his first career start, at Carolina (Sept. 13)... "Paris brings great versatility to our team," says Mark Duffner, the Packers' linebackers coach. "He's a very bright guy. He started last year for Na'il Diggs and Hannibal Navies at both the weak PRO CAREER and strong linebacker spots, respectively. He's a real tough guy who has punch when he makes contact. His versatility has been a real asset to our defense."...In 2004, played in all 16 games with a career-best 28 tackles (17 solo)...Despite his calm locker room demeanor, is as aggressive as any of the team's defenders on the field... "He's a great competitor," says Duffner. "He works awful hard to play and I think he's come a long way from when I saw him as a senior at the University of Richmond. It's great to see a guy who works so hard achieve what he has. He's very serious about being a good football player and works very hard, in terms of preparation, during the season and offseason, to be that kind of player. He gets loud with his actions on the field."...Despite more time at linebacker in 2004, was still used as a point man on the Packers' coverage units..."He consistently gets the toughest matchups on special teams," says coordinator John Bonamego. "He's always the guy we end up matching up with whoever we think is the opponent's best player."...In 2002, with a team-leading 22 coverage tackles, enjoyed the best individual season by a Packers special teamer in 12 years, since Jackie Harris also recorded 22 in 1990... Broke his thumb in '04 season opener at Carolina (Sept. 13), then played for five games with a cast: Bonamego believes the injury was the biggest reason Lenon's 2004 coverage tackles (eight) were down...Unconventional road began after standout collegiate career, when he signed as a non-drafted free agent with Carolina in 2000...Released by the Panthers before training camp. worked for the U.S. Postal Service during that NFL season...Exchanged his postal blues for an eccentric Memphis Maniax uniform and played during the spring in the short-lived XFL...First signed with the Packers in April 2001, but was waived just days into Green Bay's training camp, then cut again by Seattle one month later...Sat out for another four months, getting only one tryout - a return to Green Bay - before re-signing with the Packers and spending the last few weeks of 2001 on the team's practice squad...Jumped at the chance to represent the Packers in NFL Europe the following sum-

2005 schedule notes

Four prime-time contests, including the maximum three Monday night games, and Christmas and New Year's Day matinees highlight the Green Bay Packers' 85th regular-season schedule.

A NATIONAL TEAM: Continuing to garner strong ratings, both locally and nationally, the Packers earned four prime-time kick-offs for the second straight season.

- ► Eight of the Packers' last nine games are expected to attract national television, Green Bay's last three games, at Battimore on Monday, Dec. 19, vs. Chicago on Christmas Day, and vs. Seattle on New Year's Day, will go out to a national audience.
- All four Packers games in November, during the traditional ratings period, will air from coast to coast, on three of the four networks.
- Disadvantages? Well, noon kickoffs, most fans' preferred starting fimes, are becoming rare. This year, there are five, and only two at home.
- In 2004, the Packers played 17 games, including postseason, and 14 were televised to the largest national audience possible.

TOUGHEST STRETCH?: It might begin Oct. 23, when Green Bay must play five of seven games on the road, including trips to Minnesota. Atlanta and Philadelphia, all 2004 playoff clubs.

- ► The bonus is Green Bay closes with three of its last four at home for the first time since 1996, the last time it won the Super Bowl.
- What's more, the Packers won't be lacking confidence. They're coming off their best road record (6-2) since 1972.
- Over a longer stretch, Green Bay has won 10 of its last 13 regular-season road contests.
- In 2004, the Packers finished with a road record (6-2) better than their home record (4-4) for the first time since 1987.
- Green Bay finished with winning records on artificial surfaces (2-1) and in indoor stadiums (3-1). That dome record matched the best mark by any previous Packers team, equaling the 3-1 record of that '96 squad.

CONSECUTIVE ROAD OPENERS: Bart Starr was the Packers' coach and Jimmy Carter was in the White House the last time Green Bay opened away from Wisconsin in consecutive seasons.

- In 1978, Green Bay also opened the year in Detroit, then followed with a 1979 opener at Chicago's Soldier Field.
- The Packers delivered an emotional win in their 2004 opener, at Carolina, a 24-14 victory on Monday Night Football.

HOME FOR THE HOLIDAYS: For the first time in their 86-year history, the Packers will play on Christmas, Dec. 25, when they host the Bears, the 171st meeting in one of the richest sports rivalries,

- One week later, the team welcomes in the New Year with Seattle, as Brett Favre will close the regular season against his former coach, Mike Holmgren. It's only the second time Green Bay has played on Jan. 1. The club won the 1966 NFL championship on the date in 1967, a 34-27 win over the Dallas Cowboys at the Cotton Bowl – 364 days before the legendary loe Bowl rematch with Dallas in Green Bay.
- ► For the first time since 1994, Christmas and New Year's fall on Sundays, causing a difficult situation for the league schedulemakers. They opted to schedule a full state of afternoon games on Christmas Eve. Dec. 24, and on New Year's Day, Jan. 1.
- ➤ To be fair, the league could not schedule the Packers with the majority of teams playing Saturday, Dec. 24, because Green Bay plays at Battimore Monday night, Dec. 19. The NFL didn't want to ask any team to play five days after a Monday night game, so it scheduled the Packers on Christmas Day, Dec. 25. Baltimore also plays Dec. 25.

FAMILIAR WITH UNFAMILIAR TERRITORY: The Packers make two more trips to new stadiums – or stadiums new to them – in 2005.

- On Oct. 30, Green Bay makes its first appearance at Cincinnati's Paul Brown Stadium, the club's first trip to that city since Sept. 20, 1998.
- ► Then, on Dec. 19, the Packers make their first regular-season appearance at Baltimore's M&T Bank Stadium. It's the first Green Bay trip to that city in 23 years, since a 1982 tie with the Colts at Memorial Stadium.
- ▶ Green Bay has won six of its last seven regular-season games playing for the first time in unfamiliar stadiums (wins at fedEx Field and Reliant Stadium in 2004, renovated Soldier Field in 2003, Ford Field, Memorial Stadium in Champaign and Gillette Stadium in 2002). The only loss in the stretch was in 2004, their regular-season debut at Philladelphia's Lincoln Financial Field.
- ➤ Over a longer regular-season stretch, the Packers have won nine of their last 12 (wins at Jacksonville in 1995, St. Louis in 1996 and Carolina in 1997, fosses at Tampa Bay in 1998, Tennessee in 2001 and Philadelphia in 2004) in unfamiliar territory.

■ Kicker — California

Born: March 10, 1973 NFL Gm. Played/Started: 128/0 Ninth NFL Season Ninth Packers Season Acquired: W-97 (SF)

In command of his game and with nerves of steel, Ryan Longwell's career rolls on in Green Bay...Now in his ninth season, his patented consistency has, for all practical purposes, become 'par for the course, to borrow a phrase from his favorite non-football pastime, golf...With the unwavering confidence of his teammates, coaches and Packers fans, he simply gets it done, and with great effectiveness...Already atop the Packers' all-time scoring list, likely will surpass 1,000 career points in season, pulling ahead of Don Hutson (1939-45) with whom he had been tied at seven...In the process he became just the third player in league history to reach the 100-point plateau each of his first eight seasons, joining the Broncos' Jason Elam (12) and the Patriots' Adam Vinatieri (nine)...According to Elias Sports Bureau, in 2004 also became the first kicker since the 1970 merger to win four games with last-minute field goals in one season... Now has nine career game-winning field goals... "The guy is money in the bank. What more can you say?" John Bonamego, the Packers' special teams coordinator, asks rhetorically, "He's a clutch performer. Last year he performed at a very high level. He was definitely worthy of a Pro Bowl trip. It's unfortunate he didn't get it."...Narrowly missed the Pro Bowl, finishing as the first alternate to the Eagles' David Akers...This past season, additionally became the Packers' career leader in field goal attempts (250) and points after touchdown (346), surpassing Chris Jacke in each category...Now holds 14 regular-season team records and is tied for eight other club marks... Has scored in a club-record 128 consecutive regular-season games (every contest of his pro career)... Has converted a team-record 153 consecutive PAT tries (currently the fourth-longest streak in the NFL)...Ranks fourth on the NFL's all-time list for field goal accuracy (min. 100 made); his 82.4 percent conversion rate leaves him behind only the Colts' Mike Vanderjagt (87.0), the Eagles' David Akers (83.2) and the Ravens' Matt Stover (82.1)...Leads the NFL in points scored (964) since he came into the league in 1997, just ahead of Elam (963)...Considering half his games are in the challenging conditions of Lambeau Field, maintains his excellent field goal rate at home, 84.1 percent (106/126) - substantially better than opponent kickers in the stadium since '97, 73.4 percent, (80/109)...Even more impressive is his performance in home games Dec. 1 and later (including playoffs), connecting at an 84.4 percent clip (38/45) while his opponents have converted just 68.0 percent (17/25)...Enters 2005 with an active streak of 12 consecutive games with a field goal, two shy of his own club record (14, from 1997-98)..."He understands how surface and climate affect his ball," explains Bonamego. "He knows how to play the elements to his advantage and, more importantly, how it is going to limit him on any given day. His technique and mental toughness enable him to do that and perform at an exceptionally high level."...Made adjustments to weekly regimen late in 2001, limiting his kicks in practice and working outside in the elements when the team is typically inside the Don Hutson Center: a successful endeavor, has converted 85.2 percent of his attempts

three seasons past

- ► Already the Packers' all-time leading scorer, needs 36 points for 1,000.
- Also ranks first in team history with 206 career field goals.
- In 2004, became the only NFL kicker since the 1970 AFL-NFL merger at a glance... to make four game-winning field goals in the final minute of the fourth quarter in one season. Now has nine career game-winning field goals.

Stands as the fourth-most accurate field goal specialist in NFL history at 82.4 percent (206/250).

- In tricky Lambeau Field, owns 84.1 percent field goal conversion rate (106/126); opponents since 1997 are only 80 of 109 (73.4 percent). In home games Dec. 1 and later (including playoffs), he is 38 of 45 (84.4 percent), while opponents are 17 of 25 (68.0 percent)
- An avid golfer, probably the best on the team, the kicker's current USGA handicap card lists his index at 0.07, down from 0.5 last year. Also played in three Canadian Tour events on a Golf Channel exemption.
- Active in the community in many areas, he and his wife, Sarah, serve as honorary chairpersons for Cerebral Palsy, Inc., in Green Bay.

(75/88)...While his scoring accomplishments are readily evident, other talents are less pronounced, but equally valuable..."His kickoff skills are great," notes Bonamego, "He does a great job with placement and moving the ball around, which is an important part of our game. He kicks off with precision and does well with the conditions late in the year. The other thing he does better than anyone I've been around or seen is disguises his intentions very well. It's hard to get a lead on where he's going with the ball. A lot of kickers, if you study them on film, you can tell where they're going with the ball based on their alignment of where they tee it up. Ryan doesn't give you that, which is a great advan-SCO

Was named NFC 'Special Teams Player of the Month' for both October and December, and 'Special Teams Player of the Week' once... Successful despite kicking at Lambeau Field

What makes Longwell so impressive is not how he kicks, but where he kicks. At Lambeau Field, the league's toughest venue, weather hounds kickers even early in the season, when challenging wind and rain like to make themselves at home. Then, temperatures plunge late in the year, such as 2004, when he had to kick a game-winning field goal on arduous footing against Detroit (left). One can only guess how high Longwell's field-goal percentage would stand had he spent his career kicking in much more favorable environments.

Franchise rushing and passing records in consecutive seasons

Using virtually the same personnel, the Packers under the leadership of Head Coach Mike Sherman and offensive coordinator Torn Rossley have recorded an impressive feat over the last two seasons.

Green Bay, which in 1921 played its first season in what is now the NFL, set a single-season record with 2,558 rushing yards in 2003. One year later, in 2004, the Packers established their single-season record with 6,357 net passing yards.

According to Elias Sports Bureau, the Packers are the first NFL team to set franchise records for rushing yards and passing yards in back-to-back seasons since the 1988-1989 49ers, a franchise that began NFL play in 1950, nearly 30 years after Green Bay entered the leadure.

San Francisco set a franchise record for rushing yards in 1988 and for passing yards in 1989.

Elias in its research did not include any of the leams that have entered the NFL via expansion since 1988.

Then, he made two great catches during the middle of the year, at Washington and against Minnesota, but all of a sudden his season ended."...In 2004, had returned to role as the primary backup to three-time Pro Bowl pick Bubba Franks at tight end after sharing the No. 2 job with 15-year veteran Wesley Walls in '03 - before the team placed him on injured reserve with a knee injury...Philbin hopes Martin can jump back into a valuable role in the Packers' offense..."I hope he can pick up right where he left off," the coach adds, "and give us more of that big-play ability. Lambeau's famous playing surface

In the middle of the 1999 season, Ron Wolf gained approval to give Lambeau its current surface, replacing the former 'Sportgrass' foundation. The Packers' field crew worked feverishly for two weeks to replace the field before former head coach Mike Holmgren returned with his Seattle Seahawks for a Monday night contest, Nov. 1, 1999. A closer look at the four-level surface:

- ▶ A natural-grass surface of 2½ inches of sand-based sod (Kentucky Bluegrass field).
- Immediately below it stands 3-5 inches of soil. Throughout the soil there are 8-inch deep holes filled with sand to facilitate water drainage through that layer, helping to prevent a soggy field after rain or snow. The crew used 110 tons of sand to fill these holes,
- ▶ Underneath the soil lies 10 inches of sand; at the bottom of the layer, more than 30 miles of radiant heating pipe, capable of maintaining a root-zone temperature of more than 60 degrees, keeps the field from freezing during the winter.
- ▶ At the bottom is the foundation, a 4-inch base of pea gravel.

The grass surface was grown at Tuckahoe Turf Farms in New Jersey and trucked to Green Bay. Tuckahoe also supplies the field grass for Cleveland Browns Stadium, the Pittsburgh Steelers' Heinz Field and Philadelphia's Lincoln Financial Field.

In the future, Packers fields manager Allen Johnson hopes to replace the second layer (the soil) with all sand. This change would provide the root zone more pore space which will help both drainage and increase the amount of oxygen, which, in turn, pro-

Sand is an essential element to the field crew in the process to create the ideal Lambeau Field. In addition to the 110 tons of sand to fill the 8-inch deep holes in the second layer, 135 tons of sand were used to topdress the field. When laid out over Lambeau Field this comes out to 3/8 of an inch.

Potential-filled tight end prospect, spent two stints on the Packers' active roster during the '04 season...Primarily a fullback in college, is still learning the tight end position... "Sean has a tremendous work ethic and a real high capacity to learn," says position coach Joe Philbin. "He's real coachable, and on the field he's PRO very tough and physical. He's a very good blocker at the point of attack and develop-CAREER ing into a better receiver every day because he's starting to understand how to get open and how to run routes down the field. He's still developing his skills and it's taking some time, but because of his hard work and his attitude he's making a lot of progress."...Joined the Packers one week before the 2004 season opener. missing out on training camp, but his strong learning skills made him functional upon arrival... "When he arrived he had no background in our offense, and with the season on top of us we did not have a lot of time to go back to square one and train him from A to Z," continues Philbin. "The thing I like about him is that he's a smart guy and you can tell him something one time and he's going to work hard to get it right. Right now he needs more experience, more repetitions and more opportunities. He has skills that separate him from the rest of the roster, but he needs to excel in certain areas in order to be a contributing member of this ball club."

- Three of Green Bay's 11 starters, and four of its 16 overall players in its first official game had played at Notre Dame. More than 80 years later, no other college has produced more Packers players (50, including Tony Fisher in 2003).
- Lambeau, credited with pioneering and evolving forward pass in NFL, adopted some philosophy from Rockne, who'd introduced the pass earlier at collegiate level.
- Lambeau also coached at East High School from 1919-21, and sent one of his prep stars, halfback Jimmy Crowley, to South Bend. Crowley, one of the Four Horsemen, returned and played for Packers in 1925 before entering coaching.
- ▶ Crowley coached at Fordham, where one of his linemen was Vince Lombardi, one of the Seven Blocks of Granite.
- George Strickler, Green Bay's publicity director from 1947-49, previously worked at Notre Dame (he once placed the Four Horsemen on horses for a photo shoot).
- After the 1921 season, the Packers used two active Notre Dame players in a non-league game against the Chicago Supremes; the league made an example of the Packers, and revoked the franchise (Lambeau reapplied successfully in 1922).
- ▶ Green Bay has drafted 27 players from Notre Dame, including Heisman winner Paul Hornung (first overall) in 1957.
- ▶ Jack Vainisi, credited with providing key scouting reports on pro and college players that stocked most of Lombardi's teams, played at Notre Dame. A congenital heart problem cut short his playing career, but he stayed in South Bend as a football manager, making several contacts at college level. Gene Ronzani knew those contacts would be of great value when he brought Vainisi to Green Bay.
- Dan Devine left the Packers in 1974 to coach at Notre Dame, where he won the 1977 national championship.

Fourth NFL Season Fourth Packers Season Acquired: D5b-02

Quarterback — Northwestern (La.) State

Having proved himself to be a capable NFL backup quarterback a year ago, this season looks to solidify his spot as first in line behind all-time great Brett Favre...Will do so in the face of two fresh challenges: first-round choice

Aaron Rodgers, taken 24th overall this past April though regarded as a top-five pick by some analysts, and J.T. O'Sullivan, who enters this year with a whole offseason of work behind him after being acquired in a trade with New Orleans last October...Conquering such adversity is nothing new for the soft-spoken Louisiana native. already having turned away past tests from Akili Smith and Tim Couch - two of the top three picks in the 1999 NFL Draft - during his first three seasons in the league...Spent two-plus years as PRO CAREER Green Bay's No. 3 quarterback before ascending to the No. 2 spot in Week 5 of last season after Doug Pederson suffered a season-ending injury...With Pederson having chosen to retire from the NFL this past March, Nall enters 2005 as the Packers' incumbent backup QB ... "I think Craig has been behind the eight-ball the whole time he's been here," says Green Bay quarterbacks coach Darrell Bevell. "As the No. 3 guy, you're always trying to bring in guys to beat out that No. 3 guy. He's taken on all comers, and he's beaten them out, whether it was Akili Smith, Tim Couch, whoever it was. I was very pleased with how he handled himself last year. To start the season as a No. 3. and then for the team to have an injury that elevated him to No. 2, he handled that situation very well. From there, all you can do is work with the opportunities you get. It doesn't matter if it's a mop-up role - you play for a half and you're behind the whole game - you make the most of it, and he's done that."... Has patiently done everything coaches have asked of him... "If we've asked him to stay up here, he's stayed," Bevell explains. "If we've asked him to get his weight down, he's gotten his weight down. Whatever it's been - change his grip, change his throwing motion, anything - he's been willing to do it."

ossesses the requisite size, intelligence and arm strength to play in the NFL...Also has large hands, which are an asset in gripping the ball in cold-weather games...Spent a highly productive season in NFL Europe, leading the league in yards passing, touchdown passes and passer rating while playing for the Scottish Claymores in 2003... Also was chosen as the quarterback on the All-NFL Europe team that year...Time in NFLE helped to offset one of his liabilities coming out of college, a lack of measurable game experience..."I think Craig's biggest hurdle still is his consistency," Bevell continues. "When I say consistency, I mean just accurately throwing the ball. He can't hit two good ones in a row, then miss two. You've got to make every pass count when you get that chance. I think he's a very smart guy and has done a good job of picking things up. I think he knows where to go with the ball and makes good decisions overall. And, one of the things I've always liked about Craig, beside the fact that he's a great leader, is he's got a great temperament - he's an even-keeled guy, doesn't get too excited, doesn't get too down. That doesn't mean he doesn't show excitement when we do something well or throw for a touchdown, but it's similar to Brett, where Brett's an even-keeled guy even though he's showing emotion."... Essentially served as the "starting" quarterback this past offseason, after Mike Sherman chose to keep Favre in Mississippi during mini-camp and organized team activities...Also spent a portion of the offseason attempting to master another football skill, holding for extra points and field goals, with neither of last year's holders, Pederson and Bryan Barker, likely to be with the team in 2005...Did not get much experience as a holder while a collegiate player, having suffered a season-ending broken thumb in 2000 when he was struck by a low snap in pre-game warm-ups..."I think having Aaron (Rodgers) and J.T. (O'Sullivan) here this year is a challenge for him." adds Bevell, "It's a challenge to show that he still belongs, whether that's as the No. 2 guy or as the No. 3 guy. He's fighting to hold the No. 2 and, if not that, then the No. 3."... As a draft-eligible player in April 2002, he was the epitome of a sleeper... Was rarely the subject of scouts' conversations in the fall of 2001 and drew noticeable draft interest from only two other teams - the Giants and Redskins - simply because he had played only one full collegiate season and subsequently was not invited to any postseason all-star games or the pre-draft scouting combine...Spent first four collegiate years (including redshirt season) in quarterback logjam at Louisiana State before transferring to Northwestern (La.) State for 2001 campaign... Move put him less than 150 miles from the home of Packers scout Alonzo Highsmith, who saw five 2001 NSU games, then convinced Green Bay at February meetings to "have a look at this kid"...Getting his first impression of Nall on film only months before the draft, Green Bay offensive coordinator Tom Rossley immediately recognized his quick release and footwork...Then, in mid-April, Rossley took some crisp, new footballs and traveled to see Nall, judge his arm strength (very difficult to evaluate on film) and, ultimately, to confirm that Nall would fit into the Packers' system...Video of workout sold the Packers' personnel staff, including Sherman, who had helped to recruit Nall out of high school in '96 while Sherman was a coach at Texas A&M...Based in part on his low interception percentage, Green Bay rated Nall as a fourthround draft pick in a group of players below firstrounders David Carr and Joey Harrington, and then chose him on his 23rd birthday.

2004 SEASON Took over instrume of the packers' primary backup quarter-Took over first-time role as the back in Week 5 after Favre's long-time understudy, Pederson, incurred a season-ending rib/back injury...Went on to play in five games, completing 23 of 33 passes (69.7 percent) for 314 yards and four touchdowns with zero interceptions, for a passer rating of 139.4; his 33 attempts were the most ever by a Green Bay quarterback in a season without an INT...Dressed but did not play in eight regular-season contests and was inactive for the other three games... Also was a DNP for NFC Wild Card playoff meeting with Minnesota (Jan. 9)...Received his most extensive NFL playing time in regular-season finale at Chicago (Jan. 2) with the Packers already having clinched the NFC North title and no chance to better their seed in the playoffs...Entered Bears contest against a No. 1 defense six minutes into the second quarter, and finished 7 of 13 for 131 yards and one touchdown...Led Green Bay to a touchdown on his initial possession in win over Chicago, culminating the efficient five-play, 71-yard drive with a 25-yard pass to Javon Walker at the back of the end zone; had executed a tough, 27-yard throw to Ben Steele two plays earlier...Earlier, had been pressed into action vs. the N.Y. Giants (Oct. 3) on what turned out to be the last play of the game, taking the place of Pederson, who was unable to continue with the rib/back injury; connected with Robert Ferguson on a 24-yard pass (Nall's first NFL completion), though Ferguson could not get out of bounds and, with no timeouts remaining, time ran out before the Packers could stop the clock...Having been inactive as the third quarterback for each of the first three games, the brief stint against New York marked only the second game action of his NFL career (also 2003 at Oakland)...The No. 2 signal caller with Pederson out for the year, saw his first extended playing time eight days later vs. Tennessee (Oct. 11), going in late in blowout loss...Closed out Titans contest with a 7 of 8 passing performance, for 64 yards, including his initial NFL scoring throw (1 yard to Walker), for a passer rating of 139.6... All seven of his completions came on the game's final drive, with four passes covering 10-or-more yards...Also received substantial playing time at Philadelphia (Dec. 5), relieving Favre at the start of the fourth period with victory out of reach... Hit on eight of 11 passes for 95 yards and a pair of scores, a 138.3 passer rating, against the Eagles; found William Henderson for a 1-yard TD (the Packers' first of the game), then drove Green Bay 84 yards on its final scoring drive, capped by a 17-yard completion to Walker...Knelt down with the final two snaps of victory over Dallas (Oct. 24)... Dressed but did not play in regular-season games at Detroit (Oct. 15), at Washington (Oct. 31), vs. Minnesota (Nov. 14), at Houston (Nov. 21), against St. Louis (Nov. 29), vs. Detroit (Dec. 12), against Jacksonville (Dec. 19) and at Minnesota (Dec. 24)...Though sidelined for the first two weeks of training camp, had been able to hold off challengers Couch and Scott McBrien to hang onto the No. 3 quarterback spot...Suffered a right hamstring strain on the first day of full-squad workouts (Aug. 2)...Returned to practice on a limited basis Aug. 11 but sat out the first two preseason games.

2003 Spent a second straight season as Green Bay's No. 3 quarterback...Was inactive for 15 regular-season games, plus both playoff contests...Made NFL debut when he closed out Monday night victory at Oakland (Dec. 22) by taking the final two snaps and kneeling down...Was credited with two rushing attempts for minus-2 yards...Had turned back a training camp challenge from Smith, completing 27 of 52 passes (51.9 percent) for 317 yards and no touchdowns, with two interceptions, for a preseason rating of 54.7.

NFL EUROPE Started all 10 games for the Scottish Claymores in 2003...Guiding league-leading offense, he paced all quarterbacks in touchdown passes (18) and passer rating (95.9)...Was named as the quarterback on the All-NFL Europe team...Completed 58.5 percent of his passes (151 of 258) and threw seven interceptions, but had only one INT in the final four games, a span in which the Claymores were 4-0...In Week 8 against the Amsterdam Admirals (May 24), completed 22 of 31 passes for 313 vards and three touchdowns to win NFLE 'Offensive Player of the Week' honors...In Week 9, had a perfect 158.3 quarterback rating against the Barcelona Dragons (May 31), completing 14 of 16 passes for 207 yards and three TDs...Scotland finished in a three-way tie for the league's best record, but trailed the Frankfurt Galaxy and Rhein Fire in both tiebreakers.

Served as the Packers' No. 3 quarterback...Was inactive for all 16 regular-season games as well as playoff contest with Atlanta (Jan. 4)...Had finished the preseason with a flourish after early accuracy troubles, ending non-league play with an 80.8 passer rating (20 of 45 for 290 yards and two touchdowns — with no interceptions)...Orchestrated game-winning drive in preseason finale vs. Tennessee (Aug. 30)...Became the Packers' first drafted rookie OB on an opening day roster since Aaron Brooks in 1999...Was the second of two fifth-round draft choices by Green Bay (164th overall and 10th quarterback) in 2002.

COLLEGE Started only season at Northwestern (La.) State (2001) after transferring from Louisiana State...Lettered three times at LSU (1998-2000) after redshirting in 1997... Most memorable collegiate contest occurred as redshirt freshman late in '98; came off bench without warning at Notre Dame and led LSU on fierce comeback bid, in losing cause...Two starts at LSU were in bookend fashion, the last game on '98 schedule and first contest on '99 slate... However, that '99 opener, which came after he beat out teammates Josh Booty and Rohan Davey in heated preseason competition, was first step toward eventual transfer to NSU...Benched at halftime, didn't start another Tigers game, quickly falling behind Booty, a more popular Louisiana product... Kept level head, and even volunteered to play receiver when injuries depleted posi-tion...Last run of bad luck at LSU came, ironically, before game at Florida against Steve Spurrier, who had offered him a scholarship in high school; holding for placements in pre-game warm-ups, fielded low snap and kicker's foot broke his thumb, ending his 2000 campaign... Over the 1998-2000 seasons, had 35 completions in 79 attempts for 431 yards and no touchdowns, with four interceptions, in 17 career games at LSU (two starts)...Frustrated, feeling he was as good as some of the other top collegiate QBs, his own outlook spiked after that season when he transferred to Northwestern State...Beat out returning Demons starter and finally got first extended playing time as a collegian... Answered opportunity by establishing single-season school passing record (2,022 yards), leading NSU to Division I-AA playoffs and earning Southland Conference 'Newcomer of the Year' honors...Completed 142 of 250 attempts (56.8 percent) during the regular season, for 2,022 yards and 11 touchdowns with three interceptions, in nine games...Threw for 339 yards on 24 of 46 passing, with one TD, in Division I-AA playoff loss at Montana, the eventual national champion... Also threw the javelin in college and finished 14th for NSU at the 2001 NCAA Championships after taking second at '01 Southland Conference meet (227-11)...At LSU, had come in 16th at the 2000 NCAA Championships...Personal best (229-6) was good for third at the 2000 Southeastern

The NFL's third-quarterback rule

Provided that a club has two quarterbacks on its 45-player Active List, a third quarterback from its Inactive List is permitted to dress for the game, but if he enters the game during the first three quarters, the other two quarterbacks are thereafter prohibited from playing.

Teams can insert any of their three quarierbacks at any time, regardless of injury or depth-chart order (first string, second string, etc.). However, if the deactivated quarterback, i.e., the 46th player, enters in the first three quarters, neither of the other two quarterbacks can return to the game. If the deactivated quarterback enters in the fourth quarter or overtime, the other two quarterbacks can return.

Packers in Dallas Morning News Special Teams Standings

In just two years (2003-04) as special teams coordinator, John Bonamego has led the Packers to consecutive Top 10 finishes in Rick Gosselli's annual Daties Morning News rankings, which objectively grades teams by their rankings in 21 kicking-game categories, Green Bay finished eighth in 2003 and night in 2004.

Gosselin suggests quality special teams give clubs an edge in a parity-driven league. Convincing evidence: Only one team has finished in the Top 10 each year since 2000: Philadelphia, which owns the league's best record (59-21) in the span. Also, six of the last eight Super Bowl champions finished in the Top 10.

A closer look at the Packers' history in the standings:

Punter — Ohio State

With a season of wat and learning from 15-yea Bryan Barker, again vie become the resident pun

With a season of watching and learning from 15-year pro Bryan Barker, again vies to become the resident punter... The nation's top punter in 2003 at Ohio State, was drafted by the Packers in the third round last year...Inconsistent in the team's '04 preseason, he never seemed to win the coaching staff's confidence...Was kept on the Packers' roster throughout the 2004 season in the typically fluid 53rd spot..."B.J. came in here last year with a lot of very high expectations, as would be expected when a punter is drafted that high," says Packers special teams coordinator John Bonamego. "No matter how much pressure a kid's been under in college, it doesn't compare to the pressure and scrutiny he's going to be under when he gets to this arena. Then, he got off to a bad start, and I think that affected him. I'm not sure it ever affected the confidence he had in himself. However, I think it may have affected our confidence in him. We've worked hard at refining his technique and getting former. I think he's matured a lot over the past year. It's been a humbling experience here. but I think he's reacted the right way to it. In spite of all that, I still think he was hands-down the best punter in the draft last year."...Had overcome similar adversity during in college, including the loss of his job ... A leftfooted punter, which could prove valuable in Green Bay's inclement weather, has a proven track record of good hang time and effectively placing the ball deep in opposition territory...Landed 39 'Inside the 20' in 2003 at OSU, including 18 inside the 10-yard line and six inside the 5...Also led the Big Ten Conference and ranked fourth nationally that year with a 41.0-yard net average..."The thing that he can do is he can place the ball directionally, right or left," Bonamego continues. "He's got very good touch going in, keeping the ball out of the end zone and on the field of play or out of bounds in plus territory. He has a good leg - he's not the strongest guy I've been around, but his leg is strong enough. I think his leg strength also is something that will continue to develop as he's still a young man. B.J. is what I would call a pop-up punter; he's going to give us hang time rather than distance. He compares favorably to a Dan Stryzinski, who punted very successfully in this league for a lot of years - more of a hang-time and placement punter. Besides improving his consistency, one thing we've tried to work on is getting him to drive the ball more, like when there are windy conditions."...Allocated to NFL Europe in 2005 and assigned to Hamburg, went on to lead NFLE in net average (36.6 yards), highest percentage of punts 'Inside the 20' (40.0) and fewest touchbacks (one)..."In Europe, I see B.J. as having got what he needed, which was game experience," adds Bonamego. "He had a lot of pressure on him last year as a high draft pick. He had a poor outing in the Family Night scrimmage - a lot was made out of that - then the first couple of preseason games weren't great, and I think the pressure just continued to mount. If he hadn't gone over to Europe, I can't imagine how high the pressure would have been on him through the offseason until he punted in the first preseason game of this year. I think NFLE helped him because he had a chance to go out and punt in game conditions against good competition. And he performed well."...Endeavors to become 1999 and first lefty for more than one game since Joe Prokop in 1985 (Hanson was released after the '99 season opener; Prokop was the Green Bay punter for the first nine games in '85)...Of 19 Packers players who solely punted, only four have kicked with their left foot (Randy Walker 1974, Bucky Scribner 1983-84, Prokop 1985 and Hanson 1999)... Was the 12th punter ever drafted by Green Bay and the first since Josh Bidwell in 1999 (fourth round, 133rd overall)...Only Ray Stachowicz - picked in the third round (62nd overall) in 1981 - was chosen higher... Was the first punter picked in the third round or above since the Giants took Brad Maynard in the third round (95th overall) in 1997...The last punter taken that high (87th overall) was Todd Sauerbrun, who went 56th (second round) to Chicago in 1995...Additionally has tangible experience as a holder for placements - in 2005 with Hamburg and in 2003 at Ohio State - and was a backup QB the final two years of his

NFL Gm. Played/Started: 66/64

Sixth NFL Season Sixth Packers Season Acquired: D7a-00

Now in his sixth NFL season. popular home-state hero returns to his status as one of the pro game's elite right tackles...Powerful and agile. spent the past two seasons regaining top form after a 2002 knee injury...Celebrated his 50th NFL start last season, a fine accomplishment for the former Wisconsin Badger who entered the league as a seventh-round draft pick in 2000... "He's been a starter since he arrived here, and that's no small feat," says Packers offensive line coach Larry Beightol, "He's a better athlete than he's given credit. He's smart, a fine technician and a terrific competitor."...With his line mates, paved the way for the NFL's third-ranked offense in 2004, including team records for total first downs consummate professional who consistently performs at a high level, Head Coach Mike Sherman has described him as a player who rises to every occasion, a sentiment that Tauscher regularly embodied last season as he shut down some of the league's top defensive ends, including Michael Strahan, Leonard Little and Jevon Kearse..."It doesn't matter against whom he lines up, he measures up," continues Beightol. "He did more than hold his own against some of the NFL's best pass rushers last season. We don't give him a lot of help. His job is to keep the edges clean, and he does it. He's really a good football player and does what it takes to win the battle, so the team can win the war."...His 2002 knee injury mainly a distant memory now, he made a gradual training camp return in '03 and followed a mostly regular regimen in '04 to reach his current level of play... A valued player, his immediate success as a starter and subsequent strong recovery from injury is largely attributed, according to Beightol, to his desire..."You know, we never could look into a guy's chest to see how big his heart was - and he's a guy with a big heart."... Though primarily a tackle, has the versatility to also play guard, which he was called upon to do for the first time as a pro late in the 2001 season, then again early in 2003 and for a brief time in 2004...The football fates initially provided the Wisconsin native with an instant opportunity when he was called upon to start the Packers' first three preseason games as a rookie in 2000 after back problems sidelined veteran right tackle Earl Dotson...He soon found himself again in that role when Dotson went down with a year-ending back injury on the second offensive play of a game at Buffalo in Week 2... Proceeded from there to make a profound impression on the Packers' coaching staff, playing so well over the course of the season that he was accorded NFL all-rookie honors...Joined fellow rookie Chad Clifton in the starting lineup during the 2000 season to give the Packers their first pair of rookie starting offensive tackles in 48 years; not since rookies Tom Johnson and Bob Dees had opened at tackle Nov. 16, 1952, at the New York Giants had it occurred for Green Bay... Packers' confidence in him was further documented when he was signed to a six-year contract extension, through the 2008 season, on Nov. 27, 2002, while on injured reserve.

(354), net yards (6,357), net yards PRO CAREER passing (4,449), completions (382) and fewest sacks allowed (14)...A

- Name is pronounced TAU-sher. Successfully returned from a 2002 knee injury to start all 16 games in 2003 and '04.
- Played five games at guard in 2001, then appeared briefly at the position each of the past two seasons.
- Holds a master's degree in educational administration and continues his graduate studies through UW-Madison; spent five weeks this past offseason in England, his research including work on the re-election campaigns of two British Parliament members as well as teaching a portion of an American Studies course at Dulwich College.
- This year established the 'Trifecta Foundation,' an acronym for Tauscher's Reading Initiative For Every Child To Achieve, its mission to benefit literacy and education in Wisconsin.
- Participating in a fundraising campaign this season for St. Joseph's Hospital in Marshfield, Wis., a Children's Miracle Network hospital: if the hospital receives pledges of $25,000 or more. Tauscher will cut his trademark long hair after the season, with donors having the chance to be randomly chosen to take part in the cutting ceremony.

2004 SEASON Started all 16 regular-season games for the second straight year and the third time as a professional...Played for all but two of the team's 1,094 offensive snaps...Also started NFC Wild Card playoff against Minnesota (Jan. 9)...Helped the Packers to 152 yards on the ground in the season opener at Carolina (Sept. 13), going up against Panthers' stellar defensive front...Along with 2002 draft classmate Clifton, made his 50th NFL start vs. Chicago (Sept. 19)...Virtually shut down Giants defensive end Michael Strahan (Oct. 3), holding him without a sack...Helped Green Bay to 157 yards rushing in win at Detroit (Oct. 17), called upon to move to right guard for two plays early in the fourth quarter after an arm laceration sidelined starter Marco Rivera... Against Dallas (Oct. 24), helped team to 220 yards rushing and 486 yards of total offense...Contributed along an offensive line that

That line enjoyed its best season from a pass-protection standpoint in 2004, despite placing starting Pro Bowl center Mike Flanagan on injured reserve after just three weeks. Green Bay gets Flanagan back, though, along with sixth-year starting tackles Chad Clifton and Mark Tauscher.

Clifton and Tauscher were pillars last season, when the Packers tied for the NFL lead and established a franchise record for fewest sacks allowed in any season. Before 2004, the single-season record was 17, established by the 1972 and '74 offenses in 14-game campaigns. The previous record for a 16-game season was 19, set in 2003. NFL leaders in 2004:

- Green Bay Indianapolis
- 15 Denver

- San Diego
- New England
 - Oakland
- Cincinnati N.Y. Jets
- Jacksonville Kansas City

helped gain 206 yards on the ground vs. Minnesota

Nov. 14); on Green Bay's final offensive play, opened a hole for Ahman Green, who barreled ahead for 7 yards, setting up a 33-yard Ryan Longwell field goal to win the game...At Houston (Nov 21), aided the offensive line in providing excellent pass protection for Brett Favre's 383 yards passing, including no sacks allowed...Helped the Packers to a season-high 231 rushing yards in Monday night victory over St. Louis (Nov. 29)...Combined with Kevin Barry to seal defenders inside and spring Najeh Davenport on his 40-yard scoring run in Rams contest; also kept Rams Pro Bowl DE Leonard Little without a pressure...Held Eagles DE Jevon Kearse without a tackle at Philadelphia (Dec. 5)... In rematch win over Detroit (Dec. 12), was part of a line that opened holes for 116 rushing yards and allowed only one sack to an outstanding Lions front four...In division-clinching triumph at Minnesota (Dec. 24), blocked Vikings DE Kenny Mixon to the outside on Davenport's 11-yard run in the first quarter, allowing Davenport to make his initial burst; also provided solid protection for Favre's 363 yards passing...Moved inside to right guard during the fourth quarter of regular-season finale at Chicago (Jan. 2). replacing starter Rivera, who was resting his knees.

The Packers' starter at right tackle for the fourth straight year, made a successful return from the knee injury that had taken away most of his 2002 season... Started all 16 games for the second time in his pro career (also 2001)... Also started both playoff contests...Played all but six snaps during the regular season, vielding to Barry for the final half-dozen plays in 41-7, Monday night victory over Oakland (Dec. 22); otherwise, was in for the other 1,025 offensive snaps...Had returned gradually from his injury, as a rule practicing only once a day early in training camp and not seeing game action until the third preseason game, at Cleveland (Aug. 15)...Helped Packers to single-season franchise records for yards rushing (2,558) and yards per carry (5.05), including 1,883 yards by Green to break Jim Taylor's 41-year-old team rushing mark; the 2,558 rushing yards ranked third in the NFL, behind only Baltimore (2,669) and Denver (2,629)... Was part of an offensive line that allowed only 19 sacks - tied (with Indianapolis) for the second-fewest in the NFL in '03 and (then) a franchise low for a 16-game season... Was personally responsible for four pressures and 11/2 sacks, according to Beightol...Included in the Packers' low sack number was a (then) team-record six games without a sack (statistic kept since 1963), including three consecutive contests (Sept. 14-21-29) with zero sacks for the first time in franchise history...Played a big part in November stretch when Green Bay rushed for 190-or-more yards in four straight games,.. Cleared hole for critical fourthdown conversion on game-winning, fourth-quarter drive at Tampa Bay (Nov. 16), taking out Bucs LB Nate Webster on Davenport's 5-yard run to the Tampa Bay 11; Green Bay scored a TD three plays later for the contest's final points in 20-13 triumph...Blocked down to help launch Green's franchise-record 98-yard TD run in finale with Denver (Dec. 28)...Played some snaps at right guard early in the year (Barry assuming the right tackle spot) with Rivera's durability limited as he returned from a preseason medial collateral sprain.

2002 Suffered a season-ending knee injury in Week 2 at New Orleans (Sept. 15), when Saints line-backer Charlie Clemons rolled into him during a sack late in the second quarter...Initially diagnosed as having a sprained medial collateral ligament in his left knee, along with possible cartilage damage, a 75 percent tear of the anterior cruciate ligament was revealed during arthroscopic surgery Sept. 17...Placed on injured reserve

Sept. 18, he subsequently underwent surgery to repair the ACL Oct. 11...Had played in 34 consecutive regularseason games to open his professional career, including 32 straight starts – a streak that ended without him in the lineup at Detroit (Sept. 22).

Served as the Packers' starter at right tackle for a second straight season...Remaining consistent in training camp, was able to weather the effort of previous starter Dotson to reclaim his job, and start all 16 regular-season games for the first time as a professional...Also opened in both of the team's playoff contests...Was named to the All-Pro team of the Dallas Morning News...Along the way, was a key factor in Green Bay allowing the third-fewest sacks in the league (22) and the fewest by a Packer team in 27 years (17 in 1974)...Did not incur a single holding penalty throughout the season... Helped the Green and Gold to amass 179 yards rushing in season opener vs. Detroit (Sept. 9)...With usual starter Rivera hampered by a broken hand, he was moved inside and played at right guard during the second and fourth quarters of the season's final five games - vs. Chicago (Dec. 9), at Tennessee (Dec. 16), against Cleveland (Dec. 23), vs. Minnesota (Dec. 30) and at the N.Y. Giants (Jan. 6) - the first action of his pro career at right guard...Helped Green Bay to rush for a season-best 222 yards in the Browns contest...Later, picked off Strahan on Green's 25-yard scoring run in the first quarter of the 34-25 win at New York (Jan. 6)...Threw an important block to help Green get into the end zone on his game-clinching, 9-yard TD run with 1:55 remaining in 25-15, NFC Wild Card victory over San Francisco (Jan. 13).

Started the Packers' final 14 games at right tackle after the incumbent, Dotson, reherniated a disk in his back in Week 2, at Buffalo (Sept. 10)...Played virtually the entire Bills contest after

Dotson was forced out on the second play from scrimmage...Made his first NFL start the next week vs. Philadelphia (Sept. 17)...Having seen special teams duty in the season opener, played in all 16 games as a rookie...Was named to the all-rookie team of Football News...Helped the Packers to average better than 100 yards rushing per game (102.7) for the first time since their last Super Bowl season (1997)...Stymied the formidable Reggie White in Monday night game at Carolina (Nov. 27), holding him without a tackle or sack...With Clifton, formed Green Bay's first pair of starting rookie offensive tackles in 48 years (since Tom Johnson-Bob Dees, Nov. 16, 1952, at N.Y. Giants); the union first occurred when Clifton entered the lineup vs. San Francisco (Oct. 15)...Was the first of five seventh-round draft choices (224th overall) by Green Bay in 2000.

COLLEGE Was one-year starter (1999) and twotime letter winner (1998-99) for Wisconsin...Showed remarkable improvement and perseverance over his college career, making the team as a walk-on in 1995 and playing little for two straight seasons (1996-97) before contributing substantially his final two years, including a starting assignment as a senior...Was invited to both the Hula Bowl and East-West Shrine Game, the only 1999 Badger to appear in two postseason all-star contests... Twice was selected to the Academic All-Big Ten team (1998-99)...Was a member of two straight Big Ten and Rose Bowl championship teams (1998-99)...Took over as the starter at right tackle in 1999, replacing the graduated Aaron Gibson...Had backed up Gibson and left tackle Chris McIntosh, a pair of future NFL first-round draft choices, in 1997 and '98...Received a B.A. degree in history in 1999 and began work on a graduate degree while playing his final season for the Badgers; completed coursework and exams and received a master's degree in educational administration in May of 2003...Since has begun work on pre-doctorate studies through UW-Madison; spent five weeks in England this past offseason as part of his program, his research including work on the re-election campaigns of two British Parliament members, Malcom Wicks and Geraint Davies, as well as teaching a portion of an American Studies course at Dulwich College.

All-time Packers players from University of Wisconsin-Madison (41)

Like a college team, the Packers historically have drawn well from their own backyard, obtaining 41 players via "in-state recruiting" from the University of Madison-Wisconsin, a 150-mile drive from Lambeau Field. In fact, only two other schools – Notre Dame (50) and Minnesota (44) – have produced more Packers players.

Following is a list of those who've played in a game for both the Wisconsin Badgers and Green Bay Packers

In Green Bay, where the local time is always 1963, the citizens worship their Packers with religious fervor, and Lambeau Field is their ageless cathedral. The benches are aluminum, the grass (when not iced over) is resplendent, and the fans are rabid but realistic without being rude. No wonder Packers players leap into the stands after scoring touchdowns. On a truly cold day you can feel the spirit of Vince Lombardi - even if you can't feel your toes.

- ► The division champion with the best record in each conference is assured of playing the lowest-seeded Wild Card survivor.
- ► There are no restrictions on intra-division games.

CHAMPIONSHIP GAMES

- ► The home teams will be the surviving playoff winners with the best won-lost-tied percentage during the regular season.
- A Wild Card team cannot play host unless two Wild Card teams are in the game, in which case the Wild Card team that was seeded the highest in the first round of the playoffs will be the home team.

Explosive, downfield threat with the ability to go up and take the ball away from opposition defensive backs... Emerged in 2004 as one of the game's top young receivers, gaining notice with his first Pro Bowl selection...Deceptively fast due to his long stride, entered the NFL in 2002 with a heightened level of maturity, having played professional baseball in the late '90s...Ultrapolite, is a true student of the game who's gotten better and better each year he's been in the league, ultimately raising his play last season to the level of a player picked 20th overall in '92..."I've seen a steady progression from Javon to be the best," says Green Bay offensive

PRO CAREER the sky is the limit as far as how coordinator Tom Rossley. "I think good he can get. Each year, he's gotten a little better. But there still are several things he could work on. He could get better in his initial steps coming off the line of scrimmage as well as at the top of his route, getting in and out of cuts. He's now getting people where they're turning and running to protect against the vertical route, and he can be better at dropping his weight and making a cut back inside or outside, to get big crossing routes versus man coverage. But I really like the way he attacks the ball and the aggressiveness he's shown in his route-running."...Registered career highs in receptions (89), yards receiving (1,382) and TD receptions (12) to lead the Packers in all three categories in 2004...Already has 153 career receptions to his personal credit and is likely to crack the Packers' all-time Top 20 receivers in 2005, currently 16th in career receiving yards with 2,417...Also enters '05 with at least one reception in 33 straight regular-season games (37 including playoffs) the second-longest active streak on the team, behind only the 48-game string of Donald Driver (Walker's last contest without a catch was Dec. 22, 2002, vs. Buffalo in a 10-0 win dominated by defense on a blustery Green Bay day)...Had begun to blossom into a consistent deep threat over the second half of the 2003 season while playing better than 50 percent of the Packers' snaps though he was listed officially as the team's No. 3 receiver...Readying himself for his third year in the NFL, he spent most of the offseason leading into the '04 campaign under a rigorous training regimen at the Fischer Sports Physical Therapy and Conditioning center in Phoenix under noted trainer Brett Fischer...For about four-and-a-half hours each morning, he and other NFL players concentrated on improving their explosiveness (by running sprints and through "out-of-the-blocks" drills) and balance, as well as strengthening parts of the body not normally worked on with a particular emphasis on the body's core... Returned to the Fischer facility in the weeks leading up to the 2005 season for further intensive training, looking to build upon his 2004 onfield success.

ad finished 2003 particularly strong, averaging 24.1 yards per reception over the final eight games, including playoffs...Ranked second among NFL receivers with 25-or-more catches in '03 with a 17.5-yard average; his yards per catch also was the second best by a Green Bay player in the prior 15 years...Enjoyed a breakout performance late in his maiden 2002 season, posting a 104-yard receiving day against Atlanta in the playoffs – a first for a rookie in team postseason history — and subsequently became just the fourth player in league history to record 100 yards receiving in each of his first two playoff games when he enjoyed a 111-yard effort in Green Bay's win over Seattle to open the '03 postseason...Attributes at least a portion of his '02 success to seeing the football better after Lasik surgery performed in June 2002 to correct nearsightedness in his right eye...Had played minor-league baseball for parts of three seasons in the Florida Marlins' farm system (the full 1997 campaign, followed by summer seasons in 1998 and '99)...Capitalized on his time in spring training to learn the nuances of being a professional athlete from baseball veterans like Tony Gwynn, Bobby Bonilla and Edgar Renteria.

NFL Network to air 55 games in 25 days

NEW YORK -- NFL Network will televise 55 games during the NFL's four-week preseason -- all but the 11 televised nationally by the NFL's four network partners (ABC, CBS, ESPN and FOX).

NFL Network will use the television feeds of local broadcasters and make use of both sets of announcers. For example, if Oakland is playing at San Francisco, NFL Network will use the announcers from the 49ers (home team) for the first half, and then switch to the Raiders' (away team) crew for the second half.

In addition to 55 preseason games, NFL Network will present NFL Total Access: No Huddle, a live look-in show that whips around to NFL preseason games in progress. Seven No Huddle shows will air during the preseason featuring action from lour to nine games taking place simultaneously.

Of the 55 games NFL Network will carry nationally during the preseason, six will air live. NFL Network's live games each carry an interesting storyline: Oakland at San Francisco (Saturday, Aug. 13, at 10 p.m. ET); Cleveland at Detroit (Saturday, Aug. 20, at 1 p.m. ET); St. Louis at San Diego (Sunday, Aug. 21, at 4 p.m. ET); Tennessee at San Francisco (Friday, Aug. 26, at 10 p.m. ET); San Francisco at San Diego (Thursday, Sept. 1, at 10 p.m. ET); and Denver at Arizona (Friday, Sept. 2, at 10 p.m. ET)

Bay was happy to see the native of Chico, Calif., available to be selected at its position later in the round ... "We've been watching tape and working on this guy for a year now," says Packers General Manager Ted Thompson after selecting Rodgers, "and we had Aaron Rodgers rated as one of the top players in the draft and we felt very fortunate to be able to get him at pick No. 24."...What comes with being a quarterback selected in the first round by Green Bay is the heightened notion of becoming Brett Favre's successor, when that time comes, but Thompson stated the transition from Favre to the next Packers quarterback will take place in due time and Rodgers simply has to come in and develop in a natural fashion... "He has to be Aaron Rodgers and play guarterback for the Packers when his time comes, and I'm sure he'll be up for the challenge," Thompson...Possesses the necessary physical tools and, over the course of his college career, repeatedly demonstrated the acumen to flourish as a big-time signal caller, but Thompson duly was impressed with overall presence on the field..."I like the way he played in big games," Thompson observed. "I like the way he carried himself and competed...You like the way he plays the game."... Was a two-year starter (2003-04) for Cal after playing the 2002 season at Butte College, a junior college near Chico, Calif., and finished 17-5 as the Bears' field general, leading the school in 2004 to its best season in more than 50 years in just his second campaign at the Division I level ... His journey to the pros is a compelling story, beginning with scant Division I recruitment after two highly successful prep seasons; he was perhaps not big enough or located in an area not often recruited by the big schools...He opted to enroll at nearby Butte College and promptly led the Roadrunners to a 10-1 record and a No. 2 JUCO national ranking.

Was a major component of a 2004 Cal campaign that saw the team reach its highest national ranking (No. 4) since 1952, produce its best regular-season record (10-1) in 54 years and record the most conference wins (seven) in 55 years...Took over as starter in the fifth game of the 2003 season and went on to fire 43 touchdowns with only 13 interceptions over the course of his career and finish with a 150.27 career passing efficiency mark, the best in school history...Authored 10 career passing games of 250-plus yards...Overall, com-support...Started his final 36 collegiate games in succession...Packers defensive coordinator Jim Bates says that Underwood reminds him of All-Pro safety Brock Marion, whom Bates coached in Miami and Dallas..."He has that type of athleticism," Bates says. "Good open-field, sure tackler and played smart. He played really, really smart for San Diego State, and that guy has a chance."... Has the aptitude to defend all over the defensive backfield... "The thing that I thought about Marviel when I first watched him was that he was a complete safety," new position coach Joe Baker says. "He did everything you ask a safety to do - he played with range, made plays on the ball all over the field, came down with the ball and tackled with authority. He has exceptional speed for his position and that gives you a lot of advantages in coverage as far covering ground in the back part of the field and also defending a wide receiver, when needed."... A quiet individual off the field, never shies away from contact on the field..."We think he's going to be a very physical player and I think that goes hand-in-hand with his personality," Baker says. "He's very serious and he's got that guiet, assassin-like quality to him."...Finished his career with 222 tackles (135 solo), nine tackles for loss with one sack, seven interceptions among 20 passes broken up, three forced fumbles and two fumble recoveries...Won Mountain West Conference honorable mention honors during his junior and senior seasons... It's going to take some time, but he's all football he lives, breathes, eats and sleeps this game. The compensatory system

In 2005, for the first time since 1995, the league did not award the Packers a compensatory selection. Still, since the first compensatories were awarded in 1993, only the Cowboys (25) have received more than the Packers (22).

Under terms of the NFL Collective Bargaining Agreement, a team losing more or better compensatory free agents than it acquires in a year is eligible to receive compensatory draft picks.

The number of picks a team receives equals the net loss of compensatory free agents up to a maximum of four. The 32 compensatory choices announced usually in late March supplement the 230 choices in the regular seven rounds of the NFL Draft. In 2004, the compensatory picks were positioned within the third through seventh rounds based on the value of the compensatory picks.

Compensatory free agents are determined by a formula based on salary, playing time and postseason honors. The formula was developed by the NFL Management Council, Not every free agent lost or signed by a club is covered by this formula.

Teams are no longer allowed to trade compensatories, although they were during the early years of the system.

Attempted to transfer to either Southern Methodist or Texas Christian early in 2003 in order to be closer to his mother, Noreen Taylor, and his newborn daughter after experiencing a personality conflict with a member of the OU coaching staff, but Oklahoma would not release him...Subsequently left school and worked odd jobs around the Dallas area until his next football opportunity presented itself, an open tryout with the Arena Football League's Dallas Desperados late in 2003...Was one of two players signed by the Desperados from among the roughly 450 who tried out... He probably is one of the finest athletes I've ever worked out, and I've been blessed to be around some great athletes in my time," says Alonzo Highsmith, the Packers' college scout with responsibility for the Southwest region, who was a member of the University of Miami's 1983 national championship team before going on to a six-year NFL career. "I would put him up there athletically with any kid in this year's draft. He's fast - he's got 4.3 speed - he's tall and he's competitive. He played (at Oklahoma) as a true freshman, but had some issues with the coaches that I really think go back to his home life. He hasn't had either a mother or father in his life. His high school coach basically raised him and took him up under his wing. He had a hard time adjusting to college football. He was immature at that time, a young kid on his own, and he really had no guidance or anyone to lean on. The funny thing is, if you talk to the Oklahoma coaches they will tell you that he was one of the best athletes to come there in years. There's not a person who says a bad word about the kid. The kid doesn't drink or smoke because of his mother and father's background. He's really matured and he understands his mistakes in the past. His mistakes weren't with alcohol or anything like that, it was more about not knowing what to do in college."..."I think he has great character," adds Lionel Washington, who coaches Green Bay's cornerbacks. "Athletically, he's extremely gifted. He can run, he's got length, he's got good hips, he can drop his weight, he can cut. The kid is a talent - he's everything we're looking for in a cornerback. He's still raw in some areas, but I think he's going to come in and work hard."...Born into a dysfunctional family with a drug-addicted mother and a father (also named Micheal) who was verbally and physically abusive, he was raised primarily by his grandmother until she passed away when he was 12...Not allowed to play football by his father during two years at Hillcrest High School in Dallas, he ultimately found himself homeless in the summer of 2000, when he lived in the city's Martin Luther King Park for roughly six weeks...During that period of homelessness, he would bathe himself at a nearby McDonald's restaurant and wash his clothes in the park's swimming pool...Soon after, former neighbor Trina (Ganison) Roberts helped to get him off the streets by facilitating a move into the Addison, Texas, home of her brother, Eric Ganison, where

Turner High School in Carrollton, Texas...But when Eric Ganison's family moved away following Hawkins' junior year, he elected to move in with a high school teammate for his senior year rather than move with the Ganisons and received father-like support from his high school coach, Tim Beck...In recent years, he says that he has renewed his relationship with his birth father, putting their mutual past behind him..."We talked to a lot of people and did a lot of research into his background," says Ted Thompson, the Packers' new general manager. "He's a very articulate and sharp young man. We don't think there's anything from a character standpoint that will hold him back. What causes you a little concern is that he hasn't played outdoor football in a couple of years. But he is a marvelous athlete, and we felt like it was a good time in the draft (fifth round) to take a chance and see if he couldn't be a good player."

COLLEGE CAREER Played the 2002 season at the University of Oklahoma before leaving the Sooners program...Saw reserve action in four of OU's first five games, plus late-season contest at Baylor...Did not play in Big 12 Championship Game, against Colorado, nor in Rose Bowl win over Washington State...Collegiate highlight came early in the fourth quarter of blowout victory over Texas-El Paso (Sept. 14), when he picked off an Orlando Cruz pass and ran it back 45 yards for a touchdown to give Oklahoma a 62-0 lead in its eventual 68-0 triumph over the Miners in a game that had a 51-minute delay due to lightning...His interception return TD was the first by a true freshman at OU in 18 years; not since future All-American Rickey Dixon had brought an INT back 41 yards for a score in a 1984 contest with Pittsburgh had a Sooner done so...Recorded five tackles (four solo) over the course of the '02 campaign, including a season-high two unassisted stops vs. South Florida (Sept. 28)...Also posted tackles at Tulsa (Aug. 30), against UTEP (Sept. 14) and at Missouri (Oct. 5)...Majored in architecture.

The Goalposts

From the Rule Book: "In the plane of each end line, there shall be a centrally placed horizontal crossbar 18 feet 6 inches in length, the top face of which is 10 feet above the ground. The goal is the vertical plane extending indefinitely above the crossbar and between the lines indicated by the outer edges of the goal posts. All goal posts will be the single-standard type, offset from the end line and bright gold in color. The uprights will extend 30 feet above the crossbar and will be no less than 3 inches and no more than 4 inches in diameter. An orange-colored ribbon 4 inches by 42 inches is to be attached to the top of each post."

History: The NFL moved its goal posts from the goal line to the end line prior to the 1974 season. Rookies vs. first-year players

Rookiës are players in their first year of pro football who have not been on another pro football team's roster for any regular-season or potsteason games. First-year players are those who have played in other pro sports leagues (Arena Football League, etc.), have participated in previous NFL training camps, or have been on an NFL team's active, inactive or reserve list fewer than six games.

The rule originated when Lawrence McCutcheon, drafted by the L.A. Rams in 1972, played only three games his "rookie" season, then rushed for 1,097 yards in 1973. Today, due to McCutcheon and because rosters began expanding around the 1970 NFL-AFL merger (reserve lists formalized, etc.), that year is considered the beginning of the rookie rule. So today, for records purposes, the Packers use 1970 as a separator. From 1921-69, anyone who had yet to play three league games was generally considered a rookie.

Imposter

During the 1923 season, the Green Bay Press-Gazette published a major story announcing the Packers had signed Jack "Dollie" Gray, an end who'd received All-America honors at Princeton.

According to participation charts kept by George Calhoun, Gray started his only game played — a 24-3 loss to the Racine Legion at Bellvue Park.

Suspicious by Gray's performance, Curly Lambeau checked the player's background, only to discover he was an imposter. Lambeau quickly gave the player — whoever he was — his walking papers.

NFL renews partnership with Canadian Football League

The NFL and the Canadian Football League (CFL) in June 2004 reached an agreement on the terms of their alliance through the 2006 season. The new agreement carries forward the cooperative venture established in 1997.

CFL players with an option year remaining on their CFL contracts will continue to be permitted to sign contracts with NFL teams through the 2006 season. As in the past, these CFL players will not be allocated to NFL Europe League teams. In addition to grassroots development and player transfer rules, the NFL also will provide exposure for live CFL games (including the Grey Cup, on a non-exclusive basis) through the NFL Network in the United States.

With growth of the sport of football in Canada as the primary objective, the new partnership establishes a Football Development Management Council (FDMC). Working in conjunction with Football Canada, the FDMC will explore the creation of programs to engage more Canadians in the game, and will be comprised of an equal number of appointees from both leagues with a Canadian Chair. The FDMC also will initiate a comprehensive national study to research amateur football and football participation across Canada. MEAN PAIRE

Shoveling Snow at Lambeau

In a gesture symbolic of a community-owned team, the Packers for more than 38 years have asked clitzens to shovel snow off the Lambeau Field bleachers.

Today, if the team needs help, it will place an ad in local papers and issue a press release, reminding fans not to forget to bring their own shovels.

For the first time in several years, the Packers activated the plan in late 2004, to clear off bleachers in advance of the team's Wild Card playoff game. An overwhelming crowd turned out (several hundred were turned away). Citizens at least 15 years old who had arrived early to wait in line got in at 8 a.m., shoveled for several hours, and received S8/hour at the end of the day.

2004 Team Notes

QUICKLY: Green Bay earned its third consecutive NFC North title, winning nine of its last 11 regular-season games; the Packers became only the ninth team in NFL history to reach the playoffs after a 1-4 start...The club led the NFC in offense (third in the NFL), establishing several franchise records, and ranked 25th on defense.

ON OFFENSE: Green Bay racked up more total yards (6,357) and net yards passing (4,449) than any Packers team in the franchise's previous 83 NFL seasons. Using virtually the same players and coaches, the Packers became one of few teams in NFL history to break their franchise records in rushing and passing in consecutive seasons. Green Bay in 2003 rushed for a team-record 2,558 yards. Green Bay in 2004 ranked third among NFL teams in both total offense (397.3 yards per game) and passing offense (278.1). The last time a Packers offense ranked that high in total yards was 1983. when the club finished second (385.8).

SINGLE-SEASON OFFENSIVE RECORDS: Notable team marks established by the

ON THE ROAD: The Packers (6-2) established their best road record since 1972. when they were 6-1 in a 14-game season...Over a longer stretch, Green Bay has won 10 of its last 13 regular-season road contests...The Packers finished with a road record (6-2) better than their home record (4-4) for the first time since 1987, when they were 2-5-1 at home and 3-4 on the road...Green Bay finished with winning records on artificial surfaces (2-1) and in indoor stadiums (3-1). That dome record matched the best mark by any previous Packers team, equaling the 3-1 record of the '96 squad, who won Super Bowl XXXI...With a 300-yard passer on the road, the Packers under Mike Sherman are now 8-1

COIN-TOSS COINCIDENCE?: Over their last 23 games, including playoffs, the Packers are 9-2 when winning the opening coin toss. They're just 6-6 during the span, dating to Dec. 7, 2003, when losing the ceremony.

ON SPECIAL TEAMS: Coordinator John Bonamego in his first two seasons in Green Bay has produced back-to-back Top 10 finishes In Rick Gosselin's annual Dallas Morning News rankings. The Packers were ninth in 2004 and eighth in 2003, the team's first Top 10 ranking since 1997-98. Mike Holmgren's last two seasons with the Packers.

Bank of America Stadium, Monday, Sept. 13, 2004. Attendance: 73,656. Time: 3:02. Weather: 74° F, Humidity: 58 percent. Wind: E 5 mph CHARLOTTE, N.C. (AP) — Ahman Green ran for 119 yards and scored three touchdowns to lead Green Bay to a 24-14 win over the detending NFC champion Panthers on Monday Night Football.

Green scored on runs of 3 and 6 yards and rushed for 119 yards against a Carolina defense that gave up only four individual 100yard rushing games in 2003. Although trainers gave him intravenous fluids postgame, he ran with ease and gave no indication this was the first time in 2004 Green Bay's entire offensive unit was on the field together.

Carolina, who lost three of its 2003 starters on the offensive line, managed only 38 yards on the ground. Green Bay also capitalized on two Carolina turnovers, cashing them in for 14 points, Brad Hoover fumbled at the start of the second half, giving Green Bay the ball at the Carolina 31. Although Robert Ferguson's touchdown catch was negated by offensive pass interference, the Packers still converted the turnover into points when Green ran nearly untouched into the end zone for a 17-7 lead.

The Panthers then put together their own drive, only to turn the ball over again just as they got into scoring position. Jake Delhomme threw a pass to Steve Smith, who bobbled it twice before it squirted up and into Nick Barnett's hands.

Green Bay took possession and handed off to Green, who steadily pounded away at Carolina's defense. Running through gaping holes late in the third quarter, he gained 43 yards in the period, then scored his third TD on a 3-yard catch to give the Packers a 24-7 lead.

Grady Jackson dislocated his left kneecap and Najeh Davenport strained his hamstring... Brett Favre moved into third place all-time with his 126th career victory, passing Fran Tarkenton. Favre also passed Tarkenton for fourth in career passing attempts with 6,486.

CHICAGO 21, GREEN BAY 10

Lambeau Field, Sunday, Sept. 19, 2004. Attendance: 70,688. Time: 3:05. Weather: 74° F, Humidity: 41 percent, Wind: S 15 mph

GREEN BAY (AP) — Lovie Smith didn't take long to fulfill his No. 1 goal of beating Green Bay. Mike Brown's 95-yard fumble return for a touchdown sparked the Bears' 21-10 victory over the Packers. Chicago's third victory in its last 21 games against its archivals.

Brett Favre threw two interceptions, but the play of the game was Ahman Green's fumble just before halftime. On first down from the 2 just after the 2-minute warning, linebacker Brian Urlacher stormed into the backfield and stripped Green. Brown scooped it up and rumbled 95 yards down the Bears' jubilant sideline to give Chicago a 14-3 halftime lead instead of a 10-7 deficit.

The Packers weren't demoralized by the 14-point swing, linebacker Nick Barnett insisted, but Green Bay never recovered in losing its second straight home opener. Barnett nearly got his own TD return after recovering David Terrell's fumble with four minutes remaining, but right tackle John Tait prevented the score with a lunging tackle at midfield. "I just got tripped up," Barnett said. "If he would have missed me, it would have turned the whole game around, that's how close it was."

Favre broke Dan Marino's NFL record of 24 touchdowns against a single opponent. Green also tied Jim Taylor's franchise record with a 26th career 100-yard rushing game.

The Packers had 234 yards and just three points in the first half.

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) - Peyton Manning and Brett Favre threw nine combined touchdown passes and weren't even the heroes. That ble went to Jason David, a rookie defensive back who stole the ball from Javon Walker to clinch a 45-31 win.

The superstar quarterbacks certainly did their jobs. Manning threw for 393 yards and five first-half touchdowns. Favre threw for 358 vards and four TDs and the Packers rallied from an 18-point halftime deficit to within a touchdown.

But David and Nick Harper made the play of the game, David, burned all day by Favre, stripped Walker after the receiver caught Favre's pass near midfield and Harper returned it to the Green Bay 36. That set up Edgerrin James' 1-yard touchdown run with 1:49 lett.

The game started with five TD passes in the first 11 minutes, Indianapolis' first 22 plays were passes. The game inevitably slowed down. The Colts (2-1) gained just 96 yards total in the second and third quarters and scored just 10 points in the second half.

Green Bay (1-2) scored on its first possession of the second half, a 65-yard drive capped by Favre's 12-yard pass to Walker, who had the game of his life with 11 catches for 200 yards and three TDs. Later, Robert Ferguson's 71-yard kickoff return set up Favre's fourth TD pass, a 27-yarder to Donald Driver, and it was 38-31. This was Favre's 192nd consecutive start, most in NFL history, and the 99th straight for Manning, the second-longest current streak. Favre had his 50th career game with three or more touchdown passes and 17th with four. Never before in NFL history had two quarterbacks each thrown for 350 yards, at least four TDs and no INTs.

N.Y. GIANTS 14, GREEN BAY 7

Lambeau Field, Sunday, Oct. 3, 2004. Attendance: 70,623. Time: 3:02. Weather: 61° F, Humidity: 34 percent. Wind: S 18 mph

GREEN BAY (AP) — Tiki Barber rushed for 182 yards and scored on a 52-yard touchdown run, and Kurt Warner threw a touchdown pass to Jeremy Shockey in a 14-7 victory at Lambeau Field, where Brett Favre was knocked from the game with a concussion.

The Giants improved to 3-1 despite a series of missed opportunities, including three errant field goal attempts by Steve Christie. The Packers fell to 1-3 for the first time since 1993 and had their first three-game losing streak under fifth-year coach Mike Sherman.

Favre sustained a concussion when defensive lineman William Joseph knocked him to the ground in the third quarter and he missed the next two plays. Favre, against medical clearance, went back in on fourth-and-5, waved backup Doug Pederson to the sideline and floated a 28-yard touchdown pass to Javon Walker for a 7-0 lead. Doctors would not allow Favre to return, Warner appeared to have made a costly mistake when his hook slide left New York 18 inches shy of the goal line, but Shockey juked cornerback Michael Hawthorne and grabbed a 4-yard TD pass on third-and-goal to give New York a 14-7 lead with 12 minutes left.

Pederson hurt his side on a hit near the sideline but stayed in until the final play, when third-stringer Craig Nall threw a 24-yard pass to Robert Ferguson to the Giants 32. But the clock expired before Nall could spike the ball and take a shot at the end zone.

Lambeau had not seen a scoreless first half since Oct. 6, 1980, ... Warner's streak ended at 127 passes with-Lambeau Field, Monday, Oct. 11, 2004. Attendance: 70,420. Time: 3:32. Weather: 50" F, Humidity: 80 percent, Wind: SE 2 mph GREEN BAY (AP) - Chris Brown ran for 148 yards and two long touchdowns, and Tennessee cruised to a 48-27 win over the Packers 4), scoring more points than any visitor ever at Lambeau Field.

The Titans (2-3) snapped a three-game losing streak and sent the Packers to their fourth consecutive loss, Green Bay's first fourgame losing streak since 1991 and its first 0-3 start at home since 1988. Prior to 2004, only eight NFL teams had overcome a 1-4 start to reach the playoffs, including the Titans in 2002.

Tennessee scored on five of its first six possessions with Brown, who had 27 carries, going in on its first two series, from 37 and 29 yards out. The Packers had six turnovers, including four in the second half. The Titans didn't turn the ball over at all.

Steve McNair (chest, ankle) returned after missing Tennessee's previous game, and threw two touchdown passes, including an 11-yarder to Eddie Berlin in the third quarter after Brett Fayre's third interception.

Brett Favre extended his NFL record with his 213th consecutive start, including playoffs, despite numerous injuries, including a mild concussion he suffered the prior week. Favre also played after the death of his 24-yearold brother-in-law in an ATV accident at the family home in Mississippi.

GREEN BAY 38, DETROIT 10

Ford Field, Sunday, Oct. 17, 2004. Attendance: 62,938. Time: 2:50. Weather: (indoors)

DETROIT (AP) - After Mike Sherman delivered a memorable speech the night before, Brett Favre threw two touchdown passes, and Darren Sharper scored off an interception to lead the Packers to a 38-10 win over the Lions. The lopsided game was close until Sharper stepped in front of Joey Harrington's forced pass early in the third quarter and returned it 36 yards — with a juke move and a hurdle into the end zone - to give the Packers a 24-10 lead.

Favre was effective despite missing Robert Ferguson (calf, ankle) for the whole game and Javon Walker (ribs, shoulder) for much of it. Donald Driver made up for the losses with nine receptions for 110 yards and two TDs. Ahman Green ran for 81 yards and threw a 20vard TD pass to Driver to put Green Bay ahead 38-10 early in the fourth.

Favre extended his streak with a TD pass to 31 games, passing Dan Marino and trailing only Johnny Unitas' record run of 47 straight. Favre played in his 197th game with the Packers, passing Bart Starr for No. 1 in franchise history. With 165 yards passing in the first half, Favre surpassed Fran Tarkenton for fourth place on the NFL career list with 47,106.

Green Bay's defense allowed just 125 total yards and five first downs, its lowest totals since the "Snow Bowl," Dec. 1, 1985, vs. Tampa Bay (65 yards, five first downs). Its 40 plays allowed were Green Bay's fewest since Dec. 3, 1972, vs. Detroit (34). The Packers didn't allow a first down in the second half, and didn't allow the Lions inside the Green Bay 30 over Detroit's final nine possessions.

Sherman called offensive plays with coordinator Tom Rossley at home following an emergency heart proce-

Lambeau Field, Sunday, Oct. 24, 2004. Attendance: 70,679. Time: 2:57. Weather: 55° F. Humidity: 77 percent, Wind: W 8 mph GREEN BAY (AP) - With GM/Head Coach Mike Sherman directing the offense for the second straight game, the Packers scored on their first seven possessions to thrash the Dallas Cowboys 41-20.

The Packers (3-4) snapped a three-game losing streak at Lambeau Field and Brett Favre beat the Cowboys (2-4) for just the second time in 10 tries despite jamming his right wrist early in the game. Sherman called the game with offensive coordinator Tom Rossley, still weak from heart surgery, offering advice from the press box.

Favre threw two TD passes, Ahman Green ran for his first two scores since the season opener and the halfback option pass produced points for the second straight week. The Packers gained 480 yards and punter Bryan Barker wasn't needed until 9½ minutes were left.

Green ended a monthlong funk by rushing for 163 yards, including a 90-yard score that was the longest Dallas had ever surrendered. He became the second player in NFL history (Bo Jackson, 1987) with two career touchdown runs of at least 90 yards. Green, who had a 98-yarder in December 2003, also set a franchise record with his 27th 100-yard game, breaking Jim Taylor's mark.

Tony Fisher's first NFL toss found Bubba Franks alone in the end zone to make it 27-6 in the third quarter. The Packers, who turned the ball over 14 times in their first five games, didn't have a turnover for the second straight week.

GREEN BAY 28, WASHINGTON 14

FedEx Field, Sunday, Oct. 31, 2004. Attendance: 89, 295. Time: 3:17. Weather: 78° F. Humidity: 78 percent. Wind: SW 9 mph

LANDOVER, Md. (AP) — All Harris' interception, one play after a fourth-quarter Washington penalty nullified the go-ahead touchdown. set up an insurance score to cap a 28-14 victory that pulled Green Bay (4-4) back to .500 after a 1-4 start.

Clinton Portis scored on a 43-yard reception from Mark Brunell with less than three minutes left, apparently tying the game at 20, but illegal motion penalty on James Thrash erased the play, and the Packers capitalized shortly after.

Brett Favre was brilliant early and out-of-sync late, playing with a sprained hand, a banged thumb and the distraction of his wife underuping breast cancer treatment. He completed 20 of 32 passes for 289 yards and a touchdown and three interceptions. The Packers scored on their first three possessions to take a 17-0 lead, but two interceptions by Shawn Springs set up Washington's two touchdowns, and Fred Smoot's interception set up the penalty-penated touchdown pass to Portis

The Packers gained 361 yards, becoming the first team this season to tally more than 300 yards on the Redskins, whose defense entered the game ranked No. 1 in the NFL.

The Packers' first three drives included completions of 41, 48 and 48 yards, equaling the number of 40-plus passing gains by the Redskins all season. Favre picked on a secondary missing two starters.

Favre passed John Elway at No. 2 on the all-time completions list, giving him 4.133 to Elway's 4.123. Dan Lambeau Field, Sunday, Nov. 14, 2004. Attendance: 70,671. Time: 3:23. Weather: 46° F, Humidity: 53 percent, Wind: SW 7 mph GREEN BAY (AP) — Minnesota's Derek Ross and Green Bay's Ben Steele, who had been cut by the Vikings in training camp, each claimed ownership of Robert Ferguson's fumble at midfield in the closing minutes. The officials eventually ruled Green Bay had possession, and the Packers drove for Ryan Longwell's 33-yard field goal as time expired for a 34-31 victory, their fourth straight.

The Vikings, who had rallied to tie with two touchdowns in a 93-second span, lost their third straight and fell into a tie with the Packers atop the NFC North at 5-4.

Ferguson, returning a kickoff, broke into the open at midfield and thought he had a clear shot at the end zone when Antoine Winfield swooped in and forced the fumble.

Both Brett Favre and Daunte Culpepper threw four touchdown passes without an interception. It was Favre's 18th game with fouror-more TD tosses, second only to Dan Marino's 21, as the Packers built a seemingly safe 31-17 lead. Culpepper, working without star receiver Randy Moss (strained hamstring) for the second successive game, passed for 363 yards.

Ahman Green rushed for 145 yards on 21 carries despite injuring his left kneecap when he was leg-whipped in the first half.

Reliant Stadium, Sunday, Nov. 21, 2004. Attendance: 70,769. Time: 3:05. Weather: (retractable roof closed)

HOUSTON (AP) - Brett Favre led the Packers back from a 13-3 fourth-quarter deficit and Ryan Longwell kicked a field goal as time expired for the second straight week, sending the Packers to their fifth straight win, 16-13. It marked the first time in 14 years a Green Bay team climbed out of a fourth-quarter hole of at least 10 points.

Favre completed 6 of 7 passes for 42 yards on the final drive - including an intentional spike - to complete Green Bay's rally. He. finished 33 of 50 for 383 yards with two interceptions and a touchdown, to Houston native Donald Driver in the fourth period. Driver had quite a homecoming, catching 10 passes for 148 yards.

The Packers sputtered on offense throughout the first three quarters and clearly missed injured Ahman Green, forced out with a rib. injury in the second quarter. Favre finally got going in the fourth quarter, leading the Packers on a seven-play, 81-yard drive he capped with a 24-yard touchdown pass to Driver. Favre made a deft pump fake on the play, fooling rookie cornerback Dunta Robinson and giving Driver a wide-open path into the end zone. It also extended Favre's streak of games with a touchdown pass to 35, second in NFL history to Johnny Unitas' 47 games. The Packers scored again on Longwell's 38-yard field goal midway through the quarter, tying the game at 13. But the Texans went three plays and out for the third straight time, and Favre predictably came through in the clutch.

Before a record crowd of 70,769 at buzzing Reliant Stadium, the Texans hoped to summon a little more prime-time magic...The Packers hadn't visited Houston since 1992, Favre's first year as a starter with Green Bay... Bhawoh Jue started at free safety for Green Bay in place of Darren Sharper (knee) for a second straight game...Packers DE Kabeer Gbaja-Biamila had to sacks, moving past Ezra Johnson for third in franchise history with 431/2 in his career.

Lambeau Field, Monday, Nov. 29, 2004. Attendance: 70,385. Time: 3:12. Weather: 28° F. Humidity: 86 percent, Wind: SW 4 mph GREEN BAY (AP) — Brett Favre celebrated his 200th straight regular-season start with three TD passes and yet another record in the ackers' 45-17 rout of the Rams. Favre topped 20 TD passes for the 11th straight season, breaking a tie with Dan Marino on a 7-yard loss to Bubba Franks. The Packers (7-4) also got two defensive TDs and won their sixth straight to keep pace atop the NFC North.

Ahman Green was out with injured ribs, but Najeh Davenport gained 178 yards on 19 carries in his first NFL start even though he had two sore hamstrings. Davenport's total marked the third-best by an NFL player in his first start over the last 20 seasons (1985-2004).

Marc Bulger threw for more yards - 448 - against Green Bay than any quarterback ever had, completing 35 of 53 passes, but he was overshadowed by Favre. Isaac Bruce caught nine passes for 170 yards and a touchdown but his two lumbles were returned for touchdowns, one by rookie Ahmad Carroll to start the scoring and one by Michael Hawthorne to cap the rout in the final minute.

St. Louis called a fake field goal when a 42-yarder by Jeff Wilkins would have made it a one-possession game. Wilkins was stuffed 12 yards shy of the first down on fourth-and-7. Not only did the Rams get nothing out of a nearly eight-minute drive, but the Packers went 71 yards in four plays, capped by Donald Driver's leaping 16-yard touchdown catch that gave Green Bay a 28-10 lead.

Davenport capped his night with a 40-yard touchdown run on fourth-and-1 with 1:52 left to make it 38-17.

PHILADELPHIA 47, GREEN BAY 17

Lincoln Financial Field, Sunday, Dec. 5, 2004. Attendance: 67,723. Time: 3:24. Weather: 55° F. Humidity: 38 percent, Wind: W 14 mph

PHILADELPHIA (AP) - Donovan McNabb threw a career-high five touchdown passes, all in the first half, and finished with a team-record 464 yards passing, leading Philadelphia to a 47-17. Brian Westbrook and Terrell Owens also enjoyed big receiving days and McNabb set a team record by completing his first 14 passes.

Meanwhile, Brett Favre threw two interceptions that led to Philadelphia's first two scores. His streak of games with a TD pass was snapped at 36, second in NFL history to Johnny Unitas' 47 straight.

The four-time NFC East champion Eagles (11-1) matched the best start in team history. The Packers (7-5) snapped a six-game winning streak, but remained tied with Minnesota for first place in the NFC North.

A rematch of a thrilling playoff game 11 months ago, this one never lived up to its hype. The Eagles scored four TDs in the second guarter, led 35-3 at halftime and rested most of their starters with 8:18 left.

For one quarter, this game was competitive. McNabb lost a fumble inside Green Bay's 25 on Philadelphia's opening possession, but Favre was intercepted by Brian Dawkins on the ensuing drive. Three plays later, McNabb and Owens connected on a 41-vard catch-and-run TD. Owens caught the ball at the 26, streaked down the left sideline, broke one tackle and leaped into the end zone.

Lambeau Field, Sunday, Dec. 12, 2004. Attendance: 70,497. Time: 3:23. Weather: 33° F, Humidity: 66 percent, Wind: NW 28 mph, 21° wind chill

GREEN BAY (AP) - Rvan Longwell's 23-yard field goal with two seconds remaining gave Green Bay a 16-13 victory against the ons and lifted the Packers (8-5) into first place in the NFC North by a game over Minnesota, which lost at home to Seattle. It was Longwell's third game-winner in five weeks and his 44th consecutive conversion from 40 yards in.

Brett Favre led Green Bay back from a 13-0 halftime deficit with four scoring drives, including a 90-yarder into the flag-whipping wind for the Packers' only touchdown, after Ahman Green's 79-yard TD catch was negated by a debatable holding call on rookie center Scott Wells. Favre, who is 14-0 at home against the Lions, completed only 3 of 15 passes for 28 yards in the first half but he was an amazing 16-for-21 in the swirling winds for 160 yards and a touchdown in the second half.

Snow flurries dampened the field into what Longwell called a "swampy mess" and swirling winds with gusts up to 35 mph wreaked havoc on passes, punts and long snaps and caused a slew of drops.

The Lions wasted a prime chance to get into the playoff picture in the muddled NFC, falling to 5-8. Their quarterback, Joey Harrington, completed only 5 of 22 passes for 47 yards as the Lions relied on rookie running back Kevin Jones, who rushed 33 times for 156 yards and a touchdown. The Packers hadn't held an opponent to so few completions since Oct. 29, 1978, against Tampa Bay.

Longwell's game-winner came after the Packers got the ball back at the Detroit 42 with 3:27 left and the wind at their backs. The Packers had a terrible first half, Favre entered the game needing 28 yards to tie Dan Marino's NFL record of 13 consecutive 3,000-yard seasons, and he had exactly that amount at halftime...Jones scored the first rushing TD Green Bay had allowed in 22 quarters.

JACKSONVILLE 28, GREEN BAY 25

Lambeau Field, Sunday, Dec. 19, 2004. Attendance: 70,437. Time: 3:29. Weather: 12° F, Humidity: 44 percent, Wind: NW 13 mph, -3° wind chill

GREEN BAY (AP) — Byron Leftwich, Fred Taylor and Rashean Mathis helped the Jaguars (8-6) to a 28-25 victory, staying in the thick of the AFC playoff race with temperatures in the single digits and wind chill well below zero.

Jaquars safety Donovin Darius was ejected for a helmet-stripping, clothesline hit that sent Robert Ferguson to the hospital with 4:41 remaining. Ferguson (pictured giving a thumbs up) temporarily lost feeling in his legs, but regained feeling in an ambulance.

Brett Favre turned over the ball four times — all inside the Jaguars' 23 — and fell to 31-4 at home after Dec. 1, losing for just the second time in 40 cold-weather games at home. Nevertheless, the Packers (8-6) became the ninth team in NFL history to reach the playoffs after a 1-4 start. They clinched before kickoff because four teams had lost. Favre hit Antonio Chatman with a 6-yard TD throw and found Donald Driver for the 2-point conversion to pull Green Bay to 28-25 with 1:08 left. But Nick Sorensen recovered the onside kick.

Favre also was hurt in the second quarter and played with tape on his left wrist and thumb after jamming it into the ground...Driver's 32-yard catch gave Green Bay a 17-14 lead in the third quarter, but Taylor put the Jaguars ahead for good 90 seconds later with a 32yard run. Then Mathis intercepted in the end zone on first-and-goal from the 3... Ryan Longwell's streak of 45 straight FGs inside 40 yards ended... About the only thing that went right for Green Bay was Darren Sharper's heads-up TD. Kabeer Gbaja-Biamila pummeled Leftwich and the ball squirted loose for what appeared to be an incompletion. Vince Manuwai nonchalantly picked it up. Sharper poked it away, scooped it up and scampered 15 yards into the end zone...The Packers hadn't lost a home finale since Favre's arrival in 1992.

HHH Metrodome, Friday, Dec. 24, 2004. Attendance: 64,311. Time: 3:05. Weather: (indoors)

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Facing a seven-point deficit midway through the fourth guarter. Brett Favre guided a 76-vard drive to set up Ryan Longwell's game-ending 29-yard field goal, lifting the Packers to a 34-31 victory against the Minnesota Vikings — and clinching a third consecutive NFC North crown.

The Packers (9-6) trailed after Favre's third-down throw from his end zone was intercepted by Chris Claiborne and returned 12 yards for a touchdown. But Donald Driver - who had 11 receptions for 162 yards - made a nifty, falling-down catch of Favre's pass on fourthand-goal at the 3 to tie it at 31 with 3:34 remaining after an 80-yard drive. Favre got the ball at his 13 with 1:35 left. Twelve plays later, Longwell's kick sailed through the uprights, sending the Packers into celebration on their rival's home field.

After Ahman Green bulled in for a tying touchdown on fourth-and-goal at the 1, Nate Burleson escaped from Ahmad Carroll's arms near midfield following a catch and sprinted for a 68-yard score to make it 14-7. Later in the first half. Antonio Chatman's 59-yard kickoff return gave Longwell a chance to make a 42-yard field goal as the half ended. A livid Vikings coach Mike Tice chucked his clipboard and pencil to the turf when an official clock stoppage for a measurement allowed Green Bay time to gather on fourth-and-1 for the kick with four seconds left.

Favre is now 4-9 at the Metrodome, with victories in three of his past five games.

GREEN BAY 31, CHICAGO 14

Soldier Field, Sunday, Jan. 2, 2005. Attendance: 62,197. Time: 2:50. Weather: 44° F, Humidity: 86 percent, Wind: NW 12 mph

CHICAGO (AP) - Brett Favre worked up a sweat, threw two touchdowns in a short work day and got the Green Bay Packers tuned up for the playoffs. Green Bay's defense wasn't bad, either, tying a team record with nine sacks — four by Kabeer Gbaja-Biamila — and the Packers routed the Chicago Bears 31-14.

The Packers (10-6), who were already locked in as the No. 3 seed in the NFC, had no intention of completely resting their starters because they wanted to be sharp before the playoffs, Favre played the first quarter and one series in the second, going 9 of 13 for 196 yards and two TDs, helping to beat the Bears (5-11) for the 21st time in the last 26 meetings - including 11 straight on the road.

Instead there was another milestone performance in an abbreviated afternoon: Favre went over 4,000 yards passing in a season for the fourth time in his career and reached 30 TD passes for an NFL-record eighth time before backup Craig Nall took over.

Wearing '92' on their helmets in memory of former teammate Reggie White, the Packers gave up an early touchdown before roaring to a 28-7 halftime lead against their oldest rival. Their defense played a White-like game.

Darren Sharper, who returned an interception 43 yards for a TD to make it 21-7, tied Herb Adderley's team record with his seventh career defensive TD. Nall entered the game with 9:02 left in the second quarter and immediately completed three straight passes, hitting Javon Walker for a 25-yard TD. It marked the first time in six NFL appearances that Nall had entered earlier than the fourth quarter. fourth straight season.

Green Day Dackers

Lambeau Field, Sunday, Jan. 9, 2005. Attendance: 71,075. Time: 3:00. Weather: 26° F, Humidity: 85 percent, Wind: S 4 mph GREEN BAY (AP) - Randy Moss caught two TD passes and the Vikings rolled to a 31-17 upset victory against the stunned Packers.

Green Bay had swept the season series, including a last-second victory at the Metrodome two weeks prior to clinch the NFC North crown and the home field for this showdown. But Daunte Culpepper threw four TDs — giving him 11 and no interceptions against Green Bay on the season — and the Vikings picked off four Brett Favre passes after managing only 11 interceptions all season.

Minnesota scored on its first three possessions, jumping out to a 17-0 lead in avenging two 34-31 losses to the Packers, who entered the playoffs as the NFC's hottest team.

The Packers lost Pro Bowl receiver Javon Walker to a shin injury in the first half and left tackle Chad Clifton in the third quarter, but pulled to 24-17 on Najeh Davenport's 1-yard plunge with 13:37 left. Then two costly Packers infractions set up Culpepper's 34-yard touchdown toss to Moss, giving the Vikings a 14-point cushion with 10:18 remaining.

The Packers were feeling good after winning nine of their last 11 and drawing the Vikings, who had lost 20 of their past 22 games outside of domes. Green Bay pulled to 17-10 on Ryan Longwell's 43-yard field goal and Bubba Franks' 4-yard touchdown catch, and it appeared to catch a huge break when Andersen slipped on a 29-yard field goal attempt.

Later, after the Packers drove to the Vikings' 8, Favre was whistled for an illegal forward pass when he scrambled and flung the ball to Walker in the end zone when he could have slid for the first down at the 2. Then, Longwell missed a 28-yard field goal.

Walker didn't play in the second half, and Green Bay's high-octane offense sputtered in trying to keep up with Culpepper & Co.

Herber-to-Hutson: Did you know?

The Packers' Arnie Herber became the NFL's first long-bomb passer, and he did it with unusually small hands. At Green Bay West High School, Herber learned he could improve his distance and accuracy by palming the ball, rather than using the laces. His most-feared target, the incomparable Don Hutson, had flat feet, and trainers had to tape them in a special way. That taping job gave Hutson a strange running motion, which totally stumped opponents, because his loping style disguised his true speed

Packers clinching dates

Green Bay in clinching the first two NFC North Division titles went to both extremes. In 2002 the Packers clinched a division crown on Dec. 1, with four games remaining. One year later, the Packers waited until literally the last second (for games in both Green Bay and Arizona) to clinch the 2003 title on Dec. 28, later than any division crown.

President Kennedy assists Packers to 1961 championship

Vince Lombardi won an incredible nine straight postseason games, a streak he might not have launched without the help of President John F. Kennedy. The 1961 NFL championship took place during the Berlin Crisis, and the United States had called Ray Nitschke, Paul Hornung and Boyd Dowler into service. With Lombardi's persistence, Nitschke and Dowler obtained special weekend passes to play. Private Hornung, however, wasn't released until Lombardi called an old acquaintance. Kennedy,

"Paul Hornung isn't going to win the war on Sunday, but the football fans of this country deserve the two best teams on the field that day," Kennedy assured Lombardi, days before the game against the New York Giants.

The best team was Green Bay, by a 37-0 count, and after Kennedy released Hornung, the Golden Boy scored 19 points, an NFL title game record The Berlin Crisis pitted the U.S. against East Germany for several months, until the East German government backed down. The crisis ended in the summer of 1962. Kennedy visited Berlin and delivered a famous speech before he died in 1963

Carried off the field

The Packers played a major role in launching the football tradition of carrying a coach off the field after a significant victory. The Packers lifted Vince Lombardi after at least five games (believed to be an NFL record). His players carried him (1) after his first NFL victory, a 9-6 win in his Packers debut, in Green Bay, Sept. 27, 1959, vs. Chicago; (2) after his first NFL championship, a 37-0 win over the Giants in Green Bay, Dec. 31, 1961; (3) after his third NFL championship, a 23-12 win over the Browns in Green Bay, Jan. 2. 1966; (4) after his fourth NFL championship, a 34-27 win over the Cowboys at the Dallas Cotton Bowl, Jan. 1, 1967; and (5) after his last game as Packers head coach, a 33-14 win over the Raiders in Super Bowl II at Miami's Orange Bowl, Jan. 14, 1968

Nearly 30 years later, the Packers carried Mike Holmgren (below) after a 35-21 win over New England in Super Bowl XXXI, at the Louisiana Superdome

Two great defensive backs, two good eyes

Bobby Dillon and Iry Comp, two of the leading interceptors in Packers history, had only two good eyes between them. Dillon, the team's all-time career leader with 52 thefts, played with a glass eye after suffering an accident in childhood. Comp. who established the single-season franchise record with 10 interceptions in 1943, also was blind in one eye.

There is no substitute for work: it is the price of success

Memorable Vince Lombardi quotes

Fatigue makes cowards of us all; high physical condition is vital to victory.

Two or three plays in a game spell victory or defeat; you never know when that play is coming up.

A winning football team must avoid mistakes with a passion; treat mistakes with a vengeance.

The harder a man works, the harder it is to surrender.

The goal line is the moment of truth: there is no room for a timid person there.

Every play must be considered a game breaker

Physical pressure on an opponent is necessary; mental pressure will make him crack Desire is a hate for your opponent.

Football is a game of inches and inches make a champion.

Defeat must be admitted before it is reality.

If two teams are the same in physical ability, it is the team with pride that rakes in the chips Desire is cold fury burning within a man.

Every man must leave the field with the feeling that every spectator is convinced they have seen the best player in the country.

Pride is what causes a winning team performance

Maybe winning isn't everything, but it sure comes way ahead of whatever is

On the goal line, the defense must attack. Pursuit is an all out effort on defense.

Our greatest glory is not in never falling. but in rising every time we fall. If the defense is scattered all over the field, it means that they are either confused. tired, or without desire.

Want it: desire it: earn it: take it.

Anything is ours providing we're willing to pay the price.

You must forget about being cautious or you are licked before you start.

Mental attitude is 75 percent of winning.

You need fear nothing as long as you are aggressive and keep going.

Football desire is built on pride and effort forged by raw combat.

We have been accused of playing mean, vicious, hungry football. It has been said we only play to win. How else is there to

You never lose a game if your opponent doesn't score.

Winning is a habit.

Covering kicks is football's biggest test of courage.

Good fellows are a dime a dozen; aggressive leaders are priceless.

You must force things to happen: you must grab the initiative.

You win games with aggressiveness and precise execution, not gimmicks.

Desire is a constant thing.

Confidence is contagious; so is a lack of confidence.

Pursuit is the shortest course to the ball carrier and arriving there in bad humor.

You will find the extent of a man's determination on the goal line.

Packers spring mini-camp history

Dan Devine coached collegiately for 16 years (Arizona State, Missouri) before Green Bay hired him in 1971. Shortly after his arrivlat, he implemented a college tradition: spring practice. That April, Devine took his new players to the University of Praxa at Arlington and the Packers' first mini-camp, where he got his first look at No. 1 draft choice John Brockington. The team has held mini-camps every year since '71. In 1977, the Packers' revolutionary indoor facility allowed spring practice in Green Bay. However, the team migrated again to the Phoenix area in 1994, while workers completed the spectacular Don Hutson Center.

Vince Lombardi Trophy

Home: 5-0 (39,000) Away: 7-0-1 (80,000)

The Vince Lombardi Trophy, given annually to the Super Bowl champion, was re-named in honor of the former Packers coach shortly after his death in 1970, before Super Bowl V.

The gesture, made by commissioner Pete Rozelle, was arguably the greatest tribute in NFL history.

Each trophy, molded and customized every year, is sterling silver and takes 72 man hours for Tiffany & Company to hand craft in Parsippany, N.J. Three concave sides form a pyramid, which supports a life-size, regulation football. The icon is 22 inches tall, weighs 7 pounds and is valued at more than $10,000. Former Tiffany V.P. of design Oscar Riedener first sketched the trophy on a napkin in 1966.

Don Hutson's first NFL Reception, 1935

On the day's first play, vs. the Bears Sept. 22, 1935, at City Stadium, Don Hutson caught an 83-yard touchdown pass from Arnie Herber. Bears safety Beartie Feathers bought Herber's fake to Johnny Blood, springing Hutson, who was making his first NFL start after his debut the previous week. True Sport said Herber's pass covered 66 yards in the air. Green Bay won, 7-0.

D 14 @ Chicago Bears Plane Pioneers

The Packers in 1940 became the first NFL team to fly to a road game. Fearing an air disaster would wipe out the entire team, the NFL forced the Packers to split the squad, and fly on two DG-3's (at right, Coach Curly Lambeau posed with half his team and their plane at Austin Straubel Field before a road trip in the early 1940s).

In those days, many fans turned out to see the humongous plane, more than the team, Players also took out life insurance policies. Al Carmichael and Howie Ferguson, for instance, each took out $50,000 policies, making each other the beneficiary. Players dined on food such as overtone cocktail grilled sirfoin.

TWELVE TIMES WORLD CHAMPIONS

The Green Bay Packers have won more championships — 12 — than any other team in National Football League history.

- They won their first three by league standing (1929, 1930 and 1931), and nine since the NFL's playoff system was established in 1933 (1936, 1939, 1944, 1961, 1962, 1965, 1966, 1967 and 1996).
- Green Bay also is the only NFL team to win three straight titles, having done it twice (1929-30-31 and 1965-66-67).
- In addition, the Packers won the first two Super Bowls (over Kansas City in 1966, 35-10, and over Oakland in 1967, 33-14), as well as a more recent one (over New England in 1996, 35-21).
- Since the league implemented a playoff system in 1933, the Packers have played in the NFL's deciding game 12 times (10 NFL title appearances from 1936-67, two Super Bowls after the 1970 merger). Only the Giants (17) have played for more titles.

GREEN BAY 35, KANSAS CITY 10

Los Angeles Memorial Collseum, Sunday, Jan. 15, 1967; Attendance: 61,946; Weather: 72° F; sunny, hazy

The Packers launched the Super Bowl series by whipping Kansas City's AFL champions, 35-10, behind Bart Starr, Max McGee and a key interception by All-Pro safety Willie Wood.

Vince Lombardi's repeating NFL champions broke open the game with three second-half touchdowns. Wood set up the first, returning an interception 50 yards to the Chiefs' 5, with the Packers up only 14-10, Len Dawson's pass was intended for Kansas City tight end Fred Arbanas.

McGee, replacing Boyd Dowler (injured on the Packers' first series), after having caught only four passes all season, snared seven from Starr for 138 yards and two touchdowns. Elijah Pitts ran for two other scores, one on a 5-yard run in the third quarter, the other on a 1-yard bolt in the final period.

The Chiefs' only touchdown came on a 7-yard pass from Dawson to Curtis McClinton.

Starr, the game's first MVP, completed 16 of 23 passes for 250 yards and two TD. The aging McGee caught both scores, 37 yards in the first quarter and a 13-yard catch in the decisive third period.

The Packers collected $15,000 per man and the Chiefs $7,500 apiece — the largest single-game shares in the history of team sports at the time. The game was not a sellout; more than 30,000 seats remained empty.

SUPER BOWL II

GREEN BAY 33, OAKLAND 14

Miami Orange Bowl, Sunday, Jan. 14, 1968; Attendance: 75,546; Time: 2:34; Weather: 68° F; PC, 52% humidity, wind W 14 mph

Acquiring a third straight NFL championship two weeks earlier, the Packers embellished that record-tying parlay by winning a second consecutive Super Bowl. This time, they dispatched the AFL champion Raiders, 33-14, in a game that drew the first $3-million gate in football history.

Defense

Bart Starr again earned the game's most valuable player as he completed 13 of 24 passes for 202 yards and one touchdown, and directed a Packers attack that was in control all the way after building a 16-7 halftime lead.

Don Chandler kicked four field goals (39, 20, 43 and 31 yards), and All-Pro cornerback Herb Adderley returned a Daryle Lamonica interception 60 yards for a touchdown.

Leading 3-0 at the quarter, the Packers got three Chandler field goals and a 62-yard scoring pass from Starr to split end Boyd Dowler before half. They then left the Raiders behind with a 10-point third period, Donny Anderson scoring on a 2-yard run and Chandler with his final field goal.

The game ended Vince Lombardi's nine-year reign as Packers coach. He won six Western Conference championships, five NFL titles and two Super Bowls, a record unprecedented in pro football history.

GREEN BAY 35, NEW ENGLAND 21

Louisiana Superdome, New Orleans, La., Sunday, Jan. 26, 1997; Attendance: 72,301; Time: 3:21

Using several momentum-turning big plays, the Packers held off resilient New England to capture their first world championship in 29 years. For Green Bay, the victory also marked its leaguehigh 12th NFL championship as well as its third Super Bowl triumph.

The Packers jumped to an early 10-0 lead. Brett Favre, sensing a Patriots blitz, audibled on Green Bay's second play from scrimmage, hitting late-season pickup Andre Rison on a wide-open post pattern for a 54-yard touchdown pass. On the ensuing New England possession, Doug Evans intercepted Drew Bledsoe at the Patriots' 28, which led to a 37-yard field goal by Chris Jacke.

New England then was able to turn the tide in its favor, however, as Bledsoe took his club on two long drives for touchdowns. The first, which covered 79 yards and culminated in a short pass to Keith Byars, was aided by two long throws to Pats running backs and a 26-yard pass interference penalty. The second, starting at the New England 43, was spurred by a leaping, 44-yard reception by rookie Terry Glenn. When tight end Ben Coates caught a four-yard TD pass from Bledsoe, the Patriots momentarily had their only lead of the game and had completed the highestscoring first quarter in Super Bowl history.

Green Bay rebounded to re-take the lead when Favre, seeing Patriots' strong safety Lawyer Milloy at the line of scrimmage in tight coverage on Antonio Freeman, watched Freeman elude Milloy's "bump" and lofted a perfect aerial to Freeman along the right sideline. Freeman, able to out-run New England's late-arriving free safety, covered 81 yards for the longest reception in Super Bowl history at that time. After another Jacke field goal, Favre took advantage of a Mike Prior interception and escorted his troops on a nineplay, 74-yard march just before halftime which ended when, on a bootleg left, he lunged the ball over the goal line as he was rolling out of bounds.

Taking a 27-14 edge out of the locker room at halftime, Green Bay maintained that lead until late in the third quarter, when the Patriots' Curtis Martin made a magnificent 18-yard run up the middle of the Packer defense to pull New England to within six points at 27-21.

That margin was short-lived, though, as Desmond Howard returned the ensuing kickoff 99 vards for a back-breaking touchdown (the longest in Super Bowl history), bursting through the center of the Packers' well-blocked wedge, then juking kicker Adam Vinatieri to bolt free. Howard, who had 244 total return yards in the game including key punt runbacks of 32 and 34 yards, was voted the game's most valuable player, becoming the first special teams player to be so honored. A subse-

The top-ranked Green Bay defense, which had four interceptions of Bledsoe, was led by Reggie White, who sacked the New England quarterback a Super Bowl-record three times, including twice in a row on the possession immediately following Howard's scoring return.

Favre, playing less than an hour from his hometown of Miss., completed 14 of 27 passes for 246 yards and two touchdowns without an interception, while his counterpart, Bledsoe, threw for 253 yards and two scores on 25-of-48 passing.

"This trophy...this is it. It was named after Vince Lombardi. You play in Green Bay. As important as it is to any other team and any other player, it means more to us.

"Back in July, we set our goals. And I'm so proud of you. You made every single goal. You earned it, you worked for it. "And before we came out for the second half, what did you do? You locked arms. Do it right now, men. Do it right now.

"To the coaches, players, organization, trainers, equipment people, everybody, this trophy is for you, men. Everybody. Everyone had a say in it, everyone got it done. I'm proud of you."

> — Head Coach Mike Holmgren, Packers postgame locker room, Jan. 26, 1997

Qualcomm Stadium, San Diego, Calif., Sunday, Jan. 25, 1998; Attendance: 68,912; Time: 3:25; Weather: 67° F sunny

Behind a dominating rushing performance by San Diego native Terrell Davis, four-time Super Bowl loser Denver garnered its first-ever victory in the NFL's title game to dethrone the reigning champion Packers in what some called "the best Super Bowl ever." In the process, the Broncos also ended a 13-game Super Bowl winning streak by the National Football Conference representative and sent Green Bay to its initial Super Bowl defeat after three triumphs.

Davis, named as the game's most valuable player, averaged 5.2 yards per carry as he rushed for 157 yards and three touch-downs, including the final, decisive score with less than two minutes remaining.

After the opening possession — a 76-yard scoring sequence by Green Bay — it appeared (falsely) that the game might turn into just another rout by the NFC against an overmatched AFC opponent. The Packers easily traversed the field, capping the drive with an arching, 22-yard touchdown pass from Brett Favre to Antonio Freeman at the back of the end zone, Freeman tap-dancing to get his feet down, and Green Bay had a 7-0 lead less than five minutes into the contest.

But the Broncos stormed back, scoring the first three times that they had the ball to commandeer a 17-7 advantage. After Davis went over from a yard out for Denver's initial points, the Broncos forced a pair of turnovers in Green Bay territory. First, Favre was intercepted when he prematurely unloaded a pass for Robert Brooks while under a heavy blitz, a miscue which resulted in a one-yard touchdown run by Broncos quarterback John Elway on bootleg to the right. Then, after Favre fumbled when hit by Denver safety Steve Atwater on another blitz, the Broncos tacked on a long field goal by Jason Elam.

Green Bay mounted an impressive, 95-yard touchdown drive to consume the latter half of the second quarter and pull to within 17-14. Favre lofted a perfect aerial to tight end Mark Chmura in the back right corner of the end zone just 12 seconds before halftime, a pass which narrowly skirted the finger tips of a leaping defender.

Davis, who had missed the entire second quarter after experiencing migraine headache symptoms, fumbled on the first play from scrimmage of the second half, an error which turned into a game-tying Ryan Longwell field goal only minutes later.

The Broncos went ahead again late in the third period, when Davis scored his second touchdown of the game to culminate 92yard, seven-plus minute drive. And when, on the ensuing kickoff, Freeman fumbled at his own 22, things looked dire for Green Bay as it stared at a potential two-touchdown deficit heading into the final quarter. But when the Broncos went for the jugular on their first play, free safety Eugene Robinson intercepted Elway in the end zone.

Favre completed three passes to Freeman on the ensuing Green Bay possession, including a 13-yard crossing route for the receiver's second touchdown which knotted the score at 24 with thirteen-and-a-half minutes remaining. Freeman made nine receptions (for 126 yards) on the day to equal the club's all-time playoff record.

After the Packers failed to take advantage of one fourth-quarter drive which neared midfield, Denver ran the ball down their throat for the game's winning touchdown, a drive which covered 49 yards in only five plays — four on the ground. Davis strolled into the end zone untouched up the middle for a 31-24 lead with just 105 ticks of the clock left.

Still facing the relentless blitzing which had characterized the play of the Denver defense throughout the game, from his own 30-yard line Favre moved the Packers 39 yards down the field on four straight passes to Dorsey Levens to reach the Broncos' 31 with 42 seconds remaining.

But when his next three throws fell incomplete, including a fourth-down pass intended for Chmura which was knocked down by linebacker John Mobley, the game was Deriver's, giving Elway a long-awaited Super Bowl victory after he personally had endured Favre, while not turning in his usual MVP-like performance, completed 25 of 42 passes for 256 yards and three touchdowns with one interception. Elway, who did not complete a pass to one of his wide receivers until late in the third quarter, threw for 123 yards on 12-of-22 passing while being intercepted once.

The Packers overcame an early 9-0 deficit, spawned by two blocked punts deep in their territory, but could not hold off the Giants in the second half. Early in the second quarter, Green Bay began to close in when Arnie Herber capitalized on a Paul (Tiny) Engebretsen interception by lofting a 40-yard touchdown strike to Carl Mulleneaux, cutting the Giants' margin to 9-7.

But the Giants converted a midfield fumble by Packers fullback Eddie Jankowski into a 16-7 lead. Green Bay trimmed the margin to two points before the half, when Clarke Hinkle crashed over from the 6-inch line following a 66-yard Cecil Isbell pass to Wayland Becker.

During the opening minutes of the second half, the Packers took their only lead, when an Engebretsen field goal presented them with a 17-16 edge. The Giants, however, stormed back with a 61yard scoring drive, capped by a 23-yard pass from Ed Danowski to Hank Soar. Soar fought his way over the goal line from the 2, with Hinkle clinging to one leg, for what proved to be the winning touchdown. A playoff-record 48,120 sat in on the proceedings.

In a playoff contest necessitated when the two teams finished the year 10-1, each having given the other its lone loss, the Packers fell victim to Chicago's offensive trio of George McAfee, Norm Standlee and Hugh Gallarneau in the 16-degree cold at Wrigley Field.

After the Bears fumbled the opening kickoff, Green Bay grabbed an early 7-0 lead, on Clarke Hinkle's 1-yard plunge. But Gallarneau's touchdown on an 81-yard punt return narrowed the gap to 7-6, before Chicago exploded for 24 secondquarter points to essentially settle the issue. The Bears rushed for 277 yards, including McAfee's team-record 119. Standlee ran for 79 and added two touchdowns.

Ward Cuff scored the Giants' touchdown with a 1-yard plunge on the initial play of the fourth quarter, a drive which saw New York advance past its own 35-yard line for the first time in the game. The Packers couldn't hold a 13-10 fourthquarter lead, yielding a late surge to the Eagles, who scored the deciding points on a 5-yard burst by Ted Dean.

Green Bay had stopped Philadelphia at its own 4 late in the third quarter, then recaptured the lead on a 7-yard TD pass from Green Bay made a last-ditch effort, driving to the Eagles' 22, but on its final play, Philadelphia's Chuck Bednarik stopped Jim Taylor at the 8 as time expired.

A team-record 39,029 watched the Green and Gold erupt for 24 points in the second quarter. In all, the Packers scored seven

Two interceptions, by Ray Nitschke and Hank Gremminger, set up the team's second and third touchdowns, while the fumble recovery (by Forrest Gregg) led to Hornung's second field goal. Hornung's final FG came after Jesse Whittenton's interception. 65

PACKERS NEL TITLE GAMES AND PLAYOFFS

Chandler's first field goal, a game tying 22-yarder with 1:58 in regulation, remains controversial. Baltimore lovalists, led by coach Don Shula, claimed it sailed wide right. The kick, which flew high above the upright, actually triggered the league to extend the goal posts' height for the following season.

The Colts, playing without starting quarterback Johnny Unitas (knee) and his backup Gary Cuozzo (dislocated shoulder), used halfback Tom Matte as a fill-in. Matte completed only five passes, but did gain 57 yards rushing.

Baltimore held a 10-0 halftime lead, scoring 21 seconds into the game when linebacker Don Shinnick returned a Bill Anderson fumble 25 yards for a touchdown. Bart Starr, in pursuit, injured his ribs on the play. Green Bay's first from scrimmage.

Bart Starr, in one of his finest hours, threw four touchdowns, and Tom Brown thwarted a last-minute Cowboys bid, leading Green Bay to its second straight title and fourth in six years.

Playoff History

With 28 seconds left. Brown stunned most of the 74,152 fans, when he intercepted Don Meredith's fourth-down pass in the end zone.

The Packers mounted a quick 14-0 lead, after Starr hit Elijah Pitts on a 21-yard touchodown, and rookie Jim Grabowski returned a fumble 18 yards for a score. But an explosive Dallas comeback cut the margin to 21-17 by halftime, and 21-20 after Danny Villanueva's third-quarter field goal. Starr then hit Boyd Dowler and Max McGee with 16- and 28-yard scoring passes, respectively, to provide a cushion against the Cowboys' late surge.

Travis Williams scored two touchdowns, and the Packers weathered three early turnovers, downing the Rams in the first regularly-scheduled conference playoff in NFL history.

After L.A. got on the board first with Roman Gabriel's 29-yard scoring pass to Bernie Casey, the Packers responded with 28 unanswered points, in one of Milwaukee County Stadium's more memorable games.

Williams rushed for 88 yards on 18 carries, while Bart Starr threw for 222 yards with one touchdown and set a team record by completing 73.9 percent of his passes (17 of 23). End Carroll Dale caught Starr's scoring toss, one of six catches for 109 yards. The Packers also sacked Gabriel five times, including three-and-a-half by Henry Jordan.

Green Bay's kicked off a trio of postseason wins that included the legendary Ice Bowl NFL championship eight days later, and a second straight Super Bowl victory.

Green Bay led 28-9 at half, and 41-9 in the fourth. Dickey (17 of 23, 260 yards, no interceptions) tied a team playoff record with four TD passes. Jefferson (six catches) set a club postseason mark with 148 receiving yards, including a 60-yard TD reception, another record. Starr's score, on third down with no timeouts left, climaxed a 68-yard, 12-play drive which began with 4:50

Like the year before, the Packers grabbed an early 14-0 advantage. But this time the Cowboys came back, gaining a 17-14 edge on the first play of the fourth quarter, when Lance Rentzel caught a 50-yard touchdown from halfback Dan Reeves. The contest was later voted the greatest game in pro football history.

Jeff George's 65-yard touchdown pass to Eric Metcalf gave Atlanta a 7-0 edge three

Then, with less than one minute in the first half, Mark Chmura caught a 2-yard touchdown from Brett Favre, capping a 14-play, 85-yard drive, extending the lead to 27-10.

Favre's third TD toss - a perfect, lofting spiral to Dorsey Levens with just under eight minutes left - cemented the issue. Favre completed passes to nine receivers, while Bennett averaged 4.5 yards on the ground, with one TD, on 24 attempts.

1995 NFC Divisional Playoff

Jan. 6, 1996, at 3Com Park, San Fran.

Physically menacing the 49ers offense, Green Bay shocked the defending Super Bowl champions and advanced to the NFC Championship for the first time.

The victory, especially sweet for San Francisco native Mike Holmgren, marked the coach's first game against the club that launched his pro coaching career.

After the Niners blocked a field goal to end Green Bay's opening drive, the Packers defense set the tone for the rest of the game. On San Francisco's first play, Wayne Simmons drilled fullback Adam Walker on a screen pass, forcing a fumble that rookie Craig Newsome returned 31 yards for the day's first points. The Packers then mounted 62- and 72-yard scoring drives on their next two possessions; Brett Favre's touchdown passes to Keith Jackson and Mark Chmura, respectively, gave Green Bay a 21-0 secondquarter advantage.

Favre, the NFL's MVP, completed 21-of-28 passes (75 percent), while Jackson, whose two long receptions over the middle set up Packers scores, caught four for 101 yards. Robert Brooks' four catches totaled 103 yards.

The Packers defense forced four turnovers and battered Steve Young all afternoon, with three sacks and countless knockdowns. forcing him to attempt an NFL playoff-record 65 passes in a futile comeback bid. Meanwhile, San Francisco's receiver nonpareil, Jerry Rice, made 11 receptions but had few yards after the catch.

Green Bay posted the only road victory by an NFC team in the divisional playoffs from 1990-99.

Green Bay, one win from its first Super Bowl in 28 years, held a fourth-quarter lead before succumbing to the offensive firepower of the eventual league champions.

Emmitt Smith (35-150), behind his massive offensive line, rushed for three touchdowns, ending the Packers' season at Texas Stadium for the third straight year.

After the Packers converted a blocked punt into a field goal, Troy Aikman threw two TD passes to Michael Irvin. Brett Favre answered with two scores of his own - a team postseasonrecord 73-yard pass to Robert Brooks and a Keith Jackson connection — to vault Green Bay into the lead, 17-14. The Cowboys added 10 points before halftime, though, to go up 24-17.

Green Bay got the second half's first 10 points, including Favre's 1-yard touchdown pass to Brooks, and held a 27-24 lead at the end of three quarters.

But Smith's talents glistened in the fourth quarter. His two rushing TDs - sandwiched around Larry Brown's drive-killing interception in Dallas territory - gave the Cowboys their third Super Bowl appearance in four years.

1996 NFC Championship

Jan. 12, 1997, at Lambeau Field, G.B.

The Packers overcame two early deficits to defeat upstart Carolina and earn a berth to their first Super Bowl in 29 years, largely on the strength Dorsey Levens' 205 yards. It was the first title game in Green Bay since the legendary 1967 "Ice Bowl."

Not quite 10 minutes into the game, linebacker Sam Mills intercepted Brett Favre deep in Green Bay territory, setting up Kerry Collins' 3-yard TD toss to Howard Griffith. On the first snap of the second quarter, Levens evened the score, out-jumping Carolina's Eric Davis at the right edge of the end zone on a 29-yard touchdown reception. The previous play, Levens had rushed for 35 yards on third-and-1.

Carolina converted a Favre fumble, near midfield, into a field goal, but the Packers stormed back with 10 points in the final minute of the first half. Favre connected with Antonio Freeman for a touchdown on a 6-yard fade with 48 seconds remaining, capping a 15-play, 71-yard drive. When the Panthers then attempted to move down field, rookie Tyrone Williams made a diving interception at the Packers' 38, which Chris Jacke turned into a 31yard field goal 10 seconds before halftime.

Late in the third quarter, Edgar Bennett strolled untouched through the middle on a 4-yard touchdown, giving Green Bay a 27-13 lead. Levens set up the score on the previous play, going 66 yards down the right sideline on a perfectly executed screen.

Green Bay put up 479 net yards, a team playoff record. It churned out 201 rushing yards (99 on Bennett's 25 carries, 88 on only 10 attempts by Levens). Levens also made five receptions for 117 yards, and Favre completed 19 of 29 for 292 yards.

In a hard-fought, defensive struggle much like their two earlier meetings - the Packers' offensive superiority overwhelmed the Bucs on a gray day. Dorsey Levens' team playoff-record 112 rushing yards helped Green Bay maintain control. The Packers foiled three first-half field-goal opportunties. On the first, Bob Kuberski surged up the middle to block Micheal Husted's 43-yard attempt. On the second, Keith McKenzie stuffed Tampa Bay's fake field goal for no gain. Then, on the third, Bucs long snapper Dave Moore sailed the ball over his holder's head.

After Kuberski's block, Brett Favre moved 67 yards for the team's first score, a touchdown pass to Mark Chmura. Rookie Ryan Longwell then hit two field goals, the second set up by a Tyrone Williams interception in Bucs territory.

Tampa Bay, making its first playoff appearance in 15 years, got its only points after intercepting Favre and driving 94 yards for a Mike Alstott touchdown. But the Packers kept the Bucs at arm's length, when Levens, who had 88 yards after halftime, punched in a short touchdown run early in the fourth quarter and Favre converted a two-point conversion on a quarterback draw.

PACKERS 23 SAN FRANCISCO 10

1997 NFC Championship

Jan. 11. 1998, at 3Com Park, San Fran.

Green Bay, in its third straight NFC Championship never allowed the 49ers to get started and advanced to a second consecutive Super Bowl. In the process, the Packers purged San Francisco for a third straight year, the second time at 3Com.

From the outset, on a rain-swept afternoon, the Packers were able to pick on San Francisco's cornerbacks, moving 76 yards on their first possession.

Early in the second quarter, Eugene Robinson stepped in front of a Steve Young pass and weaved across the field 58 yards to the 49ers' 28. Two plays later, Antonio Freeman caught a short slant from Brett Fayre, cut back against the grain and broke several tackles for a 27-yard touchdown, and a 10-0 Green Bay lead.

Late in the opening half, the 49ers had to settle for a field goal after three straight incompletions from the Green Bay 10. Then, in the waning seconds. Favre connected with Freeman on a 40-yard bomb, to set up the half's final play, Ryan Longwell's 43-yard field goal, against a difficult wind.

Longwell, who attended nearby Cal one season earlier and had been released by the 49ers just before training camp, added his third field goal midway through the fourth quarter, giving Green Bay a more comfortable 13-point lead.

The Packers' defense, which held San Francisco to just 33 rushing yards on 18 overall carries, sacked Young in the fourth guarter four times, twice by Keith McKenzie. When Green Bay sacked Young on fourth down at his own 11 with just under four minutes remaining, the Packers quickly capitalized, scoring after two Dorsey Levens runs.

Levens broke his own, week-old franchise playoff record with 114 rushing yards - the first 100-yard effort allowed by the 49ers during the '97 season - and again did much of his work in the second half. Freeman totaled 107 yards on four catches, and punter Craig Hentrich helped Green Bay to handily win the fieldposition battle, depositing all five of his punts inside the 49ers' 20.

Following Levens' score, the Niners' Chuck Levy returned the kickoff 95 yards for San Francisco's lone touchdown, with 2:52 left in the name coach Mike Holmgren.

SAN FRANCISCO 30 PACKERS 27

1998 NFC Wild Card Playoff

Jan. 3. 1999, at 3Com Park, San Fran.

Steve Young's touchdown pass to Terrell Owens, over four defenders with three seconds remaining, ended the Packers' season. The 49ers ended their five-game Green Bay losing streak, a stretch that covered four years, including elimination from the 1995-97 playoffs. The Packers, in the postseason for a team-record sixth consecutive year, went winless in the playoffs for the first time in the span.

But Young drove 76 yards in the final two minutes, culminating in his game-winning, 25-yard bullet to Owens, who had dropped several passes. Earlier during the controversial drive, rookie Scott McGarrahan appeared to strip Jerry Rice at the Green Bay 41, and Bernardo Harris recovered, but officials ruled Rice down.

Strong running games bolstered both teams, Garrison Hearst ran for 128 of the 49ers' 178 rushing yards, while Dorsey Levens broke his own team playoff rushing mark with 116 yards. Greg Clark's two TD catches each came after Green Bay turnovers. Favre threw for 292 yards and two touchdowns, both to Freeman.

Two Packers icons - all-time sacks leader and future Hall of Famer Reggie White, and head coach Mike Holmgren - saw their Green Bay careers end. Holmoren, 84-42 overall in seven Packers seasons, became the Seahawks' executive VP of football operations/negeral manager and head coach five days later

2001 NFC Wild Card Playoff Jan. 13, 2002, at Lambeau Field, G.B.

Brett Favre orchestrated four second-half scoring drives, while Mike McKenzie and Tyrone Williams collaborated on a gameturning fourth-quarter interception as Green Bay ended the 49ers' season, 25-15. The win improved Green Bay's all-time record in home postseason contests to 13-0, including 11-0 at Lambeau Field.

McKenzie halted an ominous Niners drive halfway through the fourth quarter. The cornerback batted an underthrown pass, like a volleyball, into the hands of a nearby Williams at the Packers' 7. McKenzie had broken up another potential Terrell Owens score earlier in the fourth. After the pick, the Packers drove 93 yards to extend their lead, on Ahman Green's 9-yard TD run.

Inspired by the return of injured starters Nate Wayne and Gilbert Brown, the Packers also held the league's No. 2 rushing offense to only 71 yards on the ground. Brown recorded his first sack since 1997 on the game's first play from scrimmage. Cletidus Hunt kept the Niners off the scoreboard early when he blocked a

ST. LOUIS 45, GREEN BAY 17

2001 NFC Divisional Playoff

Jan. 20, 2002, at Dome at America's Center

St. Louis parlayed eight Green Bay turnovers into 35 points, and ended an outstanding Packers season, 45-17. The Packers suffered the largest margin of defeat in team postseason history.

Brett Favre, in his 16th career postseason game, matched an NFL playoff record with six interceptions. St. Louis returned three INTs for touchdowns.

and four of the six picks were tipped either at the line of scrimmage or by the intended receiver. The timing of the first three interceptions combined to put the game out of reach.

Favre's initial interception, early in the first quarter, was a read miscommunication with Bill Schroeder, and Aeneas Williams raced 29 yards for the day's first points. Favre answered by marching 65 yards in five plays, getting a great effort from Antonio Freeman on a 22-yard TD pass, to tie the game, 7-7.

But with St. Louis up 14-7 in the second period, Kim Herring picked off Favre and returned it 45 yards to the Green Bay 4. Two plays later, Kurt Warner hit James Hodgins on a 4-yard pass to extend the Rams' lead.

The third interception, in the third quarter, all but sealed the win. Tommy Polley grabbed a pass deflected by Grant Wistrom and sprinted 34 yards for a TD, creating a 31-10 St. Louis advantage.

Lost in the eight turnovers, which doubled the Packers' previous 2001 season high, was a strong effort by the Green Bay defense, which limited the league's best offense to its lowest yardage in 21 games. The Packers gave up only two big plays a 38-yard run by Marshall Faulk late in the first quarter and a 50yard pass from Warner to Torry Holt. Green Bay also held St. Louis to 13 first downs, its lowest total since the Rams began their offensive explosion in 1999

PACKERS NFL TITLE GAMES AND PLAYOFFS

The Packers saw a penalty nullify a 95-yard kickoff return, which would have cut the Rams' lead to 21-14 in the second quarter. 3

2002 NFC Wild Card Playoff Jan. 4, 2003, at Lambeau Field, G.B.

Undaunted by the storied stadium where his own coach lost in the "Ice Bowl" 35 years before. Michael Vick led Atlanta to a shocking upset before 65,358.

The Packers, the NFL's only 8-0 home team in 2002, had never lost a home playoff (13-0). Brett Favre was without Pro Bowl back Ahman Green (knee) and top receivers Donald Driver (shoulder) and Terry Glenn (concussion) in a futile second-half comeback attempt.

The NFC North champion Packers, who tied for the league's best record and just one week prior had a shot at the NFC home-field advantage, began their offseason much sooner than expected.

Green Bay, without top defender and Pro Bowl safety Darren Sharper (knee), even got a snowstorm but still couldn't corral any momentum. After a Vick touchdown pass gave the Falcons a quick 7-0 lead, Mark Simoneau beat the Packers' protection and blocked Josh Bidwell's punt near Green Bay's end zone. Artie Ulmer smothered the ball for another Atlanta touchdown. Then, Kevin McCadam pushed Tyrone Williams into Green Bay returner Eric Metcalf, and George Layne recovered the muffed punt. Four plays later, T.J. Duckett's TD made it 21-0. The fervent Falcons also stopped the Packers with a goal-line stand.

Favre, who had two interceptions and a fumble, hit Driver with a 14-yard touchdown on the first drive after halftime, but Driver re-injured his dislocated shoulder on the play. It was the 13th straight playoff game in which Favre threw a touchdown pass, tving Dan Marino's NEL record

GREEN BAY 33, SEATTLE 27 (OT)

2003 NFC Wild Card Playoff

Jan. 4, 2004, at Lambeau Field, G.B. Al Harris returned an interception 52 yards for an overtime touchdown to lift the Packers past the Seattle Seahawks, 33-27.

Harris scored the first defensive touchdown to win an overtime playoff in NFL history. Once he got to the end zone, his teammates tackled him, setting off a wild celebration. Harris answered with a lap around the stadium. Seattle had tied it with 51 seconds remaining on Shaun Alexander's third 1-yard touchdown run. Then, Packers kicker Ryan Longwell was short on a 47-yard field goal attempt as regulation time expired. Seattle won the coin toss, and Hasselbeck told the official, "We want the ball, and we're going to score." The Seahawks got the ball, but punted. After Seattle got the ball back, it was Harris who scored on the game's only turnover.

Favre, as usual, thrived in the cold. He set an NFL record by throwing for a touchdown in a 14th straight playoff game and rallied the Packers to a 27-20 lead.

Early on, the Seahawks - who lost 35-13 in Green Bay the prior October - shut down Ahman Green, who rushed for 1,883 yards in the regular season. But he came on late, particularly on short-yardage plays. After falling behind 20-13, Green Bay covered 60 yards in 12 plays. Green converted a fourth-and-1 from the 3 before surging into the end zone to tie it with 10:01 left.

Early in overtime, replay helped the Seahawks when Alex Bannister was ruled to have fumbled. But a video review overturned the call, to cascading boos. The game was even on key calls - and in just about every other way. In the first half, Hasselbeck tried to stop his passing motion and lost the ball at the Green Bay 17. Nick Barnett retrieved it and ran for a touchdown, but Mike Holmgren challenged the call and won.

Javon Walker's 44-yard reception led to Favre's playoff TD record. His 23-yard laser found Bubba Franks at the goal line as defender Damien Robinson fell down. Favre, who threw for 319 yards, was tied with former Dolphins star Dan Marino for the record of 13 straight games.

Longwell's 27-yarder made it 13-6 at halftime, but Seattle tied it with a 75-yard drive to open the second half. Alexander ran in from the 1 on fourth down after left guard Steve Hutchinson caught a deflected pass on the previous play.

Favre moved into third place in career playoff completions (364) and touchdown passes (31), ahead of John Elway.

2003 NFC Divisional Playoff

Jan. 11, 2004, at Lincoln Financial Field, Phi.

Brian Dawkins' overtime interception set up David Akers' winning field goal, but the Eagles really advanced to the NFC title game thanks to Donovan McNabb.

With the Eagles trailing 17-14 and 1:12 left in regulation, he breathed life into his team with a 28-yard completion to Freddie Mitchell on a fourth-and-26. That, in turn, led to a 37-yard field goal by Akers that sent the game into overtime. McNabb threw for 248 yards and two TDs, and rushed for 107 yards.

Duce Staley had two big runs - one for 22 on the Eagles' first play of their final regulation drive and another of 11 yards in overtime to help set up the winning field goal. Staley's contribution was especially needed with the Eagles missing all-purpose running back Brian Westbrook, who scored 13 touchdowns in the regular season but sat out with a torn triceps muscle.

The Packers (11-7) had won seven of their last eight, including three straight since Brett Favre's father died just before Christmas. Green Bay became the second NFL team to play consecutive overtime playoff games, joining the 1987 Browns.

The Packers led 14-7 at halftime, but the Eagles had the momentum after stopping Ahman Green on fourth down from the 1-yard line late in the second quarter.

Green Bay scored twice in the first quarter on passes of 40 and yards from Favre to Robert Ferguson, the first set up by a McNabb fumble. The Eagles countered midway through the second quarter on McNabb's 7-yard TD pass to Staley. It came one play after a 45-yard completion from McNabb to Todd Pinkston. Philadelphia tied it early in the fourth quarter when McNabb scrambled out of trouble and found Pinkston just inside the right pylon from 12 yards out.

Favre's 44-yard pass to Javon Walker set up Ryan Longwell's 21-yard field goal that gave the Packers a 17-14 lead with 10:21 left in the fourth. Favre's 180 yards passing moved him ahead of Dan Marino into third place on the career playoff yardage list.

2004 NFC Wild Card Playoff

Jan. 9, 2005, at Lambeau Field, G.B.

this showdown at Lambeau Field.

Daunte Culpepper threw four touchdown passes and the Vikings picked off four Brett Favre passes.

Minnesota scored on its first three possessions, jumping out to a 17-0 lead in avenging two 34-31 losses to the Packers, who entered the playoffs as the NFC's hottest team.

The Packers lost Pro Bowl receiver Javon Walker and left tackle Chad Clifton, but pulled to 24-17 on Najeh Davenport's 1-yard plunge with 13:37 left. Then two costly defensive penalties set up Culpepper's 34-yard touchdown toss to Moss, giving the Vikings a 14-point cushion with 10:18 remaining.

On the first series, Culpepper lofted the ball over Nick Barnett and Moe Williams broke a tackle, scampering 68 yards for a touchdown 1:40 into the game. After the Packers went three-andout, the Vikings made it 14-0 on Moss's 20-yard TD catch. Antoine Winfield's interception on the next possession set up Morten Andersen's 35-yard field goal that made it 17-0.

The Packers pulled to 17-10 on Ryan Longwell's 43-yard field goal and Bubba Franks' 4-yard TD catch, and they caught a huge break when Andersen slipped on a 29-yard field goal attempt.

But Walker, who bruised his shin earlier in the second quarter and didn't play after half, changed his deep route and Brian Russell intercepted the pass, leading to a Burleson touchdown.

The Packers drove to the Vikings' 8, but Favre was whistled for an illegal forward pass when he scrambled and flung the ball to Walker in the end zone. Then, Longwell missed a 28-yarder.

Favre surpassed No. 2 Dan Marino and No. 3 John Elway on the all-time postseason completions and pass attempts lists. respectively. He also extended his NFL record with a TD pass in a 16th consecutive playoff game.

EEN BAY PACKER

PACKERS IN THE PRO FOOTBALL HALL OF FAME

The Green Bay Packers have 20 individuals who spent the majority of their careers with the club in the Pro Football Hall of Fame in Canton, Ohio, including 2003 addition James Lofton. The Packers' total is second only to that of the Chicago Bears, who have 26. The Pittsburgh Steelers (17) and New York Giants (16) are next.

In addition, five other players who played briefly for Green Bay — defensive end Len Ford, linebacker Ted Hendricks, guard/coach Walt Kiesling, kicker Jan Stenerud and safety Emlen Tunnell — have their busts displayed in the Hall of Fame.

Biographies of the Packers' 20 primary HOF players follow:

Packers Hall of Fame, Green Bay

The Packers Hall of Fame, which now has a new and expanded home in the Lambeau Field Atrium, owns a unique place in the history of professional football. Now in its 30th year, it was the first permanent hall of fame devoted to one team.

Founded by William L. Brault, a local loyalist and restauranteur with a deep appreciation for Packers history and tradition -- as well as the intriguing vision for a team museum - it was formally dedicated on April 3, 1976, by then President Gerald R. Ford. On Sept. 4, 2003, Bart Starr and Ron Wolf rededicated the Packers Hall of Fame, which moved into the Lambeau Field Atrium complete with a new design complemented by a variety of additional, state-of-the-art exhibits.

To date, 133 individuals — players, coaches and contributors — have been enshrined, including Edgar Bennett and Don Majkowski, inducted during a memorable ceremony in July.

For the record, the Hall of Fame was informally launched by Brault in 1966 as a series of exhibits displayed in the concourse of the Brown County Veterans Memorial Arena - exhibits that had to be removed each autumn to make room for the Green Bay Bobcats hockey team and its schedule. The annual induction banquets were subsequently launched in 1970 but the "Hall" did not become a permanent, year-round entity until 1976.

The Green Bay Packers Hall of Fame, Inc., is a separate corporation organized and operated for purposes permitted for taxexempt status under 501 (c)(3) of the Internal Revenue Code of 1986. All revenue is dedicated and invested only for such purposes. Donation of memorabilia is tax-deductable

Pro Bowl Votina

- ►The NFL is the only pro sports league that combines all-star voting by fans, players and coaches.
- ►NFL players and coaches cast their Pro Bowl ballots usually in Week 15.
- Mike Sherman and the PR department conduct voting, asking that players (1) not vote for their own tearmates, and (2) offensive players & coaches vote for defensive players, and vice versa.
- ►The consensus ballots of fans, players and coaches each count one-third toward determining the 43-man AFC & NFC rosters.
- Fan voting is used to break any tie.

- ► Brett Favre was the NFL's top fan votegetter in 2001 (670,401) and 2002 (930,270).
- ► In 2001, the league began announcing AFC & NFC starters separately. The NFL names entire rosters the Wednesday before Week 16 games, and the starters during Wild Card Weekend.
- ►The NFL became the first professional league to offer online voting, in 1995.
- According to the current collective bargaining agreement, each Pro Bowl player on the winning team earns $35,000; each Pro Bowl player on the losing team earns $17,500.

MONDAY NIGHT FOOTBALL

- On Monday Night Football for a 13th consecutive season, the Packers make three more appearances in 2005.
- The Packers own the NFC's longest MNF appearance streak -13 seasons (1993-2005). Minnesota (15, 1987-2001) and Dallas (11, 1991-2001) both ended long stretches in 2002. Miami (15, 1990-2004) saw its streak end this year. In the NFL, only Denver (14, 1992-2005) now has a longer streak.
- From 1996-2005, the league has featured Green Bay on MNF more than any other team - 24 times.
- Prior to the current 13-year string, Green Bay didn't appear for six straight years, 1986-92.
- ▶ Brett Favre is 17-10 in 27 Monday night starts (1993-2004). He was 6-1 during his three consecutive MVP seasons, 1995-97.
- Favre and Robert Brooks own the MNF record for longest pass completion, a 99-yard touchdown strike at Chicago, Sept. 11, 1995 (Packers franchise record, tied NFL record).
- ► The Packers are 24-20-1 in the regular season on MNF, which consistently ranks among the nation's top 10 shows.
- During a memorable Oct. 17, 1983, Redskins-Packers game, still the highest scoring game in MNF history - Green Bay won a 48-47 track meet. Facing the defending Super Bowl champions, the Packers prevailed in a contest featuring 11 touchdowns, 11 extra points and six field goals, Jan Stenerud's 20-yard FG with 54 seconds left decided the issue. The 'Skins' Mark Moseley missed a 39-yard try as time expired. The contest also represented the highest scoring game in the Packers' history, surpassing Green Bay's 52-35 loss at Detroit in 1951.

PACKERS ANNUAL CHARITY GAMES

THE SHRINE GAME

- Freen Bay plays host to the San Diego Chargers in the 56th annual Upper Midwest Shrine Game, one of the NFL's longest team traditions.
- Each season, the Packers donate a percentage of the gate to the Shripers' Hospitals for Children
- The Shriners' facilities provide specialized medical services, helping children with birth defects and other injuries, at absolutely no cost
- To date, the series has raised about $3 million for the Midwest Shrine's burn centers and hospitals for crippled children.

THE BISHOP'S CHARITIES GAME

In 1961, the Diocese of Green Ray approached Vince Lombardi about playing a second charitable contest in Green Bay (the Shrine name was already a fixture in Milwaukee).

Lombardi, a devout Catholic, agreed to the contest. The original contract gave the Packers, their opponent and the church each one-third of the gate receipts.

During the 1970s, the Packers and the church changed the contract so the Diocese would receive a flat donation rather than a percentage

For more than 30 years, the church handled much of the game's business-related tasks, including game program and advertising sales, using a network of volunteers covering 14 Northeastern Wisconsin counties. The Packers assumed many of those tasks beginning in 1994.

- To date, the series has raised more than $2.8 million.
- ► In 2005, the Packers host Super Bowl champion New England in the 45th annual contest.

AT CHICAGO

BIRTH OF A TEAM, AND A LEGEND

On Aug. 11, 1919, a score or more husky young athletes. called together by Curly Lambeau and George Calhoun, gathered in the dingy editorial room of the old Green Bay Press-Gazette building on Cherry Street and organized a football team. They didn't know it, but that was the beginning of the incredible saga of the Green Bay Packers.

Lambeau and Calhoun struck the initial spark a few weeks before during a casual street-corner conversation. It was apparently a "Why not get up a football team?" remark, but once they were interested they wasted no time.

First they talked Curly's employer - a war-time industry called the Indian Packing Company, where he worked as a shipping clerk for $250/month - into putting up money for jerseys.

Because the company provided jerseys and permitted the use of its athletic field for practice, the club was identified in its early publicity as a project of the company. With this tie-in the name "Packers" was a natural, and Packers they have been ever Lambeau family immigrates from Belgium to Northeast since, although the Indian Packing Co. had practically faded out of the picture before that first season was half over.

That first season the team won Lambeau contracts severe tonsilitis after 1918 season and 10 and lost only one, against foes from Wisconsin and Upper Michigan, Games were played in an open field with no fences or bleachers, and interested fans "passed the hat." But the team was so successful by 1921 that Lambeau was backed by two officials of the packing plant in obtaining a franchise (Aug. 27, 1921) in the new national pro football league that had been formed in 1920. Cash customers didn't quite pay the freight and the team had to be forfeited at year's end.

This was the first in a long series of troubles that the now famous team overcame, for in 1922 Lambeau gained other backers and bought the franchise back for $250, including $50 of his own money. Troubles continued during that season. One game was rained out and the insurance company wouldn't pay off because the official amount of rain was one one-hundredth of an inch short of that required in the policy.

However, another storm late in the season, when the Packers were scheduled to play the Duluth Kelleys, threatened to throw Lambeau further into debt. But A.B. Turnbull, Green Bay Press-Gazette general manager, advanced Lambeau the Duluth guarantee. He then lobbied town businessmen ("The Hungry Five") behind the team, and formed the Green Bay Football Corporation.

From those modest and somewhat tenuous beginnings, the Packers have gone on to earn national stature and virtual worldwide recognition by winning more championships (12) over the intervening 80-plus years than any team in pro football.

These achievements, while representing a town of just around 100,000 in competition with the country's largest markets, have endeared the Packers to the nation. The David vs. Goliath concept and the team's unique status as a publicly owned corporation has intrigued generations.

Calhoun

The Packers' colorful saga spans 86 years from the "Iron Man" period of the first decade under founder Curly Lambeau, to the present day, which finds Mike Sherman presiding as the team's 13th head coach.

THE IRON MAN ERA

Mike Michalske, Johnny (Blood) McNally, Bill Kern, Arnie Herber, Clarke Hinkle, Lavvie Dilweg, Tom Nash, Milt Gantenbein and Hank Bruder. In many games, players would go for almost the full 60 minutes. These teams were hailed all over the country as some of the greatest ever.

THE HUTSON PERIOD

Trouble flared again in 1934. when a fan fell from the stands. sued and won a $5,000 verdict. After their insurance company went bankrupt, the Packers went into receivership and were just about to fold when Green Bay businessmen came to the rescue again, raised $15,000 in new capital and reorganized the club.

About this time (1935), a rather slight, lanky end by the name of Don Hutson came to the club. He actually signed two contracts, with Green Bay and the Brooklyn Dodgers, But commissioner Joe Carr awarded Hutson to the Packers, because Green Bay's postmark was earlier.

Men who influenced the Packers' infancy

- ► George Whitney Calhoun, sports editor, Green Bay Press-Gazette, team manager, publicist and traveling secretary from 1919-47; used paper to personally target and recruit local athletes for first gathering in 1919, and to draw fans to games during financially shaky early seasons. Passed his hat along sidelines at Hagemeister Park to raise money for team.
- ► Earl "Curly" Lambeau, founder and first team captain; persuaded employers to purchase equipment and join American Professional Football Association (became NFL); starred as player from 1921-28; coached team for 31 seasons
- Frank Peck, Lambeau's boss at Indian Packing Company, handed team $500 for first uniforms and equipment
- ► John Clair, chairman, Acme Packing Company, bought team and Indian Packing Company in 1919; convinced by Lambeau to apply for franchise in new American Professional Football Association (NFL): forfeited financially unstable team after '21
- ► Don Murphy, Lambeau's friend; drove to Canton and 1922 league meeting with Lambeau, who wanted to re-enter league (NFL banished franchise for using active college players in 1921); upon arrival, Murphy sold his Marmon Roadster for $1,500, gave $200 to Lambeau to meet most of $250 reentry fee (Lambeau chipped in $50 of own money), and used some of rest to buy Green Bay train tickets. In return, Lambeau allowed Murphy to play in one game (he covered on season's first non-league kickoff at Duluth, Sept. 24).
- Andrew B. Turnbull, general manager, Green Bay Press-Gazette: first president of Packers corporation; kept team afloat in 1922, then rallied local businessmen to purchase stock and turn Packers into non-profit corporation in August. 1923

The first game

The Packers played independently from 1919-1920. After joining the American Professional Football Association (renamed NFL in 1922), they played their first official league game Oct. 23, 1921, a 7-6 win over the Minneapolis Marines at Green Bay's Hagemeister Park.

With about six minutes left in the fourth quarter, the Marines muffed Cub Buck's punt, and Dave Hayes recovered at the Minneapolis 35. Three plays later, with the crowd chanting "throw a forward," Curly Lambeau hit Buff Wagner for 18 yards. The franchise's first completion, the play set up Art Schmael's 4-yard touchdown run. Lambeau's extra-point, with Buck holding, gave the Packers their first win.

From his first game on, Hutson became the terror of the league and the secret of Green Bay's next three championships. His arrival and corresponding attendance increases allowed the team to buy itself out of receivership in 1935. With Herber and Cecil Isbell pitching and Hutson catching anything they threw at him, despite any kind of a stop-Hutson defense, Green Bay won championships in 1936, 1939 and 1944.

After Hutson's retirement, Packer fortunes again declined. The disastrous pro football war, between the NFL and the new All-America Football Conference, brought on another financial crisis after the 1949 season. From 1946-48, the financially strapped Packers lost two of their three No. 1 draft choices to the AAFC, unable to bid with the rival league. Desperate for new income, the Packers held an old-timers game and intrasquad scrimmage on Thanskgiving Day, 1949, and raised $50,000.

chase Rockwood Lodge for training camp. Lambeau resigned, Jan. 31, 1950, ending his 31-year run in Green Bay, to become the Chicago Cardinals' head coach.

RONZANI REGIME

To replace Lambeau, the Packers hired Gene Ronzani of the Bears, the most significant step in yet another major reorganization and rebuilding effort. Nearly $125,000 was raised in a giant 1950 stock sale all over the state. Under Ronzani, Green Bay's best season was 1952; the Packers were in the thick of the title chase until the season's last weeks. In 1953, the team played erratic ball and Ronzani resigned with two games remaining.

Before he departed, though, Ronzani hired Jack Vainisi as fulltime talent scout. Vainisi would receive credit for discovering the six Packers Hall of Famers drafted from 1953-58: C Jim Ringo, T Forrest Gregg, QB Bart Starr, HB Paul Hornung, FB Jim Taylor and LB Ray Nitschke.

BLACKBOURN TAKES OVER

The Packers overhauled their front office and coaching staff in 1954, hiring Verne Lewellen, all-time Packers great, attorney and businessman, as general manager. Reaching into the college ranks, Green Bay named Lisle Blackbourn, of Marquette University, its third coach. The Packers were 17-31 during Blackbourn's four years

On April 3, 1956, voters approved a referendum to fund construction of a new stadium. The Packers dedicated the facility (renamed Lambeau Field in 1965), Sept. 29, 1957.

McLEAN MOVES UP

Likable Ray "Scooter" McLean moved up from being an outstanding assistant coach to guide the destiny of the Packers for 1958. McLean resigned in December after a 1-10-1 record, the worst in Packer history in his lone season as head coach.

THE LOMBARDI ERA

The Packers took their time after McLean's resignation. Vainisi conducted Phase II of the '59 draft by himself, as the team debated whether to hire a general manager as well as a coach, or one person for both positions. The search spanned from the CFL to the college ranks, and even included a GM application from Curly Lambeau.

On. Jan. 28, when team president Dominic Olejniczak recommended to the committee a little-known Giants assistant, longtime committee member John Torinus replied, "Who the hell is Vince Lombardi?"

The committee, and the world, quickly found out. Within hours after his arrival on Feb. 2, Lombardi told the committee, "I want it understood that I am in complete command here." Two days later the Packers officially gave Lombardi both titles.

- ► Packers use two active Notre Dame players in non-league game against Chicago Supremes after 1921 season. Upset at teams using illegal players, league makes example of Packers, strips Green Bay of team (Jan. 28, 1922). NFL owners reinstate Packers at Canton league meeting, after Lambeau apologizes, pays $250 franchise fee, making him team's new owner.
- Fearing weather would scare fans in 1922, team purchases rain insurance for Oct. 8 Racine game; if official precipitation was at least .1 inches, insurance would pay Racine's guarantee; rained only .09 inches, game drew minimal attendance, and Packers stuck with debt to opponent.
- On Nov. 4, 1922, with team too poor for rain insurance and fearing another sparse turnout for next day's game with Columbus, Andrew Turnbull advances Lambeau funds to pay quarantee, then after season recruits local businessmen. turns Packers into non-profit corporation in August, 1923 and holds first stock sale, raising $5,000.
- Small-town Packers gain national respect, defeating mighty Giants at Polo Grounds, 7-0, Nov. 18, 1928.
- Lambeau signs Johnny Blood, Cal Hubbard and Mike Michalske before '29 season, wins three straight NFL titles (1929-31).
- Fan falls from bleachers, sues, court awards $5,000. Packers turn to their public-liability (mutual) insurance company, but it's casualty of Great Depression; team needs additional $2,500 to settle with creditors.

$15,000, pays off all debts.

Circuit Court Judge and Packer fan Henry Graass turns team into receivership of CPA Frank Jonet, Packer stockholder who allows team to be reorganized from Green Bay Football Corporation to Green Bay Packers, Inc. ▶ President Lee Joannes organizes 1935 stock drive, raises

In his first season, 1959, Lombardi went 7-5, netting unanious 'Coach of the Year,' Then in 1960, the Packers captured the Western Division title, only to lose the NFL title game at Philadelphia. However, Lombardi rebounded to win world championships in 1961, '62, '65, '66, and '67.

His teams, which finished no lower than second from 1960-67 and became the standard of football excellence. Lombardi in nine years went 98-30-4 (.758), including 9-1 in postseason, winning his final nine playoff games.

BENGTSON PERIOD

Following the third consecutive title in 1967, Lombardi turned over the head coaching duties to Phil Bengtson and one year later announced that he was leaving Green Bay to coach and manage the Washington Redskins. Bengtson coached the Packers from 1968-1970, compiling a 20-21-1 record. He resigned in December, 1970.

THE DEVINE DAYS

Dan Devine, one of the nation's three most successful college coaches, succeeded Bengtson as head coach and general manager in January 1971. After settling for a 4-8-2 record during his first year, Devine and the Packers appeared on the road to new heights when 1972 produced a 10-4 record and the team's first Central Division title since 1967. But the Packers' Super Bowl hopes dissolved in the second half of '73 and they slipped to 5-7-2. They continued their recession in '74, going 6-8, and Devine resigned.

THE STARR TREK

The most successful field general in pro football history, winning five world championships from 1961-67, Bart Starr accepted the challenge to lead the Packers out of the NFL wilderness. agreeing to a three-year contract as head coach and general manager, Dec. 24, 1974, Starr asked for "the prayers and patience of Packer fans everywhere...We will earn everything else.

Although he had a 4-10 record in 1975, the baptismal season of a massive rebuilding project, Starr gave fans new hope by assembling a sound organization and restoring a positive attitude. underscored by three victories in the last five games of the '75 season. He continued the resurgent trend in 1976, leading the Packers to a 5-9 record, highlighted by a three-game, mid-season winning streak. Major and key injuries slowed the comeback in 1977 but a strong finish produced a 4-10 mark. Hopes soared in 1978 when the Packers posted their first winning slate since 1972, an 8-7-1 record, only to be temporarily dampened in '79 by a record rash of injuries which spawned a 5-11 mark. Another injury epidemic, one which saw 27 players on injured reserve during the course of the season, struck in 1980, forcing the Packers to settle for a 5-10-1 record.

Rebounding strongly in 1981, they rallied from a disappointing 2-6 start to mount one of the most dramatic comebacks in team history, closing with a 6-2 rush (an 8-8 mark), one win shy of the playoffs.

The Packers continued the upsurge in 1982 when they qualified for the playoffs for the first time since 1972 by going 5-3-1 during a strikeinterrupted season. They then embellished that performance by routing St. Louis 41-16 in the first round of the NFL's Super Bowl Tournament, before bowing to Dallas (37-26) despite a recordsetting, 466-yard offensive effort. Starr was relieved of his head coaching duties Dec. 19, 1983, after the Packers finished the season 8-8 and missed the playoffs on the season's final week.

THE GREGG ERA

On Dec. 24, 1984, Forrest Grego, a former Starr teammate and one of the premier offensive tackles in football history, became the ninth head coach. Gregg had maneuvered Cincinnati into Super Bowl XVI following the 1981 season, Gregg, whose 19-6 Cincinnati record over the 1981-82 seasons was the best in pro football, received a fiveyear contract.

In taking over, he declared, "I took this job to field a winning team. That will happen."

Gregg's prediction began to bear fruit in the second half of the 1984 season when the Packers rebounded from an injury-ridden 1-7 start to win seven of their last eight.

Because of injury and other complications, however, 1985 followed the '84 script, the Packers getting off to a 3-6 start before mounting a strong finish to again close at 8-8, winning five of their last seven.

Gregg, convinced the time had come to rebuild a team that was 8-8 three straight years, and was "starting to get old," made sweeping personnel changes in 1986. The young Packers, their task complicated by injuries to key performers, got off to an 0-6 start, then began to mature in mid-season and finished 4-12.

Following the '87 season, when the club finished third in the NFC Central (5-9-1), Gregg resigned (Jan. 15, 1988) to become head coach at his alma mater. Southern Methodist University.

INFANTE SIGNS ON

Nineteen days later (Feb. 3), Cleveland Browns offensive coordinator Lindy Infante, recognized throughout the NFL as a brilliant innovator, signed a five-year contract. Plagued by turnovers and kicking problems, Infante's first team, in 1988, was 4-12, but left fans with hopes for the future by winning its last two games

Building on that positive note, Infante in 1989 escorted the Packers to a 10-6 record — their best in 17 years — and within one game of the playoffs, spicing that turnabout with a leaguerecord four one-point victories.

In 1990, subsequent high hopes for the team's first postseason berth in a non-strike year since 1972, evaporated when the Packers - with a contending, 6-5 record after 11 games ended the year with five straight losses.

The Packers' continued to decline in 1991 (4-12). New executive vice president/general manager Ron Wolf dismissed Infante Dec. 22. Green Bay had hired Wolf, Nov. 27, with full football operations authority.

THE HOLMGREN ERA

Wolf named Mike Holmgren, architect of San Francisco's fourtime Super Bowl champions, to succeed Infante, Jan. 11, 1992. Holmgren, sought by five other clubs, got a five-year contract.

In his first season, 1992, the former USC field general

First quarterbacks

The Green Bay Press-Gazette, in editions following the inaugural league game Oct. 23, 1921, vs. Minneapolis, listed Adolph Kliebhan as the first starting quarterback in team his tory. Kliebhan, however, played his only career league game that afternoon, and didn't see many plays.

While Kliebhan was the first starter, Curly Lambeau was really the team's first "field general." Lambeau would have started the Marines game had he not kept himself out after starting each of the four non-league contests. Lambeau threw both Packers passes that day. In fact, he started four of the team's remaining five games (Art Schmael started the Packers second game, vs. Rock Island Oct. 30, 1921; Lambeau started the last four).

Toward the end of Lambeau's playing days, he turned mainly to Red Dunn. However, Arnie Herber, who played from 1930-40 and like Lambeau hailed from Green Bay, was the team's first pure passer. Don Hutson, credited with inventing pass patterns formed the Herber-to-Hutson combination, which terrified opponents from 1935-40.

From Lambeau to Bart Starr to Brett Favre, more than 125 Packers have attempted a pass, many in the 1920s, when the snap usually went to the halfback, who also called the cadence directed the Packers to a 9-7 record and within sight of the playoffs. He became only the third Packers head coach with a winning record in his first season, punctuated by a six-game winning streak, the team's longest since 1965.

Holmgren took his team to the playoffs in 1993 - despite losing four starters to injury. Forging a second straight 9-7 record against a considerably more demanding schedule - Green Bay got its first playoff berth in 10 years. In the first round, the Packers came from behind in the last minute to beat Detroit, 28-24. They then fell at Dallas, 27-17, in the divisional round

In 1994, the Packers registered a third consecutive 9-7 mark and second straight playoff trip - the first time that had happened since the Titletown days of the '60s. Riding a three-game winning streak into the postseason, they parlayed a record defensive performance and a turnover-free offensive effort into a 16-12 victory over Detroit - their first home playoff game since the '82 season - holding the incomparable Barry Sanders to minus-1 yard in 13 attempts. The Packers advanced without the services of All-Pro receiver Sterling Sharpe, whose neck injury, diagnosed after the regular-season finale, ended his brilliant Green Bay career. For a second straight year, the Packers' run ended in Dallas, 35-9.

Closing ranks with great results following Sharpe's loss, the 1995 Packers put together one of the hallmark seasons in their history. Winning six of their last seven games, they captured their first NFC Central Division crown since 1972, then made their best postseason showing in more than 28 years, forging all the way to the NFC Championship Game.

n route, they closed the regular season 11-5 — their best mark since the 1966 NFL championship club (12-2) and followed by dispatching the Falcons, 37-20, in a firstround playoff at Lambeau Field. Building on that triumph, the Packers mounted one of the premier performances in their postseason history, formally dethroning the defending Super Bowl champion San Francisco 49ers in their own 3Com Park, 27-17. Again, however, dreams of a Super Bowl floundered in Dallas, 38-27, in the NFC title game, after leading 27-24 at the end of three quarters.

Putting nearly three decades of disappointment emphatically behind, the Packers rewarded their long-patient faithful in 1996. Shunting aside eight of their first nine foes, they swept to a 13-3 record and their second straight division championship. Then, they captured their first NFL title since 1967, dispatching New England, 35-21, in Super Bowl XXXI at the Superdome.

Displaying impressive consistency on both sides of the ball, they documented their superiority, outscoring three opponents 100-48 in a postseason sweep. Appropriately, the first two wins in the NFC title game.

three-or-more Super Bowls (Dallas, San Francisco, Pittsburgh, Oakland and Washington).

The Packers thus entered 1997 with an opportunity to win back-to-back Super Bowls for a second time - and came breath; takingly close to achieving their objective. Sweeping to a second consecutive 13-3 mark, tying a club record with 13 wins, they primed for the playoffs by ending the season with five straight wins. After a third consecutive division title, they launched their bid at Lambeau in workmanlike fashion, turning back Tampa Bay in the divisional playoff, 21-7. The win padded their all-time home-field, postseason record to 12-0, extending the longest such winning streak in pro football history.

Forced to win on the road for a return to the ultimate game, the Packers smothered the 49ers on a soggy, rain-swept afternoon in San Francisco, 23-10. Garnering a berth in the Super Bowl, Green Bay held the Niners without an offensive touchdown.

In a see-saw affair, Super Bowl XXXII in San Diego found the Packers trailing Denver at halftime, 17-14. Hopes of a repeat were high, however, when quarterback Brett Favre engineered an 85-yard drive, knotting the contest, 24-24, early in the fourth quarter. But the Broncos later scored with only 1:45 remaining and a last-minute Packers drive fell short when Favre's pass for tight end Mark Chmura fell incomplete inside the Denver 20, with only 28 seconds left, sealing the Broncos' 31-24 win.

A third straight Super Bowl trip, a realistic goal at the outset, eluded the Packers in 1998, their 80th season. Historic accomplishment, however, did not as they advanced to the playoffs for the sixth year in a row, a team record, while posting a seventh consecutive winning season. Green Bay overcame multiple injuries, including the loss of Pro Bowl running back Dorsey Levens (out nine games) and center Frank Winters (stretch run and postseason), each with a broken leg. They set another team record by stretching their Lambeau Field winning streak to 25 games — the second-longest in NFL history — before falling to Minnesota Vikings Oct. 5. They finished 11-5, equaling another team standard by posting a double-digit victory total for the fourth consecutive year (11-5 in 1995, 13-3 in both 1996 and 1997). The only other time Green Bay had strung together four seasons of 10-plus wins was 67 years earlier - Curly Lambeau's triple NFL champions of 1929-32 (12-0-1 in 1929, 10-3-1 in 1930, 12-2 in 1931 and 10-3-1 in 1932).

In the wake of these considerable achievements, the Packers' season came to a dramatic and painful end in an NFC Wild Card game at San Francisco, when a 27-23 lead abruptly dissolved into a 30-27 49ers victory. Steve Young's 25-yard touchdown pass to Terrell Owens sealed the game with just three seconds left.

Only five days later, Holmgren resigned to become head coach and direct football operations for the Seattle Seahawks.

ROUGH RHODE(S)

Moving swiftly, Wolf tabbed Ray Rhodes, former Eagles head coach and Green Bay defensive coordinator, as the Packers' 12th head coach, Jan. 11, 1999.

The Packers launched 1999 under Rhodes in breathtaking fashion, literally winning three of the first four in the last

Despite a sprained passing thumb, Favre's heroics brought his team from behind on all three occasions. His 1-yard touchdown pass to Jeff Thomason pulled out a victory over Oakland, 28-24, with only 11 seconds left in the opener. His 23-yard TD strike to Corey Bradford propelled the Packers past Minnesota, 23-20, with 12 seconds left in Week 3. And, his 21-yard scoring throw to Antonio Freeman snatched victory from Tampa Bay's grasp, 26-23, with 1:05 to play in Week 4

Packers Story

Fate, however, suddenly stopped smiling as Green Bay lost ur of its next five. After a three-game winning streak (Detroit, San Francisco, Chicago), three straight losses put the six-year playoff streak in jeopardy. On the season's final Sunday, Dallas' playon streak in jeducidy. On the Giants The most unique team in sports eliminated Green Bay. The Packers (8-8) 1992, ending seven straight winning seasons.

Saving the Packers lacked the needed toughness and fire, Wolf relieved Rhodes Team plays in major sports' smallest TV marhours after the season finale.

THE PRESENT

After searching more than two weeks, Wolf surprised many NFL observers by naming Mike Sherman, the Seahawks' offensive coordinator and Green Bay's tight ends coach from 1997-98, as the Packers' 13th head coach, Jan. 18, 2000.

quietly confident, 21-year coaching veteran. Sherman immediately promised to bring structure. discipline and team chemistry to the 2000 Packers. He also shared his longtime love affair with the Green Bay Packers Massachusetts childhood, when he would read Lombardi's books on football each night before bed.

To his considerable credit, Sherman in 2000 surmounted multiple injuries, including Favre's prolonged bout with elbow tendinifis, and finished 9-7, inches from the playoffs.

Not easily turned aside, he persevered, through an 0-2 start, and even when the record slipped to 5-7 by the end of November. Sherman rallied his troops for a rousing finish, beating NFC Central rivals Chicago, Detroit, Minnesota and Tampa Bay (in overtime), to complete a December sweep. The only other Packers coach to win his last four games in his first year was Lombardi in 1959. The Packers defeated more teams with winning records (six) than anyone in the league, went 5-2 against playoff teams and rediscovered the Lambeau Field advantage by winning their last five in Green Bay

One month after that stirring finish, Wolf retired as the team's executive vice president and general manager, Feb. 1, and president Bob Harlan quickly named Sherman to replace Wolf. Sherman became the first head coach with the GM title since Bart Starr in 1980.

Wolf's impressive nine-year tenure included the team's first Super Bowl (1996) in 29 years, back-to-back NFC titles (1996-97), 101 total victories (including eight in the playoffs), eight winning seasons (1992-98, 2000), six straight playoff appearances (1993-98) and the NFL's best regular-season record (83-45) since the 1993 advent of free agency.

Harlan replaced Wolf with Sherman. Now with full authority over football, Sherman answered in 2001 by returning the Packers to the playoffs, improving his winning percentage to .656 (21-11). best ever over a Packer coach's first two years.

Behind Favre and explosive Ahman Green (1,981 yards from scrimmage) the Packers went 12-4, but couldn't grasp the division title, despite sweeping the division champion Bears.

The Packers knocked off the Niners in a Wild Card playoff, but couldn't get past eventual NFC champion St. Louis.

In 2002, Green Bay overcame its most injury-plagued season in recent memory to tie for the league's best record, 12-4. Despite injured starters missing 63 combined games, the Packers clinched their division, the inaugural NFC North title, on Dec. 1. earlier than any NFL team, and any other year in franchise history (four games remaining).

On offense, the Packers for the first time in their history did not return a starting receiver, after releasing Freeman and allowing Bill Schroeder to leave in free agency. Nontheless, Favre finished two votes shy of a fourth MVP, and Donald Driver emerged to lead a young receiver corps.

Defensively, behind Pro Bowler Darren Sharper, the team ranked third in the NFL against the pass and led the league with 45 takeaways, six more than any other team. What's more, for the > first time since 1965, the Packers held at least a share of the league lead in turnover ratio (plus-17).

Michael Vick and the Falcons became the first team ever to beat the Packers (13-1) at home in the playoffs.

A return to the NFC Championship slipped painfully through the Packers' fingers in 2003. Donovan McNabb led the Eagles to a come-from-behind, 20-17 overtime win to end an emotional Packers run in the Divisional playoffs.

The loss snapped a memorable fivegame winning streak. The stretch included changes to three of the most revered records in Packers history (Forrest Gregg's 33-year-old consecutive-games streak, broken by Favre; Jim Taylor's 41vear-old season rushing record, Green; and Don Hutson's 58-year-old career scoring mark, Ryan Longwell). One day after the death of his father, Favre turned in the best game of his career, throwing for four TDs in a 41-7 win at Oakland. Then, Green Bay captured an improbable division title in the last two minutes of the season, when Arizona upset Minnesota and the Lambeau Field crowd broke the news to the Packers. Green Bay was in position to pass the Vikings thanks to its 7-2 record after the bye.

Green spearheaded the best running offense in Packers history, as the club captured nearly every franchise rushing mark. Favre led the NFL in TD passes a fourth time to tie a league record, throwing 19 of his 32 scores with a broken right thumb adversity in 2004 to finish 10-6, winning a third straight division

That adversity hit the team just before training camp, when vice president of football operations Mark Hatley died of a heart attack. Then, after a kickoff-weekend win on a Monday night at Carolina, the defending NFC champion, Green Bay dropped four straight. Not only did the Packers lose center Mike Flanagan and nose tackle Grady Jackson to injury, the team also endured its roughest start (1-4) since 1991. Then, in mid-October, offensive coordinator Tom Rossley entered a hospital for emergency heart surgery, and Sherman stepped forward to call plays.

But thanks in part to Sherman's emotional speech on the eve of a prophetic game at Detroit, the team answered with a 38-10 win, and kicked off a six-game winning streak. In fact, Green Bay went 9-2 down the stretch. Only the league's two best teams. Pittsburgh (11-0) and New England (10-2), had better marks over the season's final 12 weeks. Four of those nine wins came on Rvan Longwell's last-second field goals.

One year after erasing the franchise rushing record, most of the same personnel established the team marks for total offense and net passing when the team captured the division title with a 34-31 win over the Vikings. However, just two weeks later the same Vikings avenged the loss with a 31-17 win in a Wild Card playoff at Lambeau Field.

On Jan. 14, 2005, Harlan restructured the team's football operations, naming Ted Thompson general manager, with full authority over football decisions.

EARL LOUIS "CURLY" LAMBEAU

Somewhat by chance, Curly Lambeau and George Calhoun joined together in 1919 to form what is now the Green Bay Packers. Lambeau was an outstanding athlete at Green Bay East High School and after enrolling at Notre Dame and making varsity under Knute Rockne, he was back in Green Bay after severe tonsillitis forced him to miss the spring semester.

Then. Lambeau ran Calhoun, the sports editor of the Green Bay Press-Gazette, who had covered Lambeau as a prep. The two got to talking and decided to start up a football team. On Aug. 11, 1919, Lambeau, Calhoun and a group of young athletes gathered in the editorial room of the old Press-Gazette building on Cherry Street and organized the beginning of the Packers.

At the time, Lambeau was a shipping clerk for the Indian Packing Company, a war-time meat-packing industry in Green Bay. Making just $250 a week, Lambeau persuaded his boss, Frank Peck, to donate $500 of company money for team uniforms.

Lambeau was a player and the team's first captain. And in their first season together, the Packers went 10-1 playing local foes.

In the meantime, the Indian Packing Company fell on hard times and was bought out by the Acme Packing Company. But in 1921, based on the success of the team, Lambeau persuaded Acme owners John and Emmitt Clair to back the Packers and apply for membership in the new American Professional Football Association (renamed the NFL in 1922). The Clairs agreed and on Aug. 27, 1921, the Packers became an official professional football franchise.

Not long after, poor finances and the illegal use of college players forced the team to be forfeited, but Lambeau bought it back at a league meeting in Canton, Ohio, for a franchise fee of $250, including $50 of his own money, in 1922.

Financial problems continued however, and with the team teetering on the brink of bankruptcy, Lambeau received aid from Andrew B. Turnbull, the general manager of the Press-Gazette, who forwarded money to Lambeau to help keep the team afloat in 1922, before rallying local businessmen to purchase stock and turn the Packers into a nonprofit organization in August 1923.

ne of six NFL coaches ever to win 200 games. Lambeau's 212-106-21 (.656) Green Bay record including postseason - doesn't even include 1919 or 1920 before the team joined what is now the NFL. He guided the Packers to six world championships: 1929-31, 1936,

The Packers didn't play an official postseason game until 1936 their first three championships were decided by league standing until the playoff system was added in 1933 - when they defeated the Boston Redskins 21-6 for their fourth NFL title.

Green Bay was back in the title game in 1938, but fell to the New York Giants by the score of 23-17. In 1939, the Packers got their revenge, blanking the Giants 27-0 to win their fifth crown after a 9-2 campaign. And in 1944, the Packers won their sixth and final title under Lambeau, defeating the Giants 14-7.

Seven Packers played under Lambeau en route to a spot in the Pro Hall of Fame: T Cal Hubbard (1929-33, 1935), HB Johnny 'Blood' McNally (1929-33, 1935-36), FB Clarke Hinkle (1932-41), G Mike Michalske (1929-35, 1937), QB Arnie Herber (1930-40) and E Don Hutson (1935-45).

Lambeau's tenure as head coach included some pioneering developments: implementing daily practice (late 1920s), bringing Knute Rockne's "secret weapon" of the forward pass to the pro game (1919), implementing pass patterns (1930s) and flying to road games (1938).

However, Lambeau's decision to purchase the Rockwood Lodge north of Green Bay at a price of $25,000 to make it the Packers' training facility didn't go over well with members of the executive committee and contributed to an internal power struggle that helped end his 31-year tenure with the team.

On Jan. 31, 1950, Lambeau resigned and was replaced by Gene Ronzani, who would coach the Packers until 1953, Lambeau finished his coaching career at the reins of the Chicago Cardinals (1950-51) and Washington Redskins (1952-53).

Curly Lambeau he became player-captain of the Green Bay Packers in 1919. The Packers didn't join what is now the NFL until two years later, so his official Packers playing career ran from 1921-29.

Listed in Total Football at 5-foot-10. 187 pounds, Lambeau appeared on the roster as a halfback. But in those days, with the passing game in its infancy, the halfback received the snap from center, so in reality Lambeau was the Packers'

DONALD MONTGOMERY HUTSON

Credited with inventing pass patterns. Don Hutson wasn't just the best receiver of his era, he's on the short list for greatest receiver of all time and is arquably the most outstanding player in Green Bay Packers history.

After a collegiate career at Alabama. Hutson came to the Packers in 1935 and began what would be an 11-season career. In that span, Hutson caught 99 touchdown passes, which was an NFL record until Steve Largent caught his 100th TD in 1989.

But if many of the 18 NFL records Hutson held at the time of his retirement have been rewritten since. nearly 60 years after he hung up his cleats and more than 40 years following his induction into the Hall of Fame, several of his NFL-leading standards remain intact seasons (1936-37, 1939, 1941-45). He led the league in receiving yards seven times. including four consecutive seasons (1936, 1938-39, 1941-44). He led the league in touchdown receptions nine times, including five consecutive seasons (1935-38, 1940-44). All of those achievements remain NFL records.

receiving games are second only to Lance Alworth's five. And Hutson's two 200-yard games in one season, accomplished in 1942, is an achievement bettered by only Charley Hennigan (three in 1961).

In terms of the Packers record book, Hutson not only holds the standard for York Giants, Nov. 22, 1942), he's also runner-up on that list (13, against the Cleveland Rams, Oct. 18, 1942).

And Hutson's four-touchdown receiving effort against the Detroit Lions, Oct. 7. 1945, is a feat twice matched by Sterling Sharpe, but never bettered. Nor is any Packers player close to Hutson's collection of six three-touchdown receiving games.

Hutson, who also kicked seven career field goals and 172 extra points, even remained the Packers' all-time leader with 823 points until Ryan Longwell surpassed him in 2003.

Standing 6-foot-1 and weighing 183 pounds, Hutson twice earned the NFL's Joe F. Carr Trophy as its most-outstanding player, doing so in 1941 and 1942 (the Associated Press MVP award didn't come into existence until 1957). Hutson was a consensus All-Pro five times (1939, 1941-44).

But he wasn't just an offensive player. In addition to his receiving and kicking duties, like most players of that era Hutson also played defense.

A member of three NFL title teams (1936, 1939, 1944), in the first half of his career Hutson was a favorite target of Arnie Herber, who was taking Curly Lambeau's passing game to new heights. Cecil Isbell and Iry Comp also enjoyed seasons throwing to Hutson

But Hutson was dangerously close to spending his career away from the pass-happy Packers. Coming out of Alabama. Hutson actually agreed to contracts both with the Packers and the Brooklyn Dodgers, a run-oriented club. Both teams claimed Hutson as their own, but NFL President Carr awarded Hutson to the Packers on the grounds that their contract with the speedy receiver was postmarked 17 minutes earlier.

Hutson at a glance including five consecutive Changed the course of Packers history and arguably, carried more influence than any player on how professional football is played.

After seven weeks of dogged persistence, Curly Lambeau finally got the All-America receiver from Alabama to sign with Green Bay (one year before the first NFL Draft). However, Hutson also signed with the Brooklyn Dodgers, and both contracts were filed at the office of NFL President Joe Carr.

- Meanwhile, Hutson's four 200-yard Carr settled the hairy dispute with common sense He awarded Hutson to the Packers because their contract had an earlier postmark. Without that providential decision. Green Bay's history would read much differently.
 - Regarded as the greatest player of the 20th Century by several experts, he owned world-class speed (9.5 in the 100-yard dash).
- receptions in a game (14, against the New | George Halas devised several defenses specifically to corral Hutson. Halas generally conceded Hutson two touchdowns per game.
 - Nearly 60 years after his retirement, still holds 10 NFL records: most seasons leading league in scoring (5); most points in one quarter (29), most seasons leading league in overall TDs (8); most consecutive seasons leading league in overall TDs (4 twice); most seasons leading league in receptions (8); most consecutive seasons leading league in receptions (5); most seasons leading league in receiving yards (7): most consecutive seasons leading league in receiving yards (4); most seasons leading league in receiving TDs (9); and most consecutive seasons leading league in receiving TDs (5).

As a rookie, Hutson received a weekly game check of $300. Green Bay had only two banks at the time, and with the nation hit hard by the Great Depression, both banks had to write him a weekly check of $150 to cover the salary.

It didn't take long for Hutson to make an impact. Making his first start in the second game of his career, Hutson's first career reception went for an 83-yard touchdown from Herber on the first play of the game in a 7-0 win over the Chicago Bears (Sept. 22, 1935).

Hutson's legacy was preserved over a series of events. First, in 1951. Hutson's uniform number 14 became the first to be officially retired by the Packers. In 1970, Hutson was named to the NFL's All-50 Year Team. And in 1994, he was named to the NFL's All-Time Two-Way team and 75th Anniversary team.

Also in 1994, the Packers dedicated their state-of-the-art indoor practice facility in Hutson's name (July 18, 1994). Hutson was on hand for the dedication of the $4.7 million facility that includes 70- and 60-vard fields with 10-vard end zones.

Donald Montgomery Hutson. born Jan. 31, 1913, in Pine Bluff, Ark., died June 26, 1997, at the age of 84.

His name graces the Super Bowl trophy. His likeness can be seen in a 14-foot statue at Lambeau Field. A flamboyant figure, his name remains attached to some of the most famous quotes in American sports history.

In his career as head coach in Green Bay, Lombardi steered the Packers to five NFL Championships and victories in Super Bowls I and II. He tallied a career record of 105-35-6 (regular and postseason combined), 98-30-4 in Green Bay.

And yet, Lombardi's name wasn't always so recognizable.

In early 1959, Green Bay was coming off a 1-10-1 season the worst in team history. Winners of six NFL titles under Curly Lambeau, the team hadn't had a winning season since 1947.

Ray "Scooter" McLean, head coach in 1958, resigned after one season. Searching for McLean's replacement, Dominic Olejniczak - then the president of the organization - became interested in a Giants assistant coach.

To that point, Lombardi had never held a head coaching position, so when Olejniczak recommended him to the Packers executive committee, committee member John Torinus replied, "Who the hell is Vince Lombardi?" It didn't take long to find out.

On Feb. 2, 1949, Lombardi arrived and told the committee, "I want it understood that I am in complete command here." Technically he wasn't, not yet, but within two days of his arrival Olejniczak gave Lombardi not only the head coaching job, but the vacant general manager position as well.

ombardi immediately changed the way the team looked, the way it played and especially how it thought. In 1959, he ordered that the Packers' uniforms be revamped. The resulting design was almost identical to the uniforms the team continues to wear today. In fact, the only major modification since was the addition of the 'G' helmet logo, which was added in 1961 and has never left. The logo was designed by then-equipment manager Dad Braisher, at Lombardi's request.

Lombardi's offense was basic and methodical. Its most famous play, now often referred to as the 'Lombardi sweep' or the 'Packers sweep,' consisted of Paul Hornung or Jim Taylor following pulling guards Jerry Kramer and Fuzzy Thurston. Lombardi was famous for his pursuit of perfection, often dedicating long hours of film study or practice to just one element of one play.

In his first team meeting after being made Packers head coach and general manager, Lombardi made it clear just how determined he was to win. Looking into the eyes of players who just a season before had gone 1-10-1, Lombardi said, "I have never been on a losing team, gentlemen, and I do not intend to start now." True to his word, Lombardi never knew a losing season as head coach.

His first season was a stunning success. He used many of the same players from that 1-10-1 team of 1958 and finished 7-5 in '59, winning unanimous Coach of the Year honors. His first game was a 9-6 victory over the Chicago Bears in new City Stadium later renamed Lambeau Field - and when it was over, the players carried their coach off the field in triumph.

In 1960, the Packers won the Western Conference title, going 8-4. That brought Lombardi to his first NFL Championship game. which the Packers lost 17-13 to the Eagles at Franklin Field

It didn't take long for Lombardi to earn redemption, however. In 1961, after an 11-3 season, the Packers demolished his former team, the Giants, 37-0, winning the team's first title since '44.

His teams went on to capture four more NFL crowns: 1962, 1965, 1966 and 1967. Green Bay also won the first two Super Bowls after the '66 and '67 titles, respectively. In Lombardi's final game as Green Bay head coach, the Packers defeated Oakland 33-14 in Super Bowl II at the Orange Bowl in Miami.

But the Packers' 1967 season isn't remembered for that Super Bowl. Instead, the '67 campaign is remembered for the NFL Championship against Dallas, perhaps the most famous game in football history. Now commonly referred to as the Field temperature at kickoff that day (Dec. 31, 1967) was minus-13, with the wind chill dipping to 46-below

Lombardi had heating coils installed underneath the Lambeau Field turf prior to the season. But on a day when they were dearly needed, the coils malfunctioned or - some believe - were intentionally turned off. As a result, the field turned into a sheet of ice.

With 13 seconds left, Bart Starr's 1-yard touchdown plunge gave the Packers a come-frombehind 21-17 victory.

Lombardi retired as head coach after the season, but retained his general manger's duties for one more year.

Ultimately. Lombardi was bored being 'out of action" and in 1969 accepted the head coaching position with the Washington Redskins, a team that hadn't had a Lombardi at a glance

Ice Bowl, the Lambeau > In early 1959, president Dominic Diejniczak phoned George Halas to ask about Lombardi Halas reluctantly told him if the Packers hired Lombardi, the Bears would be in trouble Lombardi's teams were 13-5 against Halas

His first club in '59 went 7-5; roster of '58 squad (1-10-1) included LB Bill Forester, T Forrest Gregg, DB Hank Gremminger, T Dave Hanner, HB Paul Hornung, G Jerry Kramer, E Max McGee, LB Ray Nitschke, QB Bart Starr and FB Jim Taylor - all keys to '60s dynasty.

Lombardi's players carried him off the field at least five times, including his first and last games coaching the Packers (Sept. 27, 1959, vs. Chicago, and Super Bowl II, Jan. 14, 1968, vs. Oakland).

Had little patience for players who made contract demands, and did not discriminate. Lombardi shipped 1950s superstar Billy Howton to Cleveland. Then, in 1964 when future Hall of Famer Jim Ringo and his agent showed up in Lombardi's office, the coach allegedly left for five minutes, then returned to tell them he'd just traded Ringo to the Fagles Revamped uniforms in 1959, (they've barely changed since); asked equipment man Dad Braisher to design G helmet logo, added in 1961.

 Oldest of five children, he toiled several years (including a job at duPont for $20/week) before landing only previous head coaching post - at St Cecilia's (N.J.) High School, where he also taught chemistry, physics, algebra and Latin.

Recruited to Fordham by Jimmy Crowley, who played football at Green Bay East High School winning season in 13 years. But in Lombardi's first and only season in Washington, the Redskins went 7-5-2.

Shortly after Lombardi's 1970 death, before Super Bowl V. Commissioner Pete Rozelle made what remains arguably the greatest tribute in league history, naming the Super Bowl championship trophy the Vince Lombardi Trophy.

In August 2003, before the rededication of a renovated Lambeau Field, the Packers unveiled statues of Lombardi and team founder Curly Lambeau in what is now the Robert E. Harlan Plaza outside the Lambeau Field Atrium. Each statue is 14 feet high atop a 4-foot base and 2-foot steps.

Lombardi didn't get his first head coaching job until he was 45 years old. Before coming to the Packers, Lombardi was an assistant coach with the New York Giants. Lombardi also coached at Army. As a player, he was one of the legendary "Seven Blocks of Granite" as a guard at Fordham.

Perhaps the most famous quote commonly attributed to Lombardi wasn't even his own. Legendary actor John Wayne uttered the phrase "Winning isn't everything, it's the only thing!" in a 1953 film called Trouble Along the Way. Lombardi may have borrowed that phrase, but many of his other memorable quotes are believed to be his alone.

Until the league regularly scheduled postseason in 1933, NFL titles, including the Packers' first three crowns (1929-31), were decided by winning percentage in league standings.

However, the official league standings from 1921-71 did not recognize ties in figuring winning percentage (since 1972, ties have been considered half of a win).

That rule actually cost the Packers a fourth consecutive championship in 1932 (Green Bay is the only NFL team to win as many as three straight titles — 1929-31 and 1965-67).

The Chicago Bears (6-1-6) and Portsmouth Spartans (6-1-4) finished "tied" for first, ignoring their ties. The Bears won the title by defeating Portsmouth after the season, a game that counted in final regular-season standings.

Several Packers fans use the '32 championship to counter Bears supporters who say Don Majkowski threw an illegal TD pass to beat Chicago in the 1989 "Instant Replay" game.

Packers Patents

Football historians generally credit the Green Bay Packers with inventing several aspects common in today's game. The team is believed to be the first to.

- Implement daily practice (Curly Lambeau, 1920s).
- Innovate the forward pass into pro game (Lambeau used the "unsportsmanlike" play at will at East High School, then after only semester at Notre Dame in 1918 brought Knute Rockne's "secret weapon" to early NFL).

- ► Have cheerleaders on sidelines (several games in 1931, from Green Bay East and West high schools)
- ►Use pass patterns (Don Hutson, 1935, ran a deep post to catch first career pass, 83-yard TD vs. Bears, Sept. 22, 1935)
- Charter an airplane to fly to a road game (1940)

Team also establishes the Packers Franchise Preservation Fund (PFPF). Formerly the corporate reserve, the PFPF exists to sustain the publicly owned team (without a deep-pockets owner) in the event of a financial crisis.

Of all the reasons that make the Green Bay Packers and their story so incredible and unique, the most significant is simply this: The team is literally owned by its fans

Presently, 111,921 people (representing 4,749,925 shares) can lay claim to a franchise ownership interest.

Shares of stock include voting rights, but the redemption price is minimal, no dividends are ever paid, the stock cannot appreciate in value, and there are no season ticket privileges associated with stock ownership. No shareholder is allowed to own more than 200,000 shares, a safeguard to ensure that no one individual is able to assume control of the club.

The team has had three owners. all in its first four years, 1919-22. The first owner, Indian Packing Company, paid an unofficial purchase price of $500 to supply Curly Lambeau with uniforms and equipment. In turn, Lambeau and team manager George Calhoun called the club "Packers."

Shortly thereafter, Acme Packing Company bought Indian Packing

Company and all its assets, including the fledgling team. In 1921, Lambeau convinced new owners John and Emmitt Clair to apply for membership in the new American Professional Football Association (early NFL).

With the team already headed for bankruptcy. the APFA revoked the franchise after Lambeau used illegal college players in a non-league game later that year. But before the 1922 season, Lambeau by himself reapplied and the league reinstated the Packers, with Lambeau as owner. When rain threatened to sink the team in '22, A.B. Turnbull came to the rescue.

Turnbull, publisher of the Green Bay Press-Gazette, grocery man Lee Joannes, attorney Gerald Clifford and Dr. W. Webber Kelly cancelled Lambeau's $2,500 debt, then rallied the community behind the team. In August, 1923, with more than 400 in attendance at a local Elks Club, the club was transformed into a non-profit entity, the Green Bay Packers Corporation. The five men, including Lambeau, were nicknamed the Hungry Five.

There now have been four stock drives in the 86-year history of the team. The first stock sale, which took place at that 1923 meeting, saw local merchants raise $5,000 by selling 1,000 shares for $5 apiece, with a stipulation that the pure chaser also had to buy at least six season tickets.

The second, in 1935, raised $15,000 after the corporation had gone into receivership. At that point, the non-profit Green Bay Football Corporation was reorganized as the Green Bay Packers, Inc., the present company, with 300 shares of stock outstanding.

The third, in 1950, came on the heels of founder Curly Lambeau's 30-year dominion, when the club's officers arranged to amend the corporation's bylaws to permit the sale of up to 10,000 total shares of stock (opening up more than 9,500 shares for purchase), to limit the number of shares that any individual could own. The team also increased the number of directors from 15 to 25.

The response to the '50 drive was inspiring, with people from all across Wisconsin, as well as former Green Bay residents living in other states, coming forward to buy the $25 shares of stock. Roughly $50,000 was raised in one 11-day period alone. Reportedly, one woman from a farm near Wrightstown, Wis., showed up at the team's offices with $25 worth of quarters in a match box. A total of about $118,000 was generated through this major stock sale, helping to put the Packers on a sound financial basis once again.

The fourth came late in 1997 and early in 1998. It added 105,989 new shareholders and raised more than $24 million, monies which were utilized for the Lambeau Field redevelopment project. Priced at $200 per share, fans bought 120,010 shares during the 17-week sale, which ended March 16, 1998.

With the NFL supporting the plan, the existing 1,940 shareholders overwhelmingly voted to amend the articles of the corporation on Nov. 13, 1997. The vote authorized the Packers to sell up to 1 million shares to raise funds for capital improvements, and received a 1,000 to 1 split on their original shares. Fans immediately were able to call a special toll-free number. or tap into the team's Web site for information on how to buy the 400,000 shares made available to the public.

Events that helped to stabilize Packers financially, 1922-66

- ►A.B. Turnbull's actions, 1922-23 When rain threatened to keep fans away, bankrupt Packers, Turnbull told Lambeau and George Calhoun to play their games and that he'd bail them out of debt. Turnbull then organized local investors, turned team into non-profit organziation in 1923, and raised $1,000 in team's first stock drive.
- ▶ Court decision to appoint receiver, 1935 After fan who fell from City Stadium bleachers sued Packers, team petitioned for friendly receiver, while litigation ran its course. Henry Graass, circuit court judge and Packers fan, appointed local accountant Frank Jonet as receiver. Despite Great Depression, Packers prospered during receivership (1934-37), thanks in part to growing popularity of NFL
- Second stock drive, 1935 President Lee Joannes raises $15,000 in "Save the Packers" stock drive, getting donations from fire fighters, policemen, high school students, housewives, civic leaders and other citizens.
- ▶Joe Carr's sending Don Hutson to Green Bay, 1935 College star signed two contracts, including one with Brooklyn football Dodgers. League President Joe Carr awarded Hutson to Packers because team's contract was postmarked earlier. Huston, pivotal in timely 1936 world championship and greatest player in Green Bay history, helped team to climb out of court
- ▶NFL's installation of college draft, 1936 Kept small-market teams like Packers competitive with big-city opponents.
- ▶ Lee Joannes donation, 1937 Packers president paid $6,000 to settle case of fan who fell from stands in '34, then convinced court to end receivership period.
- Decision to play games in Milwaukee, 1933 Allowed Packers to tap larger market. As a result, the Packers now have one of the largest territories in sports (the NFL has traditionally given teams only 75-mile radius). By playing in both Green Bay and Milwaukee (1939-94), Packers thwarted any efforts to establish another competing pro football team there
- ▶ Decision to invest in war bonds, 1940s Money in reserve carried team despite losses of at least $25,000 in 1943 alone, as World War II depleted rosters
- ▶ Intrasquad game, Thanksgiving, 1949 Packers brought old-timers back, drawing 15,000 to City Stadium and $50,000
- ▶ Third stock drive, 1950—After Lambeau's departure, team raised nearly $118,000.
- ▶ Bert Bell's push for league-wide TV package, 1950s With help from Congress, commissioner laid groundwork for CBS-TV deal that allowed all teams, large market and small market, to share revenue, eventually in place by the '61 season. Pete Rozelle in '66 signed first NFL TV package, with CBS and NBC, giving Packers more than $1 million (which allowed Vince Lombardi to sign Donny Anderson to the team's first long-term contract).

Stock Histor

STOCK HISTORY

The initial response to the recent stock offering was stagpering. In the first 11 days, roughly one-third – or $7.8 million – of the total amount transacted was sold. Paid orders poured in at a rate of 3,500 per day during this early period, generating about $700,000 each day. The sale hit its high point during the first week of December as fans purchased shares as holiday gifts.

Shares of stock were purchased by citizens from all 50 states, in addition to fans in Guam and the U.S. Virgin Islands. Over half (or roughly 64,300) of the new shares during the 1997-98 offering were bought by Wisconsin residents, followed by inhabitants of Illinois (9,600), Minnesota (4,300), California (3,700), Florida (2,900), Michigan (2,800), Texas (2,500) and Ohio (2,000).

Today, an annual meeting of stockholders is held in July – most recently at Green Bay's new Resch Center. As a means of running the corporation, a board of directors is elected by the stockholders. The board of directors in turn elect a seven-member Executive Committee (officers) of the corporation, consisting of a president, vice president, treasurer, secretary and three members-at-large. The president is the only officer who receives compensation. The balance of the committee is sitting gratis.

Shares of stock cannot be resold, except back to the team for a fraction of the original price. Limited transfer of shares (ie., to heirs and relatives) is permissible. Based on the original 'Articles of Incorporation for the (then) Green Bay Football Corporation' put into place in 1923, if the Packers franchise was sold, after the payment of all expenses, any remaining funds would go to the Sullivan-Wallen Post of the American Legion in order to build "a proper soldier's memorial." This stipulation was enacted to ensure that the club remained in Green Bay and that there could never be any financial enhancement for the shareholder. The beneficiary was changed from the Sullivan-Wallen Post to the Green Bay Packers Foundation on the basis of a shareholder vote at the November 1997 meeting.

Notable Packers financial figures, 1919-58

$16 Amount each player received after first season, 1919. Players divided up profits after last game, some of which came from George Calhoun's hat, passed along the sidelines like a church offering.

$500 Sum given to Curly Lambeau by Frank Peck, his boss at Indian Packing Company, for team's first uniforms.

$250 Amount NFL charged Lambeau before '22 season for re-entry, league forfeited franchise after Lambeau used illegal college players in '21 game vs. Chicago Supremes. Using $50 of own money, he got rest from friend Don Murphy. After joining Lambeau on drive to Canton league meetings, Murphy sold his car (Marmon Roadster), gave Lambeau needed funds, then purchased tickets home. In exchange, Murphy got to play briefly in '22 non-league opener...George Halas, despite rivalry, was instrumental in persuading league to allow Packers back...Following Green Bay reinstatement, using Packers as example, NFL asked each club for $1,000 to guard against using college players.

$2,500 Deficit new owner Lambeau faced after rain-ravaged 1922 season. No games were ever rained out, but weather did its toll on home attendance. Following season, with help of A.B. Turnbull, Packers became publicly owned corporation, and new team leadership raised additional $1,000 in team's first stock offering.

$5,000 Verdict awarded to fan who fell from stands at City Stadium in 1934 and sued team. Packers public-liability mutual insurance company was already going bankrupt, so team forced to pay $2,500 to company's creditors. Fan's fall sent Packers into receivership.

$300 Don Hutson's weekly game check as rookie in 1935, one year before first college draft. In midst of Great Depression, city of Green Bay had only two banks. Both banks had to write Hutson a weekly check, each for $150.

$1,149 Share each player received for winning 1936 championship, after Boston Redskins owner George Preston Marshall moved the game to the Polo Grounds.

Joannes

$6,000 Amount Lee Joannes, president of Packers Corporation, loaned team to bail it out of receivership (settling the fan's damage judgement). Joannes held the Packers in his personal possession as security. According to Forbes (January, 2005), the Packers today are worth $756 million, up from $392 million in 2001.

$10,000 Amount team used to purchase Liberty war bonds, with profits from 1941 NFL playoff loss, 33-14 to Bears, one week after Pearl Harbor.

$25,000 Price paid by Lambeau to purchase Rockwood Lodge, on shores of the bay north of city, for team's new training facility.

Move drew heavy criticism from executive committee.

$75,000 Amount paid by insurance company to Packers after Rockwood Lodge burned to ground in January 1950, shortly after Lambeau departed for Chicago Cardinals.

57-21 Win O

$75,000 Price CBS paid Packers to televise 11 games each year from 1956-58. Teams in larger markets got much more money. Thanks to foundation laid by commissioner Bert Bell and U.S. Congress, league in 1961 season instituted current policy of league-wide TV package, allowing Packers equal share, despite small market size.

A year later, such players as Otto Graham (60 to 14) changed their jerseys to conform to the system. According to the mandate, quarterbacks and kickers were numbered 1-19, running and defensive backs 20-49, centers and linebackers 50-59, defensive linemen and guards 60-79 and receivers 80-89. In March 2004, NFL owners voted to allow receivers to wear 10-19.

Titletown: Green Bay, Wis.

As though he had a hunch Vince Lombardi would win four more NFL titles over the next six years, Jack Yuenger first coined Green Bay "Titletown" after the team's 1961 NFL championship, a 37-0 triumph over the New York Giants. Yuenger, Green Bay Press-Gazette advertising manager, printed the city's new nickname on celebratory signs for fan distribution. The '61 title, the Packers' sixth of an NFL-record 12 world championships — and first under Lombardi — was earned in Green Bay, the first championship game ever played in the city.

ALL-TIME UNIFORMS, HELMETS AND COLORS

1923-24: Plain, gold jersey with nine thin navy-blue stripes on each sleeve; gold leggings, dark gold pants.

1925-26: First recorded uniform numbers; dark gold shirts with wide navy-blue strip covering shoulder and collar, cut off at top of each arm; tall, gold leggings; light gold pants.

to the scheme large, white numerals on the chest.

HE S

1935-36: Team introduced green, and changed jerseys during season; began with plain dark green jersey with gold numbers and green pants, then shifted to green-vested shirts with bright gold sleeves (from neck to wrist), numbers and pants, and tall, plain green socks.

⊲1937-49

Throwback jersey worn in 1994, NFL's 75th anniversary; modeled after late '30s uniform, satinchested with cloth arms, gold pants, and two gold stripes on high navy socks; Packers also wore similar white uniforms (not necessarilly only on road), with bright gold numbers and faded gold shoulders; in the late '40s, the team still used this design.

1939⊳

During World War II, the team used three alternate jerseys (these two, and another white design), complementing the trademark blue uniform made famous by the incomparable Don Hutson (pictured in lower left column). The Packers until the league signed major television contracts in the late 1950s several times wore white at home.

1946-49>

1951-52>

Team also employed varying combinations of metallic gold uniform with green numbers, shiny green pants with gold stripe, or metallic gold pants with single green stripe, and green socks with two gold rings. Modern metallic gold helmet introduced.

1953: Brighter green shirts with same striping and thicker gold numbers; team continued to vary its combinations. The Packers also had available a white jersey, saving it mostly for late-season West Coast trips.

1954-57: Navy-blue jersey, with new three-stripe design in dirty mustard gold on sleeves, socks and helmets, and matching gold pants. For 1956 opener vs. Detroit, Packers break out green jersey with white pants and white helmets, but never wear again until '58. "TV numbers" on shoulder appear in '56 for first time. Team used its older green jerseys and gold pants (from the early '50s) in several road games. In 1957, Packers began consistently wearing white on road, for television.

1958: New coach Scooter McLean brings back same green uniforms used in 1956 opener (white pants, white helmet).

Nickname origin

In the Green Bay Press-Gazette on Aug. 29, 1919, two weeks before the team's first organized game, George Calhoun first publicly identified the team as the "Indian Packers."

Curly Lambeau received $500 from his employer, the Indian Packing Co., for uniforms and equipment, and for use of the company's lot for practice, in exchange, Lambeau and Calhoun agreed to call the team "Packers," Early fans, many of whom were working-class citizens, impactified by empraced the name, widely couldized by Calhoun.

izens, immediately embraced the name, widely publicized by Calhoun.

Calhoun also called them simply "Indians" briefly in 1919, but that moniker seemed to fold with the company, soon purchased — along with the team — by Acme Packing Co. In 1921, the team's first season in what is now the NFL, its owners had "Acme Packers" put on the jersey, setting the name in stone.

While "Packers" has served as the primary nickname since the team's embryonic stages, fans and sportswriters also have called them the Big Bay Blues, or the Bays, Lambeau in 1922 applied with the name "Blues," but public opinion quickly vetoed him.

A packer is someone who works at a packing house, an establishment for staughtering, processing and packing livestock into meat, meat products and byproducts. "Green Bay Packers" is the longest standing team name in NFL history.

ALL-TIME PRACTICE SQUAD, 1989-2004

The NFL in 1989 created a five-player developmental squad. In 1990, the league changed the name to practice squad. Players can leave a practice squad for another team only if they join a roster of another NFL team. At the 2004 Annual Meeting, NFL owners decided to expand the squad from five to eight players. The 174 players who've spent time on Green Bay's developmental/practice squad:

The crown jewel of the National Football League, Lambeau Field is a year-round destination venue — to be enjoyed by Packers fans in a variety of ways, on an everyday basis - after undergoing a dramatic facelift that added a host of new amenities and attractions. The conclusion of the redevelopment project was marked by a rededication game, Sept. 7, 2003, against long-time divisional rival Minnesota.

Featuring the only true retro-look in the entire league. the glorious tradition and history of the Packers is carried forward in the "like-new" Lambeau Field with its heart - the original seating bowl - saved. The same hallowed ground where many of the NFL's greatest moments have transpired will continue to exist, a canvas where current players can paint their own memories in future years.

At the same time, the structure has been transformed from a football stadium that fans could use only 10 days a year to a Packers cultural center that can be enjoyed throughout the year. Within the five-story Lambeau Field Atrium, located on the stadium's east side, is the 25,000-square-foot Packers Hall of Fame, corporate meeting or event facilities for 25 to 1,200 people, seven different eating options highlighted by a one-of-a-kind brew pub (Curly's) with interactive areas, and a larger Packers Pro Shop (see pages 555-556 for all Atrium dining, entertainment and retail options).

Just outside the Atrium are bronze statues of team founder Curly Lambeau and legendary coach Vince Lombardi. Sculpted by Julie Rotblatt-Amrany (Lombardi) and Omri Amrany (Lambeau) of Fine Art Studio of Rotblatt-Amrany in Highland Park, III., at a cost of more than $400,000, each statue is 14feet tall, atop three feet of steps and a four-foot base. Nearby the statues are several park benches, making the plaza area a great place to soak up the majesty of Lambeau Field.

many of the same 21st-century amenities typically found in the shiny but sterile, newer facilities that have sprouted up across the country in recent years - everything from wider concourses (including a new, upper concourse) to enhanced concession areas to modernized and increased restroom facilities (particularly for female fans), to a club level for private box and club seat patrons.

Two new scoreboards also highlighted the project. Developed by Daktronics, Inc., of Brookings, S.D., the boards - one each in the north and south end zones measure 41 feet high and 162 feet wide. Both feature full-color LED video displays of 27 feet high by 48 feet wide, in addition to scoring, statistical and general information panels.

The 32-month, $295 million redevelopment of Lambeau was completed on time — and on budget with the Packers remaining in Green Bay to play all of their games throughout the process. Put into motion by a county-wide referendum that approved a half-cent sales tax increase on Sept. 12, 2000, the project was financed jointly by the City of Green Bay, county taxpayers, the Packers and the NFL.

The Packers' football facilities - a vital element in attracting players in today's ultra-competitive NFL also were enhanced greatly by the stadium's redevelopment, debuting in time for the 2002 season. The centerpiece of these quarters is a breathtaking, 64- by 120-foot, football-shaped locker room with 64 stately, wooden lockers. Another 25 lockers can be found in an adjoining, auxiliary locker room, to be utilized during training camp.

The new football facilities also feature a much larger training room with all of the latest therany pools as well as a permanent X-ray machine, a new weight room, individual position meeting rooms with theatre-style seating, a 150-plus seat team auditorium, a basketball court with a parquet floor, two racquetball courts, a team dining room and a players' lounge. Not forgetting the Packers' rich tradition history and at Lambeau. Head Coach Mike Sherman took three slabs of concrete that were located in the team's former field tunnel at the north end which were walked over by many of the greatest players in club history - and had them moved to the new tunnel, in the southeast corner. the players that began using during the 2002 season. A nearby plaque recognizes the presence of the concrete from the old tunnel.

Other benefits realized through the redevelopment project include a modern system of field lights that is more than eight times brighter than the previous stadium lights and a new visiting team locker room. Also, a larger, more comfortable and modern press box that can seat more than 250 media for a playoff game - and positioned along the sidelines — debuted in 2002.

Opened in 1957, Lambeau Field had seen numerous smaller-scale changes through the years, including seven prior seating expansions and the addition of private boxes. But, as new stadiums rose throughout the NFL in the 1990s, Lambeau Field became outdated. As a publicly-owned team, the Packers must generate a significant amount of income from their home to remain competitive. Challenges with capacity, as well as the need for updated private boxes plus more club seats. restrooms and concessions, made redevelopment a necessity.

Faced with these challenges, Packers President & CEO Bob Harlan went to work in October 1999, assembling a plan to protect 80 years of Packers history and ensure the club's continued viability. After several feasibility studies and overwhelming support for renovation, as opposed to building a new stadium, the redevelopment plan was dubbed the proper course of action. Unveiled by Harlan in January 2000, the plan ultimately won voter approval that September with the hard work of people committed to preserving pro sports' most unique franchise.

"Our fans overwhelmingly asked us to save Lambeau Field," Harlan said. "This plan accomplishes that while giving the Packers an economic base to build for the future in Green Bay. We want this to be the No. 1 destination in Wisconsin. We're going to build a stadium that the rest of the National Football League wished it had."

Included in the redeveloped stadium are more than 11,600 additional seats, including roughly 6,000 more bowl seats, to increase Lambeau's capacity to 72,601. Over 4,000 of the new seats were available for use during the 2002 season with construction ongoing.

The new seats helped the team remove almost 1,500 names from its season ticket waiting list - which still has more than 68,000 names on it - between both ticket packages. Additionally, Brown County residents without season tickets have a chance to purchase the remaining 4,000 new bowl tickets on a game-by-game basis; in 2005, 10,000 residents were randomly selected from a list and were able to purchase four tickets. Disabled-accessible seats also increased dramatically 72,601 presently

The Packers are making available 4,000 tickets per game to Brown County residents 18 and over who do not hold season tickets; the program began in 2003.

The team was able to further reduce its season-ticket waiting list, which still contains more than 68,000 people; roughly 1,500 names have come off since 2001.

Revenue generated from the new Packers Pro Shop, Packers Hall of Fame, Curly's Pub, the Atrium eateries and other restaurants, the stadium club and special events, as well as other Atrium businesses is essential to the Packers' long-term survival. In just the first year, with only the new Pro Shop open and several gate sponsorships sold, the Packers' NFL revenue ranking for the fiscal year 2002-03 jumped to 10th, up from 20th the prior year. The strong financial performance continued during the 2004 and 2005 fiscal years as all elements of the redeveloped stadium are now online; the club's NFL revenue ranking has remained 10th, allowing the team to continue delivering on its promise to the community and its fans - turning profitability into preservation of the franchise and the stadium. The redevelopment's economic impact on the area has been positive as well; roughly 35 percent of the Packers special events department's bookings come from outside Brown County, bringing in additional business to the Green Bay area. The Atrium already has events booked out to 2010.

Two new annual offseason football-related events have debuted in the past two years: Packers Draft Party and Packers Fan Fest. The former has seen 1,200-plus fans take to the Atrium on the NFL Draft's first day of action, hearing from Packers front office members and current players and watching the selection process unfold with fellow Green and Gold fans; the latter witnessed 3,000 enthusiastic fans descend upon the Atrium in March for three days of meeting coaches and players, autograph sessions and even a tour of the locker room.

The Packers' contribution to the project ranked as the fifth highest in NFL history. Tommy Thompson, Wisconsin governor at the time, signed into law enabling legislation May 13, 2000, in a ceremony held on the playing field. Later, on Jan. 3, 2001, the Green Bay/Brown County Professional Stadium District Board approved a new Lambeau Field lease agreement between the district, the Packers and the City of Green Bay; the lease's primary term runs for 30 years after the opening of the redeveloped stadium in 2003. A groundbreaking ceremony, involving then-governor Scott McCallum, area dignitaries and Packers officials and players, subsequently was held on May 19, 2001.

The NFL's longest-tenured facility, Lambeau ranks as one of the most recognized and envied locales in sports, a fact recognized in 1999 when Sports Illustrated named it the eighth-best venue in the world to watch sports—and the lone NFL stadium to make the magazine's list of 20. Even after the recent changes, Lambeau maintains its nostalgic and intimate feel with unobstructed sightlines. Permeated by history, tradition and mystique, the view from inside can be awe-inspiring.

Dedicated as City Stadium Sept. 29, 1957 — a day that saw Green Bay topple the hated Chicago Bears, 21-17 — ceremonies included Vice President Richard Nixon and NFL Commissioner Bert Bell. In 1965, the team renamed it Lambeau Field following the death of E.L. 'Curly' Lambeau, the Packers' founder.

Lambeau Field originally was built on farmland, purchased for $74,305. The stadium's original architect, Somerville Inc., favored the current site because it was sloped, making it perfect to build a bowl.

Lambeau Field, now in its 49th NFL season, is the longest continuously-occupied stadium in the league — 10 years more than the next-closest venue, Qualcomm, Stadium in San Diego at 39 years. In pro sports as a whole, only the Boston Red Sox at Fenway Park (94 seasons) and the Chicago Cubs at Wrigley Field (92 seasons) have longer active homefield tenures.

Including the redevelopment, eight seating additions — all paid for by the Green Bay Packers, Inc. — have increased capacity from its original 32,150 to 38,669 in 1961, to 42,327 in 1963, to 50,852 in 1965 and to 56,263 in 1970. Construction of 72 initial private boxes in 1985 moved capacity to 56,926, and a 1990 addition of 36 boxes and 1,920 theatre-style club seats changed the number to 59,543. The seventh seating addition, a $4.7-million project in 1995, put 90 more private boxes in the previously open north end zone, for the first time giving the stadium the feel of a complete bowl and upping capacity to 60,890.

In recent Lambeau Field has become the NFL's toughest road game. Green Bay holds a 77-18 (.811) regular-season record at Lambeau since 1992, plus a 7-2 mark in the playoffs, for an overall record of 84-20 (.808).Even more imposing, the Packers have won 81 of their last 100 games in Green Bay (including the seven postseason victories). since Oct. 10, 1993.

In the midst of nearly four full seasons at home without a defeat — prior to a 1998 Monday night loss to Minnesota, their last setback at Lambeau had come in the 1995 season opener — the Packers established the NFL's second-longest home winning streak (25). Only the Miami Dolphins (1971-74) have won more consecutive regular-season home games (27).

Over the past two decades, prior to the start of the just-completed redevelopment project, the Packers organization itself had spent more than $50 million on improvements to the stadium, the previous club administration building and training facilities, including construction of the original indoor practice structure in 1982 and its replacement, the Don Hutson Center, in 1994 at a cost of nearly $4.7 million.

Lambeau now is owned by the City of Green Bay and the Green Bay/Brown County Professional Football Stadium District; retirement of the city's original

The Lambeau bowl

One of Lambeau's special characteristics is its classic seating bowl, now exclusive to Green Bay. The bowl design, common in many traditional college football stadiums, remains virtually untouched following a $295-million stadium renovation. Did you know...

- The original architectural firm, Somerville, Inc., favored the Lambeau construction site because it sloped, perfect for building a bowl.
- The bowl's outstanding sightlines are generally credited to Dick Gustafson, who worked closely with John Somerville during the design phase.
- Some of Gustafson's inspiration came from Michigan Stadium in Ann Arbor, where he went to college.
- Despite seating more than 62,713 (including an additional 6,601 from the recent renovation), the bowl still offers the NFL's highest percentage of great seats. Somerville
- credits that intimacy to the fact that the stadium was the first in the world designed exclusively for pro football.
- The original stadium district instructed Somerville to design a facility that could easily expand, and allow for offseason construction projects to be completed by August.
 - The first significant project came just one year after the statium's opening campaign. Workers replaced the original wooden bleachers with aluminum benches before the 1958 season.

OTHER HOMES OF THE PACKERS, 1919-94

THE SANDLOT YEARS

Inevitably, procedures at Packers games have come a long way since 1919-20, when the team subsisted on the contents of George Calhoun's hat. At that time, there were no ushers, cheerleaders, band or public address system, which hadn't yet been invented. There weren't even any seats, and admission was free.

From 1919-56, the Packers played their Green Bay games including their first league contest - at virtually the same address. Their first home games were at Hagemeister Park, a vacant lot marked with a football gridiron, adjacent to East High.

The Packers' seven home fields, 1919-94

GREEN BAY

- ► Hagemeister Park, 1919-22...Classic sandlot, near Baird and Walnut streets. adjacent to East River... East High School and Joannes Park now occupy land.
- ▶Bellevue Park, 1923-24 (below in '24)...Minor league baseball park, near Hochgraves Brewery, in 100-200 block of North Main Street
- ►City Stadium, 1925-56 (pictured lower middle in 1946, and bottom in late 1920s)...Located behind East High School...Expanded several times to reach peak capacity of 24,500... Annually voted the NFL's best playing surface, because it sat just yards from the East River...EHS football team still uses downsized facility.

MILWAUKEE

- Field, 1933... Hosted ▶ Borchert game...Minor league baseball park. home to NFL's Badgers from 1922-26...Located near Burleigh, Chambers and North Eighth streets...Torn down in 1954, it's now a children's playground.
- State Fair Park, 1934-51 (right inset in 1941)...Location: West Allis, Wis., near West Kearney, Greenfield, South 77th and South 84th streets, on Wisconsin State Fairgrounds.
- Marguette Stadium, 1952...Located on Marquette campus
- ►County Stadium, 1953-94 (far right in '94)...Home to baseball's Milwaukee Braves and Brewers...Off Interstate 94...Both benches were on east sideline...end zones ran north-south, from third base to right field...demolished in 2000 to make parking lot for Miller Park.

There were no gates because there wasn't a fence. Spectators just dropped off the Walnut Street trolley and walked to the sideline, or drove their own cars and parked about 10 yards behind the ropes stretched around the playing field.

If they felt like it, they either sat in their automobiles or on top of them, but most preferred to get out and follow up and down the field. By moving as play progressed, one always had a "50-yard line" location and was handy to any donnybrook that might require a little help. In fact, when things got exciting, the crowd sometimes spilled right onto the field, surrounded the scrimmage in a big circle and virtually took part in every play. Teams didn't huddle in those days, or the fans would have been in that, too.

When the half ended, teams grabbed blankets and adjourned to opposite end zones where they relaxed and talked over the tactics of the next half. The crowd formed a ring around the players, a practice encouraged since it made a handy wind break. Fans weren't bashful about joining the discussions either, sometimes with surprising results. At least one early game was pulled out of the fire by a spectator's halftime suggestion.

In 1920, the city built a section of stands - a small bleacher that held about 200 - giving the Packers their first justification for charging admission. The next year, a portable canvas fence was erected around the perimeter and a regular admission charge inaugurated.

BELLEVUE

When Hagemeister was dug up in 1923 to make way for a new East High School, the Packers shifted to the new baseball grounds at the end of Main Street, Bellevue Park (left). Crowds of 4,000-5,000 stormed the fences to boo the hated Chicago Bears, Green Bay was 9-2-1 in 12 league games at Bellevue from 1923-24. Eight of the nine Packer wins were shutouts, and the team won its last seven at the stadium, including a 5-0 home slate in '24.

The lone tie was a scoreless affair in 1923.

CITY STADIUM

Bellevue obviously was inadequate and too far out, lacking about every amenity needed for football. Agitation to build a new stadium somewhere near the original site culminated in the erection of City Stadium, behind the new high school.

The new facility was barely completed in time for the 1925 opening, but it was an immediate success (the Bears opener drew a record crowd of 5,389). It was a typical small-town park of its day (pictured at bottom), with wooden fences and stands on both sides between the 30-yard lines. Seating capacity was gradually increased until it seated 15,000 by 1934, with the end zones still uncovered. With the filling in of the area around the end lines, the ultimate capacity of just over 25,000 was reached (inset at left, middle photo).

After World War II, City Stadium gradually faded from its once proud position as one of the favored fields in the National Football League, to an inadequate and obsolete installation. As pro crowds increased it was impossible to expand the stadium any further. With limited capacity, the Packers found it increasingly difficult to schedule top opponents at home. On Nov. 18, 1956, the Packers lost their final game at the stadium, to the 49ers. A new City Stadium, on Green Bay's west side, opened the following year (renamed Lambeau Field in 1965).

MILWAUKEE

The decision to play games in Milwaukee (including State Fair Park. above inset; and County Stadium, above right) played a key role in the Packers' survival. It allowed the team to tap a larger market and thwart any efforts to establish another competing pro football team there. The Packers played games in Milwaukee for 62 straight years (1933-94) until opting - mostly for financial reasons - to move all games to Green Bay beginning with the 1995 season sessions, autograph and photo opportunities, footballrelated activities, a special kid's area and family fun. Among the highlights of the event is a tour through the Packers locker room, a destination that does not appear on the regular Lambeau Field Stadium Tour.

3,000 fans pack the Atrium to take in question-and-answer

Packers Draft Party — More than 1,200 fans descend upon Lambeau Field (below) to take in the first day of the annual NFL Draft. Held on the floor of the Lambeau Field Atrium, two large television projection screens feature live coverage of the draft and the Packers' flagship radio station, Newsradio 620 WTMJ, is on hand to provide programming as well. Appearances by Packers General Manager Ted Thompson and Packers players, as well as autograph sessions and interactive games, highlight the day as Packers fans get together to watch the draft, celebrate their team and get ready for the upcoming season.

Lambeau Atrium

Community Events - An obvious destination for football-related events and generally taking in Packers lore, the Lambeau Field Atrium also hosts a number of community events each year that draw thousands of people. Project LEAP (Lambeau's Exercise and Activity Playground), a March event, focuses on getting kids out of the house to enjoy non-strenuous physical activity.

Spooktacular Fun, held in October, is a Halloween event that features interactive and entertaining activities, including sing-along music, magic, miming, clowns and jugglers. Each November, the Packers, parishes, serve a Thanksgiving meal to more than 600 people.

Summer Traditions, which takes place in August, is an event set in the year 1908 - when Curly Lambeau was 10 years old - and features exciting activities that children experienced at the turn of the century. In addition to those regular events, other gatherings are held from time-to-time, including a community send-off for Green Bay's 127th National Guard Unit this past June 7.

At the NFL Spring Meeting on May 22, 2001, in Rosemont, Ill., NFL owners unanimously approved realignment, coinciding with the Houston Texans' 2002 debut. The 32-team league calls for a harmonic scheduling rotation, in comparison with awkward formulas used in previous seasons. Each team within a division now plays 14 common opponents, as follows:

- Each team plays home and away against its three division opponents (six games).
- Each team plays the four teams from another division within its conference on a rotating three-year cycle (four pames).
- Each team plays the four teams from a division in the other conference on a rotating four-year cycle (four games)
- Each team plays a pair of intraconference games based on the prior year's standings (two games); i.e., first-place teams in a division will play against the first-place teams from another division within the same conference, etc. (two games).

NFL scheduling format, 2002-09

The NFL is in its fourth year of an eight-year period that will take each team through a cycle of games — home and away — against every other team in the league. In these eight seasons, every team will play every other team at least twice — once home and once away. After the 2009 season, a decision will be made on whether to continue with the same rotation or modify it.

"The new scheduling formula is one of the most positive aspects of realignment," Commissioner Paul Tagliabue said. "The new formula guarantees that NFL fans will see every team play each other on a regular, rotating basis. The formula will eliminate the many aberrations of the past in which teams either did not play for long periods of time or did not play in another team's stadium for many years."

In determining how to begin the divisional rotation in 2002, the displacement of teams from their old divisions in the new alignment was taken into account. Preference was given to scheduling games with former division rivals and other regional opponents for clubs realigned from otherwise intact divisions. For example, in 2002 pairing the NFC North and NFC South gave Tampa Bay games against its former NFC Central rivals (Chicago, Datroit, Green Bay, Minnesota). The new scheduling format includes the following elements:

An increased common-opponent emphasis with every team in a division playing against 14 common opponents.

 All teams will play each other on a regular basis, home and away, for a more consistent presentation of attractive games, eliminating the many schedule aberrations of the past.

Teams are guaranteed to play all nondivision opponents in their conference at least once every three years, and at home at least once every six years.

Every AFC team will play every NFC team once every four years, and at home once every eight years.

A team's record from the previous year will have less of a bearing on its schedule, with only two (rather than four) opponents based on the previous year's standing. Thus, the so-called 'easy' fifth-place schedules are eliminated.

The division in which a team resides will be less of a factor in a team's won-loss record with 10 of 16 games each year being against non-division teams.

Under the new scheduling formula, every team within a division will play 16 games as follows:

► Home and away against its three division opponents (six games).

➤ The four teams from another division within its conference on a rotating three-year cycle (four games).

The four teams from a division in the other conference on a rotating four-year cycle (four games).
 Two intraconference games based on the previous year's standings (two games). These games will match a first-place team against the first-place teams in the two same-conference divisions the team is not scheduled to play that season.
 The second-place, third-place, and fourth-place teams in a conference will be matched in the same way each year.

PACKERS RADIO NETWORK

Wayne Larrivee and Larry McCarren enter their seventh season of broadcasts together across the Packers Radio Network in 2005. Though both are veteran broadcasters, the two were paired for the first time in 1999 to bring the color and excitement of Green Bay Packers football to fans throughout Wisconsin, Upper Michigan and four more-distant states.

arrivee, who grew up as a fan of the Packers in his native Lee, Mass., joined Green Bay's broadcast team after 14 seasons as the radio voice of the Chicago Bears (1985-98) on WGN and WMAO Radio in Chicago. Earlier, he had done play-by-play of Kansas City Chiefs games for seven years (1978-84) on KCMO Radio in Kansas City. Known for his thorough preparation and his moderated, yet enthusiastic, call of the action, Larrivee's more-recent credits also include play-by-play of Chicago Bulls basketball on WGN-TV since 1991, Big Ten Conference football and basketball for ESPN Regional, co-host of the nationally syndicated Pro Football Weekly radio program the past 19 years, and Chicago Cubs baseball.

Highly-decorated, the 50-year-old Larrivee was named Illinois 'Sportscaster of the Year' in 1997 and is a seven-time winner of the Silver Dome Award, presented by the Illinois Broadcasters Association, for best radio football play-by-play.

A 1977 graduate of Emerson College in Boston, he was awarded the school's Alumni Achievement Award this past June. Larrivee also has done play-by-play of University of Iowa football, Quad Cities (Iowa) Angels minor league baseball, University of Missouri basketball and Kansas City Kings basketball.

cCarren first joined the team's broadcasts in 1995, working his first four seasons with Jim Irwin and Max McGee. Inducted into the Packers Hall of Fame in 1992, he also is a favorite among television viewers in northeast Wisconsin. Sports director at WFRV-TV in Green Bay since 1988, he additionally served previously as cohost of Inside 1265, the official television program of the Green Bay Packers. He three times has been voted Wisconsin 'Sportscaster of the Year' (1994,1996, 2002) by the National Sportscasters and Sportswriters Association.

An iron man at center for the Packers for 12 seasons (1973-84), McCarren played in 162 consecutive games — the fourth-longest streak in team history — helping him earn the nickname 'Rock.' He was voted to the Pro Bowl in 1982 and '83. Earlier, he had been a co-captain at the University of Illinois as both a junior and senior. McCarren, 53, originally is from Park Forest, III.

adio station WTMJ, which has been broadcasting the team's games since November of 1929, continues its long-standing role as the flagship station of the Packers Radio Network. That designation continues into this century as the two parties announced an extension to their radio broadcast rights agreement in 2002.

The Packers Radio Network is made up of 62 stations in 50 markets and six states.

GREEN BAY PACKERS BROADCAST PARTNERS

The Green Bay Packers, Green Bay's WFRV-TV (CBS 5),

the CBS station that is part of the Viacom Television Stations Group, and Milwaukee's WTMJ-TV are in the third season of a comprehensive three-year broadcasting partnership that provides year-round Packers programming, in addition to preseason games, to fans throughout Wisconsin and the upper Midwest.

Regarded as an NFL model for year-round brand extension, the partnership produces the most comprehensive and varied team programming in the club's 76-year broadcasting history.

The agreement also provides for outdoor billboard advertising and other media supporting Lambeau Field as a year-round destination venue for family entertainment, dining and Packers football excite-

The Lambeau Field Atrium is the site of the Atrium Broadcast Center, a television studio that serves as a hub for regular on-site programming by WFRV-TV and WTMJ-TV, including news, sports and/or weather, throughout the year.

The broadcasting package includes:

- ▶ Televising, by CBS Sports and WFRV-TV in conjunction with Milwaukee's WTMJ-TV, Packers preseason games over an eight-station network throughout the state of Wisconsin and Upper Michigan, with CBS network production, personnel and the latest network-quality technology.
- A top-notch broadcast team that includes CBS's Kevin Harlan calling the play-by-play and Fox Sports' Bill Maas providing the analysis. WTMJ's Jessie Garcia serves as the sideline reporter and WFRV's Larry McCarren joins the crew for pregame and halftime segments.
- An informative half-hour show prior to each preseason game.
- A half-hour preview show during training camp.

Prior to her tenure at WTMJ, she worked at WISC-TV in Madison, Wis. (1992-93).

- ► A Packers "Fifth Quarter" show Sunday nights during the season, originating from Curly's Pub in the Lambeau Field Atrium, that includes player guests.
- ▶ A half-hour Holiday special highlighting the Packers' extensive and ongoing community relations efforts.

As well as a first-rate on-air broadcast lineup, the partnership boasts an excellent production team. CBS's Ross Schneiderman, a five-time Emmy Award winner, serves as producer and Suzanne Smith, a three-time Emmy Award-winning producer and director for CBS, works as director for the game telecasts.

In addition to WFRV-TV and WTMJ-TV, the games are televised over WKOW/ABC, Madison, Wis.; WAOW/ABC, Wausau/Rhinelander, Wis.; WXOW/ABC, La Crosse, Wis.; WQOW/ABC, Eau Claire; WYOW/ABC, Eagle River, Wis.; and WJMN/CBS, Marquette, Mich.

An ancillary benefit afforded by the agreement are special programs about the Lambeau Field Atrium and the Packers Hall of Fame, plus the promotion of Lambeau Field and Brown

County tourism on a regional basis through CBS/Viacom-owned TV stations in Chicago, Detroit and Minneapolis, in addition to Green

The partnership also provides the Packers an opportunity to salute Wisconsin's high school athletes as well, through supporting messages during broadcasts of the WIAA basketball tournaments and other prep events.

NFL TRANSACTION INFORMATION

WAIVERS

The waiver system is a procedure by which player contracts or NFL rights to players are made available by a club to other clubs in the League. During the procedure, the 31 other clubs either file claims to obtain the players or waive the opportunity to do so; thus the term "waiver." Claiming clubs are assigned players on a priority based on the inverse of won-and-lost standing. The claiming period is three business days from the beginning of the League Year through the last business day before July 4, and 24 hours after July 4 through the conclusion of the regular season. If a player passes through waivers unclaimed, he becomes a free agent. All waivers are no recall and no withdrawal. Under the Collective Bargaining Agreement, from the beginning of the waiver system each year through the trading deadline (October 18, 2005), any veteran who has acquired four years of pension credit is not subject to the waiver system if the club desires to release him. After the trading deadline, such players are subject to the waiver system.

ACTIVE/INACTIVE LIST

The Active/Inactive List is the principal status for players participating for a club. It consists of all players under contract who are eligible for preseason, regular-season. and postseason games. Teams are permitted to open training camp with no more than 80 players under contract and thereafter must meet two mandatory roster reductions prior to the season opener. Teams will be permitted an Active List of 45 players and an Inactive List of eight players for each regular-season and postseason game. Provided that a club has two quarterbacks on its 45-player Active List, a third quarterback from its Inactive List is permitted to dress for the game, but if he enters the game during the first three quarters, the other two quarterbacks are thereafter prohibited from playing. Teams also are permitted to establish Practice Squads of up to eight players who are eligible to participate in practice, but these players remain free agents and are eligible to sign with any other team in the league.

Aug. 30	.Roster reduction to 65 players
Sept. 4	.Roster reduction to 53 players
Sept. 5 Practice Squad	established, up to eight players

In addition to the squad limits described above, the overall roster limit of 80 players remains in effect throughout the regular season and postseason. The overall limit is applicable to players on a team's Active, lnactive, and certain Exempt Lists, players on the Practice Squad, and players on the Reserve List as Injured, Physically Unable to Perform, Non-Football Illness/Injury, and Suspended by Club.

RESERVE LIST

The Reserve List is a status for players who, for reasons of injury, retirement, military service, or other circumstances, are not immediately available for participation with a club. Players on Reserve/Injured are not eligible to practice or return to the Active/Inactive List in the same season that they are placed on Reserve. Players in the category of Reserve/Retired, Reserve/Did Not Report, Reserve/Exclusive Rights, and players who were placed in the category of Reserve/Left Squad in a previous season may not be reinstated during the period from 30 days before the end of the regular season through the postseason.

TRADES

Unrestricted trading between the AFC and NFC is allowed in 2005 through October 18, after which trading will end until 2006

NFL TIE-BREAKING PROCEDURES

The following procedures will be used to break standings ties for postseason playoffs and to determine regular-season schedules (NOTE — tie games count as one-half win and one-half loss for both clubs).

TO BREAK A TIE WITHIN A DIVISION

If, at the end of the regular season, two or more clubs in the same division finish with the best won-lost-tied percentage, the following steps will be taken until a champion is determined:

TWO CLUBS

- Head-to-head (best won-lost-tied percentage in games between the clubs).
- Best won-lost-tied percentage in games played within the division.
- Best won-lost-tied percentage in common games.
- Best won-lost-tied percentage in games played within the conference.
- 5. Strength of victory.
- 6. Strength of schedule.
- Best combined ranking among conference teams in points scored and points allowed.
- Best combined ranking among all teams in points scored and points allowed.
- 9. Best net points in common games.
- 10. Best net points in all games.
- 11. Best net touchdowns in all games
- 12. Coin toss.

THREE OR MORE CLUBS

NOTE: If two clubs remain tied after a third club is eliminated during any step, tie-breaker reverts to Step 1 of the two-club format.

- Head-to-head (best won-lost-tied percentage in games among the clubs).
- Best won-lost-tied percentage in games played within the division.
- 3. Best won-lost-tied percentage in common games.
- Best won-lost-tied percentage in games played within the conference.
- 5. Strength of victory.
- 6. Strength of schedule.
- Best combined ranking among conference teams in points scored and points allowed.
- Best combined ranking among all teams in points scored and points allowed.
- 9. Best net points in common games.
- 10. Best net points in all games.
- 11. Best net touchdowns in all games.
- 12. Coin toss.

TO BREAK A TIE FOR THE WILD CARD TEAM

If it is necessary to break ties to determine the two Wild Card clubs from each conference, the following steps will be taken:

- If all the tied clubs are from the same division, apply division tie-breaker.
- If the tied clubs are from different divisions, apply the following steps:

TWO CLUBS

- Head-to-head, if applicable.
- Best won-lost-tied percentage in the games played within the conference.
- Best won-lost-tied percentage in common games, minimum of four.
- 4. Strength of victory.
- Strength of schedule.
- Best combined ranking among conference teams in points scored and points allowed.
- Best combined ranking among all teams in points scored and points allowed.
- 8. Best net points in conference games.
- 9. Best net points in all games.
- Best net touchdowns in all games.
- 11. Coin toss.

THREE OR MORE CLUBS

- Apply division tie-breaker to eliminate all but highest ranked club in each division prior to proceeding to Step 2. The original seeding within a division upon application of the division tie-breaker remains the same for all subsequent applications of the procedure that are necessary to identify the Wild Card participants.
- Head-to-head sweep (apply only if one club has defeated each of the others or one club has lost to each of the others).
- Best won-lost-tied percentage in games played within the conference.
- Best won-lost-tied percentage in common games, minimum of four.
 - Strength of victory.
- 6. Strength of schedule.
- Best combined ranking among conference teams in points scored and points allowed.
- Best combined ranking among all teams in points scored and points allowed.
- 9. Best net points in conference games.
- 10. Best net points in all games.
- 11. Best net touchdowns in all games.
- 12. Coin toss.

When the first Wild Card team has been identified, the procedure is repeated to name the second Wild Card (i.e., eliminate all but the highest ranked club in each division prior to proceeding to Step 2.) In situations which three teams from the same division are involved in the procedure, the original seeding of the teams remains the same for subsequent applications of the tiebreaker if the top-ranked team in that division qualifies for a Wild Card berth.

MISCELLANEOUS INFORMATION / BIOGRAPHY INDEX

OTHER TIE-BREAKING PROCEDURES

- Only one club advances to the playoffs in any tiebreaking step. Remaining tied clubs revert to the first step of the applicable division or Wild Card tie-breakers. As an example, if two clubs remain tied in any tie-breaker step after all other clubs have been eliminated, the procedure reverts to Step 1 of the two-club format to determine the winner. When one club wins the tie-breaker, all other clubs revert to Step 1 of the applicable twoclub or three-club format.
 - In comparing records against common opponents among tied teams, the best won-lost-tied percentage is the deciding factor since teams may have played an unequal number of games.
- To determine home-field priority among divisiontitlists, apply Wild Card tie-breakers.
- To determine home-field priority for Wild Card qualifiers, apply division tie-breakers (if teams are from the same division) or Wild Card tie-breakers (if teams are from different divisions).

TIE-BREAKING PROCEDURES FOR ANNUAL NFL DRAFT

If two or more clubs are tied in the selection order, the strength-of-schedule tie-breaker is applied, subject to the following exceptions for playoff clubs:

- The Super Bowl winner is last and the Super Bowl loser next-to-last.
- 2. Any non-Super Bowl playoff club involved in a tie shall be assigned priority within its segment below that of non-playoff clubs and in the order that the playoff club exited from the playoffs. Thus, within a tied segment a playoff club that loses in the Wild Card game will have priority over a playoff club that loses in the Divisional playoff game, which in turn will have priority over a club that loses in the Conference Championship game. If two tied clubs exited the playoffs in the same round, the tie is broken by strength of schedule.

If any ties cannot be broken by strength of schedule, the divisional or conference tie-breakers, whichever are applicable, are applied. Any ties that still exist are broken by a coin flip.

MEDIA INFORMATION & POLICIES

CREDENTIALS

All credential requests should be directed to Jeff Blumb, director of public relations. Requests may be sent via e-mail (c/o Sarah Quick; quicks@packers.com), FAX (920/569-7201) or U.S. mail (P.O. Box 10628, Green Bay, WI 54307-0628). Credentials will not be mailed, unless the requesting outlet provides a Federal Express or UPS number, and should be picked up in person at the Packers' public relations office, located on the third floor of the Lambeau Field Atrium. Credentials not obtained prior to game day will be left at Media Will Call on the west side of the stadium. The will call booth opens three hours prior to kickoff.

PHOTO CREDENTIALS

MIKE SHERMAN PRESS CONFERENCES

Head Coach Mike Sherman regularly will hold four weekly press conferences during the regular season: Mondays and Wednesdays at 12 noon in the service-level Media Auditorium of the team's administration building, Fridays immediately following practice on the field, as well as at the conclusion of each game. Postgame news conferences at home games also will be held in the Media Auditorium.

During training camp, Sherman will be available out on the practice field each day following the morning workout. Any other requests for time with Head Coach Mike Sherman, as well as any queries for an interview with an assistant coach, should be directed to a member of the Packers' public relations department.

PLAYER AVAILABILITY

During the regular season, the locker room is open for player interviews five days a week. On Monday, the locker room is open for 30 minutes upon completion of the players' workout/meetings, contingent on the players not being given the day off (time to be announced). On Wednesday and Thursday, the locker room is open from 12:15-1:00 p.m. and for up to one-half hour following practice and before meetings, beginning 10 minutes after the finish of practice. On Friday, the locker room opens 20-30 minutes after the end of practice for a half-hour period. At the conclusion of all games, the locker room will be opened following the NFL's standard "cooling off" period. The locker room will be closed on the players' "off" day (generally Tuesday) and on Saturday.

Quarterback Brett Favre will be available once a week in the Media Auditorium (expected to be on Wednesday after practice), as well as after games.

The locker room is closed during training camp.

Any requests to interview players other than at the aforementioned times should be directed to a member of the Packers' public relations department.
